"You'd have $200 a month!"

Could you, too, say that to your wife? An easy way to make this true in your case is to get your name onto a "Family Income" Policy at once. You can do this for very little. For example, at age 30, only $4.50 a week would protect your wife with $200 a month for the next 20 years and then $10,000 in cash. (Other amounts cost in proportion.) Prospectors See And Think Of Many Things

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

What does a prospector think about in the long days and nights in the wilderness, between the clinks of his pick and the flashes of his paddle?

Sometimes, if you are listening at the current convention in Toronto of the Prospectors and Developers Association, you may imagine that he thinks only in strange geologic language of hematites, pyrites, folds, faults, galvanometers.

But then comes an address like that of Jock Macfarlane that brings a whiff of the outdoors right into the convention hall.

Macfarlane has prospected in most parts of Canada and last summer he and his brother William, of Haileybury, Ont., made a 1,500-mile trip by canoe and afoot along the north shore of Lake Superior, looking for pitchblende, the stuff from which comes uranium and atom bombs.

Sees Many Things

He didn't find pitchblende but he saw a lot of other things. Here are a few:

Lake Superior makes its own weather—it can rain, blow, fog, storm and sun shine, all in one hour; there was hardly a day that we did not have to pull our freighter canoe into shore quickly and unload.

We started prospecting just about west of Quebec Harbor on the south shore of Michipicoten Island, about 110 miles north and west of Sault Ste. Marie, and travelled right around the island, each man carrying a Geiger counter at all times. There are no bear moose, deer or big game on the island, but lots of foxes, beaver and snakes.

Lots of Caribou

We were surprised at the number of woodland caribou on the slate islands (seven miles south of Jackfish). Several of them were swimming between the islands and a party from the Royal Ontario Museum was studying their habits.

On a small rocky islet we saw a number of crane's nests in some dwarf spruce trees. The nests were only five feet off the ground. This is very unusual, as these birds generally build their nests in high trees.

These are only a few bits from Macfarlane's story. Perhaps he also thinks of the day he staked Pickle Crow gold mine in northwestern Ontario. Or of when he used to set type in Haileybury and might have become a newspaper man if the plant hadn't been seized.

Anyway, he has yielded to his yen to write by keeping a diary for the last 23 years. When not prospecting he now lives in Toronto.

Too Early To Predict River Opening Date

MONTREAL, March 7 (CP) — Inland shipping officials said Monday it was still too early to predict an opening date for the St. Lawrence River traffic.

Although the usual opening date is around April 15, three icebreakers were reported to have reached Cap St. Michel, 15 miles from Montreal's inner harbor.

Sub-zero temperatures, however, have sent them scurrying back along the freezing river in a stiff rearguard action.

Teacher's Strike Over

CHURCHILL, March 7 (CP)— The 36 children of this Hudson Bay port's junior grades are back at school after a brief holiday brought on by their teacher's strike. She was the fourth teacher to leave the one-room school since the fall term started. However, when her salary arrived last week, she said it contained sufficient increase over the $90 for her to carry on.

York Takes Lead

TORONTO, March 7 — (CP) — The burning local issue of amalgamation of Toronto with its 12 suburbs went a step further Monday when the biggest suburb, York township, decided to request a conference with city council on the subject. York township, with a population of 93,248, is the first of the 12 to decide on definite inquiries on amalgamation. Earlier reaction has been generally unfavorable despite provincial government approval.

Ontario Spends 68 Million On Highway

TORONTO, March 7 (CP)—Ontario spent $68,000,000 on highway construction and maintenance and grants to municipalities in the fiscal year ending March 31, 1949, the highways department reported Monday.

In a report tabled in the legislature the department said revenue from all sources amounted to $68,300,000.

New pavement surface of various types was laid in 340 miles of gravel roads and 168 miles of bituminous cover was laid on old pavements. Five hundred miles of road were graded. More than 470,000 tons of sand and 40,000 tons of chemical was used to eliminate icy conditions.

Subsidies for municipal road improvement were almost $16,800,000, compared with $14,800,000 in the preceding year. Revenue from the motor vehicles branch was approximately $15,000,000. Some 870,000 vehicles were registered, including 159,000 commercial vehicles. Drivers licensed number 1,200,000.

Seven hundred and forty persons were killed and 14,970 injured in highway accidents.

Ask Bamblyn's

GREY HAIR: "Kindly tell me what vitamins to take to prevent my hair turning grey. Also in what foods are these vitamins contained?"

There is no sure and certain way to prevent the hair from turning grey. With a limited number of people a liberal dosage of Vitamin "B" will halt the greying of the hair and the new hair coming in will be of the natural colour. But the number is very small.

The Vitamin "B" family is found in the following foods: Whole grain cereals, whole wheat bread, wheat germ, milk, chicken, ham, lean pork, brussels sprouts, bananas, cantaloupe, grapefruit, tomatoes, dried beans (lima, navy, soy), green lima beans, endive, peas, potatoes, peanuts, peanut butter, yeast and liver.

DEBATES: "In our school every Friday we have debates — girls against boys. We can choose our own subjects. Please give me a few good subjects on which our girls can make a showing."

Here are two or three ideas which should start controversy rolling.

Resolved that women are essentially more intelligent than men; that women make better drivers than men; that married women should be paid salaries; that after marriage all property should be equally divided; that women should handle the purse strings in the household.

How's that for a start?

Home and School Association News

CENTRAL SCHOOL

Mr. K. S. Wightman, superintendent of Peterborough Public Schools, was guest speaker at the Central Home and School Association meeting Monday evening.

Introduced by Mr. D. T. Crawford, principal, Mr. Wightman related some of the history of the school, which has been in continuous use since 1860. He told of many interesting highlights and amusing incidents that occurred during its early years, and pointed out that overcrowded conditions have always seemed to prevail.

The education week theme "Education is everybody's business" was stressed by Mr. Wightman and he urged parents to take a vital interest in the advancement of better buildings, especially now at the Collegiate Institute. "We need to keep our eye on the primary objective" he pointed out. "In every generation we try to pass on to the children cultural ideals, good habits and the like, so that they can best develop into good young people. The school cannot accomplish all these things alone—the home must co-operate in the development of good future citizens."

The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan thanked the speaker on behalf of the Association.

Two musical numbers, a vocal solo by Larry Gray accompanied on a portable organ by Mr. Bob Steele, and a piano solo by Margaret Martyn were much enjoyed.

Mrs. S. Malsch, president, was in the chair as reports of various conveners were heard: radio, Mrs. G. Minty; health, Mrs. W. J. Armstrong; publications, Mrs. W. G. Gunn; home education, Mrs. L. Raper.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. F. Earle and her committee.

The bride's little niece, Pamela Jane Clements, as flower girl was dressed in a navy velvet suit, navy straw hat and white accessories. She carried a velvet muff with corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held in the YWCA Green Room where the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of teal blue with black accessories, assisted by the groom's mother attired in dove, grey with grey accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left later on a motor trip through eastern Ontario, the bride wearing a navy shortie coat with her wedding ensemble. They will live in Peterborough.

Fashion Flashes

The short hair-do calls for a special line for hats other than the tiny, head-hugging models. Brimmed hats are likely to have a long back and narrow sides. Navy maline wrapped in pale pink veiling is used for a hot of this type, with a nip taken in the brim rising on the crown in front.

Expected to register well for spring is the cape, short or long, and also the capelet-jacket. A good travelling companion would be a full-length reversible cape, one side in navy wool, the other in navy faille. The cape buttons at the neck, and has a long, swinging scarf fringed in silk.

✧ ✧ ✧

First choice for visitors to Southern resorts, when it comes to coats, is the topper in white wool fleeces. Many toppers are quite short, some even above the waist. When it isn't white, the color is likely to be one of the off-white shades, with pale oatmeal a favorite.

✧ ✧ ✧

Isn't it wonderful to see so many variations of that most wearable fashion, the shirtwaist frock? Silver gray tissue faille is used for a beauty that is pleated from trim, high collar to hem, the softly bloused fullness held by a tailored navy calf belt. Neckline is convertible. Deep shouldered shirtwaist sleeves have wide buttoned wrist bands.

✧ ✧ ✧

Additions to slim evening frocks offer a nice inducement when shopping for a travel wardrobe. A handsome sheath of gray crepe covered all over with an embroidery of iridescent sequins, becomes quite a different affair when worn with a removable floor-length overskirt of coral net over gray net, and with a width of gray net tucked into the deep decolletage.

✧ ✧ ✧

Fun, that's what they are, some of the newest resort clothes. An outfit consisting of tablecloth checks in red and white for halterbra and bolero-jacket, and long shorts of white denim, has tiny sequins scattered here and there on halter and jacket.

✧ ✧ ✧

A nice finish to the separate skirt and blouse idea is that of a fitted jacket in all-white or white background woolen, adding up to a smart costume when worn with a slim or accordion pleated skirt. White worsted with blazer stripes of blue and red, fitted and hipbone length, would go beautifully with a navy, black or gray wool skirt.

✧ ✧ ✧

A new switch on the cover-up agent for a strapless, deep necklined dress is encountered in a dress of silk organza, Roman-striped in deep-water green and blue. Here the deep, strapless neckline is hidden by a detachable bertha-capelet that ties in a soft centre bow.

✧ ✧ ✧

New ideas add interest to the fabric glove story. A neat little shortie of navy blue double sueded cotton becomes a costume glove with the aid of a buttoned on cuff of white pique, the button adding the trimming note for the blue shortie.

✧ ✧ ✧

A new note in patent leather is a sort of frosted strawberry red, a muted tone made bright with iridescent overtones. Nice in plain pumps with matching envelope or pouch bags, and good with navy, black or gray.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Love Can Remain Strong Through Years of Marriage

DEAR MISS DIX—Do you think a man and woman after being married thirty years can still be in love with each other? I married a lovely girl, pretty, affectionate, fine principled, everything a man should want, yet I do not love her, although she has been the finest wife and mother there could possibly be. The only reason we stick together is the duty to our children. I admit I have not taken her out as many husbands do their wives, nor paid her much attention, and although she never says so, I think she just tolerates me for duty's sake. Why is this?

A MAN

ANSWER: Of course, a man and woman can still be in love with each other after they have been married thirty years.

Time kills a feeble love, but it strengthens a great love, and there are thousands upon thousands of husbands and wives who grow more and more devoted to each other the longer they live together. During the passage of the years they have become all in all to each other and they are absolutely necessary to each other. Each has found in the other so much of goodness, so much of tenderness and loyalty that they admire each other far more than they did in their courting days.

Must Be Nourished

But love is like everything else in the world that is worth having. it has to be cherished. It has to be cared for. It has to be nourished. You have to keep on feeding it if you want to keep it alive.

For a husband and wife to keep in love with each other they must make a conscious effort to keep love alive. They must keep themselves personally attractive and they must make themselves agreeable to each other. They must be pleasant to live with. And, above all, a husband and wife who keep in love must not only keep themselves interesting but must make life interesting to the other. They must cultivate companionship and continually feed the fire of their effection with endearments.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Which is the easier path to success for a man—married or single? I have been ambitious through life to do something more than live comfortably with a wife. I am happily married to a good woman, but supporting a family keeps the nose to the grindstone, so to speak, and leaves precious little time or money for promotion in other fields.

HUSBAND

ANSWER: You remember that Kipling says: "He travels the fastest who travels alone," and on the face of it that would seem to be true. The average man who marries when he is young does put a load upon his back that handicaps him in shinnying up the ladder of success. He is tied to his job and dares not give up a poor one on the chance of getting a better one. He is not free to move about as the bachelor is. It takes all he can possibly make to support his family in any sort of decent comfort, so he cannot lay aside the money that is the golden key that so often unlocks the door to opportunity.

But we must consider the fact that nearly every successful man's best work is done after he is married, and that few men ever really settle down to an earnest pursuit of a career until after he has a wife to support.

Likewise, we must take into consideration the power of love, and that nothing puts courage into a man's heart and strength into his arm like wanting to get things for some woman, or to achieve things for her sake so that she will be proud of him. A wife can be an inspiration as well as a discourager of ambition, and she can be a help as well as a hindrance. She can brace a man up to do the best that is in him. She can make friends for him, and she can be a press agent. So whether it is better for an ambitious man to marry or stay single depends upon the kind of a woman he marries.

DEAR MISS DIX: Speaking of popularity, the most attractive and fascinating girl I have ever known was one who on first acquaintance was as ugly as the proverbial mud fence, but her delightful manners and interesting conversation soon gained her ardent admirers. She had suitors galore and selected a husband who climbed to the top.

OLD-TIMER

ANSWER: You are right, Old-Timer. Women who have what Barrie calls that "damned charm" don't need to have beauty. They have a far more potent spell to conjure with and one that never passes. The homely woman who is fascinating is the most fascinating woman in the world.

And that should be a comfort to girls who are not naturally easy on the eyes.

Party Pattern

One of the barriers to having fun in the home is the English tradition of "don't show any emotion" that lingers on in the United States and Canada. Young people are sent to Oxford to teach them to stifle any show of emotion, he commented in a semi-serious vein.

"The children's parties in the home will be patterned on those you and your husband have," said Father Lord speaking directly to the mothers. And he said he knew that from the experience of his pre-priesthood days.

Below 12 years the child is not a major problem so far as his relationship to adults is concerned, said Father Lord. He likes the company of adults, including his parents.

But somewhere about the 12-year mark the child wants to go to the movies with a chum, not his mother or father. This is not an occasion for the mother to weep that she is losing her boy or the father to ponder his grey hairs ruefully in the belief he is getting old.

This desire not to be supervised or watched by adults is perfectly natural, assured Father Lord, and wise parents expect it and know how to adapt themselves to it.

If two young boys want to go to the movies together then it would be wise for the parent to agree and offer to pay the way. As a piece of strategy the father might offer not only to pay for the tickets but also for an after-the-movies snack when he would join them.

In this way the father would not "lose touch" with his boy and his company would be gladly assented to.

The problem was slightly more complicated but not insoluable when the 'teen ager wanted to go out with his girl. "That's fine," the parent should say, "and offer to pay again."

Company At Movies

However in this instance Father Lord suggested the parent accompany the couple to the theatre. Then comes the shrewd move: the adult takes a front seat and lets the two kids sit behind. This allows him to accompany the youngsters without their feeling they are being supervised and watched.

Parents should attend more school functions, for example, sports in which their boy or girl is participating.

"Every mother must make a decision," the speaker said, on whether the house is to be a furniture museum or a place to be used... "If you have children you must remember they will be messy."

(He added sotto voce that they would probably grow into messy adults).

And he had good news for the hungry schoolchildren. He recommended an open-ice box-door policy in the home. The child will bring his friends home instead of going down to the local "hamburger jernt", advised Father Lord.

"Noisy Food"

He suggested soft drinks, plenty of ice and "noisy food" such as pretzels be placed in the ice-box for the children's use. Home under those circumstances would be a rallying point for the youngsters.

The speaker opined that rumpus rooms had been a flop and suggested it actually as a compliment to parents. Children like an adult moving in and out of their circle as they are having fun, he said.

While they don't like to be supervised, boys and girls enjoy having an adult near. It might even be they hope the adult is slightly envious of the good time they are having.

"We all like an audience," he said, summing up this point.

Cards At Four

A child should be given a deck of cards at four years of age, stated the Jesuit priest flatly. He waved aside any suggestion that this might make him a big-time card-shark or a 20th century descendant of the Mississippi-boat gambler.

Cards give the child a medium through which he can associate with his friends, stated Father Lord, and he will not turn out to be a gambler. Dice games, founded on luck alone and not skill, are what lead to gambling.

Father Lord emphasized the value of dancing as a contribution to "Fun in the home," and he allied music and rhythm with this social grace.

"Music is founded on rhythm and rhythm is the most natural thing in your system," he said. He pointed out that the sense of rhythm remains with a person whether he be doing a tap dance or listening to the regular "ker-plunkety-plunk" of a flat train wheel.

He lumped together music, rhythm, dancing, dramatics and sports as natural expressions. "If it is natural it is in nature and therefore comes from God," he said.

"When young people are happy and having fun they are never committing sin."

"The family that plays together stays together," said Father Lord.

The speaker was introduced by Monsignor P. J. Butler. Helen Hajnik, vocal soloist, was one of two guest artists. The other was Kevin Leahy, violinist. Miss Hajnik was accompanied by Marion Best and Mr. Leahy by Max Clarke.

Miss Marie Kieran, former prefect of St. Peter's Sodality, was chairman.

Union Officials Report On Talks

WINDSOR, Ont., March 7 (CP) —Officials of Local 200, United Automobile Workers (CIO) are to report tonight to the union's policy committee on a recent meeting in Ottawa with Health Minister Martin.

The union leaders and officers of Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited went jointly to the Federal government to seek reduction of the old-age pension qualification from 70 to 65 years and elimination of the means test. No report of their sessions last Thursday has yet been made public.

The move was the latest in the pensions dispute between the union and company. The union seeks $100 a month at age 65 for Ford's 11,000 auto workers after 25 years' service. The company offers $55.

It is expected a mass meeting of the union's membership may be called Sunday to discuss the Ottawa meeting.

Inspectors Given Two-Day Course

The monthly meeting of the Peterborough Humane Society was held on Thursday evening, when final plans were approved in connection with the annual meeting to be held in the Public Library rooms on Thursday, April 13, at 8 p.m. Dr. Ford will address the meeting. Arrangements have also been made for the showing of two timely films—"Puppy Troubles" and "Realm of the Wild."

In his monthly report Inspector G. Dunford outlined the highlights of the work covered at the Inspectors' school which he attended in February. This two-day course is conducted annually in Toronto by the Humane Society for the care and protection of animals. An interesting and instructive feature was the lecture and demonstration given by Dr. John Leeson, veterinary on improved methods in the use of splints, and the bandaging of animals.

Records for the month of February list 72 dogs and 37 cats humanely destroyed, 11 dogs and two cats killed by city traffic.

The substantial increase in the number of dogs killed and injured is attributed by Inspector Dunford to the increased number of dogs currently at loose. Mr. Dunford suggests that owners should safeguard their pets by restricting their freedom at this period of the year.

According to information given at the meeting, the Ontario Humane Society's report on its investigations into long distance sled races revealed that special care and training adequately conditioned these dogs to withstand the long runs without causing any ill effects.

Sells Securities Given Year In Jail

GUELPH, March 7 — (CP) — Convicted of unlawfully selling securities without a licence, Leo M. McNichol, 42, of Toronto, was sentenced Monday to one year in the Ontario Reformatory. He was also ordered to pay a fine of $1,000 or serve another three months.

McNichol was charged with selling at Guelph and elsewhere in Ontario interest in property known as the Provident Oil Interests. In 1949, the court was told, he sold interest in a 40-acre sub-leased property in Alberta to at least 10 residents of Guelph district, realizing some $11,000.

The Ontario Securities Commission in 1942 had warned McNichol not to sell or transfer interest in this property until it was registered.

Ruling Is Reserved On Mischief Charge

COBOURG, March 7—Decision was reserved Monday on a motion for dismissal of a public mischief charge against 23-year-old Meredith Donald Smoke. The charge was laid following the Feb. 8 death of Victor Grey, victim of a highway accident near Alderville.

Police claim that Smoke told them several conflicting stories about the manner in which Grey met his death. First, the court was told, Smoke claimed he saw Grey struck down by a 1935 Chevrolet. Finally he signed a statement admitting that it was his own car which was involved in the mishap but that he had struck Grey while he was lying on the road.

Will Extend X-Ray Service

OTTAWA, March 7.—(CP).—An extension of chest X-ray services for industrial workers exposed to silica dust will be financed from Ontario's share in the federal health grants, the Health and Welfare Department announced today.

Large X-ray units operated by the Ontario Health Department's division of industrial hygiene give periodical chest X-rays to workers in foundries, quarries, mines and other industries where there is danger of pulmonary ailments developing through exposure to silica dust.

Because of the extensive territory to be covered, the large X-ray units cannot visit an industry more than once in 18 months.

A smaller mobile X-ray unit will be bought with a $7,000 grant from federal health funds. It will be used to provide follow-up examinations for men who are found to have chest conditions requiring observation or review more frequently than regular examinations permit.

City Council

fall. We did something before it was too late".

The experience to which Ald. Miller referred was the blunt decision of the council late in 1949 to reduce spending to bare necessities.

"If that had not been done," said Mayor Swanston, "we were heading for a $60,000 deficit."

Ald. Miller: "Most of the members seem to be reluctant to make any comment. I think we ought to go through the appropriations again and try to strike the rate at 49 mills".

Mayor Swanston: "O.K.; let's start Tuesday night."

"In brief," said Ald. Dewart, "the hospital has put us up four mills and the Board of Education half a mill. That is about it approximately."

Ald. Miller: "But, next year there may be another increase in the tax rate. The fixed charges such as debenture payments may be higher, and the rate might go to 51 mills. If we try to hold it back now, it will be that much less likely to go over the 50 mark in 1951."

Ald. Burrows: "It seemed to me that we sat here when we were going through the estimates and accepted them as they came through."

Ald. Waddell: "But the large amounts of spending had been through several previous meetings before they came here. Take the fire department, and I don't mention it because it is Ald. Miller's department. That is one of the best prepared budgets we have had. I don't know where he could find anything to cut out of his estimates, but if the council did take something off the fire department they might have to come to us before the end of the year and ask for more because they had needed it and estimated it, but the council had cut down their appropriation."

Demands of Public

"I am perfectly willing," said Ald. Waddell "to come back Tuesday night and see if we can take $10,000 or more off. But, we have to keep thinking of the demands of the public."

Ald. Young enquired about the effect of half a mill in the rate.

City Clerk Outram replied that it meant 50 cents on every $1,000 of assessment.

On a $5,000 the half mill would add $2.50 to the tax levy.

Ald. Waddell had said that the bulkiest item in the council's brackets of the tax spending was for the Board of Works. In 1948 the total was $190,000; in 1949 it was $222,000 and for this year the proposed amount [illegible] 500.

The committee decided on Ald. Adam Sand's motion seconded by Ald. Burrows that Ald. Waddell consult with City Engineer Chalmers and Ald. Dodds, chairman of the board of works "and tell us what they can do with $227,000, and if they can make a go of it on that amount".

City Engineer Chalmers was absent from last night's meeting of the council, one of the influenza victims, and it appeared doubtful whether he might be out today.

Obituary

George H. Panter, 74, of 620 Frank St., died today in hospital following a short illness. Mr. Panter came to Peterborough 60 years ago from Hamilton.

Mr. Panter was a tinsmith with the CGE for 22 years and retired in 1948. Previous to this he followed the same trade for 28 years with W. R. Turner Company. He was a member of Park Street Baptist Church.

Funeral service will be held from the Nisbett Funeral Home and burial arrangements are to be announced later.

City Nominee Resigns From Wage Arbitration

City council received Monday night the resignation of Mr. Herbert L. Bradburn as representative of the council on the board of arbitration to determine the wage scale of the city's firemen for 1950.

Mr. Bradburn wrote, in part: "You will recall that in my previous letter I stated that I was not anxious to accept the appointment, and asked that the council choose someone more conversant with arbitration proceedings. Since that time I have given the matter considerable thought, and while I am willing to be of service to the city at all times, I feel that the interests of the city in a matter of this nature would be better looked after if some one were appointed who had some previous knowledge and experience in arbitration proceedings.

"Therefore, I have come to the conclusion that I cannot accept this appointment, and I trust that my decision to refuse it will be understood by the members of the council."

Mr. Bradburn wrote that he sincerely thanked the council "for the confidence shown in me by asking me to be the nominee of the city in this arbitration."

Enjoys 95th Birthday At Civic Hospital

Celebration of her 95th birthday Sunday in Civic Hospital was a happy occasion for Mrs. John Robert Reynolds of Bethany, who has spent the past six years at the hospital.

Throughout the day Mrs. Reynolds entertained at what was a continuous all day party, starting with the first caller in the early morning.

As her many visitors called to wish her a happy birthday, it was a joy to her to know she was remembered by so many. And perhaps the most happy vent of all, was the arrival of a large decorated birthday cake from a niece in Western Canada.

Mrs. Reynolds is held in high esteem by her many friends in Cavan township where her husband farmed when they were first married. She did a great deal of work in the various organizations of Bethany United Church and is still remembered by some as teacher of the Young Men's Bible Class.

About 13 years ago she suffered a broken hip which, six years ago, necessitated a leg amputation. Since that time she has ben a hospital patient, but rarely spends a whole day in bed. She has a wheel chair, in which she spends most of her time.

UAW Terminates Negotiations

ST. CATHARINES, March 7 — (CP)—Local 199, United Automobile Workers (CCL-CIO), announced today that negotiations with McKinnon Industries Ltd., had been terminated.

In a joint statement by Charles Williamson, chairman of the plant negotiating committee, and Paul Siren, international representative, the union charged that McKinnon Industries had refused to negotiate on the monetary demands of the union for the 1950 agreement.

The dispute now proceeds to a concillation board headed by Judge Reynolds of Kingston, with T. D. Delamere and J. L. Cohen, the company and union nominees respectively. The Board is expected to reconvene its second meeting her March 16. The first meeting was held on Feb. 17 and 18, after which the union and company returned to negotiations on outstanding matters in the dispute.

Some of the matters in dispute are a shorter work week reduction from 45 to 40 hours with no loss of take home pay, two additional paid statutory holidays, wages, and changes in the vacation plan.

Toronto Able To Supply Coal To Other Centres

TORONTO, March 7 (CP) — Recent mild weather has helped reduce Toronto's coal shortage to the point where dealers now have turned their attention to supplying other Ontario points.

A meeting of fuel controller A. R. Crozier and the Ontario Fuel Merchants' Association today laid plans for supplying Barrie, Oshawa, Orillia, Niagara Falls, St. Catharines, London, Windsor and Kingston.

Fuel dealers said Toronto is "just about in the clear." A cold snap within the next 10 days could, however, bring about another emergency, dealers warned.

Wants Public Interested In Making Mines

TORONTO, March 7 (CP) — The public should take an interest in the making of mines rather in just market operations, O. E Lennox, chairman of the Ontario Securities Commission, said Monday night in an address to the Prospectors and Developers Association.

"I do not for one moment suggest that market manipulations are at all prevalent. On the contrary, my experience has been that the Toronto Stock Exchange is on the alert against suspected manipulations and that we recently have been comparatively free from operations of this type.

"The over-all picture as I see it is that the people of Ontario are responding to the invitation embodied in current securities legislation to use a degree of common sense for their own protection and are slowly but nevertheless ridding themselves of that old sense of false security based on the theory that the mere existence of securities legislation protects it from loss."

Mr. Lennox reviewed the present Securities Act which requires an issuer of stock to supply a prospectus, patterned to the requirements of the Dominion Companies Act, an up-to-date financial statement and an engineer's report in the case of a mining company.

Norwood WI Reports Preparations For Bale

NORWOOD, March 7 (ENS)— The March meeting of Norwood United Church WMS was held in the Sunday school room with the first vice-president, Mrs. John Starke in the chair.

After some discussion, Saturday May 20, was the date set aside for the spring bazaar.

Mrs. A. S. Cleland was in charge of the program. Miss Edith Burgess gave the scripture reading, Mrs. R. H. Gardner sang, after which several of the women joined in sentence prayer.

Spitfires Finish Off Dukes Take Best-of-Seven Series

By The Canadian Press.

A highly rated junior team was sidetracked from the Memorial Cup trail as Toronto Marlboros dropped from the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A race.

Windsor Spitfires applied the finishing touches to the Dukes, who led the nine-team loop all through the regular schedule, with a 7-4 victory. That gave the Spits their best-of-seven semi-final series by four games to one.

That reversed the picture of Spitfires' fate in the last two seasons. In 1948 and 1949 they came up with the league's solid club, only to get belted out by lightly-regarded opposition.

At Barrie last night the home town Flyers pulled the surprise of the playoffs. Losers to Guelph Biltmores 5- in the opening game of their best-of-five semi-final series the Flyers bounced back last night and handed the Hatters a 6-0 lacing.

The opening game of the Senior A finals went as expected. Marlboros senior edition staved off a last-period rally by the Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen and came up with a 5-3 win to go ahead 1-0 in the best-of-seven finals for the senior crown.

Payed Off

Jack Bailey's bullet-like drives payed off against Marlboros. The big right winger, reputed to have a shot the equal of the great Charlie Conacher's, fired two goals to lead the Spitfire scorers. Glen Skov and Earl Reibel of the first line came up with singles.

The Windsor crew overcame an early 2-1 Marlboro lead and drove into a 5-3 margin by the end of the second. Erwin Grosse, Bob Rawlyk and Vic Howe were the other snipers. The victory had its drawback. Glen Skov retired late in the third period when cut on the back of the leg.

Red Mitchell, best Marlboro defender on the ice, picked up a goal to reward his efforts while George Armstrong, Lorne Pirie and Ron Hurst got the others.

No Fooling

Guelph and Barrie played a 0-0 stalemate in the opening frame but Barrie poured it on for three in the second and three in the final frame. The scoring power of Hap Emms' charges was well distributed with Reg Campbell, Mirl McCarthy, Jerry Toppazzini, Real Chevrefils, Stan Long and Doug Towers all blinking the red light.

There was no scoring in the first frame at the Waterloo Arena but in the second the Dukes hopped into the d iver's seat and roared away in high gear, pounding in three goals without a Kitchener-Waterloo reply.

The Dutchmen opened the scoring in the third but the visitors whipped in two to sew up the issue before Kitchener-Waterloo finished off with their final two goals.

Fraleigh said the bandit failed to take $450 that was also in the store.

Alberta Plans To Enlarge Rent Board

By The Canadian Press.

A bill to enlarge Alberta's rent control board received first reading in the province's Legislature on Monday.

The bill gives the board power to fix rentals where tenant and landlord cannot agree as well as other authority. In previously announcing plans for the legislation Premier Manning said that if the Legislature approved it, Alberta will request the Dominion government to withdraw from the rentals control field in the province.

At Charlottetown, Premier Jones told the Prince Edward Island Legislature it likely will prorogue within the next three weeks. The House opened a week ago.

The House was told by R. R. Bell (PC-2nd Queens) that the rising cost of living and other troubles can lead to a collapse of Canadian agriculture during the next few years. Mr. Bell was speaking during the throne speech debate.

State Lottery Studied

The Quebec Legislative Assembly starts its fourth week today with debate on government legislation. It is possible a state lottery bill may be introduced. Premier Duplessis already has said legislation will be introduced to establish a lottery to assist education and hospitals.

Two members of the Manitoba Legislature demanded larger sources of revenue for municipalities to meet spiralling costs of local government. R. D. Robertson (CLDN-In-Roblin) and George Olive (O-CCF-Kildonan-Transcona) said Manitoba municipalities are facing intolerable burdens of low revenues and mounting educational costs.

Freight rates occupied the Saskatchewan Legislature with its members unanimously endorsing a CCF government-sponsored resolution calling on the Federal government to disallow the recent 16 per cent rate increase until the report of the Royal commission on transportation is completed.

Old Country Letter

Ancient Rights-of-Way To Be Mapped In Britain

By WILLIAM BOSS, Canadian Press Staff Writer

"Footpaths in the sands of time," to parody Longfellow in a couple of places, "silently steal away." Britain intends to bring them back. The government has ordered a three-year survey of all ancient rights-of-way across the British countryside, and says that by December, 1952, all will be mapped.

Elder citizens throughout the land are refreshing their memories against the day when their recollections of thoroughfares long since vanished will be canvassed and recorded in preparation of restoration.

The action is being taken under the National Parks and Access to the Countryside Act, passed by the last parliament. This law, perhaps more than anything else he has accomplished, will keep Lewis Silkin, former Minister of Town and Country planning, in British history books.

The program represents years of campaigning by Britain's "Ramblers" — hikers who walk the countryside both for the exercise and to do a bit to maintain the ancient rights-of-way.

Seven Kissless Years

Farmers, for example, whose fields were traversed by footpaths and whose fences were pierced by turnstiles or "kissing gates," tended to plow up the one and board up the others. Such activity was legal by tradition and if the farmer succeeded in keeping a right-of-way from being used for seven years it ceased to be one.

The Rambler Societies have long made it a practice to divide Britain's parishes among them and cover as many of the old routes as possible at least every other year, tearing down any obstacles barring them. It is about the only kind of unofficial property destruction thoroughly encouraged by tradition.

Silkin's Act, which now is to be implemented, by-passes tradition and says that all old rights-of-way are to be charted and restored to use.

Make Surveys

Parish councils throughout Britain must appoint committeees to make surveys. They should "consult maps and records of enclosure awards, collect evidence from old inhabitants and walk over all reputed public way in their parishes. When the information is collected they could make maps showing footpaths, bridle roads, cart roads and lanes, driftways and metalled paths as well as condition of all tracks and paths, position and condition of all stiles, stepping stones, kissing gates, foot bridges and other means of passage and details of all obstructions and notice boards."

Most counties have already shown themselves hostile, but the Ramblers are standing by to inform on them if the law is not carried out. Other counties, such as Essex, employed a surveyor for four years before the law was enacted; he restored to use 4,000 footpaths in rural district.

Big Plane Strikes House In Bad Blizzard; 15 Die In Flaming Debris

2 Children Just Put To Bed In Home Trapped In Blazing Building; Aircraft Crashes Trying To Make Landing

MINNEAPOLIS, March 8—(AP)—A Northwest Airlines plane, roaring through a blinding March blizzard, crashed and exploded Tuesday night, converting a Minneapolis home into a blazing funeral pyre for 15 persons. The plane carried 10 passengers and a crew of three. Two children, who had just been put to bed in the house the plane struck, were also trapped in the flaming inferno which spouted from the ship's sundered gasoline tanks. The rest of the family were watching television.

Originating at Washington, D.C., the aircraft made stops at Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit and Madison, Wis. It was scheduled to set down at Rochester, Minn., but that landing was prevented by the heavy weather and the craft was ordered into Minneapolis.

Northwest Airlines said the plane would have proceeded to Winnipeg via Fargo and Grand Forks, N. D., but later information from Winnipeg indicated the Winnipeg flight was cancelled some hours before the crash.

No Canadians

An incomplete passenger list showed no Canadians aboard the ill-fated craft.

The plane, a twin-engine Martin 2-0-2 Mars, was trying for an instrument landing here in gusty winds and swirling snow.

Mal Freeburg, NWA operations executive, said he was investigating a report the plane struck a flagpole at the Fort Snelling National Cemetery, just south of Wold-Chamberlain Airport on its first instrument run, which was unsuccessful. He said this report was borne out by the fact one wing was found eight blocks from the scene of the main crash.

Less than two airline miles from the safety of the airport, the plane plummeted into the home of Franklin Doughty in a quiet residential section.

$33,394 Needed To Complete Community Fund

The sum of $33,394 must be subscribed during the next two days if the Red Cross and Community Chest objective of $75,000 is attained. The sum of $41,606 had been handed in at campaign headquarters by noon today, it was reported at a luncheon for campaign workers at the Empress Hotel.

This figure represents the actual total at campaign headquarters but division chairman reported high figures which included incomplete reports.

The campaign, which opened last Friday, will conclude Friday, when an announcement of total receipts will be made.

With only two days left, canvassers will have to work hard, Ross L. Dobbin, chairman of the fund said, because only a little over half the objective has been reached.

Mr. Dobbin said some canvassers had had to make return calls on a number of people, before collecting a subscription. He hoped this could be avoided during the remainder of the campaign.

Reporting $9,045 collected to date by the special names division, Gordon S. Matthews said this was an advance of $1,000 over last year's mid-campaign figure. He thought the $22,500 objective would be attained.

Mrs. W. E. Fanning, reporting for the women's division, said her total of $3,633 was the highest attained at this stage of the campaign by that division during her chairmanship. The division's objective had been set at $4,000 but she thought it would reach the new target of $5,000.

In the absence of B. H. Myers, chairman of the retail division, William Richardson announced $2,997 of the $16,500 objective raised. Two team captains reporting under this division said "It's tough going".

Ian McRae, chairman of the industrial division, reported $27,587 of the $32,000 objective reached and he thought the remainder would be in by Friday.

Mr. Dobbin said pennies subscribed by children totalled $230.

Those at the head table were Ross L. Dobbin, chairman; Mrs. W. E. Fanning, G. S. Matthews, I. F. McRae, William Richardson, James Juby and Thomas Mackay.

Don't Expect Flood

BELLEVILLE, March 8 (CP)—Despite the comparatively heavy ice in the lower stretches of the Moira River, city officials do not expect flood conditions in the city this spring. This was stated today following an inspection of ice in the river mouth where action was taken to reduce conditions which might tend to retard the flow of water. City Engineer Charles Mote cut holes in the river ice south of the CPR railroad bridge with two 100-pound cans of thermite being used to melt the ice.

Declare Bell Failed Regrouping

Hold Such Action Would Have Made Revenue Sufficient

OTTAWA, March 8—(CP)—A sharp controversy over whether Bell Telephone Company of Canada has a legal right to ask for a phone rate increase in Ontario and Quebec at this time broke out today before the Board of Transport Commissioners.

The Board is hearing an application by Bell for an average rate increase in the two central provinces of 20.6 per cent.

Claude Choquette, K.C. representing Montreal, one of the host of municipalities opposing the increases, accused Bell of "disobedience of the law," and said that through this disobedience it had forfeited its right to ask for rate boosts at this time.

Mr. Choquette referred to a 1927 hearing before the board which gave Bell the right to regroup its exchanges. Regrouping is the process of placing a municipality in a higher rate category because of the increased number of telephones in the local exchange.

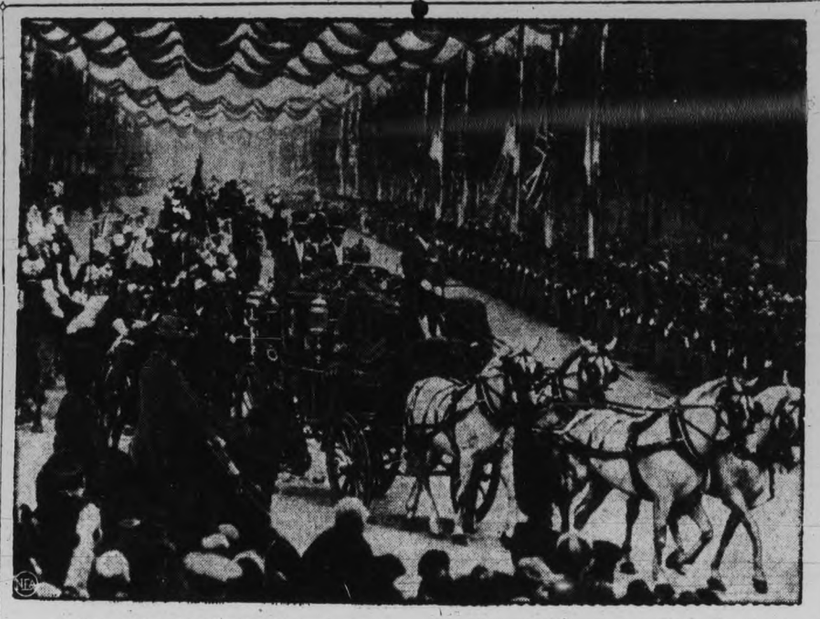
He said the company had failed to take advantage of this permission to regroup except in some cases. This alone, he said, represented discrimination against some communities in favor of others.

He contended that the increased revenue which would have accrued from this regrouping would have largely offset the conditions on which Bell now is basing its application.

Loses Right

As a result of this, he said, the company had lost its right to come now before the board asking for rate boosts. He described the company's action as "shameful."

Hugh Wardrope, acting chief commissioner, said it was difficult to decide what would have happened if Bell had regrouped in all possible cases.



Hugh O'Donnell, KC, counsel for Bell, broke in on Mr. Choquette to say that it has and will be shown that even if the company had reclassified its exchanges, it would still have been short of necessary revenues.

The company's case was outlined at the hearing's opening by Hon. Philippe Brais, KC, a member of the Quebec legislative council, one of the battery of Bell lawyers on the case.

In a 9,000-word address, Mr. Brais said the higher rates are needed to allow the company to expand service without affecting its financial stability.

Butter Deal Outlined By Gardiner

Pledges All Buyers Against Loss If Gov't Gets Orders

OTTAWA, March 8—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner today assured the butter trade that if it bought more butter from the government it would be assured against loss which may result from possible price change.

He announced that while a price change in government butter may not be made before the end of March, the trade "would be protected against loss" if the government decides to cut its prices.

The guarantee against loss is only good on stocks of butter purchased from the government's current surpluses of between 20,000,000 and 25,000,000 pounds. It is being offered to the trade in carload lots at about 60½ cents a pound.

A departmental official indicated that the guarantee against loss is being offered as an added inducement to a trade which is showing little inclination in the last few weeks to buy government butter.

See Lower Prices

Lower prices were anticipated within the next month as a result of the government's policy:

1. To offer 10,000,000 pounds of butter on the foreign market at prices which may range below the current domestic level.

2. To reduce the support price five or six cents a pound when the new butter-producing season starts in April.

Mr. Gardiner, in effect indicated that if lower prices result, those in the butter trade holding stocks of government butter at the end of the month would be paid the difference between what they paid for the butter and what they could get for it.

Convict Shipkov Of Spying, Gets 15 Years

SOFIA, March 8 — (CP) — Michael Shipkov, former Bulgarian interpreter for the United States legation here, today was sentenced to 15 years on charges of having spied for the U. S. Shipkov was the main defendant in the espionage trial of five persons.

Jivka Rindova, woman switchboard operator at the Legation, was sentenced to 12 years' imprisonment.

Other sentences were:

Stefan Kratounov, who admitted working for Miss Rindova—10 years.

Nicolai Tzanov, alleged collaborator of Miss Rindova and Kratounov— six years, eight months.

Vassil Matichev, business man who said he had agreed to give economic information in exchange for escape facilities — four years, five months and 10 days.

The two-day trial of the accused Tuesday after Shipkov had repudiated statements he once made to U. S. diplomats that he had been tortured into making false confessions and agreeing to spy against the Americans in Sofia.

He and his fellow defendants had pleaded guilty. They confirmed full confessions of guilt presented to the court. They begged the court for mercy.

Shipkov had testified earlier that he had taken refuge in the American Legation before the break in diplomatic relations between the United States and Bulgaria caused the mission to be closed down. He said he had been given false papers and ampules of poison and advised to escape from his homeland across the Turkish border. He was arrested while trying to escape.

Arrest Three In 25 Break-ins

TORONTO, March 8 —(CP)— Police said today they believed they had solved 20 to 25 recent house burglaries with the arrest Tuesday night of two men and a woman.

George Hasking, 41, and Myrtle Poole, 25, were captured by a suburban Swansea policeman after a wild chase in which two shots were fired. Both were charged with housebreaking while an additional charge of possessing burglar's tools was laid against Hasking.

Fred (Dinty) Moore, 52, was arrested on a charge of receiving after police raids on two east-central homes. Goods valued at between $1,000 and $1,500 believed stolen from city and suburban homes were recovered in one of the houses.

Urges Currency Color Changed For Tourists

TORONTO, March 8—(AP)—A novel suggestion of a new color for currency to boost the tourist trade was heard in the Ontario Legislature Tuesday.

Bryan Cathcart, Progressive Conservative member for Lambton West, speaking during throne-speech debate said he had often thought "that a splendid impression it would make" if a new color, such as red or some other distinctive tint, was used for currency for the benefit of tourists from abroad.

"I have no doubt that our people would be amazed at the number of these travel dollars circulating through their pockets and tills," he said.

France Drafts 100,000 To Avert Gas Strike

PARIS, March 8 — (AP) — Premier George Bidault's government today ordered the draft of 100,000 public utility workers to avert a countrywide gas and electricity stoppage threatening on the crest of France's worst strike wave in three years.

The civilian draft order—to be served upon the workers by policemen—makes those who refuse to work subject to loss of their jobs, fines and from six days to five years in jail.

Both Communist and non-Communist unions in the nationalized utility industry voted to strike at midnight (6 p.m. EST) to back up their demands for wage increases beginning at 3,000 francs (about $8.50 monthly. The government has offered increases of from 750 francs to 6,000 francs ($2 to $17).

Canada's Latest Jet Fighter Will Go Through Its Paces

OTTAWA, March 8.—(CP).—Canada's new all-weather, long-range jet fighter, the Avro CF-100, will put on a flight demonstration at Rockcliffe air station here Saturday for a distinguished audience.

Attending the show will be the Governor-General, Viscount Alexander, Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands; Prime Minister St. Laurent; members of the Cabinet, the Commons and Senate; members of the diplomatic corps; armed forces officers and officials of Canadian aviation firms.

The visitors will have a chance to see the sleek new fighter, first tested at Malton, near Toronto, Jan. 19, go through some of its spectacular paces.

W. A. Waterton, wartime R.A.F. squadron leader from Camrose Alta., will be at the controls. He has been handling the flight-testing program for the plane at A. V. Roe Ltd.

The CF-100 has been designed to meet RCAF specifications for a long-range, all-weather jet fighter necessary to Canadian air-defence requirements. The aircraft will complement the F-86 single-jet fighter being built for the air force by Canadair Ltd. of Montreal.

The two aircraft are to be allotted separate tasks. The F-86 will be used as a single-seater interceptor, the CF-100 for all-weather operation under day or night conditions.

The test model is currently fitted with two Rolls Royce Avon power units, but plans call for the CF-100 to be powered by Orenda, being produced by A. V. Roe.

Name Canadian UN Agency Head

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 8—(CP) —A Canadian has been appointed to direct the New United Nations Relief and Works program for Palestine refugees.

Appointment of Maj.-Gen. Howard Kennedy of Toronto to administer the $50,000,000 project was announced Tuesday night by Trygvie Lie, U. N. secretary-general.

Kennedy, 57, a forest expert who is a veteran of two World Wars, was chosen after consultations between Lie and an advisory committee consisting of representatives of Britain, United States France and Turkey.

He will confer with the advisory committee in Geneva, April 17 and set up his headquarters at Beyrouth, Lebanon, late in April.

Kennedy is to consult with the governments of Hashemite Jordon, Syria, Lebanon and Egypt on proposed works projects and direct relief for the 627,000 Arab refugees scattered into those countries by the Palestine war.

Kennedy at present is a consulting engineer and chairman of the Eastern and Rocky Mountains Conservation Board, the Forest Insect Control Board and the Associated Committee on Forestry of the Canadian National Research Council. In his new job he will receive a salary of $13,500 and expenses of $8,500.

Find Hundreds Stranded In Blizzard

PORT ARTHUR, March 8 (CP) —This city and district labored to dig out today after the worst storm of the winter. Many residents called it one of the worst in years.

City and district roads today were still dotted by stranded automobiles and trucks.

Hundreds of workers at paper mills and other industrial plants were just beginning to reach home after spending the night at their plants. They had been unable to reach home at the end of shifts during the night. Most kept at their jobs to keep the plants running as men due to replace them were unable to reach the plants.

The 10 inches of snow reported by the airport weather range office was not the greatest of the season, but what snow fell was driven by 65 mile per hour winds into deep drifts.

Change To Snow

Spring-like showers fell on most of southern and central Ontario Tuesday night and today, while snow and bitter northeast winds brought blizzard conditions in other areas.

The blustery weather is moving northeastward through the Great Lakes region and will enter southwestern Quebec tonight the weatherman predicted. Temperatures in southern and central Ontario will plummet and snow will replace the rain.

Ontario's bad weather is the tail-end of a storm which has ripped through the United States from the Canadian border to the Rio Grande with winds up to 100 miles an hour bringing blizzards to some regions and dust to others.

Pair Slashed During Quarrel

TORONTO, March 8 —(CP)— Found semi-conscious in his home in a pool of blood with his throat slashed early today, Albert Malinowski, 36 - year - old factory worker, is in serious condition in hospital.

His wife, Stella, 36, was found in a hysterical condition a block from her home. Her face was smeared with blood from numerous slashes on her cheeks. She was unable to give police a coherent account of what happened.

Malinowski, former Polish Displaced Person, was found lying on the kitchen floor of his Kane Ave. home by police who went to investigate a complaint of domestic trouble. A five-inch razor was lying beside Malinowski and blood was flowing freely from his throat.

Police believe Malinowski slashed his wife with the razor during a quarrel, then cut his own throat. Mrs. Malinowski ran screaming from the house and refused to return until police accompanied her.

Can Expect Quick Refunds Tax Division All Caught Up

OTTAWA, March 8—(CP)—The National Revenue Department's Income Tax Division, caught up with a terrific war-caused backlog of work, is in a position to act quickly on returns in either of two directions, officials said today. Within two or three weeks of filing 1949 returns—deadline is April 30—the taxpayer can expect a refund on any overpayment. But the taxpayer who owes the government more income tax than he has paid and fails to include the sum with his return can expect the same sort of quick action to check him up.

Within two weeks, he can expect a notice. He is given 60 days after which he is liable to garnishee proceedings, that is the government can arrange to have the money turned over by his employer or otherwise.

Within the 60 days, at least two peremptory warnings will be sent. Garnishee proceedings were taken against 60,000 persons last year out of a total of nearly 4-000,000 taxpayers. The department says it has only $7,000,000 to collect in "bad debts" or .05 per cent of total collections.

14,000 Refunds

Already more than 14,000 Canadians have received refunds on their 1949 income tax returns.

What's more, a spokesman for the department said Tuesday night that all refunds—estimate at more than 2,000,000—will probably be cleaned up by June 30.

"The secret of this year's prompt handling of refunds lies in the fact that we now are working on a current basis," the spokesman said.

Until last year, it was not unusual for taxpayers to wait two or more years for such refunds to be returned to them.

A year ago the revenue department launched a drive to clean up all back refunds—some overdue for as much as five years.

Early this year the backlog of refunds were caught up, allowing the department to concentrate on 1949 returns.

As a result of income tax reductions announced in the budget brought down March 22, 1949, and retroactive to the beginning of last year the majority of Canadian taxpayers whose income tax is deducted at source have a refund coming to them this year.

Ontario Chooses Highway Route

TORONTO, March 8 (CP)—The Ontario Government has notified the Federal Government of the route it prefers for the Trans-Canada highway through Ontario, an authoritative source told the Canadian Press Tuesday.

This source said that Ontario submitted several alternative routes in event the first choice was not approved.

The Ontario choice was not revealed and it was stated that the route may not be announced until final agreement is reached between all the provinces and the dominion on the coast-to-coast route.

Several routes through Northern Ontario were urged on the provincial government by the areas affected. One is around the north shore of Lake Superior and another follows Highway No. 11 from North Bay to Cochrane and west to Nipigon.

Twins Joined At Head Father Badly Shocked

SYDNEY, Australia, March 8—(AP)—Erskine Smith, father of girl 'Siamese twins" born Saturday with the top of their heads joined, said today he "would rather have seen them die at birth than grow up like they are."

Erskine, a timberman and father of five other children, told reporters he had seen the twins in hospital at Wynward Town, Tasmania, where they were born.

"It was a frightful shock," he said.

Dr. John Starr, who delivered the twins, said they were perfectly healthy and the rest of their bodies were normal. He, added, however, that it would be "practically impossible to separate them."

The babies rae joined head to head at the top of the skull "as if you stood one headfirst on the other," the doctor explained.

BC Sea Monsters On Loose Sure Sign Spring's Here

VANCOUVER, March 8 — (CP) —A rash of reports of sea monsters— a sure sign of spring on Canada's west coast— is under way.

Cadborosaurus, the monster Victoria claims as its own, reared his ugly head twice Tuesday, reports said, in sectors so widely separated it fits nicely with the rest of the legends about him.

Wide-eyed observers at Qualicum Beach, on Vancouver Island's east coats, noted Caddy. At Tofino, on the west side, he was being observed in some detail at the same time.

Gwen Coleman and Bryan Tigle of Port Alberni thus described the Tofino visit:

"A 50-foot creature with fins four feet high, a long slender neck and a cat-like head."

Qualicum Beach folk said Caddy "looked in" at a village store for half an hour while resting 30 yards off shore. More than a score of residents reported Caddy's visit.

British Columbia's other sea serpent, a fresh-water denizen who hangs out in Okanagan Lake, is known affectionately as Ogopogo. He hasn't shown since last summer but old timers will give odds that he'll make an appearance before Kelowna, near the lake, throws its regatta next summer.

Rumor Princess Expecting Baby

LONDON, March 8 (Reuters)—A Buckingham Palace official today shrugged his shoulders wearily when asked about reports that Princess Elizabeth was expecting her second child in September.

He said: "I can give you no information whatsoever. At least once a fortnight I am asked if Princess Elizabeth is having a baby and each time I am obliged to say that I know nothing whatsoever, because I don't."

Rumors persisted throughout London that 16 - months - old Prince Charles would soon have a brother or sister.

Buckingham Palace announced five months before Prince Charles was born that the Princess was having a baby. But the announcement came only after strong rumors had been circulating for three months that she was pregnant.

Princess Elizabeth, who looks slim and well, is making plans to join the Duke of Edinburgh—now serving with the Mediterranean Fleet—for April. She hopes to leave London by air on or about March 28.

British MP's On Spot Want Fun, Duty Calls

LONDON, March 8 (Reuters)—The House of Commons ballet lovers had a problem today—how to be simultaneously at Covent Garden Opera House Thursday night for the gala show in honor of French President Vincent Auriol and on duty for the first showdown between the government and Winston Churchill's Conservatives.

Those who had tickets for the ballet lamented that the two events should clash.

Party whips, who enforce party discipline, want everyone to turn up to vote on Churchill's complaint at the government's steel nationalization plans.

Some had hopes that parliamentary rules would be suspended to make it possible to vote before or after the Covent Garden show.

Must Delay Pacific Pact Pearson Tells House 3 Powers Not Ready Yet

Recognition of Red China Government Sparks Repetitious Debate, Drew Demands Commons Move Slowly

OTTAWA, March 8—(CP)—The perplexing, confusing question of whether or not—or when or how—Canada should recognize the Communist regime in China came before the Commons Tuesday. In a debate repetitious of one which took place last Friday, External Affairs Minister Pearson and Opposition Leader George Drew traded thoughts on the question. They found some common ground and some disagreement.

Mr. Pearson denied some of the things the Progressive Conservative leader had said last Friday about his (Mr. Pearson's) first statement on the question. Mr. Drew corrected some of the impressions he said Mr. Pearson had conveyed Tuesday about his (Mr. Drew's) speech of ast Friday.

When the air cleared after a five-hour talk-fest, the party views emerged:

1. Mr. Drew still feels the government should move cautiously on the question of recognition. Mr. Pearson says the government is doing just that; the matter is before the cabinet and it wants to hear what the people's representatives think of it.

Delays Conference

2. Mr. Drew wants Canada to call the free nations together for the drafting of a common strategy in the Pacific, with this watchword: "Wake up before it's too late!" Mr. Pearson thinks this would be pretty "futile and unwise" at a time when the United Kingdom, the United States and India already have indicated that they wouldn't be able to participate.

3. M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, feels the government should follow the U.K. example and grant recognition to China. He also thinks that improvement of living standards throughout the world will do more than a rearmament program to ensure peace.

4. John Blackmore, Social Credit spokesman from Lethbridge, says the solution to the world's ills is in a scientific distribution of the world's goods, economic self-sufficiency for all

Unemployment Talk Banned

OTTAWA, March 8—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent hopes the question of unemployment will not "bulk very large" at the Dominion-Provincial conference next fall.

In correspondence tabled Tuesday in the Commons, he told Premier Duplessis of Quebec that if the provinces wished, they could bring up the subjects of unemployment, insurance and radio broadcasting.

If that was the general desire of the provincial governments, the Federal government would certainly have no objection."

"We hope, however, that the question of unemployment will not assume proportions which will make it bulk very large at that time."

The conference is scheduled to be held some time in September or October.

Mr. St. Laurent said that while he agreed with Mr. Duplessis that the conference should include a discussion of general problems it was obvious that a general conference should "inevitably be primarily concerned with fiscal questions."

Farm Marketing Plan Important As Union

TORONTO, March 8 —(CP)— Farm marketing schemes are just as important to farmers as labor organizations to industrial workers, G. W. Parry (PC—Kent West) said Tuesday in the Ontario Legislature.

Mr. Parry, speaking in the Throne Speech debate, commended the work of the Ontario Sugar Beet Producers Association, the Burley Marketing Association and others.

He also reviewed progress made with the assistance of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph and federal experimental farms in developing new varieties of grain.

Mechanized harvesting was made possible by development of Cornell wheat—which could be harvested by combines—and other grains of uniform size and ripeness.

Federation Discounts Drop In Butter Price

TORONTO, March 8 —(CP)— The president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture said Tuesday that Ottawa press reports indicating a possible reduction in the butter floor price "need not be taken too seriously."

John Brodrick of St. Catharines said in a statement he thinks the Federal Government is "too well informed as to the existing market conditions" to permit the reduction to 52 cents, as is predicted.

"Any price reduction, particularly in view of the increasing feed costs, would cause distressing instability in the whole dairy industry and I feel quite confident that the government is not going to allow any such instability to develop."

Declare Bell

MORE ABOUT—

Both Mr. Brais and Lovell Carroll, KC, of Montreal, counsel for that city, indicated they would not delay the hearings. However, it appeared the case would go on for weeks and possibly months.

The rate-boost application is being opposed by most of the Ontario and Quebec municipalities which will be affected.

Represented at the hearing were such centres as Toronto, Montreal, Quebec, Ottawa, Hamilton, Valleyfield, and several organizations including the Toronto Board of Trade.

Five Million Deficit

Mr. Brais said last year Bell's deficit had amounted to $5,003,429 and the company would continue to incur deficits unless new rates were permitted.

After 70 years in business the company had "an extremely small" surplus of $12,500,000 at the beginning of 1949 and to maintain its credit it had to deplete this surplus by $5,000,000 during the year.

Within the next three years $141,000,000 of new money would have to be obtained from Canadian investors in finance a gross construction program of $252,000,000.

"To carry on its affairs and to meet its additional obligations, the company must obtain additional revenue by an increase in rates" said Mr. Brais.

The increase applied for was about $24,000,000 a year which represented an increase of 20.6 per cent.

Mr. Carroll said the board should be more interested in Bell's present economic condition than in the hypothetical situation which might arise in the future.

Fist Fights Fail To Stop Sabotage Bill

PARIS, March 8 —(AP)—Non-Communist deputies in the French National Assembly today pushed through an anti-sabotage bill over Communist opposition in a heated session climaxed by riotous fist-fights.

The vote, which Premier Georges Bidault had turned into a ballot of confidence for his coalition government, was 393 to 186 in favor of the bill.

It goes next to Parliament's Upper House, the council of the republic, where it is certain to win final approval.

Passage of the bill in the assembly ended four days of debate in which the powerful Communist bloc—largest single party in the assembly—set up a filibustering barrage in an attempt to halt the vote.

Hurry Passing of Bill

The government had urged hurried passage as a means of protecting shipments of American arms, due to arrive soon under terms of the North Atlantic Defence Pact. Communists have set up a Cominform-inspired "peace offensive" against the shipments.

The anti-sabotage bill provides for prison terms of from five to 10 years to anyone convicted of sabotaging the national defence, impeding the transport of military equipment or trying to demoralize the army.

The after - midnight session, which ended in victory for the government, was marked by a wild battle royal in which two assembly ushers were injured. Communist taunts of "coward" at a non-Communist deputy set off the rioting.

Violent tempers were calmed after Assembly President Edouard Herriot suspended the session and called in guards. Then the session was resumed and the vote was taken.

Butter Deal

Thus, a trader buying government butter at 60½ cents a pound and selling it, eventually, say, at 50 cents, would be able to bill the government for the 10½ cents loss a pound.

Charged To Treasury

The loss, of course, would be charged to the federal treasury.

Nearing the end of its first season in the butter business, the government is holding huge stocks. It purchased 50,000,000 pounds from the farmers last year as a means of supporting the butter market at approximately 58 cents a pound.

Estimating that its cost of storage and shipping to customers would cost about 2½ cents a pound, the government fixed its selling price at about 60½ cents offering the butter to anyone who would buy it in carload lots.

So far, in its sales since last October, it has sold only about half of its total holdings.

Lively Debate Expected On Labor Code

TORONTO, March 8 — (CP) — Ontario's new labor code will be presented to the Legislature today for a second reading and opposition members have indicated they will make a lively debate of it.

CCF members have objected to one clause providing for transfer to the Ontario Labor Relations Board of power to decide whether a conciliation board is warranted in a labor dispute. This power was held by the Minister of Labor in the old act. Another clause likely to encounter opposition provides that the Labor Board may deny its services to a parent labor federation if one of its unions engages in an illegal strike.

The opposition attack is expected to be led by Eamon Park (CCF, Toronto Dovercourt).

Six speakers were heard Tuesday in continued debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne. Another 30 have indicated they wish to speak.

Nice Contracts

Bryan Cathcart (PC, Lambton West) told the Legislature that the Imperial Oil pipeline from Edmonton to Superior, Wis., will mean almost $10,000,000 in contracts for Ontario firms. Steel plate would be rolled by the Steel Company of Canada and made into pipe by Page-Hersey Tubes, Ltd., of Welland. These contracts alone were worth $8,000,000, he said. It would also mean a $550,000 contract for a Fort Erie steel works, a $280,000 contract for the Fibreglass firm of Oshawa, a $650,000 contract for a Port Arthur company that makes enamel and priming solution, and a $107,000 contract for Foster Wheeler Ltd., at St. Catharines.

The oil will be transported from Superior to Sarnia for refining. The Imperial plant in Sarnia is prepared to handle 6,000 barrels a day, he said. The line would reduce imports of United States oil and save Canada $30,000,000 annually in United States dollars.

Fears Surplus

William Dennison (CCF, Toronto St. David) said that Ontario is headed for vast unsold surpluses of hydro-electric power. By 1953 there would be a surplus of 1,192,000 horsepower, he estimated. A surplus of 10 per cent was reasonable safeguard against possible water shortage.

G. M. Challies, the minister responsible for hydro, said that Ontario's expanding industry would keep pace with available power. Between 1939 and 1949 the demand had increased 100 per cent.

C. W. Cox (Lib., Fort William) said dwindling of Northern Ontario's forest resources was becoming "increasingly alarming."

If the present rate of indiscriminate cutting were permitted and forests continued to be destroyed by fire, "it will be only a comparatively few years until the great area will present a picture of desolation and waste."

"Monopolistic" control of large timber areas by a few companies were not "in the best interests of the province."

Plan Dutch Exhibit At 1950 Trade Fair

AMSTERDAM, —(CP)— Practically the whole of Netherlands industry will be represented in the Dutch exhibit at Toronto's International Trade Fair, May 29 to June 9, the ministry of economics has announced.

Improvement of export possibilities to the dollar area as a result of Netherlands currency devaluation last September has prompted country-wide interest in the Canadian market.

60 Truckers Lodge Protest

TORONTO, March 8 (CP) — Sixty independent truckers today petitioned Board of Control in protest against a contract which let all trucking work on the Toronto Transportation Commission's subway to one trucker.

The 60, who said they had worked on the project since it began last fall, were put off the job Tuesday when the general contractor for the subway gave the trucking work to James Walker in a sub-contract.

Mayor Hiram McCallum told the truckers that the contract for TTC cartage was given to the man who submitted the lowest tender.

He said Ross Shepard, secretary of the Independent Truckers' Association, told the police commission he had no objection to Mr. Walker being granted 18 additional licences to handle the job.

The delegates had complained that it was unfair for the police commission to grant Walker the extra permits.

Storms Batter Western States

CHICAGO, March 8 — (AP).— The winter-weary Mid-western United States staggered today from another round of crippling climatic blows. Snow, sleet, gales and blizzards whipped over areas from the northern plains into Iowa and headed for Lake Michigan.

Hundreds of towns were isolated with business nearly paralyzed. Highway travel was virtually halted in many areas. Scores of schools were closed. Many motorists and some school children were stranded in parts of the blizzard belt.

Communication service was wiped out over most of North Dakota and parts of South Dakota, Nebraska, and Minnesota. Amateur radio station operators were ready to handle emergency messages to areas cut off from outside telephone and telegraph communication.

Winds whistled across the Midwest Prairie lands at velocities from 35 to 65 miles an hour, with gusts up to 85 and as high as 100 miles per hour.

The storm's most devastating blows landed with telling effects over the Dakotas, Nebraska, Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin.

Says Canada On Guard Against Spies

Take Every Precaution As Safeguard Pearson Declares

OTTAWA, March 8—(CP)— External Affairs Minister Pearson said Tuesday night the government is "taking every possible precaution to ensure that the safety of this country will never be threatened by the activities of Communist agents" inside the federal civil service.

In a CBC free-time political broadcast Mr. Pearson said he had been shocked at statements by Donald Fleming (PC, Toronto-Eglinton) that there are Communists in "key position in the government service."

"If Mr. Fleming knows the name of any Communist in any key position in the government service, it is his duty to report that fact to the police at once. And if he does not . . . his was a pretty irresponsible statement to make anywhere, particularly in a broadcast by a member of parliament intended to inform the people about the nation's business."

Secret Supporters

The minister said there are secret supporters of Communism in every free country.

"The only effective way of finding and exposing them is by careful, conscientious and responsible security investigation, followed by determined and vigorous legal action whenever action is warranted. Nothing, however, is gained by noisy 'spy under every bed' campaigns, shrill appeals to panic and efforts to make party capital out of a situation regarding which we should be united.

"...There is every reason for vigilance, but no reason for scaremongering about Communist influence in the government. It is ridiculous to state that there now is such influence. The most vigorous and effective action taken by any democratic government against Communist agents was that carried out by Canada in 1946.

"...It was not easy and it was not popular, but it was necessary and it destroyed a network of Communist spying. The government which took this forthright action has not gone to sleep ... it is absurd to pretend that we would tolerate Communists in positions of trust. But we are equally vigilant to safeguard this country against the dangers of a feverish witch-hunt."

Describes Home As First School For The Young

HAVELOCK, March 8 (ENS)—Mrs. E. Chambers, of Peterborough, district chairman of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations, was guest speaker on Monday, when the Havelock branch marked its 13th anniversary.

Mrs. Chambers defined the home as the laugh of the baby, the song of a mother, the strength of a father, the warmth of loving hearts, light from happy eyes, loyalty, comradeship.

Home was the first school and the first church for the young.

Mrs. Chambers said the H. and S Association had taken a definite stand in favor of censoring crime comics and she believed some crimes would not have been committed had it not been for some types of comics.

Plans for alcohol education to be included in the studies for Grades 6 to 12 were given by Mrs Chambers. Many letters had been received by the association from parents of teen-agers asking for help in the unwise use of alcohol

Schools in British Columbia had an alcoholic course, Mrs. Chambers said, and a letter had been sent to the Minister of Education requesting that a study of the B.C. course be made for duplication in Ontario.

If the proposals to lower standards in training for teachers were implemented, the children in the small centres and rural districts would suffer, the speaker declared.

Approves Revision

The revision of the curriculum, she said, was a move in the right direction, because eliminating the step in the mind of the child from the entrance to high school was very important.

The speaker reviewed the changes in the curriculum during the past few years, and stressed the need for co-operation with the teachers, and for study groups apart from the regular meetings.

Mrs. Chambers said health education for the child and healthful school environment which included adequate lighting, natural and artificial; adequate heat and ventilation; modern sanitary arrangements; sanitary drinking water and wash basins; paper towels and a clean school were two important aspects of school life.

A vote of thanks was proposed by Mrs. L. H. Cooke.

Assess Parents

Mrs. A. Nelson, president of the Peterborough Home and School Council, spoke briefly on the evaluation sheet, a copy of which had been distributed to the members.

The attendance shield and $1.00 prize was won by Miss G. Hunter's room.

Shirley Jewell entertained with an Irish song and dance and Mrs. W. Goadsby also sang.

The president, Mrs. H. J. McNeely, presided for the business session with Mrs. F. McKay conducting the program period.

Regreshments served at the close of the meeting included a large birthday cake decorated and inscribed.

Youth Calls Upon Premier To Combat Discrimination

TORONTO, March 8.—(CP).—A delegation representing 72 youth organizations called on Premier Frost today to ask legislation and education to combat discrimination on grounds of race, nationality, color or creed.

A petition presented to Premier Frost commended the Government for including in its new labor bill a provision barring discriminatory clauses in trade union agreements.

The petition asked "that similar legislation to be adopted to prevent such discrimination in employment from the side of the employer also."

The petition also approved legislation introduced at the current session to outlaw property covenants that discriminate on account of "race or creed." They asked that the bill be amended to include "nationality and place of birth."

"We call upon the Government of Ontario to pass legislation to curb the type of discrimination in the use of public places that has arisen in such places as Dresden, Ont," the petition said.

Coupled with anti-discrimination legislation the Government should undertake a program of education designed to promote public support of the legislation, "and to teach children and adults the importance of living in harmony, equality and fellowship with others among the different racial, religious and cultural groups that make up our province."

The delegation included representatives of youth organizations of several denominations, the CCF and Labor Progressive clubs of the University of Toronto, the National Federation of Labor Youth, the Ontario Young Liberal Association, and the Toronto Negro Study Group.

Bushworker Receives Three-Year Sentence

PORT ARTHUR, March 8 (CP)—Leo Laflamme, 42-year-old bushworker, charged with the murder of Patrick Smith, 65, Tuesday pleaded guilty to manslaughter and was sentenced of three years in penitentiary. The jury found Laflamme not guilty of murder.

The charge was laid following the fatal beating of Smith in a one-room cabin here Feb. 10.

Monday a witness quoted Laflamme as having said he beat up Smith because the latter tried to hit him with a bottle.

When the case resumed Tuesday, H. T. Cunningham, counsel for the defence, said Laflamme was prepared to plead guilty to the lesser charge of manslaughter.

Asks Superior Highway Finished

TORONTO, March 8.—(CP).—William Dennison (CCF-Toronto St. David) Tuesday called on the Ontario Government to complete the 175-mile stretch of Highway 17 around the north shore of Lake Superior.

On a recent tour of Northern Ontario, members of the Legislature had heard "the cry for roads, roads, and more roads," he said in the Legislature.

Mr. Dennison's reference to the north-shore highway as reported by Hansard:

"That 175-mile strip of unfinished No. 17 Highway between Terrace Bay and the head of the (Montreal) river, has caused a steady lament that it is not yet finished. I, personally, cannot see why Ontario, with its resources, should not go ahead with the completion of that highway, regardless of whether, at the moment, we have the authority or agreement from Ottawa, because when a decision is reached to build the Trans-Canada Highway we will undoubtedly get credit for that portion of it which we have already built."

Seek Solution To Sewage Plant Money Problem

COBOURG, March 8 (ENS)—Possibility of the council and the utilities commission working out a system whereby the cost of sewage disposal plant could be financed by a special billing to utilities customers, was discussed at a meeting of the utilities on Tuesday and a special meeting of the council and the utilities commission will be held next Monday.

Last year the commission turned down the suggestion of the council that the utilities handle the billing of the people on a special sewage rental charge to cover the cost of the sewage disposal plant. The Commissioners at that time complained it had been rushed upon them without time for them to consider it and there were many details to be worked out such as a fair charge against commercial and industrial users.

Mayor Jack Burnet told the Commission Tuesday that the council had empowered him to sound out the members of the Commission as to whether there was any use re-opening the subject.

Neither the present council or the Commission was responsible for the sewage disposal plant debt but he said he would like to see it financed in the most equitable manner possible. He agreed it had been pushed into the lap of the Commission without due warning and that had been a wrong procedure. He wondered if the Commission's attitude toward the matter had been due to the way it had been presented.

"If the whole thing went on the general rate it would mean that government institutions, which use the sewage disposal facilities, would escape the responsibility of having to help pay for them. The mayor suggested that the charge be attached to the electric bill because these went to about 99 per cent of the residents of Cobourg.

Town Hall Staff?

Chairman Jack Delanty suggested it might be handled by the town hall staff, who could be the utilities billing machine.

Commissioner Maurice Booth said he had been talking to a member of the Peterborough Public Utilities Commission and he said that the Commission there was opposed to handling the billing of the sewage disposal plant charges.

"I'd like to see if we could work it out on a basis of each householder paying the same rate and then have a different basis for the commercial users. It may be too late to anything now, before the rate is struck, so for this year at least, we might have to handle it on the general rate and during the year see if the council and the commission could work out some plan," said the Mayor.

"Let us get together as soon as possible," suggested Chairman Jack Delanty.

Commissioner Bob Love thought provincial and federal institutions, being tax free, might refuse to pay the sewage rental charge, taking the stand that it was a tax.

'Madame' Withdraws

COBOURG, March 8 (ENS) The term "Madame Councillor" will no longer be heard at meetings of the town council. This does not mean, however, that women are to be excluded from that body.

Councillor Rhena Stephens, the only woman on the present council, announced at the meeting Monday, that she preferred to be known as Councillor Stephens and asked her colleagues to refrain from addressing her as Madame.

First woman to sit on the council of Cobourg was Edith Kerr MacDonald, elected in 1925, who later became the first woman Reeve. The late Clara DeFany was the second woman elected to the council and Councillor Stephens is the third.

Flirts With Chair In Effort To Prove Sanity

NEW YORK, March 8.—(AP).—Flirting with the electric chair, a wealthy Montreal contractor who claims he is "the Messiah" has drawn upon the wisdom of great philosophers his argument that he is in his right mind.

A psychiatrist says the man is insane—a condition that would send him to a hospital instead of the chair.

If the defendant wins his argument that he is sane, he faces a death sentence for murder.

The arguments—and particularly the motive for them—have produced a novel legal question.

In an unusual court move, Lewis Wolfe was permitted Tuesday to try to prove his sanity by cross-examining a psychiatrist who had declared him insane.

For 2½ hours, Wolfe questioned the specialist about psychiatry, psychology the Bible and various other metaphysical questions. He backed up his arguments with quotations from great thinkers of the ages.

Try 2 More Doctors

When the session ended, Judge Louis Goldstein ordered the appointment of two other psychiatrists to examine Wolfe, and adjourned the case to March 16.

In 1944 Wolfe was convicted of first-degree murder in the fatal beating of his Viennese actress wife with a steel-tipped shoe after she confessed infidelity. Adjudged insane, he was committed to Matteawan State Hospital. He was released as sane early last month and brought before Goldstein to be sentenced.

(Under New York State law, a person sentenced to death for murder but adjudged insane must be resentenced to death if he is later reported cured.)

But when Wolfe declared in court he was "the Messiah," the Judge ordered further mental tests.

In court Tuesday, Dr. Solon C. Wolff, assistant director at Matteawan, testified the convicted man was sane when released Feb. 9, but is insane now.

Coal Contracts Add $1 Ton To Finished Steel

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP).—The new contract for coal miners will add somewhat less than $1 a ton to costs of making finished steel, the Iron Age, metal-working trade weekly, says today.

Despite this, the industry's coal cost a ton of finished steel this year may be less than it was in 1949, the publication adds.

It explained: "Last year the steel industry had about $50,000,000 added to its coal cost by John L. Lewis' devious stratagems—the three-day week and the need to build huge reserves of commercial coal. This added about $1 on an annual basis to the cost of each ton of finished steel produced."

The coal crisis caused a loss of about 1,000,000 tons of production in the steel industry, the Iron Age says.

The Treachery Of Dr. Fuchs

Since the discovery that Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the atomic scientist in the pay of the British Government, was betraying his employer and communicating secret atomic information to the Communists, there have been many newspaper and magazine articles expressing amazement at his treachery. Fuchs, at his trial, let it be said that he was a schizophrenic, a man of divided mind, capable of working earnestly in the employ of one government and also capable of telling all he knew to another government. This appears to amaze some people; it does not amaze us. It has been done by spies since the dawn of time, and it has undoubtedly been done by spies in the employ of countries which we respect. It is probably being done by several such spies at this moment. Spying is a nasty, necessary business. Dr. Fuchs differs from hundreds of other spies only in the fact that he got no payment for his work, instead of the very low pay which spies, as a usual thing, command.

* * *

Why did Fuchs work for Russia for nothing? Because he is an idealistic Communist, ready to make sacrifices for a cause he cherishes. This also should not cause us any surprise. Communism has been compared, and with some success, to a religion. It is, indeed, a materialist faith which promises great things for mankind when all the world is run on Communist lines. In this respect it differs in no way from Christianity, which maintains that if all men were Christians the world's troubles could be smoothed away. Communism, still in the first century of its success, is spreading like wildfire; in the course of time we may expect it to grow weary and to fail in its missionary zeal. But we must not be surprised if, in our day, martyrs like Klaus Fuchs appear from time to time. Nothing will stop them.

* * *

The comparison between Communism and Christianity must not be pushed too far, for its validity is limited and the resemblance is one of externals rather than of content. The answer to Communism, which is a political faith, is not Christianity, but Democracy. Christianity can exist without Democracy, as it does in Spain, and Democracy can exist without Christianity, as it does in Palestine. But for many people Democracy is an extremely hard faith to compass, for it is lacking in dogma; it is a condition of conscience.

* * *

Much has been made of Dr. Fuchs' brilliant intellect. Surely it is clear by now that a man's brilliance in one direction is not necessarily carried over into all his thinking; nor is it necessary to be exceptionally brilliant to be a wholehearted democrat. Dr. Fuchs was a scientist, and some scientists delight in systems rather than in free speculation. Communism is, above all else, a system. Democracy is not a system; it would be better described, in psychological jargon, as a complex—a body of thoughts and feelings loosely associated and giving rise to particular modes of action. It is easy to see why a man who, like Fuchs, had never been a democrat, and whose intellectual training was that of a scientist, would betray democracy without any strong sense of treachery.

At Vote At Eighteen?

Last week, H. R. Argue, C.C.F. member for the Saskatchewan constituency of Assiniboia introduced a bill to which the Commons gave first reading. The bill provides that the qualifying age of voters be eighteen years instead of the present twenty-one. The Argue bill is not likely to get beyond the first reading, for the good reason that there is no good reason why juveniles should be allowed the franchise.

Social Credit and C.C.F. governments in Alberta and Saskatchewan, with no doubt an eye to a favourable polling response from the young, lowered the age limits in their provinces: in Alberta to 19, in Saskatchewan to 18. These Canadian precedents are not exemplary. The traditional time of majority is twenty-one years. Why should it be lowered in this century when the responsible age of adulthood is continually being raised? In Canada sixty and a hundred years ago when girls married at sixteen and young men were out in the world doing men's work at eighteen, there was a better reason for giving the vote to persons aged eighteen than now. If the voting age is to be changed, we suggest that it be raised, not lowered.

In introducing his bill Mr. Argue said its purpose was "to take into account the superior education and training now given Canadian youth; also the fact that at eighteen years of age Canadians are considered sufficiently mature to serve in the country's armed forces". These reasons are sketchy. Education in Canada is more general, far wider, than in most countries and than it was here sixty years ago. But it is not necessarily superior; quantity is not the measure of superiority. As for superior training: does Mr. Argue refer to the modern lack of training which seems to be accompanied by juvenile delinquency? The old chestnut whose kernel is that if a man is good enough to shoulder arms he is good enough to vote is logically indefensible. The qualities which fit a person for the army are not those which make him a desirable voter. A young man does not become democratically responsible merely because he is put under military command.

The only comment in the House following Mr. Argue's introduction of his bill came from Jean Francois Pouliot who quipped: "Seven is the age of wisdom."

If Only It Were True!

Mr. David Lilienthal, formerly head of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, says that the suggestion by scientists that the hydrogen bomb could mean the end of the world is "intellectual nonsense". The Ottawa Journal commends him for his stand on this matter, and refers to "Sunday Supplement scientists", meaning, we presume, Dr. Albert Einstein and a few more like him. The atom bomb, says the Journal, wiped out "a pinpoint on the map" and the hydrogen bomb "would affect but an insignificant part of the earth's surface."

We deplore any tendency to panic about the hydrogen bomb, which is not yet in existence and has not been tried. Nevertheless, we think that Dr. Einstein would be unlikely to speak so seriously unless he had a pretty shrewd notion of what he was talking about; he is hardly to be brushed aside as a "Sunday Supplement scientist".

We suggest, also, that the wiping out of a pinpoint on any map is a serious matter if the pinpoint happens to mark an important spot—such a place as Ottawa, for example. The Journal's bland dismissal of human agony and destruction indicates a lordliness of soul beyond the reach of the Examiner.

We wish, devoutly, that it were true that the hydrogen bomb could destroy all of mankind, and that this knowledge were in the possession of every government in the world. Then, we trust, power-drunk idiots in both hemispheres would have enough common gumption and sense of self-preservation not to use it.

Jewels That Jiggle

A fashion note which reaches us from England expresses great excitement over a new way of mounting jewels; they are set on tiny springs, which move at the slightest agitation; this makes the jewel look bigger and also attracts attention to it. This is described as "an innovation".

Without wishing to be a curmudgeon we must point out that real innovations in the world of dress are great rarities, and that these jiggling jewels are not really new. Some of our older readers may remember ladies' bonnets which bore large enamelled butterflies, poised on springs above their velvet flowers; as the wearer moved the butterfly quivered on its hair-spring. The same device was used in a variety of ways. The use of springs to mount jewellery may be new, but we are not convinced of it. This is not an age of great beauty or ingenuity in making jewellery, and we imagine that this idea must have occurred to the great jewellers of the past.

Anything really new in the world of fashion would be deeply interesting. Most of what passes as novelty in fashion is merely a revival and a reworking of what has been used, time and again, through the centuries.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Be happy and you'll be beautiful" writes an expert in a woman's magazine. Does this apply to a fat girl raising an ecstatic face from the ruins of a blueberry pie?

Last week three newpapermen in the Argentine were jailed for "being disrespectful to public officials". Respect in a fascist state goes not with character, but with the job.

From The Critic's Notebook

CHIT OF A GIRL, by Georges Simenon (Kegan Paul).

ALTHOUGH an extremely prolific writer, Georges Simenon never falters in his standard of perfection. Each book, as it leaves his pen, seems to fall into that pattern of excellence with which his name has become synonymous. In the first of these two novels he has chosen the setting to which he seems most attached—a French fishing village. The story is superimposed upon the life of the village, Port-en-Bessin, its inhabitants, and their work. The opening pages introduce La Marie as a seventeen year old girl whose father has just died. As she has kept house for the father, her two brothers, and small idiot sister since her mother's death, the fisherfolk take up a collection for her. At the funeral she is seen by Henri Chatelard, who has brought her elder sister Odile, his mistress down from Cherbourg for the funeral. Through Odile he offers La Marie a job as waitress in his cafe in Cherbourg but she refuses and stays alone, after relatives have taken the smaller members of her family, to work at the Cafe Marine in her own village. Chatelard becomes obsessed with the desire to get her away and have her for himself, and with this in mind he buys a boat so that he has ample excuse to visit Port-en-Bessin regularly. While he is planning his campaign La Marie is cold-bloodedly trying to trap him into marriage, regardless of the fact that he is still living with her sister. During a fight with a boy who is, or believes himself to be, in love with Marie, Chatelard breaks the boy's arm and is forced to take him to his cafe to be nursed back to health, to avoid a scandal; there Odile is compromised with him and returns to Port-en-Bessin to live with La Marie, who has only been waiting for something like this with which to bait her trap. At last she is successful and Chatelard, caught and hopelessly enamoured of the hard, bargain-driving girl gives up his Cafe to learn to be master of his own ship, whilst La Marie fulfills her dream to be legal mistress of a wealthy home.

◇ ◇ ◇

The second story in this volume is called "Justice", and I think the author should have placed an interrogation mark after the title. It is the story of a petty criminal on the French Riviera. Chosen by thieves to draw attention to himself whilst they loot the post office he manages to lure the post master himself to come out and play bowls in the street. After the game Louis Bert, more commonly known as Petit Louis, picks up an elderly woman from the crowd and gets her to take him to dinner. As she is a rather vulnerable lonely fifty he soon persuades her to keep him as a gigolo and take him to her flat in Nice. Once installed Petit Louis, who is devoid of all decency, brings the prostitute who previous kept him to live with them, introducing her as his sister. Eventually the boastful crook is unable to keep quiet and tells the old lady where the loot had been hidden and she, in her turn, proud of her association with the reptilian Louis repeats his boasts to the croupier at the Casino. He notifies the police. This starts the net closing about Petit Louis; first the police and then his accomplices who think he has betrayed them. Wisely he decides to disappear for a few days only to discover, on his return that someone, presumably one of his gang, has entered the flat and murdered the old lady. Frightened, but not sufficiently terrified to forget his own safety, he disposes of the body and hides whilst he collects some money from an admirer of the deceased. Feeling very rich he moves to an island but once more sees a way to make money and tries to sell the old lady's house. Since the police have already entered her flat in Nice and discovered signs of violence this is all they need to pounce on him, which they do. After that there is nothing but the piling up of circumstantial evidence and the attempts of the stupid pimp to extricate himself from the trap. It is this part of the story that makes one think Corruption would be a better title. Certainly the accused is given no hearing. The judge is as bigoted, bitter and ruthless as must have been the Judge Jeffreys of our history books. The witnesses lie unrelentingly and the only person who could possibly have saved him refuses to do so. As the body has never been discovered Petit Louis is given twenty years penal servitude and is comforted by a kindly gendarme who reminds him that he will still be only forty-five when he comes out.

Although the subject matter in both these stories is gloomy and sordid they never leave one depressed—a little disgusted perhaps, but not depressed. I think that that is where Georges Simenon's real artistry comes to the fore. He can draw a believable picture of such utter degradation and misery and still leave one with the feeling that "It couldn't happen here, or could it?" S.S.T.

THE OTHER CITY, by John J. Espey (Knopf).

THIS is the third volume of John Espey's recollections of his childhood in Shanghai; the other two, "Minor Heresies" and "Tales Out of School", were reviewed in this column at the time of their appearance; as was the case with those books, several chapters from this one having already appeared in "The New Yorker". I may as well confess at once that I am strongly prejudiced in favour of Espey's books by the charming and literate style in which they are written; we live in an age when reminiscences are two-a-penny, but they are rarely the reminiscences of people who have learned to handle the English language in anything but the most rough-and-ready manner; Espey is a stylist—not a self-conscious twiddler with words, but a man anxious to convey exactly the right shade of meaning in everything he writes.

In the nineteen chapters of this book the writer continues his fascinating reconstruction of the childhood and early youth of an Occidental boy living in the Orient. The book can be read and understood superficially, as a brilliant and witty account of an out-of-the-way life, but there is much more to it than that; there is a sensitive revelation of the surprising thoughts that a child thinks, of a child's particular notions of honour and dishonour, of a child's response to a complex and cosmopolitan city. The author has not paraded his wisdom, but the discerning reader will find it, and savour it as he reads the book. R.D.

Rouble Devalued For Prestige

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

THE revaluation of the rouble and the lowering of commodity prices by decree of the Council of Ministers of the U.S.S.R. should be seen as two distinct operations having no essential connection with each other.

Although the decree speaks of raising the official rate of exchange of the rouble in face of the depreciating currencies of the West and of basing it on Russian gold instead of on the dollar, this operation is, in fact, entirely meaningless. In terms of the dollar and the pound the rouble was already grossly over-valued; and the new and higher rate still further increases the falsity of the position. The new rouble, that is to say, is fixed at 11.2 to the pound sterling, whereas in terms of purchasing power its real value varies between 60 and 100 to the pound, according to what is to be bought.

Since no Western Government would dream of negotiating trade agreements in terms of this meaningless and artificial currency, the Kremlin is bound to continue using the dollars as the currency unit in all dealings with the West. And this means that we must look elsewhere for the motives behind the revaluation.

There are probably three distinct motives. First, as a domestic propaganda move, to drive home the story, now being plugged in Russia harder than ever before, that while the Soviet economy is on the up-grade, the Western economy is sinking fast. Second, as a prestige move in face of the satellites and China (especially China)—to express all loans and trade agreements behind the Iron Curtain in terms of the rouble instead of the dollar and thus creating the legend of an all-powerful rouble. Third, and perhaps most important of all, to put the satellites at a disadvantage in raising the price of Soviet goods to them and lowering the price of satellite goods to the Soviet Union.

The price-cut is a separate matter. This is the third cut since the astronomical war-time prices were first slashed in 1947. The last calculation made when the rouble was officially just under 15 to the pound, showed that the average expenditure of a Russian worker was between 70 and 80 roubles for each pound's worth of goods bought. Today, with the rouble down to 11 to the pound, prices have been cut again by 15 to 30 per cent., with one or two exceptions above and below that level.

This will mean a decided fillip to the ordinary Soviet worker, who, until now, has been able to afford little but the barest necessities. It is made possible by the country's gradual recovery from war-time ruin. In spite of shortcomings in the plan, recent harvests have built up reserves of food, while consumer goods, which three years ago were for all practical purposes non-existent, are slowly coming into production.

RECENT revelations as to the passively rebellious state of mind not only among the ordinary people but also among the rank and file Communist Party members have suggested that some dramatic Government concession to restore the hope of better times before it had quite died out, was urgently necessary. This is it.

What remains to be seen is whether the supply of goods can keep pace with the increased demand resulting from lower prices. Further, no lowering of commodity prices can do anything to relieve the atrocious housing conditions of the mass of the workers, inconceivable by Western standards, which is the basic cause of much of the present discontent and apathy.

The problem facing the Soviet Government is to combat the falling-off in productivity caused by bad conditions of life, without diverting too much of its resources from heavy industry to consumer goods. Only by keeping consumer goods down to the absolute minimum can the Kremlin find the material resources for its great industrial plans; but only by giving the people additional inducements to work harder can the necessary work be extracted to carry out those plans.

Cigar Trouble

Cigar makers are said to be worrying about the sharp drop in the consumption of their product during the past 30 years. One executive says: "We might as well admit it, the way things are going, when a cigar smoker dies we have one less consumer and no one to take his place. The younger generation is not taking them up."

The Sault Ste. Marie Star thinks the gradual disappearance of the vest may be in part responsible for the trend. Without a vest, there is no convenient parking place for cigars. The paper adds, "No man can make a cigar look really built in without being able to hook his thumbs in the armholes of a vest".

Perhaps the Star is right. But one cannot help but wonder if the failure of the manufacturers to meet the country's need for a "good five-cent" cigar is not at the bottom of the sales decline.

Letter To The Editor

SCOTS' HOSPITALITY VS. ENGLISH

Sir: I have never written to a paper before but on reading Mr. Braund's and MacDuff's letters even I was moved to action.

As I understand it, the issue at stake is whether Scots' hospitality exceeds the English brand. What I would ask at this point is what do these two gentlemen actually mean when they say "hospitality"?

To me, and I am sure to many others, it denotes the readiness to accept people into one's home and family life. As an English woman and a visitor to Scotland I would say there is hospitality abounding in both countries. In Scotland it is more spontaneous as here in Canada. In England it is a little slower to unfold but is probably the more sincere because of this.

I heartily denounce Mr. MacDuff's statement with regard to Canadian vets' opinions. Let him produce a single veteran who will not vouchsafe he met with the most wonderful hospitality in England, once the natural English reserve was pierced.

As for bus drivers and policemen, why in England these bodies of men are the most friendly and hospitable of any in the world. Ask any Canadian vets' opinion of the English bus driver or bobby during the blitz and blackout.

Yours truly,
(MRS.) D. SAYERS.

Lonely Chibougamau Likely To Be Land Of Promise To Many Quebec Mining Experts In Near Future

By ALAN RANDAL

LAKE CHIBOUGAMAU, Que., March 8 — (CP) — The almost-limitless Chibougamau country, locked for centuries in northern isolation, is astir today with man's search for gold.

The country may soon bear out the name prospectors gave it long ago, in the days before aircraft and when the only entry was by canoe and back-breaking portages or by snowshoe and toboggan in wintertime. The name then was "Land of Promise."

Actually that "Land of Promise" name was a lot of malarkey. Such enterprising mining men as Herb (Tiny) Corbett and the late Bill Mackenzie of Toronto helped dream it up and the best you can find from any of today's Indians is that Chibougamau means "meeting place."

Nevertheless, mining men in the area are sure in their faith that Chibougamau will make it and become a land of promise. And the Quebec government, through opening up Chibougamau with a soon-to-be-finished $4,000,000 highway, is gambling at least to that degree that the mining men are right.

Makes Big Difference

"The road makes all the difference," said Bill Lafontaine, agent of the Quebec Bureau of Mines at he threw more wood on his log-cabin fire against the outside temperature of 43 degrees below zero. "I feel confident that spring will find perhaps 1,000 men in the big area of Chibougamau hunting minerals."

Only a couple of miles of the road remain to be completed. Then Chibougamau with its already-scratched wealth of copper and gold will be open to anybody with a stout heart and some means.

Already, said Lafontaine, a veteran of this country since the mid-1930s, 6,000 claims of 40 acres each have been staked through the area.

"They belong," said Lafontaine, "to the big mining companies who know there is wealth here and to the small free-lance prospectors who hope to find wealth. If the little fellows haven't the means to work their ground themselves they at least may have something that is real — something they can sell."

Must be Tough

And then, in the manner of a man who knows his northland, he said: "but nobody should come here unless he understands the country and can take care of himself."

In this Bill is right. For Chibougamau is a vast area lying about 250 miles northeast of Rouyn, Que., perhaps half way between the St. Lawrence River where it joins the Saguenay and Rupert House on James Bay. Currently it is a reserve known only to government officials, prospectors, bush pilots, trades and Indians. It can be a harsh land.

In Chibougamau you canoe, walk the snows, travel behind dogs or fly. Otherwise you stay home.

Soon it will be different. At the planned terminus of the St Felicien-to-Chibougamau road a townsite has been laid out by the Quebec government and will be opened probably early in the spring.

Civic Leader Leaves Gift For Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, England—(CP)—Martin Lewis Lancaster was proud of Birmingham and Birmingham was proud of him.

It honored him by making him lord mayor. He was also a justice of the peace and served the city as an alderman. Last August he died at the age of 80.

His £40,000 ($124,000) will, published recently, left three months' salary to each of his employees and domestic staff £1,550 in bequests and the residue "for the collective benefit of the citizens of Birmingham."

The city has not yet decided what it will do with the money.

Showing a gain of 3,667 during 1949 the Scout membership in Ontario reached 52,109, the highest in the history of the Provincial Council of the Boy Scout Association. These figures were released at the 39th annual meeting of the Council in Guelph Saturday. Gains were reported in all branches but the Sea Scouts which recorded a small loss.

The fastest-growing section of the Scout movement is the Wolf Cub branch, boys eight to 10 years, numbering 29,283. Registered Boy Scouts, 12 to 17 years, number 16,442 and the Rover Scouts, 17 to 25 years, number 1026.

Scout representatives from 50 districts took part in the sessions held at the Ontario Agricultural College. Among them were Commissioner George Groombridge, Assistant Commissioner Ferd C Ford, James Houghton and Edward MacDonald. They joined in group discussions under the headings of camp sites, committees in scouting, financial campaign, and work of district leaders.

Arthur Richardson, Toronto, was re-elected president of the council and other officers elected were: Hon. president, J. W. Mitchell, Toronto; vice-presidents, J. F. M. Stewart, Toronto, Walter Gibson, Tillsonburg, L. L. Lang, Galt, John B. Ridley Toronto, R. L. Stratton London.

Eastern Rinks Favored To Win Title

VANCOUVER, March 8 (CP)—A new touch—perhaps only temporary—was added Tuesday to the Canadian curling championship as Ontario rinks finished fourth round matches in the top slots.

Carl Asmussen's Kitchener quartet showed a clean sheet with four straight victories. The other, from Kirkland Lake, had only one loss while western rinks, who in previous years have dominated this big-league competition, weren't in position to challenge immediately.

That is the picture today as the 10 rinks headed into the home stretch in the four-day round-robin tournament.

Five rinks, each with a two and two won-lost record, followed the Ontario clubs—Quebec, Nova Scotia, British Columbia and the pre-spiel favorites Manitoba and Alberta. Three others—Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Saskatchewan—headed into this afternoon's fifth round with one victory in four starts.

And the big game of today's draw will bring together Asmussen's rink against the foursome skipped by Tom Ramsay of northen Ontario.

Lone Defeat

Ramsay, playing a careful brand of curling, suffered his lone defeat, a close 13-12 loss, in the initial round to Cliff Manahan of Edmonton, skipping the Alberta crew. A loss for the young Kitchener crew today would tie the leadership while a loss for Ramsay's rink would give Ontario almost a clear road to the title.

Asmussen's rink won seven provincial playoff games to qualify for the championship.

Their victories Tuesday, 11-7 over British Columbia and an easy 13-5 triumph over Novt Scotia, indicates the rink can handle almost any kind of a game. But Cully Schmidt, second, said later he did not feel they had played their best curling yet.

Otonabee Pucksters Ready For Playoffs

KEENE, March 8 (ENS)—The final standing in the Otonabee Rural Hockey League is:

	W	L	T	Pts
Westwood	5	1	2	12
Keene	5	2	1	11
Downer's	3	2	3	9
Indian River	4	4	0	8
Assumption	0	6	2	2

Westwood scored 21 goals and had 13 against, Keene 22 and 12. Downer's Corners 20 and 16, Indian River 19 and 19, Assumption Hall 9 and 31. Playoffs commence here Thursday with Keene playing Indian River at seven, and Downer's Corners meeting Westwood at nine. They are sudden-death affairs, finals commencing at eight p.m. Monday in three-of-five. Bill McMaster and Art Shearer are referees.

The league got off to a good start this year with Westwood strong from the beginning, Keene coming fast at the last. Tom Mather in the Keene nets had two late shutouts in a row. Downer's, after a slow start, came on good as did Indian River. Assumption did well with a mixture of youngsters and veterans, going through the season without a penalty.

Young's Point Wins

LAKEFIELD, March 8—(ENS)—Young's Point Sea Scouts beat the local Sea Scouts 4-0 in a tidy exhibition of hockey, D. Jacobs and J. Jacobs each scoring two goals for the winners. The losers battled hard in a speedy and clean contest, but could not break that goose egg. Teams:

Lakefield: Goal, Leonard; defence, Pratt, Matthews; centre, Wilford; wings, Brown, Burger; alternates, Hill, Whitney, Hinton.

Young's Point—Goal, Brown; defence, Darling, D. Jacobs; centre, P. Heard; wings, Barber; McIlmoyle; alternates, Jones, W. Heard, Garrett, Hogarth, J. Jacobs.

Our congrats to redheaded Sam Murphy, right-handed flinger for Gord Young's southend juveniles, City Baseball League champs last season. Sam recently was awarded the Fred Craig Memorial Trophy, being picked by Alex Kay as the most valuable player in the city to his team. Excellent control and a good curve made this bespectacled 18-year-old PCVS student an important party in the team's victory. Each year, Alex Kay—who is commissioner for minor ball here—selects the most valuable player and the latter receives a permanent trophy, given by this paper.

* * * * * *

Jack Sisson took it in 1945, being a catcher, same as Al Menzies the next year. And ditto with Ken Pammett (youngest yet to win) in '47. A shortstop, Don Pagett, took it last year, and now a twirler. Sam is a brother of Walt Murphy, lacrosse official. Announcement of the award was held up till the big leaguers' trek south started talk of the diamond sport once more. All choices in the past have proven sound and, in fact, Alex goes as far as to claim Al Menzies was the best judge of batters in the COBL last summer.

That Big Playoff Fray

Hockey fans will be out in force ere 8.30 tonight to see Kingston Nylons and Legionnaires go in Civic Arena. Fourth of their best-of-seven OHA senior "B" group finals, Nylons being up one game. Next one will be back in the Limestone City on Friday. This is sure to be another swell scrap between the classy and well-matched clubs. Both have speed to burn, a lot of puck savvy and they play it pretty clean in these sawoffs. On account of penalties prove too costly. Couple of Legion trips to the sin bin last time out in Kingston cost the Ellis outfit two goals and it ended 5-4 for Nylons.

* * * * * *

When Kingston won the first game at home, we began to fear that it would turn out to be a case of each club winning on home ice—which would give Nylons the title finally as they have that extra tilt in Kingston, if necessary. But now we think the Legionnaires will win their games here, and can also take the needed one right on the Nylons' big pond. They outplayed 'em for two periods on Monday but were still nosed out. No luck around the Udall cage. But class and fight will tell, and they should take tonight's tilt and the one Friday to go ahead. That's our opinion, anyway. But every game will be a hot battle.

Narrowing 'Em Down

OMHA clubs fall by the wayside nightly now as spring shuffles closer to the wintry scene. Of 333 minor puck squads with an OMHA affiliation earlier this season, but 60 or so are left around. We have a juvenile "A" squad, the Oddfellows, in there yet, while Oshawa has midget and bantam "A" after defeating local and Quinte crews. Stirling ousted Lakefield in juvenile "C" as did Bolton in midget "C". But Campbellford has a bantam "C" entry yet, and must be about in provincial semi-finals by now, only four or five clubs being left in that race. Bobcaygeon is still in bantam "D", according to this morning's bulletin.

Prexy Jim McCarthy of the Otonabee Rural Puck Loop sends in the final standing, and the playoff arrangements. Two sudden-death semi-finals in Keene on the morrow, with best-of-five finals opening Monday, if there's ice. Bill McMaster and Art Shearer are refs, and we wonder if large Willyum is as lenient as he often wished senior "B" arbiters were. Keene meets Indian River tomorrow, as Downer's Corners tackle Westwood. Assumption lost out, failing to win a tilt (though tying a couple) and also failing to have a penalty all season. As Mac remarks, maybe crime does pay to some extent in hockey. A pretty fair rural league all through.

Hard-hitting Alan McFater of Toronto won an unanimous eight-round decision over veteran Lou Alter of Montreal in the headline bout of a professional boxing card before 6,100 fans at Toronto on Tuesday night.

McFater, 136 pounds, dropped Alter, 128, in the second round for a nine-count but the Montrealer came back in the fifth and seventh rounds with a good rally. A closing flurry of punches at McFater just before the final bell clinched the decision.

Four Hamilton Thistle rinks and a single entry from Hamilton Victorias were still in the running for the Spectator Trophy today after the third round of the first event of the annual Hamilton bonspiel was completed.

A. Ross Tarlton's Thistle foursome were favorites to cop first honors in the four-day bonspiel as his rink waltzed through the second and third rounds.

Jack Gray was named Tuesday the 1950 winner of the University of Toronto's George M. Biggs Memorial Trophy as the student who had contributed most to University athletics from the standpoint of leadership, sportsmanship and performance.

Pitcher Howie Pollet of St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday night joined six other top major-league ball players in ending a long holdout session, leaving only a dozen balkers. Pollet came to terms with owner Fred Saigh of St. Louis and will report to St. Petersburg, Fla., Thursday to sign his contract and start training with the Redbirds. It is believed he will receive $25,000 or $26,000, including attendance bonuses.

Outboard Motors don't scare the fish, says Dr. Karl F. Lagler, University of Michigan zoologist. Dr. Lagler has the results of a scientific experiment to back him up.

University researchers assigned three men to fish in a natural lake, six hours a day for 66 days, Dr. Lagler told the North American Wild Life Conference at San Francisco. Every other day an outboard motor boat swished past each fisherman twice every half hour. On the alternate days the boat was withheld. On these "quiet" days the catch by the three men averaged only one more fish every 10 hours of fishing than the average catch when the boat was used.

Joey Maxim, light heavyweight champion, will make his next big fight in England but after that he'll be willing to take on anyone, manager Jack (Doc) Kearns said Tuesday.

"We'll defend our title for Jack Solomons (British promoter) if he wants us to and we expect to meet the winner of the Bruce Woodcock-Lee Savold fight," said Kearns. "After that Joey will be ready to fight Ezzard Charles (the National Boxing Association champion), Joe Louis or anyone. We don't care. I'm going to prove Joey is the No. 1 heavyweight contender."

Hein Ten Hoff, German heavyweight boxing champion, said on Tuesday he will meet Jersey Joe Walcott of Camden, N. J., at Mannheim, Germany, May 7. Ten Hoff told a press conference that he has received a signed contract from Walcott agreeing to the bout.

PCVS Bantams Champions Cage District

Five long set shots over the Oshawa zone defence by Brian Turner, guard for the PCVS bantams, featured the decisive 27-5 victory PCVS claimed from Oshawa last night. The game, second of a two-game points to count Lake Ontario district final, completed an undefeated season for the Peterborough boys. The round score was a one-sided 66-24 count.

Oshawa led a low scoring first quarter 4-2. However, PCVS quickly took command as the second quarter started and led 10-4 at the half. Seven more field goals and three free throws piled up another 17 points to one for Oshawa in the second half. The Oshawa team, just finished a week of school exams, were away off shooting form.

Besides Brian Turner's 10 points Bob Boorman had six, Ken Armstrong four and Ron McIlwain three.

Teams:

PCVS—Boorman 6, Turner 10, Corbett 2, D. Ash, F. Ash, McIlwain 3, Armstrong 4, Griffin, Marshall 2. Total 27.

Marchildon Showing Plenty On The Ball

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 8 (AP)—Phil Marchildon, the pitcher Philadelphia Athletics tried to get rid of during the winter trading season, is out to show Connie Mack he still has plenty on the ball.

Already Marchildon, a native of Penetanguishene, Ont., is the most advanced pitcher in camp, the A's coaches agree, and so close to being the same fire-balling right-hander who won 19 games for the second-division Macks in 1947 that teammates are forecasting bad news ahead for American League batters.

Torrid Mat Card Set For Brock

It looks like a fiery mat card from start to finish tomorrow night at the Brock, when Dr. Len Hall, the explosive grappling pharmacist will clash with the erratic, fanatic Nanjo Singh the hated Hindu, in the feature match. Hall is known to be an outstanding pepper-pot himself, and with the "anything-goes" Singh in there against him, it would seem a good idea to stand well back.

Steve Stanlee, the blond-haired New York mat mixer, has been signed in the semi-final to meet towering, black-browed Vern Baxter. This should provide torrid action from start to finish. The opening bout will be packed with its own batch of fireworks, with skilled Juan Hernandez trying to topple huge-chested Barney Bernard.

Teams Battle For Position In NHL Playoffs

By HARRY ECCLES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

The remaining games of the National Hockey League schedule are likely to produce some of the toughest battles of the winter, as the Stanley Cup contenders jockey for position.

Detroit, Toronto, Montreal and New York appear to have clinched the play-off rights, with Boston still clinging to a faint hope. But the struggle now is between second and third positions, and they're all close.

Tonight New York Rangers play against Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins entertain Detroit Red Wings. Tomorrow Toronto Maple Leafs travel to Montreal Canadiens and New York entertains Detroit

In Solid Position

Detroit is solid in first place, with 74 points. Toronto is second with 66, Montreal third with 62 and New York holds the last play-off spot with 61 points. Boston is eight points behind with only nine games to go; Chicago 15 points behind New York with 10 games left. Most fans have already discarded Boston and Chicago but the fact remains that both still have a mathematical chance of making the playoffs.

As the fourth team on the totem pole, New York Rangers might be expected to be doing the heaviest pondering. But on Tuesday, with an open date, they pondered nothing more serious than a ballot for an "all-opponents" team.

They selected goalie Bill Durnan of Montreal; defenceman Jack Stewart and Leo Reise of Detroit; forwards Sid Abel and Ted Lindsay of Detroit and Maurice Richard of Montreal.

Hornets Get Edge

Omemee Hornets defeated the Trojans in Omemee by a 4-3 score in a fine exhibition. Trojans had an edge in the first frame but Hornets came on for a little margin in the last half. Patterson, Ferguson, and Dunn went best for Trojans with Evans good in goal, while Lytle, the Fox brothers, Morrissey and Lanciault looked good for the winners. Patterson scored in the first while Ferguson and Morrissey from O'Donnell were the second period snipers. In the third, H. Fox got one from D. Fox, the latter then scoring a pair, aided once by H Fox and again by Evans, as Seabrooke tallied for the losers Teams:

Trojans: Evans, Lockie, R. Dunn, E. Dunn, Foster, Patterson, Ferguson, Batley, Doris Seabrooke, Church, Faiers, Lundy, Chapman.

Hornets: Lanciault, Brown, Lytle, Morrissey, Evans, Stephenson, D Fox, H. Fox, Marsh, O'Donnell, McGuire, Ellis. Referee, J Evans.

Red Tilson Trophy Goes To Armstrong of Marlies

TORONTO, March 8 (CP) — George Armstrong, captain and centre star of Toronto Marlboros Juniors, has been named winner of the Red Tilson Memorial Trophy for the second time in three years. The trophy is awarded annually to the player judged most gentlemanly and effective in the Junior Ontario Hockey Association.

Sports writers of the eight Ontario centres represented in the Junior A loop gave the native of Skead, Ont., an overwhelming majority, 66 points, for the award donated by the Toronto Globe and Mail in memory of Red Tilson a pre-war star with Oshawa Generals who was killed in the Second World War.

Sports writers outside Toronto were allowed nine points for a first-place vote, six for a second and three for a third. Toronto writers were allowed six points for first place, four for second and two for third, because Toronto has two teams, Marlboros and St. Michaels.

Eight Nominated

Eight players were nominated for the award. Con Switzar, diminutive centre star of St. Catharines Teepees, received 31 points for second place. Earl Reibel, holder of the Junior OHA scoring record of 129 points, and Glen Skov, both of Windsor Spitfires, took third and fourth places.

Others in order were: Lorne Howes, Toronto St. Mikes; Ron Plumb, Guelph Biltmores; Dinny Flanagan, Stratford Kroehlers, and Eddie Stankiewicz, Windsor Spitfires.

The 19-year-old Armstrong, called jet by his teammates—won the trophy in the 1947-48 season while playing for Stratford Kroehlers. Gil Mayor won it last year as goaltender for Barrie Flyers.

Under contract to Toronto Maple Leafs, of the National Hockey League, Armstrong burned up the ice this season and amassed 115 scoring points, made up of 64 goals and 51 assists, the highest goal total in the loop. It brought his three year total to 138 goals and 136 assists, the highest ever attained in a three-year junior hockey career.

His last year of junior hockey ended Monday night when Marlboros were eliminated from play-off competition by Windsor Spitfires. The Windsor team won the semi-final series four games to one.

Veteran Bobby Bauer May Miss Playoffs

KITCHENER, March 8 (CP)— Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen are faced with the prospect of playing out the finals of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A playoffs without the services of veteran Bobby Bauer.

Injured in the first game of the series which Toronto Marlboros won 5-3, it was learned Tuesday the former National leaguer suffered a torn knee ligament when boarded by Gord Hannigan. The club doctor said Bauer would be out of action for at least 10 days.

Corners Get Win

KEENE, March 8 — (ENS) — Downer's Corners yanked out a 1-0 rural puck loop win over Indian River in a swell windup schedule scrap. The semi-finals begin here Thursday. The lone marker was counted in the third period by H. Burns from B. McIlmoyle. It was anybody's tilt throughout, with both sides playing good hockey. Teams:

Downer's Corners: T C[illegible]an, L. Batten, E. McIlmoyle, G Burns, H. Burns, B. McIlmoyle, B. Corrigan, K. Sedgewick, H Steenberg, Ross Barker G. Barker, J. Moore, Ralph Barker.

Ottawa Players Plan Different Play Every Week

By KAY REX

OTTAWA —(CP)—A group of actors and actresses has set out to prove that it's possible to make a career of Canadian theatre.

The idea isn't new. In the last couple of years stage companies have blossomed across Canada. But the Canadian Repertory Theatre is believed the only group attempting to give the public as steady and varied a bill-of-fare as the movies.

A different play each week is the C. R. T ambition; in its five-month existence it has produced more than 15 plays for a total of close to 150 performances.

The fact that it's getting continually better houses is proof that Ottawans are liking the productions they see in the downtown school auditorium where C. R. T. has its home.

Enthusiasm runs high among these young players holding their performances at top level.

Gruelling Task

Even a large company would find it gruelling enough rehearsing daily for a new play while keeping on tip-toe for nightly productions and Saturday matinees of the current one.

But C. R. T. players—there are 10 on permanent staff and half a dozen on call—take it all in their stride.

It's routine for all of them to work as Derek Ralston of Vancouver, did recently, learning the lines of Charles Lomax in G. B. Shaw's "Major Barbara," while playing evenings as Henry Abbott in Chodorov's "Kind Lady."

John Atkinson of London, England, also had heavy roles in the two plays, as well as Amelia Hall of Ottawa, and Sam Payne of Vancouver.

Miss Hall and Mr. Payne have been named co-producers of C R. T. plays following the recent resignation of the company's founder and managing director, Malcolm Morley. The British actor and producer who has become well known in Canadian theatrical circles plans to return shortly to his home in England.

The new C. R. T. producers both are old hands at stagecraft. Mr. Payne worked with the Vancouver Little Theatre for a time before coming to Ottawa.

Miss Hall began her theatrical career with the Ottawa Drama League. She was a member of the O D. L. cast which last year took Robertson Davies' comedy "Eros at Breakfast" to the Edinburgh Festival.

Others on the C. R. T. staff include two actresses from Toronto, both of whom decided early in life to make the theatre their career.

Play In Peterborough

Twenty-three-year-old Anna Cameron played for four years at Hart House Theatre and last season was with the Peterborough Summer Theatre before coming to C. R. T.

Gwendolyn Dante, also 23, was a member of the Canadian Army Show during the war and later played with the Open Air Theatre at Regent's Park in London. She is leaving C.R.T. shortly to return to England, probably to rejoin the London group. But she hopes one day to play again with the Ottawa company.

As far as Canadian theatre is concerned, and C. R. T. in particular, she feels "the ball has started rolling," and "I think it is going to grow."

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

CIRCUS PARADE, with its old steam calliope, is a spectacle which a whole generation of Canadians has never seen, and perhaps never will. When the Twentieth Century was young, it was an experience eagerly anticipated each year by millions of "youngsters" of all ages. The diabolical tootling of the horse-drawn chariot announced the arrival of the Big Top with all its marvels. Snarled city and town traffic and local restrictions, as much as anything else, caused the death of this firmly-embedded institution. The Big Top itself suffered some decline through depressions and wars. For millions of city youngsters today the circus is no longer the Big Top, but an indoor show held in the huge fireproof arenas, like New York's Madison Square Garden.

Partial Nazi Surrender Offered 13 Days Early

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—Thirteen days before the official surrender of the German High Command in 1945, the United States and Britain were offered surrender of all German troops on the Western Front, including those in the Netherlands, Denmark and Norway.

President Truman refused to accept until there was German surrender on all fronts. This was in accord with wartime pledges to both the Russians and Britain to accept nothing but a full surrender of al German forces to all the Allies.

Admiral William D. Leahy, former presidential chief of staff, reports this in his book, "I Was There," now runing serially in the Saturday Evening Post.

Czech Skater Leading Field, Canadian Is Fourth

LONDON, March 8 (CP) — Canada's hopes for distinction in the world figure skating championships rested today on the slender shoulders of Suzanne Morrow—but the girl from Toronto has an enormous job on her hands.

In the women's free skating competition tonight, she will have to outscore the defending world queen, black-haired Aja Vrzanova of Czechoslovakia, by 35 points, and also pass second-place Jeanette Altwegg of Britain and third-place Yvonne Sherman, the North American champion from New York.

The other Canadian entry in the women's events, Marlene Smith of Niagara Falls, Ont., was down in ninth place among the 14 contestants and appeared too far off the pace to make any impression on the leading quartet.

In Tuesday's wide-open compulsory school figures, Miss Vrzanova edged Miss Altwegg by a few decimal points.

In Thick of Fight

In her bid to win the gold medal once held by Ottawa's Barbara Ann Scott, the Toronto Skating Club star was in the thick of the fight for the lead during the fourth and fifth figures, but a "good" instead of a "very good" for thefinal figures spoiled her chances of coming closer.

After Tuesday's compulsory figures, the unofficial point-totals of the top four were: Miss Vrzanova 790.65; Miss Altwegg, 789.71; Miss Sherman 782.48; and Miss Morrow 766.38.

Miss Morrow represents Canada's last hope after the failure of Vancouver's Roger Wickson to finish better than eighth as peerless Dick Button of Englewood, N. J., clinched his third straight men's world title.

FARMERS' UNION MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

President's Address

ANNUAL MEETING FEBRUARY 25th, 1950

MR. CHAIRMAN, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

May I at the outset of my remarks this afternoon extend to you on behalf of your Board of Directors, a warm and hearty welcome to this the Fifty-fourth Annual Meeting of the Company.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

A study of our balance sheet for the year which ended on December 31st, 1949, shows a marked expansion in business, coupled with a corresponding increase in surplus and reserves. This fully warrants a feeling of satisfaction and security on the part of all concerned with the progress and welfare, of the Farmers' Union. Insurance written in the past year of $11,223,718.00 represents an increase over the previous year of $1,593,768.00. The total direct insurance in force is $26,974,528.00, and indicates the magnitude of the business carried on at the present time. Net insurance in force of $29,585,641.30 at the year's end, includes the reinsurance operations of the Company. This compared with the similar figure in the 1939 report shows an increase of over Twelve and One-half Million Dollar, in the ten year period. This illustrates the phenomenal increase in the amount of insurance at risk.

In view of the statements just made, and in keeping with what the Board of Directors believe to be the practice of sound business principles, it has been decided to apply all profits on the year's operations which amount to $24,292.47 less $834.64, provisions for Corporation Income Tax, to the reserves of the Company. Having paid back to all qualified Policyholders three refunds from surplus during the last five-year period; we believe the members will endorse the course followed.

LOSS EXPERIENCE

Direct fire losses paid during the year of $36,191.34 while large, do not appear excessive in view of the amount of risk carried. Of this total the sum paid for destruction of property from Unknown Causes was $19,039.88 which appears to be abnormally large. We again emphasize the importance of all Policyholders co-operating to the fullest extent with Company Adjusters in determining the true cause of fire. Only by this method can we hope to eliminate dangerous hazards.

FIRE HAZARDS

Defective chimneys come second on the list of causes of fires. We cannot too strongly urge all members to carefully inspect their flues, pipes, and chimneys, and make repairs and replacements promptly in a united endeavour to save loss of life, and property.

Losses on reinsurance received for the year of $17,435.96 is unusually high. This is partially recovered by an amount of $6,454.03 due from other Companies on reinsurance ceded. In addition, the Company received $5,447.54 more in reinsurance premiums received, than was paid out for reinsurance ceded.

Many years have passed since a programme of electrifying the rural areas came upon the horizon. However, the past ten years have seen this development gain momentum to such an extent that today a large percentage of our farms have electric service. This programme has brought with it a possibility of increase fire hazards to every farm.

Although the hazards of electricity are not a necessity with this great convenience, they may be increased with the more extensive use of labour-saving electrical farm and home equipment.

In many cases this worth while programme could reduce the fire hazard by making available increased fire fighting equipment. For example: A hose attached to a pressure tank would be very helpful in the initial stage of a dwelling fire. It is also important at all times to see that the electric wiring system is adequate to meet the regulations covering the use of various types of equipment and appliances. We should not fall into the practice of over fusing an electrical wiring system to supply the necessary energy to the appliance rather than make the necessary changes in the wiring circuits. This practice is too frequently followed with complete disregard for the current carrying capacity, and the allowance for temperature rise in the conductors. More circuits should be installed when required to avoid overloading. The Provincial Electrical Code which is the standard for electric wiring recommended by the Fire Marshal's Office, specifies the safe allowable current flow in electrical conductors. Fire installations are usually safe. They must meet the requirements of an inspector. It is in the later additions and extensions, and older installations, that trouble generally develops, particularly in barns where deterioration sets in due to unfavourable conditions. As a measure of precaution, have a well qualified electrican install all additions, and check up on systems over ten years in service.

MUTUAL INSURANCE

Should we not give serious thought to maintaining the vitality, influence and principals of Mutual Fire Insurance as an institution. Even though we have achieved a position of eminence we cannot rest upon our oars and coast along on our reputation without losing our strength and our basis for existence. It can be truly said that the underlying principal of Mutual Insurance is "bear ye one another's burdens." It is basically an economic axiom under which a group of persons each one of whom has similar hazards, contributes to a pool. If the contributors to the Pool are of a sufficiently large number, and providing there is a proper geographic distribution of risk, then only a small percentage of those insured are likely to experience a loss. Thus the small contributions of the many will recompense those upon whom misfortune falls. Then Mutual Fire Insurance protection is a joint venture in which a group of persons similarly situated as to the probability of loss contribute to a fund. It is out of the fund thus contributed that losses and expenses are paid.

FIRE FIGHTING

Under this important item it is of interest to report that during the past year the Village of Omemee purchased a new and modern fire truck and equipment. The service of this truck and equipment is available to the farmers of the surrounding district providing, they are willing to enter into an agreement with the Village whereby they pay a fee of $5.00 per year for a period of fifteen years. This arrangement has been well received and endorsed by the farming community of the district. This pioneers a new and important development in semi-rural fire fighting service. It should commend itself to many more Municipalities so situated. There is no valid reason why agriculture should not bear at least a portion of the cost of fighting a fire to save its most important asset.

FIRE PREVENTION

Too much cannot be said with respect to the importance of receiving the utmost co-operation on the part of the Policyholders of the Company in preventing loss of life and property by fire. Finding and removing fire hazards is one of the foremost responsibilities in the operation of Mutual Fire Insurance Companies. Always bear in mind that the most effective, and easiest time to put out a fire is before it starts. As a means of providing additional information on this important topic, the film "Outlawing Farm Fires," will be shown at this meeting. This impressive, and instructive production has been shown to groups of farm people all over the North American Continent and we are most fortunate in procuring it for our meeting today.

In conclusion, on behalf of the Board, may I express a word of appreciation to the Policyholders for their interest and loyalty to the Company, to the agents and staff, for their faithful efforts throughout the year. Finally, remember that none of us are made of, nor clothed with fire proof material, so why take a chance with this destructive demon fire.

Respectfully submitted,
BRUCE McNEVIN,
President.

A VICTORY for PETERBORO

THE I.U.E. IS DEFEATED

On Tuesday, Feb. 28th, the Ontario Labour Relations Board issued the following decision on the application for certification made by the IUE:

"The Board is not prepared to accept the evidence of membership in good standing submitted by the applicant."

This dismissal by the Board cleared the way for the genuine Union of GE Workers, the UE, to move into Joint Negotiations with both Peterboro and Toronto GE plants for an improved union agreement.

SECURITY AND A DECENT STANDARD OF LIVING

These are the issues that are at stake in our Joint Negotiations with the Company. These are the issues that effect not only GE Workers, but every Citizen in Peterboro, business and professional people, housewives and other organized workers.

In the past four months the IUE has prevented GE Workers from negotiating on these vital issues with the Company. A group of self-seeking individuals, representing only a minority of workers in the plant, but supported by thousands of American dollars, has tried to keep our members and our community in a constant turmoil of uncertainty and division.

Red Baiting a Company Weapon

Corporations like General Electric use "Red-baiting" to try to create fear and division among their workers. Active and progressive union members, who work hard in the best interests of their fellow workers and their Union, are singled out for the "Red-baiting" treatment.

The IUE immediately picked up this Boss weapon. People outside of our Union, who are more concerned with protecting Company profits than in helping working people improve their living standards, joined in the "Red-baiting" witch hunt.

After its experience before the Ontario Labour Relations Board the IUE, and its friends, should always remember that those who yell "Red" sometimes get red in the face when their own actions are exposed.

UNITY BRINGS CONTRACT GAINS

The Joint Negotiations now under way will bring gains to GE Workers in direct proportion to our Unity within the UE — the union that has in the past, and can in the future, better our living and working conditions.

We call upon all GE Workers, and all citizens of Peterboro, to reunite in support of our basic contract proposals, in support of our Union and our future welfare.

After the first world war, and during the '30's genuine unions were driven out of Peterboro. What happened to our wages and working conditions at that time is well known to everyone.

The second post-war attempt to drive unions out of our City has failed.

Now, together, we can BUILD the rank and file democracy of our Union to raise our living standards, to make our future more secure.

Our Union Constitution not only gives every member full rights to take part in the work of our union, but also ENCOURAGES members to speak and act in all of our policy decisions.

It is the duty of all GE Workers:

to fully use their democratic rights under our Constitution to protect and improve their economic welfare;

to guard against men who speak with the voices of workers but who ACT in the interests of the Company.

Ban Obscene Literature By 73-8 Vote

By The Canadian Press

A government bill banning obscene and immoral literature was passed in the Quebec Legislative Assembly Tuesday, by a vote of 73 to 8, and now goes before Quebec's Upper House.

The Attorney-General may submit any illustration" to the Quebec Board of Cinema Censors, and Premier Duplessis explained that "illustration" in the bill means illustration by words as well as drawings or photographs.

Te bill does not touch newspapers and religious publications. The principle of the bill was approved by the Liberal opposition, although it opposed some clauses.

Premier Duplessis called it "a courageous law." Under it the government would be able to deal with "malicious, immoral writings and pictures." He did not pretend that the law was perfect, but, he said, it was partly aimed at ridding the province of "atheists, Bolshevists and Communists."

Fiery Exchange

In the Prince Edward Island Legislature at Charlottetown there was a fiery exchange between former Attorney-General F. A. Large, new education minister, and R. R. Bell, Progressive Conservative member. The minister said that neither the RCMP investigation nor court evidence implicated Legislature members in alleged irregularities in activities of the Fishermen's Loan Board.

Mr. Bell disputed Mr. Large's statement and asked if the case was deliberately brought to court, when the Legislature sat last year, to prevent the Legislature discussing it. Mr. Large did not answer.

The New Brunswick Legislature opened at Fredericton with the speech from the Throne containing a possible hint of new taxation. It said the fiscal needs of the province and municipalities had been under study and views of the government would be presented to the legislators. There have been rumors of a provincial tax on retail sales.

A SENSATION STORY of how Bulgaria's Communist police "extorted" a false confession of espionage and treason from a Bulgarian employee of the United States Embassy in Sofia was disclosed recently by the United States Government. Ripping the secrecy from Communist terror tactics, the story was told in a sworn statement by the Bulgarian, Michael Shipkov, above, and in a State Department announcement explaining the background and nature of his ordeal during the 32 straight hours of questioning and torture.

On the question of a Pacific pact, Mr. Pearson promised that if the situation in the Pacific "should change and should become analogous to the situation that obtained in the Atlantic when we proceeded to work out the North Atlantic Pact, then certainly we would have to reconsider our attitude toward this matter."

He said that Gordon Graydon (PC, Peel), external affairs spokesman for the official opposition, had stated that in a foreign affairs debate the dice were in a sense loaded against the opposition because they did not have access to the government's confidential information.

Kept Informed

That was true up to a point, said Mr. Pearson, but the government tried to keep members informed on developments in the field of foreign affairs. If there were some particular problems bothering the opposition he would be prepared to consider showing them confidential information available.

It seemed to him that Mr. Drew had come to a "wrong conclusion" last Friday night when he said it appeared that a decision already had been taken. Mr. Drew based his conclusion on a statement made by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian spokesman on the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission.

Mr. Drew had quoted Gen. McNaughton as saying that further progress of the commission had been held up by the reluctance of the Russians to participate while Nationalist China was represented. However, the General had said, there was no reason to expect that the meetings would resume when this difficulty was overcome.

Mr. Pearson said that Gen. McNaughton had been expressing a personal opinion.

Four Considerations

Mr. Pearson said there were at least four considerations which would have to be studied in recognition of a new government:

1. The effectiveness of the authority of the new government.
2. The independence of the new government.
3. Ability and willingness to accept international obligations.
4. Acceptibility by the people it presumes to govern.

Of the four, the last consideration was most important.

Mr. Pearson agreed with Mr Drew that there must be no "appeasement" of the Soviets if Mr. Drew meant by that the "prejudicing (of) our own security or the security of the democratic world by making extorted and unnecessary concessions to a possible aggressor in the hope that it might keep him quiet.

While the government was aware of appeasement of that kind, it also was conscious of a duty to keep searching for some way out of the present impasse among the great powers.

Eastern Arms Pact

Mr. Drew said he felt there should be in the Far East the same sort of military and economic program that now was being used in Europe to fight Communism. This should take the form of an agreed strategy among Pacific nations.

He added:

"With what we can see taking place almost before our eyes in this house, and what can be seen in other similar parliaments, I think at this time there should be an urgent appeal to wake up before it is too late and act together to save the peace for which so many men and women have died."

Mr. Coldwell agreed that Canada and other countries had to plan to rearm, but he suggested the challenge of Communism will not be met until the living standards of peoples all over the world have been improved.

Sheep Rearing Experts Seek CanadianMutton

By GORDON PEPPER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

RICHMOND HILL, Ont. (CP) —Consumption of mutton in Canada is practically nonexistent. Yet one farm in this district 25 miles north of Toronto gets inquiries from New Zealand, a recognized world-beater in the breeding of Southdown sheep, about possible importations.

Don Head Farms, Well-known in several countries as a producer of top-quality cattle and sheep, covers more than 1,000 acres of the Richmond Hill district. Owned by W. Redelmeier, a former banker in his native Amsterdam, Holland, the farm concentrates on Southdown sheep, Aberdeen Angus and Jersey cattle. It has an impressive list of show vistories.

Mr. Redelmeier and his two sons who run the farm from a modern office set among the other farm buildings, purchased a reputation when the farm was bought in 1940 from the late John D. Patterson.

Credit for the prize-winning stock now quartered at Don Head can go to Mr. Redelmeier and his sons. When bought, the new owners had to re-stock the farm since the sheep and cattle had been previously sold to United States interests.

Staff of 25

Francis Redelmeier and his brother Ernest split the activities on the farm. But under them are the chief herdsmen in the three lines, and 22 men round out the Don Head operational roster.

A graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Francis also handles much of the research work done in the farm's laboratory.

"We stick pretty close to the line here," he said. "We don't try much trail-blazing but any minor difficulty we come up against, we try to solve ourselves. Then if it's too big, we take it to the authorities.

The farm's colors have just about hit that monotonous (to other competitors) always-winning stage at top livestock shows. Rerelmeier's sheep have been running one-two with the top breeder in Chicago for a number of years. Last year, Don Head had the champion ram and reserve champion ewe and reversed these titles in 1948 with America's top Southdown man.

Ernest and Francis deplored Canada's lack of appetite for lamb and mutton. The per capita consumption figure in 1948 for these products was three and a half pounds compared with 135 pounds for other meats. Overseas, much more mutton is consumed.

MP Stenographers Receive Raise

OTTAWA, March 8 — (CP) — Members of the Commons applauded Tuesday an announcement that their stenographers are getting a raise in pay.

Speaker Ross Macdonald said it has been decided to pay them "according to their ability and experience" rather than a flat rate for all concerned.

Stenographers working for parliamentary assistants will get $7. Another group, around 15 strong, comprises the debates amanuenses the women who type out reports of House and committee debates. They will be divided into three divisions, getting $7.50, $8 and $8.50 a day. They now get $7.50.

2 Deaf Parents Have New Life

PRESTON, Ont., March 8 (CP) —Two deaf parents and their year-old daughter are getting a new lease on life even though they're lying in hospital with severe burns.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robertson lost their eight-year-old daughter, Carol, and their house last Wednesday when fire raged through the three-room dwelling.

Tuesday, residents rallied to the aid of the crippled couple—getting cash collections, a new home and furnishings.

When Carol died in the fire, the Robertsons lost all normal contact with their friends. Mr. Robertson is deaf and nearly blind. The mother is a deaf mute.

Town officials said Tuesday night that a fund for the family has topped $1,500 and donations still are pouring in. A new house will be built soon. Individuals have promised to supply furnishings.

Industrial Site Deal Made, Board Approves

Approval of the Ontario Municipal Board of the council's undertaking to borrow $22,000 for the purchase of 150 acres of land for industrial sites was received Monday.

The bylaw authorizing this financing was given its third reading Monday night and since then City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, KC, has begun steps of getting transfer of the deeds from the owners to the municipality.

The property lies west of Erskine Ave. and south of Lansdowne St., west. With approximately 20 acres already acquired in that vicinity during the mayoralty of W. G. Ovens, the city now owns 170 acres on either side of the CNR beyond the Lansdowne-Erskine intersection, and also with direct siding facility from the railways.

This investment was recommended by the council's new Industrial Commission which was set up last year. Its non-council members are H. L. Garner, chairman; Herbert I. Bradburn and Bruce Payne. Reasons for the purchase of the large block of property have been published several times. The land is one area, it has railway siding advantages, it lies in the direction of expansion of the city, and the municipality is protected against exorbitant realty prices of private owners in the event of enquiry by any manufacturing company.

Deal Completed.

The council desired to co-operate with its new Commission, obtained options through experienced realty sources, and this whole enterprise looking to future industrial expansion is now virtually completed. Only the details of registry remain.

The five parcels that are being bought cost $57,000. Ratepayers had previously endorsed a bylaw to buy industrial sites close to that southwest area a few years ago, in the amount of $50 000. Part of that money was spent. One of the parcels has been resold; another is under lease and occupation by a second industry, west of High St. The sum of $22,000 was required to be used with the balance from the previous authorization by the people.

The amount of the options and the vendors of the parcels are: Ernest A. Adamson and Annie I. Anderson, $15,000; Arthur F. and Lily Stenson $5,000; James and Clara Anderson $15,000; Pietro and Vittorie Fisisco $10 000; Rosaria Minicola $12,000.

Reeve James Gifford was named Peterborough director on the provincial association.

The members of the executive are: Richard R. Stewart, Bruce Graham, Stanley Wood, Milton Clarke, Mrs. Lorne Reynolds and Mrs. Clifford Johnston.

Mrs. Herb McFarlane and Mr Kitney were appointed federation representatives to the Dental Health Association, and Mrs E Thompson to the association for the prevention of cancer.

Mr Dawson, Clarence Mann and Ross Legge were delegated to attend a meeting of poultry interests in Toronto March 15 at which it is intended that a provincial association will be formed One of its objectives is to arrange for the development of marketing branch within the association

Financing of a fieldman for the increasing work of the federation, replacing Mr John Edmison, was turned over to Mr. Dawson and Mr. Kitney for consideration and report.

The federation decided to discontinue their winter series of luncheons, and Mr. Kitney was requested to write the management of the Empress Hotel for accommodation provided.

"They have given us great service," the chairman gratefully commented.

Mr Dawson is beginning his third year in the presidency. He asked the members to pass around the honor and responsibility However, he was persuaded to continue in office for another year. Appreciation of the work of the executive, Mr. Dawson and Mr Kitney, and the other directors was expressed by several of the speakers.

The directors present were: Mr. and Mrs. Ross Legge and Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner Gawley of Asphodel, Wellington Sutton, Melville H Johnston, R R. Stewart, Norman W. McConkey, Ken Petrie Bruce Graham, Alan Drummond, Henry Sharpe, James Gifford, John Kitney and Mr. Dawson.

Mother Snatches Her Baby From Flaming Cottage Floor

Mrs. Earl (Bud) Smith snatched her 14-month-old son Terry from a flaming cottage at the Dorset Forestry School on Tuesday. The youngster was playing on the kitchen floor of the one-room Lands and Forests Department cottage when the fire, of unknown origin, broke out. The child's mother was hanging out a washing in the back yard and seeing the flames rushed into the room. The baby suffered burned ears and singed scalp and his mother singed hair.

An alarm alerted the school's fire squad to action and, according to a witness, their response was so swift that they succeeded in putting out the interior blaze without apparent damage to outer walls.

The father, supplies the school with fuel and was working about a mile away from his home. He answered the fire alarm and was surprised to find his own home the scene of the disaster. Son Douglas, 4, was not in the house at the time of the fire.

The Smiths lost all furniture and personal effects but the community rallied to their aid in short order to supply them with the essentials to tide them over for the time being. The dwelling is owned by the Ontario government.

School Boy Suffers Small Cut On Head

A school age boy, Bobbie Glover, 283 Wolfe St., suffered a small cut on his head when, according to Frank G. Thompson, 175 London St., he ran out from behind a parked car and into the right front fender of Thompson's car Tuesday evening on Rubidge St.

Thompson told Constable William G. Scott he was driving north on Rubidge St. between Wolfe and Townsend streets when the boy ran into his car and either fell or was knocked down.

Thompson took the boy home, but his injuries were not believed serious enough to have him examined by a doctor.

Runaway Boy Found From Niagara Falls

A thirteen-year-old runaway boy from Niagara Falls was picked up by city police Tuesday night and his parents informed. The boy said there were 12 children in his family and that was too many for him.

The runaway, Jack Kennedy, was picked up by his father late this morning and the two started home Apparently the boys of the family have wanderlust. This is the second time young Jack has left and two older brothers have done the same thing, although, it was reported, the parents provide them with a good home.

The boy said he started out Tuesday and was heading for Toronto, but got a ride straight through from Niagara Falls to Peterborough. He was found sleeping in the basement of a church here.

UE, CGE To Meet Conciliator Fine

TORONTO, March 8 (CP) — Louis Fine, Ontario's chief conciliation officer, late Tuesday invited representatives of the Canadian General Electric Company and the United Electrical Workers union to meet in his office Thursday morning.

The conference will mark Mr. Fine's second attempt to effect agreement between the company and the union on hours and wages. His efforts several months ago were unsuccessful.

The negotiators asked for his assistance after talks, which reopened Monday, ended in disagreement. The discussions covered four plants in Toronto and one in Peterborough. Approximately 5,000 are affected.

Another development was the company's decision to turn over to the UEW more than $17,000 in union dues collected from Peterborough workers. The cheque arrived in the union office early today.

Belleville Building New Public School

BELLEVILLE, March 8 (CP) —Contract for the construction of a new 12-room public school in the east end of the city has been let to the St. Lawrence Contracting Company of Belleville, it has been announced by Enos David, chairman of the local board of education.

The contract price is $242,015 with the gross cost of the school including architect's fees, school equipment, landscaping and other incidentals to be $293,190. Approval for debentures amounting to $300,000 had been given by the Municipal Board.

Will Cut Coal Chute Through Sidewalk

Permission to the Bank of Toronto to cut a coal chute top in the sidewalk on George St. in front of the former Pratten hardware store was given by the council Monday.

The bank is altering the store interior for enlargement of its business premises.

Mayor Swanston commented that the council should enforce "deliveries of coal at a certain time in the day. You see coal being unloaded at chutes along the main street in the middle of the afternoons, and people complain of dirt and dust."

Asked To Secure Soil Tests McDonald's Pt.

By HARRY THEOBALD

City council wrapped up in its brightest hopes the motion Monday night that offers the park at McDonald's Point as the site of Memorial Community Centre.

It was proposed by Ald. H. Dodds and Ald. Doug Miller, and was immediately followed by the resolution by Ald. Adam Sands requesting City Engineer Chalmers to have soundings made about the park "to ascertain the soil structure."

Previously a letter was read from Mr. J. A. Jebson, chairman of the Centre committee, asking that the council provide, at the outset of what may be the final lap in the location quest, a report of test soundings to determine the suitability of the ground formation.

Mr. Jebson has intimated that the park site impresses him as a desirable place for the Memorial. He recalled that, when some of the other properties were being discussed, soil tests were eventually made, but time would have been saved if they had been obtained earlier.

So, that is the present stage of the Centre project. It appears that at long length a fairly central site is taking shape. It is only a few steps off George St., it overlooks Little Lake, and affords one of the finest prospects in the country, the sweep of the lake and the wooded estate of Little Lake Cemetery on the farther shore.

Settle Problem

This year's council had evidently come to a tacit decision that it was going to get rid of the Centre site problem. Blame for delay had been turned toward the city hall. Early in January a fresh effort was begun to get a suitable property, and the council has concluded that it has come up with a garden spot.

But assuming that it is sound under foot, the council has an overhanging worry about the source of sufficient funds for the Centre Committee. True, financing is that group's problem, but suppose that judgment of its members agrees that another subscription effort for something like $100,000 is not likely to succeed, then where does the Centre committee folks look for that link of cash between their present $300,000 credit and the estimated half million that may be needed, if the present plans are retained?

Of course, the Centre committee might remind the council of the vote of the ratepayers approving sale of the market property with a stipulation that part of the proceeds be contributed to the Centre fund.

The question submitted to the ratepayers about 1947 was in effect are you in favor of allotting to the Centre 40% of receipts from the sale of city owned property, but not exceeding $250,000?"

The people gave an affirmative answer, but it could hardly be regarded as mandatory upon the council to proceed with the sale of its property. At that time, disposal of the market block was being considered.

Since then council has advanced almost to the stage of letting the contract for the new city hall. When it is constructed the whole Simcoe, Water, Charlotte Streets block will be vacant.

Choral Society Presents Opera Mikado

The Peterborough Choral Society presented the first of three performances on Tuesday evening in the Collegiate auditorium of the Mikado.

The opera is one of four entertainments to be staged by the society between January 23, when the group made its debut and April, when there is to be a performance of Handel's Messiah.

Under the direction of Donald Landry, the society presented a highly colorful production. It was outstanding for the splendor of the costumes and magnificent drop curtains. The stage was an exquisite picture and by using a chorus appropriate to the size of the space at his disposal the stage manager, Bernie Hogg, obtained a most successful effect.

Make up under the direction of Mrs. L. R. Groombride and lighting effects by Ed Stevenson were contributing factors to the beautiful scene which the cast presented. Meg Gordon was responsible for the costumes. Behind the scenes were also Tony Burns in an advisory capacity and Flora MacDonald as prompter.

A Gilbert and Sullivan opera presented on the stage with no other musical instrument than an electric organ is a novelty. Organist was Charlie Allen.

The love-sick Nanki Poo, son of the Mikado distinguised as a minstrel is played by Eddie Hewitt and Bob King is Ko Ko, Lord High Executioner. Yum Yum is played by Jean McLeod and the other two wards of the Mikado, Pitti Sing and Peep Bo are Gwen Kilborn and Marjorie McNeill.

Ian Clark portrays the person of Pooh Bah, Lord High Everything Else; Walter Dawson, the Mikado; Floyd Abrams, Pish Tush; Marjorie Kilborn, Katisha and Tom Lord and Ronald Stanbury are the Mikado's attendants.

Form New Council To Co-ordinate School, Industry

A chapter of the Ontario Industrial Education Council will be formed by management personnel representatives borough industries. This decision was made at a meeting in the Collegiate library Tuesday when the plant representatives attended a meeting on the invitation of the Advisory Vocational Committee of the Board of Education.

The purpose of the council is: to study ways and means of achieving closer co-operation between industry and the school; to advise the Advisory Vocational committee on both day and night school courses; to dispense information on day and night school courses; to promote apprenticeship; to survey skilled trades for anticipated future needs.

A motion was made by Ian McRae and seconded by Robert Maybee that a local chapter be formed. This motion was carried. A committee of John Sparrow, Clyde Cameron, William Fisher, Howard Moebus, Reginald Reid, James Fraser and B. W. Switzer was formed to draw up a constitution.

Mr. Switzer, head of the Vocational School, explained how the school can co-operate with industry and how industry can co-operate with the school. He said that through the formation of a Peterborough Industrial Education Council there would be closer co-operation between industry and technical education.

Explaining the functions of the Ontario Industrial Education Council Mr. Switzer told briefly of the proceedings of the council since its formation last Easter. He outlined the aims, objects, duties and regulations of the Council.

4 Appointments To Commission

William Bennett and R. E. MacDonald were re-appointed for three-year terms to the Recreation Commission by the council Monday night.

Two substitutes, also for three years, were made on the recommendation of the Commission. Mrs. James G. Wharry succeeding Mrs. J. E. R. Munro and Mr. Tom Allen taking the place of Quirt McKinney.

Ald. J. D. Miller enquired whether they were residents of the city.

Mayor Swanscton replied that Mrs. Wharry, whose home is on the west side of Monaghan Rd., near Jackson Park, had been proposed by the Recreation Commission and also by several local women's groups.

"Mrs. Wharry has done a lot of welfare work," said His Worship, "and I think she will be a great help to the Commission."

"Is the appointment contrary to the bylaw?" Ald. Adam Sands asked.

"I don't think so," said Mayor Swanston. "I think the council can make appointments on the recommendation of the Commission."

Ald. Miller said he was not criticizing any appointee. He said he remembered that a member of the Commission last year lived outside the city, and there had been some expression in the council that this member was not justified on that account in putting any pressure on the council.

Ald. J. E. Gillespie, a member of the Commission, said Mrs. Wharry had been proposed by several women's organizations, "and the chairman is very desirour of having her added to the Commission."

"This is a case where the job found the person," said Ald. H. Dodds.

William T. Hall Foundryman 50 Years Dies

A well-known Peterborough resident, William Thomas Hall, of 543 Downie St., died today at his residence following a lingering illness. He was in his 75th year. Born in Peterborough, where he lived a lifetime, he was the son of the late Adam Hall and Elizabeth Thomas. His wife, the former Gwendolyn Meade, and a daughter, Gwyneth, predeceased him.

He leaves three sons, Douglas M. Hall, of Holcomb, N.Y., Terrance of Toronto, and Gordon, and a brother, Llewelyn; both at home. There are two sisters, Mrs. W. E. Burns (Kathleen) and Mrs W. D. Keith(Agnes), both of Vancouver.

Mr. Hall was associated as president with his brother Llewelyn in the stove foundry business in the city for 50 years. The company, stemming originally from the original Adam Hall hardware and tinsmithing retail business, made a product known throughout Canada: the business was sold to other interests in 1934. Following this he operated the retail Brewers' warehouse for several years.

Early in the 1990's, and for several years, he held the rank of major in the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, and was a rider of some note. Mr. Hall was also an ardent lover of the outdoors and member of both Ketchicum and Cochrane Hunt Clubs. For many years he was a cottager at Stony Lake on Syndicate Island. He was a member of St. John's Anglican Church.

The body will rest at the Comstock Funeral Home on Thursday from where funeral service will be held on Friday at 2 p.m. The Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

District Convention J-C Plans For May

Convention of No. VI region of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held here May 5-7, F. W. Edworthy, secretary, wrote the council Monday night. Attendance is expected to be about 150.

"The convention plans some centennial activity," Mr. Edworthy wrote. "Would the council give consideration to sponsoring a luncheon for the delegates and their wives Sunday, May 7? We estimate that 125 persons would attend. Highlighting it would be the semi-final round of the national oratorical contest of the Chamber."

The letter was turned over to Ald. Sands' reception committee.

Morton Resigns As Director Canadian IUE

John G. Morton announced on Tuesday night at a special membership of Local 524 IUE (CIO-CCL) that he had resigned as Canadian IUE director to allow him to concentrate on organizing the Peterborough CGE plant's more than 3,000 production workers.

Mr. Morton is president of Local 524 IUE and has held that position since the right-wing body formed its own organization here shortly after the UE was expelled from the CIO in November.

At that time he was made IUE District 5 Director, which, like the UE District 5, takes in all the organized plants in Canada. Mr. Morton said at that time he was accepting the post in a temporary capacity.

The new director for the right-wing unionists has not yet been named.

In his resignation statement, Mr. Morton declared: "No man can justly serve two masters, and while I recognize the importance of IUE's mission here in Canada ....I have a first loyalty. That loyalty is to my fellow-workers in Peterborough, and I shall not rest until they have been given their democratic rights as free Canadians to cast off the yoke of Communist exploitation that has been their lot for many a year."

Tom Fitzpatrick, IUE's International representative, said Mr. Morton's resignation was prompted by his "sincere desire to return to the Peterborough plant and work shoulder to shoulder with the workers in their efforts to obtain a government conducted Labor vote before UE succeeds in selling out the conditions of Peterborough workers."

Employer Dictated

Mr. Morton charged that the Ontario Labor Code was "employer dictated," and that until amended it would provide "a temporary haven for the Communist-dominated UE."

"The Peterborough workers are equally determined to remain within the mighty family of CIO and CCL," stated Mr. Morton, who has been the chief foe of the UE in Canada. "To that end I intend to devote all my energies."

There were incidents at the membership meeting which IUE officials estimate was attended by about 500. A busload of about 40 right-wingers arrived from the Davenport works in Toronto. They were members of Local 507 IUE, and were headed by Jack Grieves, chairman of the local's organizing committee.

"Absolute nonsense," commented Mr. Fitzpatrick today when queried by the Examiner on whether there was any truth in the rumor that some of the visitors were Steelworkers.

Another speaker at the meeting was Al Knipfel, formerly president of the Cobourg plant, and now staff representative of the IUE in Canada.

A ROBIN ITEM

This item is published with some reservation as to the visual acuteness of an employee of the Examiner. He says he saw a robin perched on the minute hand of the Post Office clock this morning, "but don't use my name" and "don't you think I know a robin's hop when I see it?"

Business Stays At '49 Levels Review Reveals

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadian business in the first two months of this year has stayed at or close to the relatively high levels of last year, states Wood, Gundy and Co., Ltd., in their March review.

It cites:

Steel ingot production in January rose some nine per cent from December and was up approximately two per cent from January last year.

Newsprint production in January was a fraction of one per cent lower than a year ago, but the loss of shipments to the sterling area was made up for by shipments to the United States and to Canadian consumers, which increased four per cent and 12 per cent respectively.

Volume Up

An encouraging item in the outlook for 1950 is the volume of new capital investment, or money put into the expansion or maintenance of Canadian industry, business, government projects, homes and services. It is estimated that this will be $3,587,000,000 this year, or some $162,000,000 ahead of last year's record.

Concerning security price levels, the review states that prices for Canadian government, municipal and corporation bonds were strong during January and February and that prices for some issues advanced fractionally.

Early in January the industrial index of the Toronto Stock Exchange advanced from 207.36, the close for 1949, to 212.14 and remained within a few points of this figure until it advanced to 213.93 on March 6, a high for 1950 to date. It closed Tuesday at 213.03.

Flying Wrong Flag Official Faces Red

SHEFFIELD, Yorkshire, England, March 8 (CP)—The central library here celebrated St. David's Day—Welsh national fete day—by flying the Scottish flag.

Embarrassed officials explained it was all a mistake.

But for three hours the cross of St. Andrew fluttered over the library, while other public buildings flew the Welsh dragon.

Welshmen inundated the library with complaints before the tangle was straightened out. One irate Welshman insisted to a puzzled librarian:

"Cymru am byth"—"Wales for ever."

Rap Ministerial Salary

TORONTO, March 8 (CP) — The moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church said Tuesday the salaries of many ministers "would drive John L. Lewis insane." Dr. C. L. Cowan of Hamilton told the West Toronto Presbytery the wages of rookie policemen in his city are several hundred dollars more than many Presbyterian ministers receive.

Nominate Candidate

CORNWALL, March 8 (CP) — Members of the Glengarry county presbytery of the Presbyterian Church in Canada Tuesday nominated Rev. F. Scott MacKenzie of Montreal as their choice for moderator of the general assembly of the church. Toronto an Montreal presbyteries also nominated Dr. MacKenzie.

Buried Under Coal

QUEBEC, March 8 (CP) — Honore Blouin was seriously injured Tuesday when buried under five tons of coal. Blouin was digging coal from a stock pile when a mass of coal slipped from the top and fell on him. He was rescued by fellow-workers and taken to hospital with fractures and bruises.

2 Hungry Dogs Mutilate Body

TORONTO, March 8 (CP)—The body of John (The Hermit) Wassman, mutilated by a hunger-crazed dog, was found Tuesday in the 77-year-old pensioner's shack in suburban North York township.

Police, summoned by neighbors who became alarmed when Wassman went 10 days without picking up his mail, shot the dog—a Doberman Pinscher—before entering the shack. Inside they found a second dog, dead from starvation.

Most of Wassman's body had been devoured, police said. Human bones were found on the floor near a stove.

"The place was completely wrecked," one officer said. It was not determined immediately whether one of both dogs attacked and killed the aged man or whether he died of natural causes.

Dr. F. Cruickshank, coroner, said no autopsy or inquest would be held.

Taken Off Jury

PITSBURGH, March 8 (AP)—A Pittsburgh court Tuesday barred a 35-year-old woman from serving on a grand jury because an undercover agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation identified her as a Communist. Judge Michael A. Musmanno removed Mrs. Alice Roth from the jury panel, declaring "the patriotism of the grand jury must be above reproach."

Marine Suit Pending By U.S.-Ontario Firms

DETROIT, March 8—(CP)—A marine suit between a United States lake freighting company and a Canadian tug boat company of McQueen Marine Limited, of Amherstburg, Ont., now is pending, it was learned Tuesday, arising from an alleged crowding by the tug of a lakes freighter in 1947.

The Canadian tug "Atomic" and its scow Malden were released here on $60,000 bond posted by the McQueen Company.

The incident is alleged to have occurred in the Detroit river channel near Amherstburg, just south of Windsor, when the record shows that the tug crowded a U.S. vessel too close to the channel bank, damaging part of the freighter's hull. The ship's name was not disclosed.

Have Death Ray?

LONDON, March 8 (AP) — Kenneth de Courcy, editor of a magazine called Intelligence Digest, hinted Tuesday that the Russians may be experimenting with that favorite of science-fiction writers—a "death ray" weapon. De Courcy, who claims to have a pipe line into Russia, said his informant described the new weapon as "a form of heat ray believed to penetrate anything known upon this planet." He gave no details.

Rushing Things Radio Men Fear

CALGARY, March 8—(CP)—William Guild, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, said in a statement Tuesday that "at the very time we are preparing a final brief for the Massey Royal Commission it is confusing to learn that a parliamentary committee will review the aims of the CBC and the impact of their regulations."

Commenting on action at Ottawa of Revenue Minister McCann in giving parliament notice of establishment of a 25-man House of Commons committee on broadcasting, Mr. Guild, who also is president of the Western Association of Broadcasters, said:

"The House of Commons apparently has already voted $4,500,000 for CBC television and CBC is reported to have placed orders for television equipment. I suggest that CBC television activity should be suspended until the Massey Commission report is tabled, and the Parliamentary committee should present no report until it has reviewed the findings of the Massey Commission on radio and television."

Greek Tragedy Introduced To Canadians

By ALBERT HUNTER.

MONTREAL, March 8 (CP)—A new one-act drama by Jean Cooteau, an adaptation of Sophocles' ancient Greek tragedy "Antigone," was presented to the Canadian public for the first time Tuesday night by a three-year-old Montreal drama group.

La Compagnie Du Masque, a 12-member co-operative headed by Fernand and Charlotte Dore, introduced the French-language play on the second night of the week-long Western Quebec Regional Drama Festival.

British adjudicator Maxwell Wray said in French that the 11 members of the cast acted "in keeping with the spirit of the play."

Charlotte Dore, applauded by the audience of 700 in her leading role as Antigone, played the role "very, very well," and Fernand Dore, who directed the group, was "perfect" in the secondary role of Creon.

Raps Setting

However, Mr. Wray added, Dore was of "too small stature" in the highly dramatic part of a "commander."

The 'most serious fault" of the tragedy, the adjudicator said, was concerned with the setting. Throughout the play, a trick rope spider web was suspended at the front of the stage, apparently a symbolism of the close interrelationship of the characters involved.

Mr. Wray said the web was "a good idea but only for a brief time. It should have been raised before the action started."

"It was artistic but unnecessary," he said, adding that the strands of the web were inclined to hinder the public's vision.

SUDBURY, March 8—(CP)—John T. Balazs, 47, of Westlake, Ohio, was acquitted on a charge of manslaughter by a Supreme Court jury which deliberated only 20 minutes.

Ask UK Death Penalty For Spies In Peacetime

LONDON, March 8 (Reuters)—A demand that spies in peacetime in Britain should face the death penalty is to be made in the Commons.

The demand is contained in a question from Conservative member Sir Waldron Smithers.

Under British law, the death sentence for spying is invoked only in wartime.

The question, slated to be put before the government, came as a wave of spy-consciousness gripped parliament.

Sir Waldron intends to ask the House:

1. Whether the Prime Minister will introduce legislation to include the death penalty for those who betray the Official Secrets Act.

2. What fresh action the Prime Minister is taking to ensure that only reliable persons are employed in the service of the British Government.

Sir Waldron, who holds the record for question asking in parliament, is only one of the members showing security fears.

H-Bomb Questions

Questions about the H-bomb or Klaus Fuchs will be asked by members equally from both parties. The government will be called upon to answer some of them Thursday.

Conservative Roland Robinson wants the home secretary to refuse naturalization to foreigners where the applicant is known to be a Communist sympathizer.

Conservative J. Baker White wants the president of the Board of Trade to lay down special security regulations to cover secret documents, patents and inventions brought before the National Research Development Corporation.

Labor member Raymond Blackburn will ask about the circumstances in which Dr. Fuchs was screened by the British security officers.

Blackburn asks for an assurance that the government will continue to give asylum to political refugees in spite of this case.

Temporary Asylum

Sir Jocelyn Lucas, Conservative, will also ask that the right of temporary asylum for genuine refugees shall still be granted.

Questions concerning the hydrogen bomb include one from Emrys Hughes, Labor, who will ask Foreign Secretary Bevin what steps he is taking to initiate further international discussion of proposals to ban the H-bomb.

Lord Vansittart, who was chief diplomatic adviser to the Foreign Office when Hitler was climbing to power, has given notice that in the House of Lords Wednesday, March 29, he will call attention to the extent of Communist infiltration into the public service and other important branches of public life in this country, and will move to resolve that more effective precautions are necessary for public security.

Tells Farmers Cut Production Costs

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 8 (CP)—Some $5,000,000 can be added to the income of Canada's veteran-farmers in five years, H. R. Hare, superintendent of full-time farms in the Veteran's Land Act administration, said Tuesday.

Addressing 125 Veterans Land Act officials on the second day of their 10-day conference here, Mr Hare said the field staff is as large as all the other agricultural extension workers in Canada put together.

He said individual farmers had little control over prices but can do much to control the costs of production, thereby maintaining good profit margins.

$250,000 Damage Caused By Fire In Quarry Plant

MONTREAL, March 8—(CP)—Fire caused estimated damage of $250,000 Tuesday night at the crushing and screening plant of Montreal Quarry Limited in the east end of the city.

The fire was believed to have started in a conveyor belt at the bottom of the quarry. Flames leaped 25 feet in to the air and raced 200 feet along the conveyor belt to the crushing and screening plant, where extensive damage was caused.

Firemen battled the flames for more than two hours before bringing the blaze under control.

Jean Pierre Potvin, superintendent of the plant, said damage to machinery and the plant was estimated at $250,000.

PORT HOPE SIMPSON, Labrador (CP).—Boys in Labrador have more than an ordinary interest in aviation and airmen.

Eight-year-old Piercey Russell who lives in this winter-bound village is no exception. Fliers are his heroes and he talke enthusiastically about them when this reporter met him on one of a number of mail and mercy trips with a bush pilot.

There's just one thing I want to be when I grow up and that's one of them bush pilots and you needn't tell me any diffrunt.

Suffrin'! You must've seen them when they come down in a snowstorm and pitch on the harbor here or on the pond wherever you live. Suffrin! There ain't anybody like them or my name ain't Piercey Russell.

Two of them just flew away now and I'm surer than ever I was about what I want to be although I'm only eight years old and my whole family sez unless I study more I'm going to be stupid.

The way those bush pilots showed up from Henley Harbor and Cartwright at nearly the same time was enough to make you wonder because you could hardly even see across the harbor from the ground.

They Pitched Easy

But they pitched easy and the postmaster and everybody came running. Even the dogs got excited and started to bark because the mail plane is the big thing here every month.

The pilots came out walkin' diffrunt to anybody else with their big boots and not a bit scared. They just talked to one another mostly. Suffrin' what I wouldn't give to be like them.

When they go to wing I always run away to a hill by myself to watch becuz I can feel myself lift too. Today one pilot looked over and saw me there when he was turning in the air and he waved. He didn't pay any attention to any other kids but me.

One Of Last Places

What is always puzzlin' me is how they ever find this place becuz my old sister — she's 28 if she's a day — sez we live in one of the last places God made. But that just shows she's stupid and only worried becuz there ain't many people. I told her last night lots of people are only silly codfish heads anyway and that's true although I remit I was thinking of that silly codfish head next door at the time.

But after those pilots pitched today they walked over to each other and one looked out at the harbor and said:

"Nice smooth surface, ain't it?"

Lard Suffrin'! I wish my sister could've heard that — the silly codfish head.

VINCENT AURIOL, President of France, and Mde. Auriol, photographed on the grounds of the Elysee Palace, were given a great welcome when they landed in England recently for a State visit.

Budgeting Most Necessary When Planning New Home

If you are going to build, decide first on the amount you can spend on a house. Consider your salary and plan accordingly. The average man can afford a home costing from one and one-half to two and one-half times his annual income.

If you propose to borrow money, your monthly mortgage payments, plus taxes and insurance, should not exceed 23% of your monthly income. Prepare a family budget to find out how much of your monthly income is available for housing. Determine the amount of savings you have for a down payment. Enquire into the approximate monthly costs of taxes, insurance and maintenance. You will require fire and hazard insurance to protect the property. Consider the maintenance and repair of the house as one of the monthly costs of home ownership from the very beginning.

The house should be large enough to fit present and future requirements. Provision might be made for ultimate additions and improvements. Be sure that the house will suit your way of living.

Investigate the community in which you intend to build. Water, electricity, gas, sewage disposal and garbage collection are essential services. Enquire about the plans for future development in the area.

See that the site on which you propose to build is suitable for your house. It should provide adequate water surface drainage.

The house must be structurally sound. If it is well built in all respects it will need a minimum of repairs. Mechanical installations such as heating and plumbing are of vital importance.

Simplicity in the design of the house is essential. An attractive appearance will increase the value of the property.

2 Sudden Deaths

MP Champions Appeal Of French Count

OTTAWA, March 8 — (CP) — Jean Francois Pouliot (L, Temiscouata) asked Tuesday night in the Commons that the government grant the appeal of Count De Bernonville against an order for deportation.

Joining a foreign affairs debate, he said he would rely on the sense of justice of Citizenship Minister Harris to Deter him from taking a step which he might regret the rest of his life.

The appeal of De Bernonville, being deported for his entry into Canada on a forged passport, now is before Mr. Harris.

Mr. Pouliot said many charges had been made against De Bernonville. He did not know the man, but he did know that it was easy to make charges.

It had been said that De Bernonville had been responsible for the deaths of Canadian soldiers, but no names had been given.

"Who are these Canadians who are said to have died on account of De Bernonville?" he asked.

He said that the area of France in which De Bernonville had been convicted of wartime charges in absentia was under "complete" Communist control.

DOROTHY DIX

Mother Should Take Turn With Daughter's Children

DEAR MISS DIX: We help my parents and do it gladly, although it cramps our budget to do so. We don't begrude this, but it would be HEAVEN to me if my mother would offer once a week, or even once a fortnight, to take care of my two children while my husband and I went out to some place of amusement, but she never does. Occasionally I will ask her and she agrees to have the youngsters for an hour or two, but she always does it reluctantly, in a way that indicates that she thinks I have colossal nerve to ask such a favor.

Dorothy Dix

My mother is not old and is in good health. She belongs to no clubs, goes nowhere and has little work to do, so I see no reason why she shouldn't help me out now and then. How can I put it up to her diplomatically?

MRS JIM

ANSWER: This is not a case for diplomacy. It is one where brutal tactics are called for. You have to fight selfishness with selfishness and so I think you should put up taking care of the children as a business proposition to your mother.

Tell her that you are going to use the money that you give her every week in employing some one to look after the children while you and your husband step out, and that if she wishes to earn it you would prefer to give her the job. Perhaps if she felt she was being paid for keeping an eye on the children she would not object to it so much.

Mother's Responsibility

Of course, primarily a woman's children are her own responsibility, and it is up to her to take care of them in the main. She has no right to dump them on her mother half a dozen times a week while she goes off to amuse herself. Any woman who has raised her own family of children has done her share of baby-tending and it is her turn to spend her afternoons playing contract instead of giving Junior his sun bath and keeping Johnny from getting run over by automobiles and playing dolls with little Mary.

But, on the other hand, mother can save daughter's reason and keep her from a nervous breakdown, from quarreling with her husband, by taking the children home with her for a few hours now and then and giving daughter a chance to relax and rest and get a new viewpoint by going out among the bright lights.

DEAR MISS DIX: What can a man do with a wife who refuses to have meals on time and who keeps a house that looks like a pigpen? I provide my wife with plenty of money and she has a maid, but it does no good. The house is just as untidy and the food as bad and the meals as unpunctual because she stays in bed does not see that anything is done properly. I am getting to drink too much just to get my mind off my domestic worries, and I stay at home as little as I can because everything is so rotten in the house. What can I do?

CETA

ANSWER: A woman can get a divorce from her husband for "failure to provide" for her. A man should be able to get a divorce from his wife for "failure to make a comfortable home" with the money he furnishes. It is just as much an obligation to matrimony for a wife to fry the bacon as it is for the husband to bring it home.

There is no excuse on earth except sickness for a woman not to be a good housekeeper. So if a man is married to a healthy, able-bodied woman and she lies down on her duties, as this woman does he is certainly justified in refusing to support her any longer in idlesness. These lazy slovens take advantage of their official positions as wives to loaf on their jobs, but if they knew they would be fired out of house and home if they didn't reform, you would see them animated by a sudden burst of industry.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We are always hearing about mothers-in-law breaking up homes. What about fathers-in-law? I know of a number of homes where well-to-do fathers-in-law went to live with a newly married son or daughter, with the result that the homes are very unhappy and on the point of being wrecked.

MACK

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Everything that is said about the inadvisability of mothers going to live with their married children applies to fathers. It isn't the sex of the parent that matters, it is the parental interference in the lives of a young couple.

Two Professional Women Decide On Country Life

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—(CP)—Two women, both at the top of their professions, both in their 30s, are resigning high-salaried jobs in London to live quietly in the country.

Slim, blue-eyed Jean Nicol, for 11 years public relations officer for the Savoy, Claridge's and the Berkeley Hotels, is one of them.

Her job consists not only of keeping the three hotels before the public but in stopping indiscreet stories from getting into the newspapers—such as the story of the colonel with a D.S.O. who worked in the kitchens at the Savoy.

She also has to protect shy or retiring celebrities from the glare of publicity.

Said Jean: 'Most people think I'm crazy because I want to give up this job and live in a tiny cottage in Cornwall with my husband.

"What on earth will you do there?' everyone asks me. Well, I shall garden. I shall paint and I shall read. I adore cooking. I don't mind housework and I shall help grow flowers and potatoes for selling.

"In London I have a gay time and meet lots of amusing people and have lovely clothes and wonderful meals. But that doesn't make up for never having time to be myself.

No Papers Near

"Here I'm always rushing out for every edition of the papers. Down in Cornwall it's a three-mile walk to the nearest paper-shop."

Evelyn Gibbs, 38-year-old editor of the "plums" at broadcasting House and she worked 13 years in broadcasting to get it.

"One day in the rush of putting on a daily program I suddenly thought: "What is all this making of me?' I found I did not like the person I was becoming. The sort of person who can only respond to the stimulus of having to get something done by a certain time.

"I am becoming the sort of person who never has time for real friends, whose whole life is controlled for 24 hours out of 24 by the tyranny of a daily radio program.

"I'm going to live in a little village in the Chiltern Hills. I shall garden and keep geese and chickens. I shall live a human, homely life—the natural life for a woman. And I shall be happy—perfectly happy."

Institute Helps Fire Victims

APSLEY, March 8 — (ENS) — Twenty two members and five visitors met at Mrs. Herb Tuckers house for the March meeting of the Women's Institute.

The sunshine committee reported a gift of fruit and sent to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Earnshaw Sr. on their 52nd. wedding anniversary.

The quilt-committee reported work progressing.

More plans for bingo were made for which several donations have been received.

The fire which burned the home and contents of the Palmer's home near Coe Hill was discussed and members volunteered to make donations of clothing to be delivered to Mrs. Jas. Downing, food for Mrs. N. Wilson. The Red Cross is also making collections.

Dr. Parkin gave a talk on emotional development of the child. Dr. T. H. Lean proposed a vote of thank to Dr. Parkin. Miss Jean Noble gave a talk to the leaders and members of the girls club.

Plans were made for transportation of the girls on Achievement Day. A vote of thanks was proposed by Mrs. Wilson to Miss Noble.

Mrs. Norman Reddick volunteered to enquire about obtaining a white cane for a blind man in the village.

Mrs. Martin Reddick exhibited a minute book of the Clydsdale branch of the W.I. dated 1907. This branch dissolved some years ago. She also exhibited a picture of the early members of that branch.

The hostess and helpers served lunch. A picture of the Greek girl the branch has adopted was displayed.

Charles Coburn Celebrates 60 Years Actor

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 8 (AP) —Last night a portly old gent with an ever-present cigar and monocle was given a party. He was Charles Coburn, celebrating 60 years in show business.

"I can't remember wanting to be anything but an actor," Coburn reflected as he gazed back over the years.

"I suppose my desire to be an actor originated when my mother read me stories about theatre people. The glamor and excitement of their lives intrigued me and I wanted to be like them."

At 13, he took his first theatrical job—as program boy in a theatre at Savannah, Ga. He graduated to usher and became manager at 18.

Wanted to Act

"It was a huge theatre and we had names like Otis Skinner and Richard Mansfield," he recalled. "I remained manager for two years, but all the time I wanted to be an actor. . .

"So I joined a stock company and got a few walk-on parts, enough to get oriented in the business. I thought I wanted to be a comic opera comedian. . .

"That ambition died when I played Shakespeare. I became a Shakespearian actor for the next few years. During this period I met my wife. We were co-starred in 'As You Like It' and decided simultaneously to get married and start our own company, which we had for 12 years."

Coburn declared the lowest ebb in his life came in 1937, when his wife died.

Movies Helped

"I was lost," he said. "There seemed to be nothing left, nothing to live for. Then I received an offer to do a picture ('Of Human Hearts'). I accepted.

"The movies gave me a new lease on life. . .In the past 13 years I've made 48 pictures and making a movie is still interesting to me."

Now nearing 73, Coburn is one of the top character actors in Hollywood. His salary is somewhere near $75,000 a picture and he makes three or four a year.

Edward Hummell, no fixed address, was sentenced to four months in the Ontario Reformatory when he pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk and having two prior convictions before Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court today.

"I hope they'll be able to do something for you there," Magistrate Gee said. He suggested Hummell might be treated with a new drug which is reported to help alcoholics.

Farm Prospects Look Good

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 8 (CP)—Farm prospects for the next two or three years look good, but there is less optimism about the long-term outlook, Dr. H. L. Patterson economics branch manager of the Ontario Agriculture Department said here Tuesday night.

Addressing 125 Veterans' Land Act officials on the second day of their 10-day conference, Dr. Patterson thought wheat, coarse grains and cheese prices will hold quite steady, while other dairy products will tend to come into line with cheese. Egg and hog prices will rise somewhat due to increased domestic consumption.

Dr. Patterson said "we are emerging from the post-war period of erratic price fluctuations into a reconstruction era of relatively stable price structure, the normal pattern following a war."

He said this period usually lasts seven or eight years and is followed by a "violent price drop and a severe depression."

High School Area Enlarged

NORWOOD, March 8 (ENS)—The High School Area Board was notified Monday that a portion of Percy has been added to Norwood high school area. The information was given by Mrs. J. Spurway, county clerk and treasurer.

Belmont council gave tentative approval of the site and cost of the proposed new high school. The board decided to apply to the Municipal Board for permission to issue debentures.

Seek Compromise In UN Dispute

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP)—The New York Times says today that UN secretary-general Trygve Lie has urged the big four to find a compromise settlement of the east-west deadlock over China's representation in the United Nations.

Russia and her satellites have walked out of all UN meetings in which representatives of Nationalist China participate. They insist that the Communist regime now speaks for China.

The report by James Reston of the Times' Washington bureau says Lie has circulated a private memorandum to the governments of Britain, the United States, Russia, France and several other member countries outlining a tentive basis for a compromise.

Lie was also said to have discussed with U. S. officials the possibility of calling together the foreign secretaries of all states in the security council for a special meeting to thrash out "a number of questions dividing east and west."

The United States has not recognized the Chinese Communist regime but five other members of the security council — Britain, Russia, India, Yugoslavia and Norway—have extended recognition.

The Times says the memorandum included the point that a country's policy of diplomatic recognition need not determine its attitude toward the representation in the United Nations.

Driver Fined Careless Count

Found guilty of a charge of careless driving, Roger McFadden, 30, of 759 Chamberlain St., was fined $15 and costs by Magistrate E. A. Gee, Lindsay, in police court here today.

Provincial Constable Roy Feeley testified he had been riding in the police cruiser with another constable north on Monaghan Rd. Ahead of them they saw a truck on which the rear license plate was missing.

He said they started to pull up alongside the truck to check the driver when it swerved to the left forcing them into the curb. The police cruiser pulled back and followed the truck as it turned into Parkhill Rd. Again the cruiser tried to pull alongside the truck this time with the red police stop light on the right front fender turned on, but again was crowded to the curb.

Constable Feeley said they had turned on the siren and blown the horn twice. The truck sped up through the wartime housing area and back into Parkhill Rd.

At Park St., where there was a stop sign, Constable Feeley said he thought the cruiser might be able to pull alongside. He said the truck slowed down and when the cruiser started to move up alongside, turned again to cut off the police car.

As a result, the cruiser smashed into the rear of the truck. Constable Feeley said McFadden had been drinking some, but was not drunk.

McFadden, who was a flying instructor in the army and said he had had no accidents in 15 years of driving, testified he was driving home Mrs. John E. Pacey, 602 Gilchrist St., who had been visiting his wife for the evening.

He said he did not know of any car trying to pass him, or that there was any car behind him and did not hear a horn or siren. He said he turned up into the wartime houses, but took the wrong street to reach Mrs. Pacey's house and turned back into Parkhill Rd.

He testified his car was hit from the rear after he had come to a stop at Park St. He added he had nothing to drink the whole evening. Mrs. Pacey corroborated this story except to say she knew there was a car behind part of the way.

The two men are charged with assaulting Edmund Booth, 38, reformatory guard, occasioning actual bodily harm and with an attempt to escape forcibly from the institution. Separate hearing of the two charges was conducted today before the pair were committed for trial.

Both men admitted taking part in the assault on Booth, who was reported recovering slowly in hospital from a fractured skull, fractured jaw, cuts to the scalp and injuries to the spine.

Landlord Fined Overcharging

A fine of $25, and $11.50 costs, was imposed on Earl Turner, 76 Robinson Street, who pleaded guilty to four charges under the Wartime Leasehold Act in Police Court today.

Prosecuting Attorney W. F. Huycke, KC, told the court Turner had been convicted of a similar offence in 1947.

Turner was charged with charging George Miller $25 a month for rooms upstairs on which the maximum was fixed at $20; with charging Donald Lucas $10 a week for two rooms downstairs on which a $6 maximum was fixed; with collecting previously $25 a month for the same two rooms from Jack Finn when the maximum was set at $4.75 a week; and finally with failing to apply to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to have a maximum rental fixed.

5 Teen-Agers Fighting Fined Total Of $37.50

A street fight cost five teen-age boys a total of $37.50 when they all pleaded guilty in police court today to charges of causing a disturbance.

The five were Donald Guthrie, 17, of 655 Frank St.; Ronald Collins, 18, of 341 McDonnel St.; Floyd Michaels, 18, of 690 Frank St.; John Reid, 17, of 652 Frank St.; and Clayton Boat, 18, of 756 New Romaine St.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw told Magistrate E. A. Gee, Lindsay, that the boys were fighting among themselves about 11 p.m. Feb. 28 near Albert St. and Monaghan Rd. Each was fined $5 and $2.50 costs.

See Golden Age For Evening British Papers

LONDON —(CP)— A decrease in the number of Britain's morning newspapers outside of London has been predicted by a Leeds editor.

W. L. Andrews, editor of the Yorkshire Post, a morning newspaper, told the Royal Society of Arts here recently: "We cannot expect more provincial morning papers in the near future; London competition is too strong for any such venture."

But he thought the provincial evening newspapers were entering "a golden age." Some newspapers now being published two or three times a week might join the evening field.

Provincial morning newspapers would undergo the most changes in competing "with the increasing pull of London and of the London press and of bright, brief and sketchy journalism."

"It seems to me that in the near future there will be a tendency to have fewer provincial papers. The days when a country printer could easily add a weekly paper to his establishment belong to the romantic past."

Mr. Andrews said newspapers were moving rapidly toward intense and probably destructive competition as in pre-war days."

The growing popularity of evening newspapers, however, would allow them to achieve "great improvements" as restrictions disappear.

Educational standards of readers were changing under the influence of longer schooling and "we must expect changes amounting almost to a technical transformation of the press."

Mr. Andrews did not think there would be a growth of great newspaper groups on any large scale in the near future.

"The very small groups may expand a little, and other groups may be formed, but political conditions do not favor the building up of enormous groups," he said. "It would be dangerous to attempt such expansion when one great political party is so angrily opposed to it."

Diamond Fashioning Gets Woman's Skill

SYDNEY, Australia (CP) — British-born Mrs. Marcelle Leechman is probably the only woman diamond-cutter in Australia.

Born in the Cornish village of Mazarion, Mrs. Leechman learned her trade in London and came to Australia in September last year. Her husband, also a gem expert, came to Australia before his wife to work for a Sydney jewelry firm.

Mrs. Leechman at present specializes in polishing diamonds, but she is an expert in the whole process of diamond treatment from cleaving the rough stones sawing them and cutting the final facets.

Old Scribbler Tells Mining Success Story

TORONTO, March 8.—(CP)—In an old school scribbler on display at the Prospectors' and Developers' Association convention here is written much of the success story of northern Ontario mining.

Owned by the Ontario Mines Department, the book is the record of special prospector classes held from 1920 to 1924 by the late Dr. William Lawton Goodwin. Similar classes still are held.

The names on pages now browning with age include those of Bert Ashley, discoverer of Ashley Mine in Bannockburn township; J. P. Bickell, mining man and financier; F. O. Bidgood of Bidgood Mine; Alan Cockeram, a Central Patricia executive; W. B. Airth, Mining engineer; the late Russell Cryderman, who with his father discovered the Garson and Leitch mine; Lorne Howey of Howey Gold Mines; a trapper named Ed. H. Horne, who found the Horne—later Noranda—mine; and Charles La Bine, discoverer of the uranium mine on Great Bear Lake.

Also enrolled in those first classes, conducted at Kirkland Lake, Haileybury and other northern Ontario mining centres was Tom Montgomery, who stumbled on some good-looking ore in the root of an upturned tree and developed it into the Waite-Amulet mine. Other students were Fred G. McLeod, of the McLeod-Cockshutt mine; Dan Willians of Cochenor - Willans fame; and Tom Saville and Pat McDonough, two of the north's best-known prospectors.

The name of Gertrude Oakes, sister of the late Sir Harry Oakes, appears in the list of the 1922 class. Miss Oakes was for several years secretary-treasurer of the Lake Shore mine at Kirkland Lake.

U.S. Refuses Boost Rates

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—The United States will refuse to put into effect provisions of an international agreement which might increase rates for press telegrams.

The state department announced the decision Tuesday. The provisions are three paragraphs of the international telegraph regulations as revised last year in Paris.

An announcement said the U.S. has taken the position that there should be "no fixed ratio between rates for press telegrams and rates for ordinary telegrams."

The secretary-general of the International Telecommunication Union at Geneva was asked to notify other countries that the U.S. will not apply the provisions on press rates and urges that other members not apply those provisions where an increase will result.

Miss Bessie Matchett Funeral Service Held

Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church conducted the funeral services of the late Miss Bessie Matchett from the funeral home of A. Comstock and Sons on Tuesday.

Miss Matchett was born in Otonabee Township, the daughter of the late James C. Matchett and Eliza MacFarlane. Being a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, she was interested in the work of the Women's Missionary Society and the Ladies' Aid. Her brother, Robert J. Matchett, predeceased her two years ago.

Pallbearers were A. H. Heideman, Donald Carr, Gordon McIntyre, Allen Stewart, William Cooper and Henry Green.

Interment was in Little Lake Cemetery.

'RED' IS AGENT — George Dietze, 51, Pittsburgh, Pa., jeweler, revealed that he has been posing as a Communist while working as an FBI agent for ten years. Dietze told of his role when another FBI informant, Matthew Cvetic, identified him as a Red.

CITY SOLICITOR — James Watson, 38-year-old attorney, has been appointed Windsor's city solicitor. Mr. Watson, assistant city solicitor since 1947, is believed to be the only Negro to hold a senior municipal post in Canada. The office became vacant when Lorne R. Cumming resigned to become chairman of the Ontario Municipal Board.

Western Canada Oil Resources Still Uncovered

TORONTO, March 8 —(CP)—Western Canada will eventually uncover somewhere between 15,000,000,000 and 20,000,000,000 barrels of oil, Theo A. Link, consulting geologist, said today.

Dr. Link, formerly with Imperial Oil Ltd., gave his opinion in an address to the Prospectors and Developers Association which winds up its annual convention today.

His estimate compares with some 1,000,000,000 barrels now in sight. He said discovery of the ultimate amount won't take place within the next few years for the obvious reason that a great deal of the possible oil-bearing territory is in inaccessible areas.

Furthermore, he stated, "it is safe to predict that eventually Western Canada will discover some 10,000,000,000,000 to 20,000,000,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas.

Dr. Link advised the governments of the four western provinces, all potential oil producers, to make haste "to formulate laws governing regulations for oil and gas prospecting which are more stable and uniform than today.

"These laws or rules should be so flexible that they will cover both the populated and accessible areas and also the hinterland. They should be such that they will invite risk capital with experience, of which there does not appear to be enough in Canada. They should be such that they will attract and be fair to the smallest bona fide prospector and the largest corporations—and this does not include fly-by-night promotion schemes."

Pay $19,000 In Settlement

PEMBROKE, March 8—(CP)—A settlement totalling $19,000 was made by the Canadian Pacific Railway to three plaintiffs in actions brought against the railway at the Spring Assizes of the Supreme Court of Ontario for the County of Renfrew here yesterday.

The claims were the result of a collision between an automobile and a CPR train at a railway crossing on Highway 17 near Petawawa, Ont., in October, 1945. Three persons were killed.

Largest settlemnt of $10,000 was made in the case of Jules Turcotte, brother of Andrew Turcotte, driver of the car. Mr. Turcotted acted as administrator of his brother's estate.

A settlement of $5,000 was made to Lindsay McCarthy, administrator of his sister's estate, Mrs. Andrew Turcotte, who was killed in the collision.

In the third case, Wilfred Paquette, whose wife was killed, was awarded $4,000.

New Housing Districts Challenge To Church

TORONTO, March 8 —(CP)—New housing districts present a challenge to the United Church of Canada, the Rev. Dr. M. C. Macdonald, associate secretary of the church board of home missions, said Tuesday.

He told the United Church missionary and maintenance committee:

"If we don't go into these new areas, the fundamentalists and the four-square gospel group will. Never in the history of Canada has such an opportunity been presented to the church."

He praised the work of 200 United Church student missionaries who, he said, have discovered some of the 500,000 persons in Canada who are listed as United Church members but who have been lost from the church for various reasons.

Find Increased Demand For Concert Tickets

Several hundred music lovers wishing to attend next season's series of Community Concerts will be disappointed because of the lack of an auditorium with adequate capacity. This has become apparent since the campaign to sell 1950-51 memberships started Monday.

Although many memberships were renewed Monday, the official opening of the campaign took place at a dinner Tuesday in Hooper's Palm Room, which was attended by 50 directors and campaign workers.

Throughout this week next season's memberships are being accepted at the Association's temporary headquarters at the YMCA and early next week, the 1950-51 program will be announced. Mrs. Ford Turner is campaign chairman.

Albert Robinson, New York representative of Columbia Concerts agents for the community concert artists, was introduced at the dinner by Mrs. W. B. Brown, president of the Peterborough association. He mentioned several artists who would be available next winter.

Two films, the first featuring Charles Kullman and His Men of Song and the second, Madine Conner, soprano; Tossy Spivakovsky, violin and Constance Keene, piano, were shown after the dinner.

Economic Crisis Been Forgotten In Britain's Political Battles

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 8—(CP)—Absorbing developments in parliament and at the polling stations seem to have effaced the word "crisis" from Britain's political vocabulary.

Recent exciting events — the even balance of parties after the Feb. 23 general election, the scarlet-and-gold pageantry of Monday's state opening of parliament, hints of a duel to the death between Labor and Conservatives over steel nationalization—have induced a mood of escapism everywhere except on the financial pages.

Nobody wants to watch a documentary on economics when they can get blood and thunder for the same money. Thus the crisis, which rolled over and played dead during the election campaign, can be expected to lie still for a while.

For a couple of weeks at least, parliamentary trials of strength will be the main issue.

Yet it was only last October that a hoarse and red-faced Sir Stafford Cripps, his usual clipped, controlled manner shaken by the forced decision to devalue the pound, told the House of Commons as Chancellor of the Exchequer:

"Unless we can all quickly produce more and get our costs down, we shall suffer a tragic fall in our standard of living accompanied by all the demoralizing insecurity of widespread unemployment."

Out Of Fashion

Speeches like that went out of fashion during the election. Both main parties concentrated on food, jobs and housing. There were only incidental references to the balance-of-payments problem at the opening of the new parliament.

One came from Anthony Eden, deputy leader of the Conservative party.

He said that Britain's first task is to grapple with a growing inflation at home. Prices abroad, particularly in the United States, were beginning to fall.

"Canada, Sweden and Switzerland are all beginning to show a similar tendency," said Eden, repeating that in Britain prices are starting to rise. This obviously would have disastrous effects on export trade.

Further light on finance may be cast in Britain's April budget. Meanwhile, the government can draw little encouragement from the report of the country's position recently submitted to the United States Senate by John Kenney, head of the Economic Co-operation Administration in London.

"An inflationary increase in costs could very quickly recreate the situation which required devaluation," the report said. "Therefore, adequate steps were and are required of the British government to prevent a recurrence of these conditions.

Kelley Improving

TORONTO, March 8—(CP)—The condition of Health Minister Kelley, who suffered a stroke about two months ago, is showing improvement. Relatives here said today, however, that the 72-year-old cabinet minister's condition remains serious. Mr. Kelley, Progressive Cnservative member for Hamilton-Wentworth in the Ontario Legislature, is in hospital in Hamilton. The stroke was his second within a year.

Expect Strike Leaders Tell Company Demands Going Up

DETROIT, March 8—(AP)—Chrysler strike leaders were expected to tell company officials today what they already have told thousands of the strikers—that the longer the strike lasts the more it will take to settle it.

That threat provided a backdrop for resumed peace talks on the 43-day strike. About 140,000 persons have been made idle by the dispute, 89,000 at Chrysler.

An estimated 20,000 strikers turned out Tuesday to hear their leaders report on long and fruitless negotiations to date.

Walter Reuther, United Automobile Workers Union (C.I.O.) president and head union negotiator, sounded the theme of a mass meeting with this declaration:

"The longer they (Chrysler officials) hold off, the more it is going to cost them to settle."

He and other U.A.W. leaders said Chrysler has not come beyond its $100-a-month pension offer (including social security) made a week before the strike.

Set In Demand

That was the amount set in the union's pension demand. The battle has been over administration and financing of a pension plan.

The UAW has insisted that a specific number of cents be set aside into a trust fund for each hour worked by its members. The union also would share in operating the plan.

Chrysler wants to pay pensions out of operating revenue, without funding the money.

"We want the money in the bank," Reuther exclaimed.

The UAW's ultimate aim is a $200 a month pension, Reuther said. But he indicated a belief this might take years to achieve.

UAW officials have not replied to John L. Lewis's offer of a $1,000,000 loan to help finance the Chrysler strike. They said they still have not received a letter from the mine workers chief containing the offer.

Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, said the strike has cost the international union $372,250 to date. Local unions have spent thousands of dollars in addition.

Blocked Roads Limit Attendance

BETHANY, March 8 (ENS) — Mrs. Reginald Palmer entertained the Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church on Thursday afternoon. Owing to blocked roads the attendance was small, only nine members attending.

The president, Mrs. J. J. Hamilton, was in the chair and opened the meeting with prayers and Mrs. T. S. Gault led in the Litany.

During the business session the members voted unanimously to accept their share of the annual budget. $5. was voted towards the support of the Van Workers in the Canadian west. Mrs. Gault read a chapter from the study book "Dawn Over Japan."

It was reported that another quilt for the Dorcas work was completed with a second one ready for quilting. Mrs. J. J. Hamilton spoke briefly on some early experiences of the Women's Auxiliary and explained how the Diocesan Funds are used.

London Zoo Takes Census Keeps Eye Open For Trade

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, March 8 —(CP)—It would be a mistake to assume that London Zoo's Cow Okapi is for sale—even it its value has been annuonced at £2,000 ($6,200). The cold cash wouldn't interest the management. But if you had a white rhinoceros you wanted to swap. . . Believing in keeping track of just what it has in its cages, aquaria and ponds — and sum total of their occupants' worth—every year along about now the zoo takes stock.

Heads are counted (6,794 this year), which is easy for the lions' keepers but not for the reptiles'. Their cases have to be dismantled, otherwise frogs, newst or lizards hiding under vegetation or stones would miss the census.

Then the Regent's Park authorities compare last year's values with current market quotations and evaluate their stock.

Their surpluses are known then, which of its £98,626 worth of livestock are available for trading with other zoos needing specimens.

While the Okapi — an African animal resembling a cross between a giraffe, a zebra and a deer and discovered only in 1900 —gets the zoo's "most valuable" listing, elephants at £1,500 are not far behind. Some giraffes are valued at £1,200.

The 1950 census shows the zoo has 895 mammals, 1,836 birds, 787 reptiles and amphibians and 3,276 aquarium specimens.

Values among the £67,269 mammal collection range from the Okapi's £2,000 down to 2s. for a tame mouse.

Values of the more spectacular creatures have declined during the last year, attributed to completion of post-war restocking with correspondingly less demand for specimens. A big-game hunter with four white rhinoceros captured with a lasso in the Sudan is being allowed to cool until his price shakes down from his £5,000 to the zoo's "bid" of £1,500

Not Interested

Said the zoo to his overture: "definitely not interested. There must be no black market in white rhinos, however rare they may be."

The aquarium holds more than 200 species and its specimens are worth £2,000, while the £4,700 reptile collection includes 64 kinds of snakes, 54 lizards and nine crocodiles.

The 122-year-old Zoological Society of London opened the zoo in acres of Regent's Park in 1828. The zoo was founded by Sir Stamford Raffles, whose other claim to fame was his founding of Singapore in 1819.

Will Delete Labor Code Strike Clause

Ontario Government Agrees To Remove Illegal Strike Ruling

TORONTO, March 9—(CP) — Ontario's proposed new labor code will be amended to delete the section that requires parent labor organizations to put the pressure on local unions striking illegally. Labor Minister Daley told the Legislature Wednesday he will delete from the bill a section which gives the Ontario Labor Relations Board power to deny its services to a parent labor organization if one of its member locals engages in an illegal strike.

He said there would also be an amendment to the section which requires that a union's bargaining committee must include employees of the firm involved. He did not specify what this amendment would be.

Both amendments likely will be presented during committee stage. Debate on the second reading of the Labor Bill was adjourned Wednesday by Liberal leader Farquhar Oliver at the suggestion of Premier Frost. Mr. Oliver will be first speaker when the debate is resumed, probably Friday.

The Legislature today resumes the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne. There are still over 20 speakers to be heard.

Labor Minister Daley, who has received labor protests against the section of the code dealing with illegal strikes, indicated earlier that this provision would rarely be invoked in practice.

Eamon Park (CCF-Toronto-Dovercourt) and J. B. Salsberg (Lab.-Prog.-Toronto-St. Andrew) attacked the bill as it was called for second reading.

Will Investigate Windsor Police

TORONTO, March 9—(CP)—C. R Magone, Deputy Attorney-General, said today there will be an investigation of references made to Windsor police Wednesday in a magistrate's written judgment on a bootlegging case.

Mr Magone said Ontario provincial police in Windsor have been asked for a full report about the arrest and conviction of Joseph Assef.

Assef was sentenced Wednesday to six months for keeping liquor for sale.

Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan's judgment, in part, said that Assef's violation of the law "is perhaps less important to the welfare and security of the community than is the answer to how he managed to do so quite unhampered by a police department organized to combat violations of the law."

Communists Invade Island Of Weichow

TAIPEI, Formosa, March 9 — (AP). — Nationalist planes today rained bombs incessantly on the Communist invaders of strategic Weichow Island, off the South China coast.

Radio contact with the Nationalist defenders had been lost. It was not clear whether that meant all resistance on Weichow had ceased.

Weichow is not a large island. But it may become a Red airfield for attacks on Hainan Island or serve as a lookout post for any Nationalist attempt to invade the mainland from Hainan.

In Hong Kong, a dispatch from Hoihow, Hainan Island, to the independent newspaper Wahkiu-yatpo today, said the fourth effort by Chinese Communists to land troops on Hainan in 36 hours had been beaten off.

Case Goes To Jury

MANCHESTER, N.H., Mar. 9 — (AP) — The "mercy" death case of Dr. Hermann N. Sander probably will be given to an all-male jury late this afternoon after summations by the defence and state and the Judge Harold Wescoth's charge to the Jury.

Flames Sweep Army Prison 14 Men Trapped

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 9 (AP)—Fourteen military prisoners—trapped behind bars—died late Wednesday when a fire swept through a wooden guardhouse at the Sandia secret weapons base.

Two other prisoners were critically injured. Seven men were overcome by smoke which boiled out of the temporary barracks type structure on the A-bomb-assembling reservation.

The fire apparently broke out in a coal-burning stove at the far western tip of the L-shaped building. It swept with incredible speed down the ceiling of the tinder dry prison and halfway up the rest of the L.

Flames licked out from the ceiling and the corridor to the inner cell blocks where the men were held prisoners behind heavy mesh wire.

The fourteen died of suffocation and burns. Authorities said 13 apparently were dead when taken from the building. The 14th died in hospital.

Two guards—only occupants of the prison in addition to the 16 prisoners—were at the far end of the building. They were overcome by smoke.

Sandia is a field installation of the United States armed forces special weapons project. It works closely with Los Alamos atomic installation, 60 miles to the north, and nearby Kirtland Field, the air force's special weapons command.

One of the guards, Cpl. Richard Miller, said he saw a flash of light and called out to Pte. Wilbur Henry, the other guard, to sound the alarm.

"I started to try to release the prisoners from the cell blocks," he related to investigators. "Before I was able to unlock the first door, the flame and heat and smoke drove me back."

Henry said he sounded the fire alarm and tried to get the prisoners out "but there was fire all up and down the hallway and I couldn't get to the door."

Jet-Propelled Car

TOWCESTER, Northamptonshire, England, March 9—(AP)—Britain's first jet-propelled automobile, a sleek sports two-seater, was put through its paces for the public today. The gray coupe, powered by a pair of twin kerosene-fed jet turbines, raced along a concrete landing strip at Silverstone airport near here at close to 90 miles an hour.

It was the first public demonstration of the British automobile industry's biggest post-war secret. Developed by the Rover Motor Company of Birmingham, the car is aimed at capturing a larger share of the dollar automobile market.

Youth Forces Cabbie On Wild Drive

Driver Slips Note Asking Help In With Gas Money

TORONTO, March 9—(CP)—A wild taxi ride from London, Ont., to Toronto ended today with the arrest of the passenger on a charge of kidnapping the driver.

Arrested was Bruce R. Rossiter, 22, of London. Police said he will be taken to London to face trial.

The cabbie, Lorne Saunders of London, said he was ordered to drive to Toronto by a passenger who claimed to have a shotgun under his overcoat.

Saunders quoted Rossiter as saying he had "a job to do and it couldn't wait."

He said the youth kept apologizing during the journey but said time was urgent.

When he arrived in Toronto, Rossiter told Saunders he hadn't been hurt because he had been a good chauffeur. Then Rossiter got out of the cab and advised him to get back to London in a hurry, Saunders added.

Police found 15 shotgun shells in Rossiter's pocket.

Saunders said he stopped at Ingersoll for gasoline during a snowstorm and slipped a written note asking for help between the dollar bills he handed to the service station attendant in payment for the gas.

Rossiter, sitting in the rear seat, had told Saunders to write his address on a piece of paper and he (Rossiter) would send his taxi fare for the trip as soon as he "pulled a job" in Toronto.

Rossiter had warned Saunders not to make any outcry.

"I don't want to kill you because I don't want to face a murder rap" Saunders quoted Rossiter as saying.

Saunders told police that as soon as Rossiter got in the cab at a London intersection, Rossiter pulled the shotgun from under his coat. He said he had no opportunity to call on his two-way radio. He said Rossiter was not abusive but handed him cigarettes during the drive here.

Nine Freight Cars Derailed At Brantford

BRANTFORD, March 9 (CP) — Nine freight cars, one laden with highly-inflammable benzol, were derailed today on the Canadian National Railways' westbound main line at the Albion St. subway. They were part of a 46-car train.

Slight delays were caused to westbound traffic which had to be switched to the eastbound tracks from Brantford to Paris junction.

Three of the nine cars were badly derailed while the others only needed lifting back on the tracks. Two hundred feet of track were uprooted. A broken truck on the lead end of a laden box car was the cause of derailment, officials said. No benzol was spilled from the tank car which was only slightly out of line.

Alexander Nominated Best-Dressed Man Legislature Celebrities Given Go-by In Poll

TORONTO, March 9—(CP)—Canada's 10 best-dressed men were named Wednesday night at the close of the two-day annual Canadian Men's Apparal Fair held here and the list was headed by Governor-General Viscount Alexander, who also headed the list a year ago.

Second and third were George Drew, leader of the Progressive Conservative party, and Prime Minister St. Laurent. The list also included Premier Johnson of British Columbia; Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland; Mines Minister McDiarmid of Manitoba; E. P. Taylor, Toronto industrialist; J. Lawrence Rumble, automotive executive; J. E. Campeau, Windsor radio executive; and R. W. Southam, Ottawa newspaper executive.

The failure to include any members of the Ontario Legislature in the top 10 prompted the Ontario Press Gallery at Queen's Park here to hold a poll of their own. They placed Campbell Calder, Liberal member for London, first by a scant two votes over Attorney-General Porter, with Premier Frost third; John Hanna, Progressive Conservative member for Huron-Bruce, fourth and William Houck, Liberal member for Niagara Falls, fifth.

Confidence Vote Tonight 9 Liberals Back Churchill

LONDON, March 9—(CP)—Herbert Morrison, Deputy Prime Minister, said today he regards a vote due tonight in the House of Commons on iron and steel nationalization as "an issue of confidence." This was taken as a clear indication that if the Labor government is defeated on the vote it will resign. The Feb. 23 general election returned it to power with a majority of only seven in the Commons.

The vote, scheduled for 5 p.m. EST is on a Conservative amendment "regretting" omission in the Speech from the Throne of any reference to the proposed nationalization of iron and steel.

Morrison, the Labor party's chief political strategist, made his announcement in the House of Commons, repeating what he had told Commonwealth correspondents at a luncheon shortly before the House sitting began.

He said at the luncheon that there could hardly be a more important issue than an amendment moved on the motion to adopt the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

"On the whole I would be inclined to put it in front of an amendment to the budget," Morrison told the correspondents.

Issue of Confidence

In the House, Morrison was asked by Fenner Brockway, Labor member, if the amendment on steel, tabled by Conservative leader Winston Churchill, would be regarded as a vote of censure involving the government's resignation.

He replied: "I think that it is the case that an amendment to the address is a first-class occasion and therefore clearly everybody must understand that it does involve an issue of confidence as far as the government is concerned."

The cabinet met in special session during the day, presumably to discuss the government's course should it be defeated.

The danger of defeat was intensified when the press association reported the nine Liberal members in the new House of Commons have decided to vote with the Conservatives. The decision, taken at a secret meeting of Liberals Wednesday night, was reported to have been communicated to Morrison.

Until then, it was expected the Liberals would abstain from voting.

12 Children Hurt In Bus Accident

By The Canadian Press

Twelve children suffered minor injuries in a school bus accident and several youthful hockey players were marooned in a small town as light snow, swirled along by cold, biting wind, raked southern Ontario during the night.

Only one of 13 boys and girls en route home from high school at Mitchell, 17 miles northwest of Stratford, escaped injury when the bus swerved in icy ruts and overturned. One girl suffered a broken collarbone; 11 others were treated for bruises and sprains.

Four automobiles carrying a team of midget hockey players home to Woodstock after a game in Walkerton ran into trouble. Two cars, fighting drifts and poor visibility, stopped for the night at Listowel. The boys were to continue to Woodstock by train today.

The other cars, driven by team manager Doug Watson and his wife, tried to continue the journey but were in a minor collision between Listowel and Atwood. There were no injuries. Mr. and Mrs. Watson and the boys remained in Atwood overnight.

Throughout the Stratford district, driving was hazardous. Highway officials reported visibility still "very poor" today and forecast no let-up in the storm.

Draft 10,000 In Paris Strike

PARIS, March 9 — (AP). — Thousands of utility workers struck throughout France today, but a government draft of key personnel kept the lights and gas burning.

The only immediate noticeable effect of the stoppage was a lowering of gas pressure. Householders found it took a long time to cook breakfast.

Industry did not appear to be hit by the walkout which had been scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. EST last night.

At least 10 per cent of the 100,000 workers in the nationalized utilities were at their posts, drafted under the War Powers Act of 1938. Though all utility workers were subject to the "requisition," which provides jail terms for violators, police delivered the draft notices Wednesday only to 10,000 key men, a government spokesman said.

A spokesman at the Ministry of Commerce and Industry said no workers had rebelled at the draft. The ministry said it had no immediate information on how many of the other 90,000 utility workers had struck.

Drop Arson Count Difficult To Prove

LINDSAY, March 9—Ruling that "in this case suspicion is not enough," Magistrate Philp of Peterborough Wednesday dismissed a charge of arson against Albert Rhettie, Fenelon Falls. "Arson is one of the hardest charges to prove," said the magistrate.

In a fire Jan. 15 a former barn used as a garage by Mr. Rhettie was destroyed, along with five vehicles. The accused said the fire apparently started near a truck, and that faulty wiring might have been the cause.

Police Say Teen-Agers Responsible

Scientists And RCMP Used Geiger Counters Find Dangerous Loot

OTTAWA, March 9—(CP)—National Research Council officials today reported they have recovered all of 20 radium needles stolen from a National Research Council storehouse.

The last 15 dangerous needles were found in the lower town district in a torn cardboard carton stuffed with paper and matted with snow.

Five of the missing needles had been found Wednesday night, one in the bottom of a bushel basket of garbage and four tucked in an envelope in a city mailbox.

Research Council and RCMP officials who conducted an all-night search declined to disclose the exact location of the finds, but all the needles were believed to have been recovered within a five-block radius of the NRC headquarters.

Authorities issued a warning Wednesday when it was discovered that the 20 needles — in appearance resembling finishing nails but dangerous to anyone handling them—were missing.

Blames Children

A group of children were responsible for the theft.

Five of the needles were discovered Wednesday night and the remainder rounded up today by a five-man team of scientists and police equipped with Geiger counters.

Corporal H. R. Greaves of the RCMP, in charge of the police part of the search, declined to disclose the names of the children responsible for the theft, but said they were between 12 and 15 years of age.

He said no charges would be laid.

Meanwhile, Research Council authorities, concerned about the health of the children, said they believed none of the youngsters involved has suffered from radium burns.

However, Dr. Jacob Kastner, NRC physicist in charge of radium calibration, said a check will be made in two weeks' time of the health of the children and that they would be kept under observation for some time after that.

A tip by a young boy led police to the area where all 20 needles were found.

In Basket

First of the needles turned up at the bottom of a garbage basket. Then, following the story of one lad who said he mailed some needles back to the Research Council when he heard a radio warning that they were dangerous, the investigators closed in on a mailbox less than 50 yards

PICKERING, March 9—(CP)—Two boys told police they knew where to find a tractor they had taken from a summer home. They hid it under a bridge, they said. In fact, they'd take a policeman right to the spot. But when they got there—no tractor. It had been stolen again.

Sleeping Bride Murdered, Blame Husband

HAMILTON, March 9 (CP) — John Kovach, 51, died today of what police said was a self-inflicted bullet wound a few hours after killing his sleeping bride of three months with a revolver.

Investigators said the shooting apparently stemmed from a family row. They said the 41-year-old woman, Rosalie Kovach, laid an assault charge against her husband last Saturday after he allegedly blackened her eyes.

The assault charge was scheduled to have been heard in Magistrate's Court today. The court clerk called out Kovach's name and a court attendant said that the accused man was in hospital.

Hear Quarrel

Other tenants in the couple's east-end Erie Avenue home said the shooting followed a night of quarrelling during which the husband scolded his wife in Hungarian for laying the assault charge.

Three shots rang out at approximately 7 a.m.

Police found Mrs. Kovach, in night attire, lying on a studio couch in the front bedroom of the upstairs apartment. Under her head was a blood-soaked pillow.

Her husband lay unconscious on a bed facing the couch. One bullet had grazed his forehead, another had pierced his head behind his right ear. Beside the man police found a .32-calibre Spanish-type revolver.

When Mrs. Kovach complained to police last Saturday about her husband's treatment of her, she told Inspector Alex Roughead that she met Kovach in England last fall and married him there in December after a whirlwind courtship.

Series Of Gas Blasts Shakes Six Houses

OGDENSBURG, N.Y., March 9 (AP)—A series of gas explosions jarred six houses Wednesday and blew the covers from two sewer manholes.

The cause has not been determined. City Engineer Charles H. Lord said it was not sewer gas.

City employees today removed manhole covers to allow the gas to escape.

In another explosion Tuesday, one man was burned slightly when he lit a match while looking for a gas leak in his cellar.

Hard Cider Kegs Too Heavy To Move So Oshawa Court Held In Farm Cellar

OSHAWA, March 9—Magistrate Frank Ebbs took his court six miles away Wednesday into a cold, damp farmhouse basement lined with huge kegs of hard cider. Evidence was that the kegs had carried 460 gallons of cider containing up to 8.4 per cent alcohol.

Back in the comparative comfort of his courtroom in old city hall here, Magistrate Ebbs fined Adolf Eyman of Garden Rd., Whitby Township, $200 and costs or three months. Accused pleaded guilty to having more than 100 gallons of home-made liquor. The liquor was ordered confiscated and the premises declared public for one year.

His worship pointed out the liquor had to be exhibited in court or his confiscation ruling would be ineffective. So Provincial Constable Gordon Keast loaded his cruiser with bench, Crown, bar and court officers and followed the accused to his farm north of Whitby. Two newspapermen joined the caravan.

Stenographer George Taylor sat uncomfortably on an apple crate, taking shorthand notes. There were three 100-gallon drums, three of 40 gallons and one of 16 gallons in the cellar.

"These exhibits have been marked and viewed in the cellar of the accused's home," said his worship for the record. "Being too cumbersome to move I'm not asking that they be viewed in court, but that they be left here, marked as exhibits."

Financial Difficulty Stands In Way St. Laurent Tells TLC

OTTAWA, March 9—(CP)—The government told a Labor delegation today it is impossible to set up an all-embracing Federal social security scheme at present.

Prime Minister St. Laurent and Health Minister Martin, speaking to heads of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said both constitutional and financial difficulties stand in the way of launching such a plan now.

But Mr. Martin told the Labor chiefs, who had asked the government to set up an over-all scheme on a contributory basis, that the government was working on a "step-by-step" scale towards meeting the problem.

Another announcement of the Prime Minister to the delegation was that this year, with its spending restrained, the government hopes to have a budget that will be just about balanced.

Annual Submission

More than 100 congress leaders under President Percy Bengough, making their annual legislative submission to the government, also heard these statements during a two-hour session:

From Prime Minister St. Laurent:

A definite downward trend in unemployment had set in during the last month.

There are no signs that capital construction activity in Canada is slowing down.

With heavy expenditures needed for defence preparedness and social services, there is little leeway in the present budget situation for financing additional services.

The government does not accept a T.L.C. suggestion that the principle of wage contracts should be used in controlling prices.

Judith Coplon Jailed 15 Years

NEW YORK, March 9.—(AP)—Judith Coplon today was sentenced to 15 years in jail for plotting to spy for Russia. Valentin A. Gubitchev, her Russian partner, received a 15-year suspended sentence and was ordered deported to Russia within two weeks.

Miss Coplon was sentenced to five years on a charge of conspiracy and 15 years on the count of attempted espionage, the sentences to run concurrently.

Gubitchev received a suspended sentence and was ordered deported by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan at the recommendation of the government.

Before the judge spoke Gubitchev declared in a court room statement that the case had been 'artificially manufactured' against him.

Find 100 Children Starving At Camp

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 9 — (AP)—Nearly 100 starving children are eating their first nourishing meal in many weeks at a migratory workers camp near here today, thanks to a kindly judge.

Food boxes and medicine were sent to the area Wednesday on orders of Judge Thomas J. Croaff, juvenile court jurist, shortly after the situation was first disclosed.

Judge Croaff said children ranging from 17 months to 11 years had been without food for 10 days and one crippled father told investigators he had sold a pint of blood to obtain food for his six children.

A report on the camp, 14 miles west of Phoenix, revealed many other families were subsisting on flour and water biscuits and lard gravy.

Farm Policy Under Fire In Commons

Gardiner Tells MP's Surpluses Small, Denies Election Bribes

OTTAWA, March 9—(CP)—A noisy verbal battle between Agriculture Minister Gardiner and opposition members on government agricultural policies, raged in the House of Commons, Wednesday.

Mr. Gardiner, defending those policies, repeated previous assertions that Canada has no large food surpluses available for export, promised that farmers would not lose money through government moves to balance trade and chided opposition members for their small representation in parliament.

He came up against two opposition speakers in the short three-hour afternoon sitting—Dr. W. G. Blair (PC—Lanark), who plumped for larger markets for Canadian cheese, and C. E. Johnston (SC—Bow River) who charged that farmers had been bribed into voting Liberal last year with their own money.

He also met, periodically through his 50-minute speech, a confusing hub-bub of half-heard interjections as opposition members took issue with him on the points he was making.

Mr. Gardiner said he entered the debate to make clear that western farmers would not lose anything through the government's action in inducing the British government to divert available funds from wheat to pork, lumber and fish products. If there was any loss—and he did not think there would be—it would be made up out of the federal treasury.

Surpluses Small

As for talk of food surpluses, Canada had only small surpluses of cheese, butter and honey, said Mr. Gardiner. The food and agriculture organizations of the Unit-

Cheese Markets Needed-Blair

OTTAWA, March 9—(CP)—Dr. W. G. Blair (PC-Lanark) said Wednesday in the Commons markets must be found for Canada's surplus cheese.

The cheese industry, he said during the throne-speech debate, was an important part of the economy of his constituency.

He felt the United Kingdom could take more than the 80,000,000 pounds of cheese contracted for this year. But it was evident that Canada would have to buy more from Britain if the UK was to obtain dollars for purchases in this country.

"Imports from the United Kingdom should be diversified," he said.

Special steps should be taken, he said, to increase domestic consumption of cheese. He believed that if cheese was put up in five and 10-pound packages the sales to Canadians would increase. The per capita consumption of cheese in Canada, now at four pounds a year, was one of the lowest in the world.

Dr. Blair urged the agriculture department to take steps to curb mastitis and Bang's disease in Canadian cattle. New Zealand lost most of her cheese market in the U.K. because the producers there were forced to pasteurize the milk going into cheese because of the prevalence of mastitis and Bang's disease among cattle.

Will Prosecute Match Industry

OTTAWA, March 9—(CP)—A Montreal lawyer today began sifting evidence in an official combines report preparatory to launching court action against an alleged price-fixing combine in Canada's wooden match industry.

Justice Minister Garson announced in the Commons Wednesday that John G. Ahearn, of Montreal, has been retained as government counsel to press charges against the Eddy Match Company of Pembroke, Ont., and its subsidiaries.

Mr. Garson said a report on the alleged combine had been submitted to outside counsel for opinion and that the government had been advised prosecution is warranted.

The report was the last combines investigation report prepared by F. A. McGregor before he retired as chief combines commissioner Jan. 1 last.

Disturber Fined, Not Guilty On Other Counts

Facing three charges in Police Court today, Harold "Bud" Redmond, 24, of 70 Hunter Street, was convicted of causing a disturbance in the Windsor Hotel, but found not guilty of stealing $60 and of vagrancy. He was fined $10, and costs, on the disturbance charge.

Melville Simpson, who lives six miles north of Buckhorn, testified Redmond stole $60 from him at the Windsor Hotel on February 15 Simpson said Redmond, whom he did not know, sat down at his table in the beverage room and Simpson bought him a beer. He said he had six ten-dollar bills stuck in the right breast pocket of his red plaid shirt. He added that Redmond saw this money.

Simpson then testified that Redmond had urged him to buy a bottle of gin and take it to Redmond's house, but Simpson refused.

Led to Fight

"He continued aggravating me," said Simpson, until it led to a fight. The fight was stopped and Redmond left. He came back and they shook hands. Their table was cut off beer and Simpson said he decided to leave. He stated his friend, Lorne Dennie, who had also been at the table, got up first and went out of the beverage room. Redmond followed Dennie and then Simpson went out.

On the steps leading to the street, Simpson met Redmond again. He said Redmond seized by by the front of the shirt and took the money from his shirt pocket. He said he scuffled with Redmond and then held him until police arrived. The money was not found on Redmond.

Dennie testified when the two men were scuffling he saw the money on the steps. He said he picked it up and walked away. He added he did not want to get involved in the affair. He turned the money into the police headquarters about 10 minutes after Redmond had been taken to the police station.

Constable Allen Edmison testified that Dennie had told him when he turned in the money, that he had seen Redmond take the money from Simpson's shirt pocket. Dennie denied in court today he had seen this.

The charge of causing a disturbance was laid in connection with the first scuffle and Redmond pleaded guilty to it.

On the charge of vagrancy, Constable Sherman Keliele testified he had seen Redmond wandering the streets most of the night in company with Stanley Bebee, 12 Hilliard Street, until he arrested them at 6:15 a.m. on Sunday morning.

Bebee pleaded guilty to the charge, and was fined $10, and costs, but Redmond pleaded not guilty, and, represented by John Corkery as defence counsel, was found not guilty of the offence.

Pair Dragged On Stretchers Up 150-Ft. Cliff

TORONTO, March 9 (CP) — A sick man and his daughter were dragged up a 150-foot cliff on stretchers late Wednesday night after ice and floodwaters isolated their home in the valley at Highland Creek, just east of Toronto.

Firemen, police and ambulance attendants joined in the rescue after the reeve of Scarboro township got word the two were ill and the only road into the settlement was impassable. Frank Savage, 26, was removed to Toronto hospital suffering from pneumonia. His five-year-old daughter was taken to the hospital for Sick Children for shelter.

At Long Branch in the western suburbs, reeve Lawrence Iles said he would confer with army officers about the possibility of using flame throwers to cut a channel through the frozen mouth of the Etobicoke River.

Many sections of Long Branch are flooded and one pregnant woman had to have her bed placed on blocks to put it out of reach of the flood waters. Automobiles stalled in the fast-running water when residents attempted to move their belongings to higher ground.

Cooler weather today was expected to alleviate the flood conditions, which occur almost every year in the event of a fast thaw.

Suggest Amendments

Both proposed amendments to the motion to give the bill second reading. Mr. Park moved that second reading be withheld because the bill denied "fundamental democratic practices in voting procedures," established "complicated and inflexible conciliation machinery" and ignored the principle of union security.

Mr. Salsberg's amendment was that the bill should be referred to the standing committee on labor.

Mr. Daley said the bill was not sent to the standing committee because it was of such importance that its details should be discussed by the whole Legislature, not by the comparatively few members of a committee.

There was no reference to union security, the Minister continued, because "organized labor has a job to do for itself." If a union had the confidence of its members and of management, union security would follow "as sunshine follows the rains." There should be no hesitation on the part of management to grant a check-off system of union dues payment to an established union, he added.

Mr. Park criticized the provision that in a government-conducted vote the union seeking certification must get a majority of all eligible employees in the plant at the time of the vote, rather than a simple majority of those voting.

Lose Right

He said that in a recent vote among employees of the Toronto Telegram to determine whether the American Newspaper Guild (CIO), should be certified the union had won a majority of votes cast, but lost the right to be certified. At the International Nickel Company at Port Colborne, a similar provision in the 1948 labor code had worked to the benefit of the "Communist-dominated" International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, he said.

If the same principle applied in provincial elections none of the present legislature members would have won their seats, Mr. Park said.

Mr. Salsberg said the Labor Minister was "scared to stand up and defend your legislation before a committee." He termed the bill as it stood "affront to labor and an insult to the trade union movement."

The House also gave third reading to a bill implementing a federal-provincial low-cost housing plan.

William Dennison (CCF-Toronto) said government spokesmen had given contradictory accounts of the part to be played under the plan by private builders and asked clarification.

Reimposition of the wartime 100-per-cent excess profits tax, sought by the Congress, would not be feasible under present conditions.

Impossible Plan

Health Minister Martin, Acting Minister of Labor:

It is impossible constitutionally to set up a contributory social security plan on a federal basis, either completely or in part.

Canada's means test for old age pensions, which the Congress wants removed, is "more favorable and less rigid" than those of Great Britain or New Zealand.

It would cost an additional $800,00,000 a year to implement the T.L.C.'s old age pensions proposals, which include boosting the pension to $60 a month and making it payable at 65 to men and to women.

Finance Minister Abbott:

Any further public construction—sought by the Congress—would not add anything to the general volume of Canadian construction, since the constitution industry will be working at peak anyway.

With the help of the Post Office Department, the box was opened and a lone envelope discovered inside. It contained four more of the radium-packed slivers.

Hijackers Raid Freight Train

ORILLIA, March 9—Hijackers pulled off an audacious raid Wednesday when they forced entry into a freight train at Washago, 12 miles north of here, while it was halted momentarily on a siding.

Breaking the seal on a box car door, the hijackers climbed in and dumped a quantity of articles onto the track. It is believed they made off with other goods, although the exact extent of the loss will not be known until CNR officials are able to check contents of the car.

The articles beside the roadbed were noticed by the crew, who, apparently, had missed the raiders altogether. An investigation revealed the broken seal, and the incident was reported to police.

Provincial Constable Fred Macdonald is investigating.

Cavan Farmer Appointed Maple Director

Peterborough members of the Maple Cattle Breeders' Association reached over into Cavan township for their first director to the parent organization at the local branch annual meeting Wednesday at the YMCA. The new director is Harry Kennedy.

Elected with him to the county board were W. Clarence Mann, Harry Young, Stewart Whittington and Harry Faulkner.

Russell Rowntree, president of the York county branch, was present for this meeting with G. W. Keffer, secretary-manager and A. E. Snider, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Reports for last year's operations reflected substantial growth in the eight counties of the Maple Breeders' territory.

The number of first inseminations last year was 20,791 as against 15,011 in 1948; 6896 in 1947; and 768 in the first year, 1945.

$72,920 Deposited

Cash deposited by members during the year was $72,920. The total for the preceding year of 1948 was $57,000.

Operating profit for last year was $6,643.54.

Receipts for 1949 amounted to $115,173 and expenditure $108,529.46.

Details of receipts were: fees for services $107,592.50; profit on sale of bulls $732.83; grant from Ontario government $6,750.67; and a small item of $97.

Believes Bible Contains Great Film Material

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 9 (AP) — Film producers should turn to the Bible in their search for vital movie subjects.

This advice comes from a fellow producer, but one cast in a different mold. He is the Rev. James K. Friedrich, Episcopal minister and head of cathedral films. He has produced several dozen well-made films which are shown in Protestant churches, and to Roman Catholics and Jews as well.

"The major film companies could do a great job for religion," Mr. Friedrich remarked. "But they are too wrapped up in making 'entertainent' pictures.

"The trouble is that the producers portray their own idea of entertainent. That's why we see so any race track pictures."

He indicated that movie makers could make exciting and significant pictures from Bible stories. But not, he added, the scriptures according to Cecil B. Demille.

Liberties Taken

"Mr. Demille's 'King of Kings' took decided liberties with the story of Christ," said the parson-producer. "I haven't seen 'Samson and Delilah.' But friends of mine say there is not much resemblance to the Bible Story and there is some mystery as to what the message is."

The minister declared that Protestants have received little attention in film subjects.

"It is our own fault," he added. "We have failed to organize as the Roman Catholic have. A picture about Catholicism has a ready-made audience."

He said that one of the few pictures about a Protestant preacher "One Foot in Heaven," was "an insult. It showed the minister (played by Fredric March) as a blackmailer, forcing the town merchant to contribute to building a new church or be exposed."

Using an inheritance, Mr. Friedrich founded cathedral films. His first and only feature film, "The Great Commandment," was bought by 20th-Fox for $170,000. Profits from the sale were put back into cathedral which is not a money-making venture.

Unfortunately, 20th-Fox did little or nothing about releasing "The Great Commandment."

Three-Ton Truck Overturns Stony Lake Rd.

A three-ton dump truck received about $200 damage Wednesday afternoon when it overturned on the Stoney Lake Road, five miles north of Hall Glen. The driver, Arnold Miller of Bridge St., Lakefield, was uninjured.

The truck, loaded with rock from the Nepheline Mines, was being driven south on the road by Miller when it hit a hole in the road breaking the rear spring. This shift of weight caused the rear end of the truck to swing and it rolled over in the snow-filled ditch.

Frank S. Coyle of Lakefield is the owner of the vehicle. Main damage was to the rear end and chassis.

Provincial Corporal Joseph Hanson and Constable Russell Pollard investigated.

All Taxes In

CAMPBELLFORD, March 9 (ENS)—It's a far cry from the days when the tax collector was able to report the tax levy collected to the nearest two dollars.

Fifty years ago, G. A. Hay, collector for the township of Seymour, reported he had collected the entire 1899 tax levy except for $1.78. How near to the $1.78 will the current tax collection be?

Another landmark in the annals of Campbellford history was the town's victory over Keene in a TVL league game with a score of 14-1.

Pushing Centenary

OSHAWA, March 9—(CP)—Mrs. Evelyn Bateman couldn't get her fellow Aldermen to act on an Oshawa centenary committee. Three refused. She finally got support for a request that the Chamber of Commerce look after it. Said Mrs. Bateman: "It would be a poor outlook if nothing was done to celebrate this city's 100th birthday."

Parks Bd. Asks Lawyer's Advice About Pavilion

COBOURG, March 9 (ENS) — Cobourg's parks board, Wednesday decided to refer the contentious pavilion lease to an out of town legal authority for a ruling on the meaning of the old lease. Some weeks ago the board accepted the $1,500 tender of Stan Williams and turned down the higher, $3,100 tender of Sam Stover.

In discussing the matter later at a labor dinner, Joseph Smith, who was at that time mayor of Cobourg, commented that he did not favour the lease going to Sam Stover, who is a naturalized Canadian of Greek birth. This statement resulted in the mayor's resignation.

Chairman J. C. M. German repeated Wednesday that the nationality of Mr. Stover in no way affected the decision of the parks board and he deplored what he called incorrect publicity about the matter.

Welcome Club Meets For Social Evening

CAMPBELLFORD, March 9 — (ENS)—The U. R. Welcome Club of St. Andrew's Church held a social evening Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ron. Hazell.

Mrs. Bruce Grills presided and led in the singing of two hymns. Mrs. Charles Fraser read the scripture and Mrs. Toombs led the group in prayer.

The greater part of the evening was spent playing games, after which a lunch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Hazell, assisted by others.

Mrs. Bruce Grills thanked Mr. and Mrs. Hazell on behalf of the club for the use of their home. She also extended a welcome to the newcomers.

The next meeting will be held in the church basement March 21.

Free Not On Team

CAMPBELLFORD, March 9 — (ENS)—Five members of the Campbellford TVL team have been selected to play with the Combines, a combined Campbellford and Marmora team in the OHA intermediate "B" competition. They are Blake, Robinson, Herrington, Hay and goalie Red Laverne, Doug. Free was also originally scheduled to be with the team but his eligibility has been questioned by OHA officials.

The new team defeated the Stirling Combines 15-5 in Marmora on Tuesday night. Blake scoring five goals and Robinson two. The return match will be played in Tweed on Thursday night.

It has been decided that every other home game will be played in Campbellford, and if the team continues the way it started out, the boys should draw a lot of support.

Quebec's New Censorship Bill

The Legislative Assembly of Quebec has adopted by a vote of 73 to 8 a new "Act Respecting Publications and Public Morals"; its chief purpose appears to be to ban any "immoral illustration", which is defined as "any illustration . . . which evokes real or fictitious scenes of crime or of the habitual life of criminals, or morbid or obscene situations or attitudes, tending to corrupt youth and to pervert morals". On the face of it this seems to be a sensible act, for no one defends the publication of morbid or obscene pictures. It is interesting, however, that Quebec should feel the need for such an act, for unless we are much mistaken, the present laws provide means of suppressing such pictures. The question which the act arouses in the mind is whether the Quebec Board of Censors (who are empowered to act under the Bill) will use it to suppress matter which would not at first sight appear to come under the provisions of the Bill. Premier Duplessis is quoted as saying that one of the aims of the law is to rid the province of "Atheists, Bolshevists and Communists".

* * *

This is an interesting remark, for it is not unusual for atheists, bolshevists or communists to spread their beliefs by means of pictures which would impress most people as morbid or obscene. But what Premier Duplessis has said suggests that a very wide interpretation may be given to the terms "scenes of crime or of the habitual life of criminals"; if "atheists, bolshevists and communists" are meant the terms may easily be extended to cover any people of whom the Quebec Board of Censors disapproves. And it will be observed that there is no appeal from the decision of the Board.

* * *

It will be interesting to watch how this act works and in what cases it is invoked. It constitutes, in effect, a government control on printing—not merely on illustrations but upon printing of any publications except those included under the Newpaper Declaration Act. Under the new Act any publication except a newspaper must make a declaration to the Provincial Secretary; the Attorney General may, at any time, instruct the Board of Censors to examine such a publication to see if any of its illustrations contravene the Act; if the Censors decide that this is so—and there is no appeal from their decision—the Provincial Police may seize all copies of the offending publication.

* * *

This Act could work indirectly, at times. For instance, if an article in a publication offended the Quebec government the Board of Censors could order the confiscation of all copies of that publication because of an illustration which had nothing whatever to do with the offensive article. It must be remembered that most magazines carry advertisements of a kind which could offend censors of delicate sensibilities.

* * *

It is a remarkable Act, giving the government remarkable arbitrary powers to control opinion.

Mrs. Donald Gordon's Death

Widespread regret has been expressed at the death of Mrs. Donald Gordon, wife of the wartime director of the Prices and Trade Board, and present president of the C.N.R. Mrs. Gordon was only forty-seven, and there is every reason to believe that she wore herself out in Red Cross work, and other kindred war services to which she gave herself without reserve.

Her death calls our attention to the fact that women, nowadays, occupy a place in our national life which brings greater responsibilities and demands greater sacrifices than at any time in history. We are accustomed to read of men who have broken their health and shortened their lives in national service of one sort and another. Mrs. Gordon's death reminds us that women of uncommon public spirit may do the same. The sympathy of the nation is with Mr. Gordon in his heavy loss.

Bloody Boxing Ring

Boxing was a gentlemanly—or manly—sport until big money and big crowds perverted it. Now it is a business and a pretty bloody one, since apparently the biggest crowds pay to see blood let, not highly-skilled fisticuffs and foot-work. There were nine deaths in U.S. boxing rings last year; the first American casualty of this year, a particularly gruesome one, occurred a fortnight ago when the 24-year-old Lavern Roach, an ex-marine from Texas, bloody, battered and beaten, went down from a final punch, semi-consciously muttering "My luck is running out". He died a few hours later.

Boxers attracted by the chance of fame and large earnings will endure more than they are physically capable of; sometimes there are not adequate medical examinations before a man goes into a bout to the death. The crowds seem to demand not a trial of skill but a display of brawn and brutishness. For this sadistic pleasure thousands go to boxing matches, and the more vicious the bout the more they howl, or suck their breath with horrifying glee. A referee who steps in before their animalistic urges are satiated is a spoil-sport. A boxer who does not take the punches until his flesh is shredded, or who will not continue to give the damaging blows, is not likely to have big gate receipts showered on him.

Death in the boxing-ring is man-slaughter. Who should be found guilty, the boxer with the greed for money and fame who courts disability and death for them; his opponent who delivers the fatal blows, or the spectators who lust like cannibals?

Sweetbriar Bug? Fiddlesticks!

The Minister of National Defence is down with a severe cold, attended by various symptoms which people in this district do not need to be told about. Mr. Claxton has lately returned from the North-West Territories where he had flown to inspect Exercise "Sweetbriar", the massive Canadian-American polar military manoeuvres recently concluded. The story is around that Mr. Claxton, like some others who were party to that northern display and have fallen prey to the 'flu, picked up the germs in the Yukon. We do not believe a word of it; in fact, we are pretty sure that Mr. Claxton picked up the cold bug right here in Southern Ontario—perhaps as he flew over Peterborough.

The epidemic of 'flu which has been hitting thousands in this district, occasioning a sharp, short fever and other uncomfortable, even dangerous, manifestations, has not been mortal. The bug is not of the kind that decimated Ontario in 1918, along with other parts of the western world. On the other hand, one wonders what would have been the shocking results if excellent medical service and the new drug such as penicillin were not available.

A village school in the district which opened the other Monday with one pupil and only one of its two teachers, promptly closed down for the rest of the week. But in seven days the bout had passed on, and the school re-opened with normal attendance. Would there have been as happy and short a conclusion to the epidemic in that district had it occurred twenty years ago?

Do Not Forget To Fill In Your Card

Only two-thirds of the required $75,000 needed to fill the Red Cross and Community Fund chest has come in. There is only one campaign day left. The last day usually sees a surge of subscription reports, and we may expect a similar rosy conclusion this year. It is important, however, not to take too much for granted. The need is great, the total sum asked for modest. It is important not to forget the subscription card. A blank card left lying on table or desk at home or office will not help the dozen welfare organizations whose campaign this is to do their good community work.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A contemporary describes an egotist as one who is always me-deep in conversation. Until he meets another egotist, of course, in which case they fail to see I to I.

There is a strike of greeting-card workers in New York, and the rumour is abroad that if this continues the Government may order the missing greetings to be supplied by forced labour from the Home for the Feeble-Minded.

According to some statistics gathered by women's colleges in England, brainy girls have less chance of marrying than stupider girls. This is attributed to the supposed preference of a man for a wife not quite so bright as himself. When we survey the brightness of the average man this certainly pares the brainy girl's chances down to the bone.

Break-up Of Ruhr Trusts

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL

THE liquidation of the coal and steel trusts of the Ruhr, scheduled under Anglo-American legislation but postponed again and again, is now likely to start by the end of this month. Present indications are that it will be followed shortly by the transfer of the coal mines, though not for the time being of the steel works, to common ownership under German law.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE break-up of the trust system that closely collaborated in Hitler's armament drive and drew huge profits from the war has been a recognized objective of Allied policy right from the start. But, owing to inter-Allied differences, Anglo-American Law No. 75 for the re-organization of the German coal and steel industries was not passed until November, 1948. Its execution was delayed until the creation of the West German State made it necessary to replace it by a tripartite law approved by the French as well.

✧ ✧ ✧

LAW 75 provided for three major operations: the reorganization of the coal and steel industries respectively into new "colliery undertakings" and "unit firms" of reasonable competitive size, and the liquidation of the old combines which owned most of the Ruhr's coal-mining and steel-making capacity. The preamble of the law lays down that the mines and the plants sequestrated by the Allies when they marched in, shall return to German ownership and that a freely-elected German Government and Parliament shall decide freely on their form of ownership—provided they do not try to recreate the old combines. Firms owned by foreign capital to an extent of more than 50 per cent. are exempt from the law.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE draft of a new tripartite law on the same lines has now been completed by the Allied decentralization experts and is about to be considered by the Allied High Commission. One remaining obstacle is the preamble, to which the French have objected from the start because it makes the Germans sole arbiters of the future ownership of these industries. The French are said no longer to object to the principle of German ownership, but to demand that the German Government's freedom to decide the precise form of ownership should be subject to certain rules, such as a ban on centralized nationalization or a clause preventing the exclusion of foreign capital. The other Powers see great difficulties in imposing such conditions, which the German Trade Unions have declared "intolerable", and the matter has been for some time the subject of inter-Governmental discussion. Meanwhile delay encouraged the old combines to hope that the whole scheme would never be carried out and caused the Trade Unions to press for its implementation with increasing urgency. It is now possible that the Allies may promulgate a new tripartie law at first without preamble, leaving the question of the preamble for later settlement.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN substance, the new draft repeats the former Anglo-American law with one modification: while the former law ruled that the new firms should take over the productive assets of the combines free of any liabilities, the new law creates special claims courts to which creditors who cannot be satisfied out of the liquidation of the combines may have recourse. As all the former combines are believed to be amply solvent, except for two—the Krupp Works and the former Hermann Goering works at Salzgitter—this is unlikely to involve heavy burdens on the new firms.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHEN the law is passed, the appointment of liquidators for the combines will follow almost immediately, thus removing for ever the uncertainty as to whether the old owners might not after all still return. Complete reorganization proposals by the German steel trustees and the coal study group are then expected very shortly.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE coal experts are said to advocate the creation of some 20 colliery undertakings in the Ruhr with an average capacity for 20,000 tons per working day or six million tons per year. The steel trustees are moving towards a scheme for grouping the industry in eleven or twelve unit firms, different in size but with an average capacity of about one million tons per year. It is hoped that the new firms may be organized and legally established before the end of this year.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN an interesting parallel to British developments, the German experts are showing a tendency to centralize the coal mining industry in order to encourage competitive freedom in the new steel undertakings. American suggestions that the Coal Mining Board, at present responsible for the overall management of the coal industry, should be dissolved when the new collieries are set up have encountered opposition both from the management and from the trade unions. The Germans insisted that the industry could not be run rationally without joint research organization, joint investment policy and a joint sales organization, and most of them also favour some form of pooling differential profits to help the less productive mines.

KNOWLEDGE of these views may be one of the reasons why the generally anti-Socialist Government of Dr. Adenauer has informed the trade unions that it is willing to consider some form of socialization for coal, but not for steel. Such a policy would also facilitate a compromise between the Catholic trade union wing of the British Democrats which is committed to socialization, and the right-wing of the Government coalition which abhors common ownership in every shape or form.

British Tories

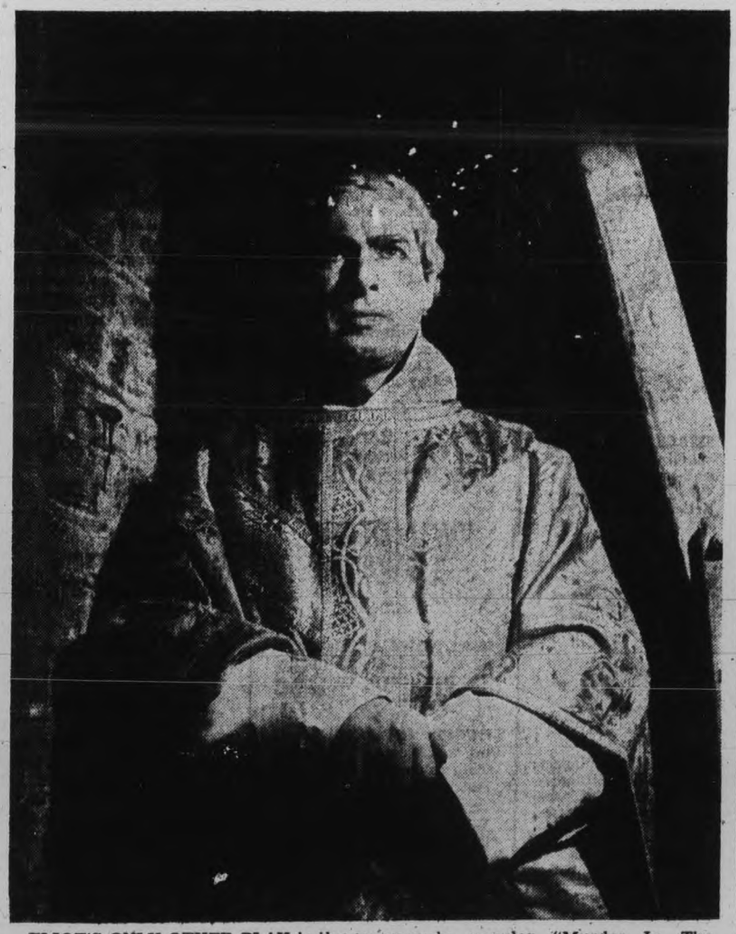
An American congressman has made the observation that British Tories are far to the left of the New Deal, and that if Winston Churchill were to run for office in the United States he'd be regarded as a "dangerous radical".—Windsor Star.

THE COCKTAIL PARTY, by T. S. Eliot, is the most distinguished new play at present to be seen on the New York stage. It is performed by an English cast, and in this scene Ursula Jeans, Alec Guiness and Robert Flemyng are seen.

T. S. Eliot's New Play

By HAROLD HOBSON

THE Cocktail Party, produced by the Shersek Players at the Edinburgh Festival last autumn, and now a brilliant success in New York, is the first play that T. S. Eliot has written during the last ten years. As such it was bound to be an event of the greatest artistic significance, for Mr. Eliot, ever since the end of the first World War, has been the most important influence in English poetry. Yet the production of this play was awaited with a certain amount of trepidation.



Mr. Eliot has the reputation of being a profound poet; it is known that he is deeply versed in medieval scholarship and the history of literature; he has given much of his time to the study of obscure points in theology; and to his Arminian convictions in the Church of England he has added a continuous interest in the religious philosophy and dramatic form of ancient Greece. Add all these things together, and you get something formidable in the sphere of literature and literary influence. But there is something that Mr. Eliot rarely gives us, and that is clarity. He is worth understanding, but to understand him is often not easy. Now this does not much matter to a reader who, if he is confused by an author's style, can turn back the page and read the obscure passage all over again. But in the theatre this reference back is impossible. If you are to understand at all, you must understand at once. If you pause to think, to consider, the play rushes on, and you have lost contact with it.

These considerations weighed heavily on everyone connected with the production of "The Cocktail Party"; and the audience that listened to it for the first time came to the theatre prepared to be baffled as well as impressed. But as soon as the curtain went up, a wonderful thing happened. There were four or five people upon the stage, dressed in modern lounge suits and ordinary coats and skirts. They were talking of ordinary things, and in language that anyone could easily follow. It was highly amusing talk, too, as witty as Shaw, making the most diverting jests about such things as income tax and marriage. It is true that one of the guests had a mysterious smile, and none of the other characters knew who he was; but Mysterious Strangers are not as rare in the drama as they are in real life, and the experienced play-goer knew at once that here was the man who in the end would solve everybody else's difficulties.

These difficulties certainly existed. The host had been deserted the very morning of the party by his wife. He had for a long time been wanting to marry another woman, but now he found that he wanted his wife back. Eventually both he and this other woman and his wife come to the Mysterious Stranger, who turned out to be something of a cross between a psychiatrist and a father confessor, for advice and help; and the result of it all was that husband and wife returned to live together, in a mood of commonplace happiness, while the other woman became a missionary of the heroic kind, and was indeed finally crucified and martyred.

The immediate point is that The Cocktail Party is the clearest, simplest thing that Mr. Eliot has written. Yet its clarity has not been gained at the expense of depth of thought and profundity of feeling. In his most sucessful play, Murder in the Cathedral, telling again the story of Archbishop Becket, who was killed at the king's command in his own church at Canterbury, Mr. Eliot was concerned with the question of martyrdom. That question still concerns him; and The Cocktail Party brings martyrdom into the world of lounge suits and tinkling glasses, idle gossip and Martinis. High ideals, says Mr. Eliot continue to demand their martyrs just as much as they did in the ages of Faith. The way of the highest life continues to be along the precipice edge.

Mr. Eliot seems to have discovered, in The Cocktail Party, a form of verse which is ideally suited to modern life. It is a very supple and flexible verse, depending on rhythm rather than rhyme. It is irregular in its beat, and closely gives the impression of imitating the texture and movement of ordinary speech. Perhaps it lacks excitement and exaltation; it is bare of purple patches; there is nothing lyrical about it. But it is dramatic. It helps, not hinders, the development of the play's action. Formerly Mr. Eliot used the mechanism of the ancient Greeks in his verse plays. He gave great prominence to the chorus. These things he has now discarded. In The Cocktail Party he has forged an instrument which is capable of marrying a profound theme to verse that is not alien to the circumstances of modern life. It is an achievement whose development in the future is full of possibilities.

ELIOT'S ONLY OTHER PLAY is the enormously popular "Murder In The Cathedral". Robert Spealght, celebrated English actor, is seen here in the principal role of Thomas a Becket.

Letters To The Editor

HEAVY HOSPITAL DEFICIT

Sir: After reading in your paper the latest report of the Civic Hospital Board I think it is high time the taxpayers of this city asserted themselves regarding the deficit from month to month; and now this latest report figuring ahead for this year 1950 which by the way is only nicely started we assured of an exorbitant deficit for 1950.

I am wondering if this Hospital Board could figure out a report on the deficit for 1951? That they count on having, so that we who have to pay our taxes and run our homes, and keep within our budget regardless of perhaps having to cut down on a great many things that we really need, not just want—might get busy and do some figuring ourselves.

Those who know anything at all about running a business, know they would not be in business very long if they had a deficit at the end of each month and year.

Ever since our hospital received its new name "Civic Hospital" it seems expenses have been soaring. Surely something could be done about this.

I am inclined to think one or two women on the committee for purchasing of supplies might help considerably.

Yours truly,

A TAXPAYER.

Stung In Deal Cattleman Breathes Fire

Many are the tall tales about Alberta and its pioneers. But the ones we are going to tell are true ones, told us by prominent citizens still living, G. X. Schierholtz writes in The Calgary Herald.

About 40 years ago, when Bassano was a lusty infant, bursting at the seams, a young English banker and the local barber were buddies. In those days there was little past to discuss and the present was too close at hand, so they dicussed the future of the own and the province; the wonderful new method of transportation, the automobile that was just coming into its own; the great herds of cattle on the hills; the way business was booming.

Share in Car

One day the barber came into the bank and asked his friend if he would like to buy a half interest in a motor car. The banker was horrified, and explained that he certainly could not afford a half interest in a car, not even the front wheel of one.

The barber told him that he already had a half interest in a second hand car, which he had bought that day for the two of them. When the banker cooled down, he asked the price.

"Seven dollars."

Well, seven dollars. That wasn't too bad, even though seven dollars bought a lot more than it does today. So he paid over his $3.50 and the two men went out to inspect the joint possession.

After looking at it, the banker concluded that perhaps seven dollars was all it was worth, but it would go what odds? The two men spent the summer over their new toy, and it did run.

One day the barber went into the bank to announce that he had sold the machine to a cattle buyer from Medicine Hat for the noble sum of $75. The banker was overjoyed, pocketed his half and went on with the day's work.

In the meantime, the new owner started off for Medicine Hat. About eight miles north of Bassano, on a rugged stretch of prairie trail, the car stalled and nothing he could do would induce the engine to turn over. He labored for several hours then realized that in all probability the engine would never come to life, so he kicked the machine off the road, and walked back to Bassano, growing angrier by the step.

In town, he hurried to the barber shop where he beat the poor barber unmercifully. Finishing that task, he asked where the "?*½" banker was. But friends of the banker, seeing the row in the barber shop, had rushed over to warn him.

Fled For Safety

He realized that a 120-pound Englishman was no match for a 200-pound infuriated Scotsman who was used to wrestling steers. So he flew out the back door and not knowing which way to turn, dashed into a confectionery, where he blurted out the story to the owner, also a close friend.

There was no time to lose. The banker wanted to help his friend and he most certainly did not want a gory fight in his nice, clean confectionery. The shouts grew louder and in their mind's eye the two could vision a bloody, one-sided battle.

But then the baker had an inspiration. He grabbed a long banana crate and jammed it over the banker's head. "Don't move," he hissed, and piled a couple of sacks of onions on the feet that protruded from underneath the banana crate.

Sure enough, the loud noise heralded the cattle buyer. He burst into the shop, shouting for his victim. The baker waved his hands around the store, and even the angry cattle buyer could see there was no place for anyone to hide, so, muttering threats, he went out to continue his search.

For two hours the banker stayed inside that crate, unable to see, or breathe freely, for the heavy paper lining shut out most of the air. When everything quieted down, he ventured to tear a very small hole in the paper, but that was as much as he dared do.

At long last, the train left for Medicine Hat and the baker announced that the enemy was on board, still breathing fire. The banker hurriedly discarded the banana crate and thanked his friend for his assistance at a time when it was direly needed.

Two or three years ago, the banker, now living in Calgary, was strolling around the Palliser when he spied an elderly man who looked familiar. Finally he sat down beside him and asked, "Are you Mr.——, a cattle buyer from Medicine Hat?"

The other admitted that that was his name and that he had been a cattle buyer in the eastern city for many a long, hard day.

The ex-banker then told him the whole story. Silence. Then the cattle buyer growled, "I've a good mind to beat up on you now."

The skeleton of that old car is still by the side of the trail north of Bassano, almost covered by drifting soil and weeds, the remains of the car that was bought for seven dollars and sold for seventy-five.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

"DER FUEHRER"—Germany's Adolf Hitler, father of World War II—had hardly begun to make his name one of the most infamous in history when this pictures was made in 1925. The "little corporal" was just an ex-jailbird, having served 13 months in prison at Landsberg for his part in the obortive Nazi beer garden "putsch" in Munich — an incident which the Nazis later glorified in annual holiday observances. Nazism sprang alive in Munich in 1923, and became the ruling power in Germany 10 years later. In 1935, the powerful Nazi army marched into the Rhineland, marking the start of a program of ruthless aggression such as the world had never seen before. Many Millions were to die wretchedly, including Herr Hitler, before the scourge of fascism was destroyed.

Advisers From Russia Start Streaming Into Peiping

SEOUL, Korea, March 9 (AP) —Russian advisers are streaming into Peiping, James D. Van Putten, who headed the United States in formation center in the Chinese Communist capital, said today.

Mr. Van Putten, en route home after closing the information center in Peiping, added that the numerous Russian advisers were drawing their pay in United States dollars.

Mr. Van Putten, 51 years of age, arrived at Inchon, Korea, Thursday aboard the steamship Yochow from Tientsin. With him were his assistant, Richard McCarthy, 29, and their families, and Barbara Myers, 26, secretary of the Tientsin consulate staff.

One thousand Russians attended Premier Stalin's birthday party at Peiping, Mr. Van Putten said he had been told by Chinese friends.

"And these were only the top ones," Mr. McCarthy added during a news conference.

To Leave Soon

They said that the United States consular officials expected to leave Peiping and Tientsin this month but that they did not know the plans of the Shanghai group All American diplomatic personnel have been ordered out of communist China by the State Department.

A Communist system of residential permits was putting the squeeze on foreigners in Peiping, Mr. Van Putten said. The forty Americans there had not been affected but some Germans had been refused housing accommodations and had been forced to leave.

Schools and universities were required to stress Communist indoctrination and 30 per cent of final grades depended upon these courses, Mr. Van Putten said.

Except for the youths the Chinese still were friendly toward Americans, he said. But the Communists posted annoying regulations such as requiring the opening of packages before passing consular compound gate guards, and posting guards outside offices to report visitors.

The Communists were reported to be impoverishing some of the moneyed Chinese or uncooperative individuals by forcing them to buy victory bonds redeemable in five years.

THE LEGACY OF VISION

Our parents, grandparents and remote ancestors have handed down to us our height, the color of our hair, and countless other traits—including the quality of our eyes. This matter of inheritance is called the science of genetics and it takes its name from the word "genes."

A gene is to life what an atom is to matter. Though a gene cannot be seen by the most powerful microscope, it is known that hundreds of them are involved in passing along such characteristics as tallness, shortness, eye color, and many bodily defect.

When the genes are disarranged or jolted out of place we depart from the pattern followed by our ancestors. The departure is frequently passed on to the children. If the genes are jolted, the result may be calamity—cataract, misplaced or abnormal eye lenses, diseased optic nerves, nearsightedness or some other error of vision. These afflictions, of course, are not all brought about by accidentally misplaced genes. Some inherited imperfections are merely nuisances. For instance, a color blind person often does not realize his shortcoming. And a person affected by night blindness —inability of the eye to adjust itself normally to dim light—is sometimes unaware that his vision is not normal. But most eye faults, inherited and otherwise, can be corrected by ophthalmic science.

Record Puck Crowd On Deck As Legion Triumphs, 7 to 3

The local Legionnaires hung a 7-3 reverse on Kington Nylons here last night to sew up their best-of-seven OHA senior "B" group finals at two games each. A record hockey crowd for Peterborough, more than 2,600, saw another lightning-fast and clean contest between these old rivals, with Legion having more punch throughout to earn the duke handily. It was 2-2 in the first frame and 4-2 going into the third, with Hill, Coombs, Freddy Mortimer and Greenlaw leading the local snipers, and Catlin tops for the Nylons.

Luck Returns

Some of the luck the Legion lacked around Udall's cage in Kingston broke their way last evening, one goal going in off a Nylon player, another being a screened shot that Udy never saw and then the bespectacled goalie pulled another in himself. The visitors were always dangerous, and Nicholls had to be good on many occasions as they swooped in close on him. Legion, however, carried more of the play and were dangerous throughout. Only five penalties were handed out, none resulting in a goal.

Bert Hill scored two goals and aided on another, while Sixty Coombs was in on three, Fred Mortimer and Toodie Greenlaw being in on a pair apiece. Montgomery turned in a stellar game, and Burns was strong on defence. The whole Ellis outfit clicked up to form in good two-way hockey. Joey Catlin was his smooth self again to score once and aid on another, Gerow and McKeown having the other Kingston markers. Patterson played a strong defensive game.

Pair Of Scouts

The NHL scouts, Baldy Cotton of Bruins and Reg Hamilton of Black Hawks, were wedged into the sardined crowd, and they saw Legion at their best. Coombs got the first goal in close from Hill and Stewart, but Gerow evened it shortly on a passout after Partis and Catlin built up the play. Montgomery's angle screened shot from Coombs made it 2-1, but Catlin checked and recovered in close to pull Nicholls out and tie it up in a fast frame, free from penalties. Legion had more chances but missed a lot or were robbed by Udall.

Early in the second, Greenlaw rapped one in from F. Mortimer and Parnell in a scramble. Burns was back from a tripping penalty when Fred Mortimer backhanded Greenlaw's in-close pass into the empty side of the goal. Plumb drew a high-sticking penalty, and Burns followed, Rochetta narrowly missing on a breakaway. Armstrong also came close as play swept up and down at breakneck speed, the homesters again testing Udall often, and the heat ending 4-2.

Rolled It Up

Legion pressed hard to open the third but it was 7.30 before they lit the lamp, Hill's shot caroming in off a Nylon's defender. Hill got another right away from Coombs on a sizzling angle drive in close to make it 6-2. Patterson returned from a boarding penalty to see Crowley count when Udall pulled in the puck after making the save. Kingston fought back desperately, and play was hot, clean and even for a space. The Nylons finally clicked for the last marker of the struggle when McKeown took Hawkins' pass on Nicholls' doorstep and rang the bell. Crowley was gated for hooking but good checking by the home crew held off the Kingston attack till he returned, and play was pretty even at the gong.

Kingston: Goal, Udall; defence, Patterson and Murphy; centre, Partis; wings, Catlin and Gerow; alternates, Graves, Plumb, Armstrong, Aitken, Joyce, McKeown, Harrison and Hawkins.

Legion: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley; alternates, Parnell, F. Mortimer, Greenlaw, Hill, Stewart, Coombs, D. Mortimer and Montgomery.

Referees, J. Crombie and W. Wilson.

Hockey In UK Big Business

By MICHAEL O'MARA

LONDON, March 9 — (CP) — Hockey is big business in Britain now. It will cost an estimated £15,000 ($46,500) to bring nine teams from overseas to compete in the world championship here March 13-22—and sponsors hope to make a profit at the gate.

Expenses and travel costs for each team are borne by hockey-controlling bodies of their own countries and the British Ice Hockey Association will pay all expenses incurred in London during the tournament.

Secretary John F. (Bunny) Ahearne told reporters this would cost the B. I. H. A. about £650 a team. But that should be covered by gate takings at London's three largest arenas—Wembley, Harringay and Empress Hall.

Additional expenses should be written off by barn-storming games played en route to and from the global show-down. For instance Edmonton Mercurys, Dominion representatives, played 30 games before the tournament—winning the lion's share—and drawing good crowds in England, Scotland, France, Italy, Switzerland and Sweden.

Most expensive proposition is bringing a team from the United States. It will cost £4,000 to fly 14 players here March 11 and home again March 23.

Marlies Edge Dutchmen 6-5 In Overtime

By The Canadian Press

You wouldn't notice him on the ice as a spectacular player but when Al Buchanan turns on the steam he's murder around the nets.

Wednesday night the husky winger was really flying as he scored the goal that gave Marlboros a 5-5 tie in the third period against Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen and then came roaring back for the overtime period to ram home the winning goal with less than two minutes to play.

The tight win gave Toronto a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association Senior A final series. The two clubs go right back at it Friday night at Toronto, the second game in a row on Toronto ice.

Guelph Biltmores and Barrie Flyers continued their unpredictable series at Guelph and when the two clubs finished three periods of furious hockey the Biltmores owned a 3-1 win and a 2-1 edge in the best-of -five junior A semi-final. Barrie has another chance to extend their unbeaten playoff record on home ice Friday night.

Looked Certain

Kitchener looked sure bets to cop the second game of the final series as they outplayed the Marlboro club by a wide margin in the first two periods to take a 5-4 lead but Buchanan's third period marker deadlocked the affair and sent it into the 10-minute overtime.

Sullivan Scores

Frank Sullivan, Marlboros' husky rearguard, clicked for three goals to lead the individual scorers while Chuck Blair notched the single.

The Dutchmen's scoring was well distributed with Harvey Jacklin, Doug Verity, Mike Dzuira, Art Hurst and Doug Grasser all pumping in goals.

Guelph and Barrie battled through the first close game in their semi-final series. In the opening tilt on Biltmore ice the Hatters walloped the Flyers 5-0. Not to be outdone, Barrie came right back in their own arena and sank Guelph 6-0.

The Hatters started off early Wednesday night and by mid-way in the opening frame had taken a 2-0 lead on goals by Andy Bathgate and Steve Brklacich.

A wild fight broke out in the period and six major penalties were handed out, three to each team. The battle seemed to take the steam out of the teams and they settled down to two periods of smooth, clean hockey.

Red Barber put Barrie back into the fight with the only marker of the middle session but an even split in the final frame gave Guelph the narrow victory. Don Bellringer opened third-period scoring, Real Chevrefils doing the honors for the Flyers.

Indians, Providence Gaining On Ramblers

By The Canadian Press.

Springfield Indians and Providence Reds gained ground on the idle New Haven Ramblers in the eastern division of the American Hockey League Wednesday night as the battle for the last two playoff positions draws to a close.

The Indians came up with a 7-3 victory over St. Louis Flyers while Providence downed Hershey Bears 5-4. Springfield now has a four point lead over the fourth-place Ramblers and the Reds are up three points.

Mike Narduzzi and Armand Lemieux fired three goals apiece for the Indians with Whitey Prokop getting the other. Cliff Simpson, Pat Wilson and Ernie Trigg counted for the losers.

Jackie Hamilton with only 30 seconds to play fired the winning goal for Providence. He also scored another goal earlier. Jack McGill, Jack Stoddard and Eddie Kullman notched the other Providence tallies. Hershey goal-getters were Frank Porteous, Arnie Kullman, Gordie Bruce and Roly McLenahan.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Basketball galore again this week-end here with playoffs in various leagues and associations. At the YWCA tomorrow eve at eight, Nurses Srs. play Black's, followed by CGE vs. Normals, return tussles of two-game semi-finals in the lasses' loop. And at Collegiate, Bowmanville junior and senior boys, down on their COSSA semi-final round, play return jousts with PCVS squads. The Collegiate senior girls are at Uxbridge this week-end with the junior damsels at Bowmanville in COSSA semi-finals. Saturday sees Broadview "Y" going 'gainst Marines in OABA playdowns, the visitors having a five-point lead.

Ossie Connors, former Peterborough chap now living in Belleville, was at the Legion-Kingston game in the Limestone City on Monday. Asked us to check and find out if Duke Keats played amateur hockey here a space ere turning pro, as he had a bet and thought George Carver would run the finding in the Quinte sheet. After doing some checking, we're told that the Duke actually did play briefly in Peterborough during a winter in the first world war before leaving. Lot of top talent was imported here then, including Jack Adams, who now manages Detroit Red Wings.

Oshawa And IOOF-ers

Don't forget the junior "B" playoff game at 8.30 in Civic Arena tomorrow evening. Between Oshawa Bees and the local IOOF team, second of their best-of-five group finals. Motor City gang are plenty strong, being the overflow of the junior "A" team, but they'll find Bun Kingdon's husky hustlers a tough bite to masticate on the ice pond here. Yeah, it's sure to be a sizzling struggle all the way with sustained speed and action every minute. Both are good young outfits and really out for group honors, as the end is in sight next week for one. It rates a real big playoff puck crowd.

* * * * * *

It is anyone's series yet, the Oddfellows really making a fight out of it, especially in a redhot third stanza, ere they bowed 5-4 to the Bees. But they were down several goals earlier and it looked like a romp for the strong Motor Citizens before Bun Kingdon's crew got rolling right. Claus was in the cage for Oshawa, a former junior "A" puckist, but he has special permission from the OHA as replacement for Goalie Hurst, who is out sick and won't play again this season. Turner turned in a bangup performance for the IOOF-ers, while Floyd and Wyatt on that line also clicking well. Baker was another standout, while the defence and goalie were in there pitching. Whole team did okay, and they should even up the series here tomorrow night in another nifty playoff number.

* * * * * *

Need One Game There

Well, it's up to Jim Ellis' battling Legionnaires to crack that Jock Harty jinx and win tomorrow in Kingston. That'll be the big one, as they've got the senior "B" group finals tied up now at a game apiece (after their 7-3 win here last e'en), and they can take the Nylons again here Monday. Provided the ice surface isn't sold out to the customers. Walt Smillie denies that he has any intention of putting in another row of reserved seats around the inner circle of the arena. He also denies putting in a piece of rubber wall last p.m., but we still don't see how they jammed more than 2,600 into a place supposed to hold about 2,200—or so we had been informed. Must have been a lot of under-nourished folks.

* * * * * *

Yeah, it was an all-time puck record crowd here, and the fans—and NHL scouts Baldy Cotton and Reg Hamilton—saw a speedy, clean playoff joust between two classy senior squads. With Legionnaires looking several goals better on the play. They hustled all the way, checking well and refusing to ease up even when tired. Nylons didn't slow down, either, and Ross Nicholls had to be good on a number of occasions. We especially liked the work of such Legionnaires as Hill, Coombs, Freddy Mortimer, Toodie Greenlaw, Burns and Montgomery, but the others were about as good. That Partis-Catlin-Gerow line is always as dangerous as dynamite, but they didn't do too much in this melee. And the arena walls will bulge again no doubt Monday to see Legion wrap it up.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

Two local rinks skipped by E. Northey and Dr. C. McKee, and W. Cosh of Bobcaygeon were the winners in the third day of this week-long spiel.

The entry was not as large as usual, but games were just as interesting. In the third round, Dr. D. W. Clark was forced into overtime by M. Thurston and then in the first round this same Thurston rink was defeated also by one shot, and that's how it went all day.

No. 8 was crowded with spectators as usual. The games are continuing today.

In the third round when Dr. McKee was playing H. Nicholls of Haliburton, one of the visiting ladies had the misfortune to trip over a stone and was forced to retire from the game. Dr. McKee, the real sport and gentleman that he is, allowed his opponent to play a substitute player—that is curling at its best.

TO SPONSOR RACE

Ottawa University announced Wednesday night that it will sponsor an annual boat race on the Ottawa river patterned after England's Oxford - Cambridge classic. The race will be held during the last week of May and will be known as the P. D. Ross Memorial Race in tribute to the late publisher of the Ottawa Journal.

The University said challenges are being issued to McGill University, Montreal; McMaster University, Hamilton, and the University of Toronto.

Basketeers Go In Series This Weekend

Five Peterborough cage squads continue their way down the playdown trail this weekend, all playing their second game of point-to-count series.

The Outboard Marines will be hosts to the Broadview YMCA quintet from Toronto Saturday night in the Collegiate gym. The players were divided in their choice of home grounds for this important game. They couldn't decide whether to use the YMCA gym or the Collegiate. The "Y" acreage is considerably smaller than the Collegiate floor. The final decision was made by a vote taken among the players.

Al Clark, physical director at the YMCA, said that some of the members of the team felt they could win easily on the familiar "Y" floor. Others argued that a better brand of basketball would be produced in the collegiate.

Five Down

The Marines will be going into the game at 8 p.m. with a five-point deficit, Broadview cashing in on foul shots in the last few minutes in Toronto Saturday.

If the locals survive this series they will meet the winner of the Windsor—Niagara districts series for the Southern Ontario title. The top team in the latter series will go on to play the Northern Ontario champions. For the past two years the Sault Ste. Marie cagers have taken the All-Ontario title.

At the Collegiate Friday night Bev Goulding's seniors minus Harold Grafstein, will meet the Bowmanville High seniors with a 20-point lead on the series. The junior A's with only a four-point advantage will be defending their right to enter the C. O. S. S. A. finals March 18. The junior game will begin at 7:30 followed by the senior fray.

If they teams are successful Friday, they will meet the Georgian Bay finalists March 18 in the afternoon at Hart House in Toronto. In the other games in the afternoon the Bay of Quinte champions will be taking on the Niagara district in both senior and junior. The junior game that afternoon will be at 1:00 p.m. and the senior at 3:30. Last year PCVS senior took the C.O.S.S.A. basketball title from the Niagara district for the first time.

Girls Away

The Collegiate girls squads will be seeing action Friday night only out of town. Miss Doreen Pemberton's seniors will be taking a seven-point lead to Uxbridge while Miss Eva Scott's juniors will be in Bowmanville with an eight-point lead on the round.

If the girl's squads are successful in their series, they will be entering the C.O.S.S.A. finals March 18 in Toronto at the Ontario College of Education against the same district as the boys. Last year both squads were eliminated.

Only one local basketball team has completed the season successfully, the Collegiate boys' bantam team. They won the Lakeshore title for the second straight year. There is no C.O.S.S.A. playdown for the bantam section.

The award was established in memory of Tilson, a Regina product who played for Oshawa Generals before being killed in the Second World War.

Oshawa Bees Edge Out IOOF To Open Junior Group Series

Oshawa Bees squeezed a narrow 5-4 victory over Bun Kingdon's Oddfellows at the Motor City last night after a fast two periods and a furious third featuring wide open but clean hockey as Junior B group finals (a best of five series) began.

As a preview of what fans may expect to see tomorrow night, the teams opened the throttle from the opening whistle to thrill the crowd of spectators with scintillating two-way play and one could choose little between the clubs, over the route.

Bees opened the scoring midway in the first as Brabin took a double pass close in from Myles and Wilson to flip a short one from right wing past Wasson. Claus looked classy as Oddfellows teamed around him. He robbed Baker, Floyd and Wyatt and held off ever thrust in the first 20, just like any cucumber. Attersley took a passout from Deeth with about three seconds to go and backhanded a lucky one to put Bees two up. That one break possibly meant victory.

IOOF continued to carry the play to Oshawa nevertheless as the second stanza increased in tempo but Attersley and Brabin clicked again before Links began to get breaks their superior play merited. Ron Turner broke at his own blue line to outskate the entire Oshawa team and whip a sizzler past Claus on the short side and the crowd gave the big fellow a great hand.

Baker and he next combined in neat style as the third opened, with the former finishing off a swell passing play with a slick backhander from left wing 15 feet out to completely fool Claus as Triple Links showed marginal superiority over their rivals at this point and excitement ran high. Three penalties marred the session with only five for the entire game. Oshawa fought hard to protect a welcome and narrow margin until late in the period when Oddfellows' sustained fire was not to be denied. Once again, Wyatt and Floyd paired and the latter relayed a corner pass to his hefty mate who blazed a scorcher to the lower right corner. Seconds later, Bees drove back and Etcher scored their final tally. It proved good as IOOF potted number four using a six-man offensive late in the session with Bun Mason the marksman from brother Ross and Floyd.

McAllister, Myles, Brabin, Attersley, Deeth and Etcher were the pick of the home crew. For Bun Kingdon's men the Turner Floyd, Wyatt line proved effective on attack, Turner getting three points. Baker played a good game and scored once. The Masons, Desjardins, Birch and Doris all played fine hockey while the defence quartet of Millar, Fennell, Richlark and Wasson never looked better with Wasson good in goal.

Peterborough: Goal, Wasson; defence, Richlark, D. Wasson; centre, Turner; wings, Floyd, Wyatt; alternates, Desjardins, B. Mason, R. Wasson, Birch, Doris, Baker, Fennell, Millar.

Oshawa: Goal, Claus; defence, McAllister, Crust; centre, Myles; wings, Brabin, Wilson; alternates, Etcher, Bannon, Johnson, Attersley, Weddup, Deeth, Pollard, Marshall.

Referee: Gar Peters, Oshawa; linesman: Bill Hefferling, Pickering.

Rangers Crush Hawks 4-2 Take Over Third Place

By HARRY ECCLES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

James Donald Raleigh the centre from Kenora, scored three goals Wednesday night as New York Rangers defeated Chicago Black Hawks 4-2. The victory jumped Rangers into third place in the National Hockey League, leaving Montreal Canadiens in the fourth and last play-off position.

The league-leading Detroit Red Wings beat Boston Bruins 5-3 in the night's other game, considerably dimming Bruins' slight mathematical chance of gaining a play-off berth.

With the string rapidly running out, Detroit today was 76 points, Toronto Maple Leafs 66, New York 63 and Montreal 62. Boston is fifth with 53 points and only eight games left. Chicago at the bottom has 46 points, nine games left.

Potent Figure

Don Raleigh, the 23-year-old centre with a left-hand shot, played 15 games with Rangers as long as six years ago. He returned to professional hockey in the 1947-48 season. This winter the slim sharpshooter has been a potent figure in the Ranger drive to the heights. He scored early in the first period at Chicago Wednesday night and twice more in the last frame, with Tony Leswick getting the other New York goal.

Gus Bodnar and Gaye Stewart were the only Hawks to beat Rayner in the Ranger nets though he was peppered with 41 saves against only 28 for Frankie Brimsek.

At Boston the league's leading marksman, Ted Lindsay of Detroit, scored two goals when the Wings beat Bruins. Lee Fogolin, captain Sid Abel and Big Jack Stewart scored the others. Johnny Peirson, Ed Harrison and captain Milt Schmidt counted for Boston.

The Bruins out-shot the league leaders by 23-14.

Jack Hobbs, England's cricket idol, made his 12th century in Anglo-Australian test cricket at Melbourne 21 years ago today. The famous Surrey batsman hit up 142 runs in the fifth test match of that season and the dozen hundreds stood as a record until the 1936-37 season when Australia's Don Bradman equalled the mark. Bradman hit 19 centuries in tests against England before he retired.

Think Skaters From Canada Need Experience

LONDON, March 9 — (CP) — Although the Canadian skaters failed to make a great impression in the world figure skating tournament which ended Wednesday night, they'll go home with something that will help them in the long run—experience that can only be gained in top flight competition.

It was lack of experience that seemed to tell most against Suzanne Morrow, Marlene Smith, Roger Wickson and Don Gilchrist during the three-day meet which drew nearly 25,000 persons to Wembley rink.

The Canadians were beaten by skaters with indefinable touch of more polish that makes all the difference to international judges.

Miss Morrow, the 19-year-old Canadian champion from Toronto, made the most creditable showing by gaining fourth place in the women's singles which wound up the tournament last night.

In this event, Aja Vrzanova, brilliant Czechoslovakian stylist, came through as expected to retain the world crown she first won last year. Next in line came two seasoned campaigners, Britain's Jeanette Altwegg and Yvonne Sherman of New York.

The Czech beauty gave a graceful, polished performance in the free skating Wednesday night to leave her rivals far behind. Her final winning margin was 14 points.

Final point scores for the top four were: Vrzanova, 1,359.16; Altwegg, 1,345.71; Sherman 1,330.58; and Morrow 1,319.73.

Miss Smith, a member of the Toronto Skating Club from Niagara Falls, placed ninth with 1,257.43 points.

CITY CARPETBALL

The results of the President's Cup frist round playdowns are: Big Bens eliminated Legion No. 6. This was fully reported last week. In the elimination contest between St. George's No. 2 and Quakers No. 4, the Saints took the first match 11-5 even though the Full-o-Pep team was leading 4-2 going into the fifth end. They also were ahead in the second game during the early frames and although the Anglicans came on fast the Quakers had enough in the bag to hold their opponents off, taking that game 11-8. The final match was a humdinger with the Quakermen again leading 7-1 going into the seventh end, then a big six was scored against them and they lost it in the last end. Final score 8-6. The SOE No. 3 and LOL No. 8 match was played with oth teams short-handed through sickness. The first match was tied going into the eighth frame with the Sons scoring a two to take it 8-6 and they went on to make it two straight, thereby eliminating King Billie but they had to come from behind in the last two ends to do it, and by the same score 3-6.

In the battle between the Glens and the Treasurers every ball in almost every end gave shot to one team or the other and will always be remembered. The first match was tied twice and then a big six piled up in the last end in favor of No. 9 and they won it 12-8. The second and final game was also a nip and tuck affair with a four scored in the sixth frame proving too much for the Glens to overcome and they lost it 9-6. So that match was also settled in two straight games.

In the game between Legion No. 7 and Legion No. 5 the Old Sweats went down to defeat 13-2 in the first match and were leading 9-0 going into the fourth frame of the second game, when they failed to score again they lost it also by a score of 13-9, thus being eliminated in two straight.

The draw for the week of March 13 for the President's Cup is: Treasurer's No. 9 vs SOE No. 3; Legion No. 5 vs. Big Bens No. 1; St. George's No. 2, a bye.

Tuesday, March 14 at 8:00 p.m. at Legion Hall, finals for the Gracie's Memorial Doubles: D. Bartley and W. Sorrie vs. R. Ralston and A. Bromley.

Postponed league game between Legion No. 7 and Legion No. 6 will be played Friday, March 10 and the game between Legion No. 7 vs. Legion No. 5 will be played Friday, March 17.

The president is calling an important meeting on Tuesday, March 14 at 7:30 p.m. sharp at the Legion Hall to draw up plans for the early presentation of prizes and cups. As this is a very important meeting all members are requested to attend and after the meeting they will be able to watch the final for the doubles.

Here and There In Sport

David Farrell Tracy, Doctor of Metaphysics, showman and master hypnotist, says the time has passed for all the jokes about hypnotizing the St. Louis Browns into belligerent candidates for high honors in the American League.

Dr. Tracy, as the ball players address him, offers several forms of proof.

For one thing, the entire program to instil confidence into this perennially-low second-division club now is serious business with the people for whom it was intended—the players.

He's even got the boys trying to hypnotize each other.

His job is to help the players get rid of these mental problems —the fears, for instance, of what might happen from thousands of onlooking fans, teammates, the manager the front office, if they commit an error. The problems apply, he believes, to seasoned veterans as well as rookies.

Power to impound money payable to participants in boxing and wrestling bouts would be given to Ontario Athletics Commissioner Fred Steele in a bill introduced in the Ontario Legislature Wednesday by Education Minister Porter.

The minister said that under present regulations violations of the Act which require an impounding order have to be authorized by himself and during the time involved in such a procedure the person and money had sometimes left the country.

Li'l Arthur King, British Empire and Canadian lightweight boxing champion, will meet Humberto Sierra of Cuba in a 10 round non-title bout here on March 20, it was announced on Wednesday night at Toronto. King's last fight in Toronto was in defence of his Canadian title when he knocked out Harvey Mathe of Sudbury.

Ontario Rinks Neck 'n Neck For 'Spiel Title

VANCOUVER, March 9 (CP)—The Canadian curling championships rounded into the stretch drive today with the strong possibility an Ontario rink will give the province its third Dominion title in the 23-year history of the spiel.

The final three draws are on the card—morning afternoon and night—and the picture before the country's 68,000 curling enthusiasts is one that isn't entirely familiar.

Ontario and Northern Ontario —the province has two entries— head for the wire neck and neck with Quebec and Alberta in contending spots, Nova Scotia, British Columbia and Manitoba coming in on a prayer and New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Saskatchewan definitely out of the running.

Something New

Western Canada curlers have predominated the scene for years but the only real hope this time rides on the experience and canniness of Edmonton's Cliff Manahan, two-times Dominion champion. He has a 4-2 won-lost record, equalling Herbie Simons' Quebec entry, against 5-1 records of the Kitchener and Kirkland Lake entries from Ontario.

If a first-place tie develops tonight, a playoff will be held on Friday.

The last unbeaten team fell yesterday as northern Ontario dropped Carl Asmussen's Kitchener rink in the afternoon by a handy 11-5 margin and stayed with the southern Ontario quartet last night. Ontario walloped Prince Edward Island 18-6 and Tom Ramsay's steady all-roundable northern rink took Saskatchewan 11-5, Ernie Whitter's Prince Albert crew dropping its fifth.

Breaks Through

Ramsay's rink broke through the younger Kitchener rink and won going away. Ability of the all-miner outfit to get out the shots they wanted, running, draw, raise or freeze, was responsible.

Best games last night developed as four teams in runner-up spot tangled.

The all-Ontario fifth-round contest yesterday the feature of the 10-rink round robin tournament to date, appeared to be northern Ontario's from the start. It was a hard-fought game with the northern Ontario rink playing it safe for the first seven ends to lead 5-2 at that point.

A three-rock eighth end just about clinched the issue and a similar score in the 11th left no doubt about it.

The Kitchener rink could only peck away with singles in the second, sixth, ninth, 10th and 12th ends.

Indoor Record Set By N. Thistlewaite

Bill Thistlewaite of the local harriers' club set a new indoor two-mile record of 11 minutes and 15.2 seconds last night at the YMCA here. He bettered his previous mark by more than 32 seconds in running the best race of his career. Running like a well-oiled machine, Bill, who is 23 years old, did the first 880 (half a mile) in 2 mins., 33 secs., and passed the one-mile mark in 5 mins., 47.5 secs. He speeded up then and finished in the exceptional good time of 11 mins., 15.2 secs.

Second place went to D. McNeil, as Jack Brown was third and sprinter J. Flowers fourth. J. Martin was expected to give Thistlewaite a good race and was going well till forced to retire on the 45th lap.

The three-quarter mile relay is the only remaining event on the indoor card and it will be run shortly—the date March 8 announced probably being an error. Coach Morewood will take a four-man team to the international indoor track meet in Hamilton on March 11. Then the harriers will start training for outdoor events. D. McNeil's time last night was 12 mins., seven seconds, as Brown did it in 12 mins., 45.2 seconds.

Rome's Protestant Cemetery Badly In Need Of Money

ROME, March 9 — The Protestant Cemetery of Rome, known throughout the world as the resting place of Shelly and Keats, has barely enough money left to cover expenses for the next two months, according to Marcello Piermattei, its superintendent for the past thirty-four years.

Gravely damaged during the World War II both by German artillery and Allied bombs, the cemetery needs at least $10,000 for urgent repair work and maintenance, but Signor Piermattei has no idea where the money is to come from. An appeal for donations has already been made to British Protestants.

Visitors to the cemetery are impressed by its dilapidated look, which they can scarcely reconcile with Shelley's words in the preface to Adonais: "The cemetery is an open space among the ruins, covered in winter with violets and daises. It might make one in love with death to think that one should be buried in so sweet a place."

The old section of the burial grounds, just behind the Pyramid of Caius Cestius and a stone's throw from St. Paul's Gate, now looks like a pasture. The tombstones, cracked or loosened by the impact of exploding shells and bombs, have needed repair for years. There are no flowers to be seen, except in one corner, round the tombs of Shelley and Keats, which are cared for by the Keats-Shelley Memorial Association.

The "new" section of the cemetery has been better kept up. But here, too, one sees no flowers, the paths are without gravel and the topsoil is being washed away by rain.

Despite its dilapidated look, the cemetery still retains some of the charm that made it one of the most interesting spots in Rome before the war. It was opened in 1722 at the request of King James III, who obtained from Pope Innocent XIII permission to bury "intramuros," that is inside the walls of the Eternal City, a member of his household who had been a Protestant. (After the Reformation, the Papal Government had ruled that no "heretics" could be buried inside the city.) Since then hundreds of poets, artists and philosophers have been laid to rest in the grounds.

The cemetery is now managed by an international committee, created in 1922 and composed of the diplomatic representatives of nations with large non-Catholic populations. Its chairman is James C. Dunn, United States Ambassador.

In the years immediately preceding the outbreak of World War II, the German Ambassador was, by right of tradition, the administrator of the cemetery. The financial troubles that beset the present administration stem from that period. The general upkeep of the grounds had until then been assured by the sale of plots in perpetuity. Out of nearly 4,000 tombs, 388 had grants of money for their perpetual upkeep. This capital was invested in gilt-edged securities of the countries where the deceased were born. Then the German Embassy decided that some of the administration funds should be reinvested in German State bonds.

The German bonds are now virtually worthless. The rest of the funds yield interest of about $550 a year, which should be used for the upkeep of the 388 tombs bought in perpetuity. This sum, however, covers only 40 per cent of the maintenance expenses for those tombs.

During a conversation at his dingy office in the grounds of the cemetery, Signor Piermattei painted a dark picture.

"How can we take care of all those tombs with so little money?" he asked. "Moreover, the Italian lira today has one-fiftieth of its pre-war value and labor wages have gone up correspondingly. We have managed to carry out the minimum indispensable work of maintenance, thanks to some yearly donations. Last year we received $1,000 from the United States and $500 from Great Britain. We need about $10,000 to repair damages caused by the war, to pay back wages, to replace tools seized by the Germans during the occupation of Rome, to plant new trees.

Stalin And Party Will Win Sunday Election With 99% Vote

By DON DALLAS

LONDON, March 9—(Reuters)—The most pessimistic predictions in Moscow are that Stalin and his party will win next Sunday's general election with a vote of between 96 and 99 per cent.

More than 91,000,000 voters are expected dutifully to go through the formality of placing an x beside the names of the party candidates. There are no other names on the ballot. Even so, it is considered vitally important that every elegible citizen register his vote and several hundred thousand agitators were already at work to get out the vote before I left Moscow two months ago.

In small towns and villages, from Europe to the Far East and up to the Arctic settlements, agitpunkts are hard at work. An agitpunkt is literally an agitation point. It is organized, as are most things in Russia, by the all-powerful Communist Party.

In many respects, the party and the Government are almost inseparable, both with great administrative machines which work hand-in-hand in such a matter as an election. The agitators use the election as an opportunity to deliver long lectures to the people about democracy in Russia. They say their elections are the freest and most impartial in the world.

Come Under Fire

Britain and the United States come under the fire of these agitators. A favorite theme is the color discrimination in the U.S. and the Klu Klux Klan is represented as typical of the views of the big property owners in the Southern States. The United States is attacked as a country of war-mongers, brandishing atom and hydrogen bombs.

Many agitators go on door-to-door visits to people in the block assigned to them, stressing that it is the democratic duty of every citizen to exercise his free right to vote. On election day they will check up to see that their charges have voted. The agitator does not properly fulfil his norm unless he gets a 100-per-cent vote from all the people under his personal jurisdiction.

Candidates for election to the USSR Supreme Soviet are either party members or what are described as "non-party bolshevsits," but there is in effect no difference between them. They are chosen at meetings in factories, big enterprises, collective farms, and so on.

Several Candidates

Here there is a right to nominate several candidates, and a system of selection and rejection, carefully controlled by the higher party officials. When the candidate is finally chosen the vote for him or her always is 100 per cent

This is the only effective process that matters in a Soviet election. Once the candidate has been officially nominated, he is in. The election is a formality.

When the voter drops his card into a ballot box (and the voting is secret) he puts his cross against the only two candidates on the list—one for each chamber of the Soviet parliament. Theoretically he could cross out one or two names and write in another.

And in every election station there are busts or portraits of Lenin and Stalin.

Probably a dozen or two areas will nominate Stalin as their candidate. It is somewhat incredible, but Stalin has to be elected as a deputy to the Supreme Soviet. So do all the other Politburo members, most of whom will also be nominated as candidates in several areas.

Even Prisoners In Cells Can Take Hebrew Lessons

By ERIC GOTTGETREU

JERUSALEM, March 9 (AP)—"It's a hot day today, isn't it?" the new immigrant wanted to say in the little Hebrew he knew.

What he actually said to the policeman at the transit camp, was "There's a fire." The cop was on the ball. He called the fire brigade.

Only a few of the Jewish newcomers to Israel—12,000 to 15,000 every month—know the old language of their reborn homeland to a usable degree. Most of this year's arrivals speak only French, Arabic, Serbian, Turkish, Romanian—or whatever the language of the country they come from may be.

However, the Tower of Babel problem is being solved. Israel is a land of learning—of learning Hebrew by the tens of thousands. The Ministry of Education, the Jewish Agency, community councils and other agencies are all arranging free or inexpensive courses for everybody.

Fifty Classes

At present there are about 50 Hebrew classes running in Tel Aviv, some during the day, others in the evening. There are similar classes in Haifa, Jerusalem and other towns.

Last month in Jerusalem an intensive course was completed for some 130 immigrants for whom a fairly good command of Hebrew (which isn't easy to obtain) was a preliminary condition for filling jobs in their professions.

The students were taught Hebrew seven hours a day for five months. Since they had no time for anything else they were given free board and lodging by the Jewish Agency.

State officials can have supplementary instruction in higher Hebrew in the government headquarters; employees and workers can learn or polish up their Hebrew in trade union courses.

There are classes for doctors and nurses in hospitals and for newly enrolled policemen. Even the prisoners in Israel's jails can attend Hebrew courses if they wish.

Men and women of the 15 per cent non-Jewish minority are given the opportunity of studying Hebrew, too. Arab children more than nine years old learn it in school, just as Jewish children learn Arabic. Actually the two languages belonging to the Semitic group are pretty close to each other.

On the other hand, children in Israel—Jewish and Arab—often study at least one foreign, non-Semitic language, usually English or French.

MOSTLY FARMERS

Although 80 per cent of Pakistan's population live on farms, there are a dozen cities which have populations greater than 100,000.

Merchant Marine Returned To Jap Owners

TOKYO, March 9—In a sweeping new move to restore independent enterprise in Japan and eliminate the remaining centralized wartime controls, Gen. Douglas MacArthur ordered the Japanese Government today to turn back the nation's merchant marine to private operation by April 1.

A Supreme Allied Headquarters announcement said that under the new directive "all Japanese vessels still under compulsory employment by the Government," both in overseas and domestic trade, would be seas and domestic trade, would be returned to the management of private shipowners.

Transporation Minister Shinzo Oya told the press that the order meant the abolition of control by the Government's Civil Merchant Marine Committee "over navigation of all Japanese vessels."

According to the statement by Supreme Headquarters Civil Transportation Section, the restoration will end all but a "nominal" Government subsidy to Japanese shipping. "The changes indicated in the directive are expected materially to reduce the fund requirements of the Japanese Government in future months," the announcement said It added that the action had been taken "in keeping with headquarters policy of returning responsibilities both from the occupation forces and the Japanese Government to private business enterprise wherever possible and removing controls wherever and whenever practicable and feasible."

The first Japanese comment available here indicated that the order was being received with mixed reaction. While the Japaness generally probably welcomed the removal of Government—and particularly occupation—controls there were indications that Japanese shipping would face a difficult situation if subsidies were removed.

The newspaper Asahi estimated tonight that about 1,125,000 tons of shipping would be affected by the order. The ships are mostly medium-sized coastal vessels — those under 800 tons already having reverted to private management. However, according to the estimate, about one-half of these ships are "surplus" and exist on government assistance. Fierce competition among shipowners and a price war in freight rates is expected, Asahi said.

CARRIED CANADA'S HOPES—Skating right into the camera are the four Canadians who sought to bring titles home from the world championships now being skated in London, Eng. As the contest entered the final day only two of the team were still in the running. Wood-Carving Gift

OTTAWA, March 9 (CP)—The Prime Minister and his wife have a handsome wood-carving as a memento of the Quebec Handicrafts Exhibition now in Ottawa. Mrs. St. Laurent saw the work Wednesday on her first visit to the week-long exhibition.

May Replace Tugs

TORONTO, March 9 (CP) — An ice-breaking attachment may be equipped to a New Toronto Island ferry boat, now under construction, it was learned Wednesday. Cost of the attachment is estimated at $75,000. If the equipment is put into use it will probably do away with two tugs, used to carry passengers over the bay during the winter.

Says Drunkards Likely Start At 40

COPENHAGEN, March 9 (Reuters)—Most drunkards take to drink when about 40 years of age Dr. K. Alstrup, medical advisor to Ring-I-Ring—Danish equivalent to Alcoholics Anonymous—said today.

In an interview, Dr. Alstrup said:

"When people reach the age of 40, a change takes place in their married life. The passionate aspects of marriage have become less important and couples are held together by common interests.

"As life for so many is monotonous and boring, there are sometimes no interests to have in common.

"It is then that one of the partners, usually the man, looks around for something and he often chooses the easiest and nearest—drink."

Find Oskar Straus At 80 Working On Paris Film

PARIS, March 9—The eve of his eightieth birthday found Oskar Straus, composer of "The Chocolate Soldier" and other world-renowned operettas, wholly occupied with a film now in production and plans for the world premiere of his latest operetta, "Her First Waltz," scheduled for March 24 in Munich, Germany.

Aged, but at the apogee of his active career, Straus said in his apartment high above the Seine that his new film, which is under the direction of Max Ophuls, was progressing well and should be completed by the end of this month. To be titled "La Ronde," the picture is based on a play by the late Arthur Schnitzler, Austrain playwright and novelist.

"When I met M. Ophuls in Paris about four months ago," Straus explained, "he told me about his ideas for bringing a musical version of Schnitzler's 'Reigen' to the screen. I was immediately interested, first because the play has a Viennese background and also because I had long hoped to make it into a musical comedy. But I am sure it has even more possibilities as a film."

Describes Theme of Movie

Straus described in theme of "Lo Ronde" as "Love—love that turns the world around like a carrousel." He said the film would comprise a series of sketches connected by slow waltz music in various colors to reflect the movement of a carrousel and by a central character—"a kind of philosopher who quasi-directs the fate of all the others."

This part, he said, was being played by Anton Walbrook; the English actor. The cast also includes Danielle Darrieux, Simone Simon, Isa Miranda and Fernand Gravet.

Turning to his new operetta, which he had tried out in Zurich a year ago, Straus said the action of "Her First Waltz" took place at the court of a diminutive and imaginary principality in the days of the minuet and gavotte.

"The appearance of the waltz, a novelty at the court," the composer explained, "gives rise to love intrigues and jealousies because of its thrilling quality. All ends happily, however."

Completed in 1948

Straus recalled that the operetta had been completed two years ago in New York, where he makes his permanent home. He expressed hope that although originally written in German it would be adapted in other languages later, as had been the case of his previous operettas.

"I plan to leave Paris for Munich on March 18 in order to supervise the last rehearsals," he said. "The performance will take place at the State Theatre, which is very modern and well adapted to operettas.

'Prof. Alfred Rott, leading director at the State Theatre in Vienna, is directing the production and several top singers of the Vienna Opera have been retained for the principal roles."

Asked whether he had other plans for the future, Straus replied: "One always has plans. For the moment, the film and operetta requires continued work because of subsequent adaptions in other languages. When I have completed my commitments in Europe, my wife and I will return to our home in New York."

Bradley Says US Must Be Stronger

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP) Gen. Omar Bradley said Wednesday that present forces cannot give the United States "an absolute guarantee against a disastrous blow."

But I feel that we are going to achieve the necessary forces to prevent a disastrous attack from crippling this country," the chairman of the joint U.S. chiefs of staff said in a speech prepared for the Women's National Press Club.

"I also believe that our forces in being, and our mobilization base, will be sufficient, together with the forces and potential of friendly nations, to win a war if it comes," he added.

Of atomic power, he said:

"Our stockpile of atomic bombs, and our ability to deliver them, affords us an immediate but inconclusive blow of retaliation."

FOR ONE WORLD—Italo-American Sculptor Benjamin Bufano of San Fancisco, Calif., works at a huge mosaic which will cover a 35-foot statue representing unification of the world races. The statue, a gift of the San Francisco Press Club to the United Nations, will be built at the UN's New York headquarters after being displayed on the Pacific Coast.

Britain To Have More Jet Fighters

LONDON, March 9 (Reuters)—Britain's jet-fighter strength will be doubled, faster types introduced, and her first jet bomber brought into service in a build-up of air defences in the coming year.

This was announced today by Air Minister Arthur Henderson in a memorandum explaining the £15,500,000 ($48,050,000) increase in air estimates for 1950-1951. The estimates total £233,000,000.

The new type of jet fighter—the Venom—will take over in the RAF squadrons from the Vampire jet.

The twin-jet bomber, which has been ordered in quantity and should be delivered this year, is the Canberra. This plane dazzled world technical experts with its first public performance in Britain last summer.

Rowe Urges Canadian Miners To Show More Pioneer Spirit

TORONTO, March 9 (CP) — A pat on the back and a challenge were given Wednesday night to 1,000 mining men from across Canada as they wound up the four-day convention of the Prospectors' and Developers Association.

Both came from R. C. Rowe of Montreal, editor of the Canadian Mining Journal, guest speaker at the annual mining day banquet.

The pat on the back came from establishing virtually a $1,000,000,000 industry in the present half-century. The challenge was this:

"There has not been a major goldfield or non-ferrous (non iron) base metal mine discovered for many years. There has been discovery, development and expansion in established fields [illegible] but we have waited in vain for the pot of gold beyond the last horizon that would spark us to another wave of exploration comparable to those of the first 30 years of this century.

Getting Soft

"Are we getting soft and content to live off our fat, and is the pioneer spirit dying within us? Or have controls, regulations and restraints of a new morality removed a great deal of incentive that so fired the generation of prospectors who gave us so much?

"It is my opinion that the latter has a great deal to do with it. . . Mining is a game of chance, a colossal business of hide-and-go-seek, and its returns must be commensurate with the odds against it. Restrain them, and you definitely damage the spirit that activates such ventures."

Cloud Of Terror Spreading Over People In South Korea

SEOUL, Korea, March 9—Large sections of South Korea are darkened today by a cloud of terror that is probably unparalleled in the world. It is universal, shadowing the lives of police, peasants and guerrillas alike.

Police are brutally slaughtered in guerrilla raids. Armed men caught by Government forces are taken to their home villages, shot without trial and tied to trees as an object lesson.

If a peasant cooperates with one side or the other he faces the threat of violent death at the hands of the opposition. If he does not cooperate he is regarded with suspicion and is endangered.

Nights in the hundreds of villages across the guerrilla areas are a long, cold vigil of listening Througout each community and in the surrounding rice paddies guards recruited from local citizenry crouch in pyramidal straw shelters. They are unarmed for fear their weapons will be captured.

Each is assigned a numeral and the numbers are cried out in succession through the lonely hours Sleepers who awake at night can hear the taut cries of those nearest: "forty-two," "forty-three," "forty-four," indicating each is intact

Every barking of a dog in the darkness makes the watcher's heart beat faster, for in the snow-sprinkled mountains looming over these villages the shivering partisans await their chance to strike again.

In an effort to screen off the guerrillas such straw watch stations have been set up in recent weeks at about 150-yard intervals along lengthy stretches of road. Members of youth groups and other who cooperate in manning such posts are classified as "vicious elements" by the guerrillas.

Their mass executions are often reported by the official North Korean radio. In one village visited last week the residents said that in a recent raid seven of these guard corps members were trapped by the attackers in a building and shot down.

Because of the fear and suspicion rampant in guerrilla areas it is difficult to learn the sentiment of less well-to-do peasants. On a visit to a recently raided east coast village a small boy was the first survivor questioned. A number of women and children had been killed and more than half the village burned to the ground.

The boy said the guerrillas put the torch to the town office and one or two of the wealthier homes and that a brisk wind spread the flames, burning to death those trapped inside.

One of the more well-to-do survivors said that after looting, the guerrillas went up the main street indiscriminately firing houses and spearing those who tried to escape. In a calm voice he said he had lost his wife and several daughters. The truth about such nightmares is hard to come by

The night after this visit, in the automobile of an American missionary, this correspondent was speeding smoothly along an asphalt highway. Suddenly the headlights revealed the body of a man in tatters, lashed to a roadside poplar. A placard resting on his chest; a cigarette hung from his lips in gruesome jest.

A youth, picked up along the road as he hurried home in the dark, told the story. From his village 1,500 men and 100 policemen, he said, had gone into the mountains. They caught eight men, seven of whom were executed on the spot.

There was no use bringing them down, he said, adding. "They never say anything anyway, no matter how much they are tortured." The eighth, being a local man, was brought back to the village for execution and display, he explained.

Every effort has been made by the Government to isolate the guerrillas into pockets cut off from communication with each other or with the north. Residents on the east coast, however, say the local press reports landings from North Korea. about every other week.

37-Year-Old Masher Picks Wrong Woman

HAMILTON, March 9—(CP) — A 37-year-old masher, Ben Buick, Brentdale avenue, who when he spoke to a strange woman on MacNab street north didn't know she was a member of the Hamilton police department, paid a fine of $15 and costs before Magistrate Beamer W. Hopkins.

Mrs. Leora Etherington said that while walking on MacNab street between York and Merrick streets the accused came up to her and asked if she were alone. He said he had a hotel room and a bottle and when she stated she didn't drink and was not going to an hotel, he grabbed her by the arm. He jerked her toward him and when she told him to take his hands off, he let go and disappeared.

Buick later was apprehended by Morality Officers James Currier and James MacRae.

Accused said he had never been in trouble before. The offence came under the heading of common assault.

Back-Bencher Gets Chance Put Theories In Practice

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, March 9 (CP)—Maurice Webb is a man who will have a chance to practise in office what he preached in private.

As a lowly back-bencher, Webb pleaded with the Labor Party to cut the cost of living, especially on food. Today, as Britain's new food minister, he brings the influence and authority of cabinet status to bear on what has long been his pet project.

In the government reshuffle following the Feb. 23 General Election, Webb took over from John Strachey. Among the new appointments, none was welcomed more warmly than the change at the food ministry. Labor, Conservative and independent newspapers joined in wishing Webb well.

There was general agreement that the former chairman of the Parliamentary Labor Party, who visited Canada last year as a member of a commonwealth delegation, would breathe a new and more human spirit into the tricky, thankless job of negotiating food supplies for Britain's 50,000,000 population.

Webb, 45, is short and cheerful, with a round, boyish face. He is informal and easy to meet. His predecessor, witty and sophisticated among friends, had a stiff, almost ethereally aloof manner in public. He was once described as being "frigid as a prairie winter" in his relations with Canadian food negotiators.

Strachey, now Secretary for War, is believed to be regarded in high government circles as a brilliant planner, lacking the chummy avuncular approach of previous food ministers. Lord Woolton, wartime food boss, was popularly known as "Uncle Fred." His benign manner made shortages easier to bear.

Fireside Chats

Webb may restore the personal touch. Friends expect him to deliver broadcast "Fireside Chats" to housewives. A hint of what may come cropped up in his first speech, when he said: "I will try not touse the word 'calories,' at any time, but just talk about food."

Part of Webb's popularity arises from his cheerful contempt for a personal handicap. Six years ago, playing with children at a Christmas party, he injured a knee. Two years later his right leg was amputated, above the knee.

Webb carried on in politics despite the loss. He continued his activities as newspaper man and radio commentator. He even plays an occasional round of golf with his only son, 15-year-old Barry.

Australia's Trouble Not Jobs, But Men For Jobs

OTTAWA, March 9—Australia's trouble is not jobs for men, but men for jobs. She has not full but overflownig employment.

On Feb. 28 the Commonwealth Employment Service was looking for 107,000 men and women to take jobs of all kinds. The number receiving unemployment benefits and re-employment assistance was 947.

Immigrants are easily absorbed Quite apart from British settlers there are now 46,000 displaced persons from Europe at work in Australia.

Before the war numbers of Italians, the so-called "swallows," used to go to Argentina to work during the harvest and returned for the Italian summer, the Argentine winter. Could not a few tens of thousands of seasonable unemployed from Canada go to Australia during the winter? The voyage from Vancouver to Australia is not as long as that from Italy to Argentina.

Of course someone will say that it could not be done. If people spent less time saying that they would do more.

More To Spend

Measured in money Australian farmers have far more to spend in 1950 than they ever had. The Bureau of Agricultural Economics estimates the value of farm products for the 12 months to end on June 30, 1950, at £720,000,000 Last year's figure, a record was £616,000,000. The average for the five years 1934-39 was £211,000,000.

When the farmer prospers everyone is apt to be well off. Australia's wage fund seems assured for a while.

Tuna Talks

Does a high death rate for muttonbirds or shorttailed shearwaters bode a poor run of bluefin tuna? If so why?

This and other questions about tuna will be top items on the agenda of the second conference of the Indo-Pacific Fisheries Council to be held at Cronulla near Sydney, New South Wales in mid-April.

In some years many dead muttonbirds are washed up on eastern Australian beaches in October and November. Then the next run of tuna, which begins in January and may go on till August, seems to be poor. The muttonbirds breed in vast numbers on islands in Bass Straits and migrate to the North Pacific in the southern winter. In 1929 I saw swarms of them in the Straits of Jan de Fuca in early August

Science has yet to fill in many gaps in the life history of the tuna. California fishermen catch tuna in great numbers off the west coast of Mexico and around Galapagos Islands. The southern bluefish tuna is caught off the coast of New South Wales. Tuna is now shipped from Sydney, N.S.W., to the United States.

Merger By Summer

TORONTO, March 9 — (CP)— Mayor Hiram McCallum said on Wednesday the amalgamation of 12 suburban municipalities with Toronto will probably be completed by this summer. He told representatives of the Toronto Civic Employees' Union that, if the suburban municipalities are to comply with Premier Frost's desire to have the area amalgamated by next January 1, the amalgamation plan will have to go into effect this summer.

Blame Poisoning

HAMILTON, March 9 (CP). — Verdict that death was due to carbon monoxide poisoning while under the influence of alcohol was returned Wednesday by a coroner's jury at the inquest on the deaths of G. H. Landry 27, Toronto, and Violet Cooke 27, of Hamilton, whose bodies were found in a blazing boxcar on March 1.

Further Demolition

BRUNSWICK, Germany, March 9 (Reuters)—A demolition squad Wednesday carried out further blasting in the coke-producing plant of the former Hermann Goering iron and steel works while groups of workers watched in silence. Earlier, the workers, who Tuesday and Monday demonstrated and obstructed dismantling in the vast works, had listened to an appeal by the chairman of the Works' Council, Erich Soechtic, to keep calm.

Police Return Hancock From Vancouver

The Peterborough Examiner

VOL. C. No. 57 THURSDAY, MARCH 9, 1950

Joseph Hanson Corporal In Provincials

Joseph Hanson, a provincial constable in the Peterborough district for the past five years, has been promoted to the rank of corporal.

The anouncement of the promotion and three transfers were made simultaneously by Inspector C W. Farrow at the Peterborough HQ

Corporal Hanson has 11 years of service to his credit. He joined the Provincials in 1939 and was a constable for two years in Niagara Falls. In 1941 he joined the RCAF After his discharge from the air force in 1945 he was stationed in Peterborough where he has been since.

There are two other corporals on the HQ staff in this city; Corporal L. A. McClure, also a supervisor of general law enforcement, and Corporal L. T. Keeler ,district dispatcher.

The three transfers are intended to strengthen the detachments at Bowmanville and Brighton, Inspector Farrow told the Examiner today.

Provincial Constable Norman DeBow, attached to the local HQ staff for the past eight months, has been sent to the Bowmanville detachment. He came to Peterborough after graduating from the provincial police training school at Ajax.

Replacing Constable DeBow is Provincial Constable J. R. (Russ) Pollard who has seen eight years service with the provincials. For the past 18 months he has been at the Orono detachment and he had similar duties in Durham County for 6½ years being stationed at Bowmanville and Port Hope.

Provincial Constable D. W. Erskine has been transferred from Napanee to Brighton. He joined the provincials several years ago when that police force took over law enforcement in Barrie thus eliminating his office of town constable.

Retail Division Dragging In Community Chest Drive

The campaign among the retail section of the city for Red Cross and Community Chest funds is meeting with less success than the other three divisions and unless a keen interest arises during the next 24 hours, the retail division will fail to reach its $16,500 objective.

When the committee met today to review achievements to date, only $3,927 of the $16,500 had been collected and grave concern that this division would fall short of its target was felt.

One canvasser reported to the committee that he had to call at one retail establishment five times before he was able to collect a subscription.

An apparent indifference in the retail division was making the work of the canvassers unnecessarily arduous. Time taken to make return visits meant fewer calls could be made and services given voluntarily by canvassers was not being used to the best advantage.

The entire campaign total today at noon stood at $44,511, the figure having moved up slowly since the $41,604 at noon Wednesday.

The children's penny drive, being conducted in every school in the city, is still $195 below its $500 target. Every day boxes of pennies are emptied at the schools by Utilities employee Ernest F. Reid. Clare Collins, organizer of the children's division, had $304.75 at noon today.

Some youngsters have increased their penny subscriptions to nickels, dimes and even a few quarters. One last big effort will be needed on Friday, however, if the objective is to be met.

The committee felt that the industrial, women's and special names divisions were well on the way to reaching their objectives. If the support is maintained, these objectives will be reached.

Nurse Shortage Affects Board

Faced with the possibility of having to curtail its activities because of a shortage of nursing staff, the Board of Health Wednesday was told by Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, and Miss Gene Clark,, supervisor of Public Health Nurses, that there was a shortage of public health nurses throughout the Dominion.

Miss Clark reported that Mrs. I. Gibson's resignation from the staff became effective at the end of last month and she was being very greatly missed.

Efforts to replace her had been unsuccessful and the outlook was far from hopeful.

Dr. Kelly read a letter which he had received in answer to an appeal to the Toronto University School of Nursing for two public health nurses, which intimated that there was none available.

Pointing out the acuteness of the shortage of staff trained in public health nursing, Miss Clarke said that of 72 students who took the public health course at the School of Nursing last year 60 married at the end of or during the course.

These nurses were training under bursaries from the Provincial Department of Health, and their marriages meant they had to refund money to the Department because they were not meeting their obligations under the bursary scheme.

Dr. Kelly told the Board he had received an application for the city's $500 bursary offered to registered nurses to take the public health course. The applicant was a fourth-year student at Civic Hospital who expected to graduate in June.

The Board decided the bursary should be granted if Dr. Kelly was satisfied after interviewing the applicant.

Miss Clark said that two nurses on the city's public health staff at present were Peterborough girls who had taken advantage of the bursary after training here.

Board To Settle Marble Dispute

Deadlocked on present contract negotiations the Ontario Marble Company and Local 527 UE are taking their dispute to conciliation, it was learned today.

Late today the two parties are scheduled to sign an agreement extending the expiration date of the contract to seven days after reception of the Conciliation Board report. The anniversary date was January 23, but it was extended up till the present also by mutual agreement.

Company and union officials met Wednesday and continued their talks until noon. As there seemed no livelihood of settlement it was decided to ask for Ontario Labor Relations Board mediation.

Mr. Burns had been a very active member of George St. church and was an elder for the last four years of his life. He was widely known, respected and loved.

Mrs. James Goldie was soloist at the church service.

Pall bearers were Frank Greatrix, Ron Knox, Harry Beatty, Joseph Detcher, Bob Gamble and Ruffus Payne.

Flower bearers were Ernest Wall, Kenneth Shadgett, William Jefferies, Everett Ross, Earl Hanbidge and Ray Clarke.

To Vote On Union

TORONTO, March 9 (CP) — Employees of the Anaconda American Brass Company in suburban New Toronto will vote Friday on their choice between the United Steelworkers of America or the United Auto Workers, both affiliates of the Canadian Congress of Labor. The workers in the plant were formerly members of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, but dropped the union in favor of direct affiliation with the CCL.

Suicide Verdict In Death Of Port Hope Man

A verdict of suicide by the self administration of potassium cyanide poisoning ended an investigation into the mysterious death of Reynard Clare Sanderson, 28, of Port Hope, who was found dying on the side of Highway 28 five miles east of Peterborough December 13.

A five-man coroner's jury announced its verdict after about 15 minutes deliberation. But before all the evidence was presented at the inquest held by Coroner Dr. Herbert N. Young, they had heard a strange story.

A young man who had apparently bought two ounces of potassium cyanide, a pint of milk, took a taxi five miles out of the city, poured some of the milk on the highway, put the cyanide into the remaining milk and drank his lethal "milk shake."

Found In Few Minutes

Within ten minutes he was spotted lying on his back, at the side of the highway, his clothes unrumpled, drawing laboured breath and little more than ten minutes from death.

According to the evidence of his father, Leslie Sanderson, an employee of a Port Hope file works, Reynard Sanderson had not been ill nor had any history of illness. His son had started up in business as an electrician after taking a course, part of it in Chicago.

He said the young man had not drunk to excess nor had he, to his father's knowludge, taken drugs, but he was "out for a good time."

On the evidence of his father and his brother Gordon, Reynard had scarcely bothered with girls. His brother said he had never seen him take a girl out.

He had served a time as a sergeant in the army, but had been discharged for some reason his father did not know.

Reynard Sanderson had three insurance policies. The most recent and by far the largest, $5,000, contained a double indemnity clause in case of death by accident and his mother was beneficiary. Mr. Sanderson thought the policy had been taken out just two or three months before his death.

Dr. C. B. Waite, pathologist, testified he had performed a posmortem and had found nothing with the naked eye which told him the cause of death. He said there were no marks, bruises nor hypodermic needle punctures anywhere on the body.

As a result he had taken samples of the stomach and its contents and the blood and urine and sent them to the provincial department of health in Toronto to have them tested for poisons and alcohol.

No Signs of Alcohol

The blood showed no signs of alcohol, but the urine did, indicating that Sanderson had had something to drink but not for some little time before his death. The stomach contents showed the presence of potassium cyanide.

Potassium cyanide itself, Dr. Waite explained, does not cause death but when it reacts with the acids of the stomach, pure cyanide results which cause paralysis of the respiratory system and death. The speed with which it works depends on how much food is in the stomach, how much acid is in the stomach and of course how much potassium cyanide was taken in.

Along with the samples taken from the body of the dead man, the contents of a milk bottle found by Provincial Constable George E. Henderson near the spot the dying man had been lying, were sent to Toronto. Examination disclosed a heavy charge of potassium cyanide in

Former Used Car Dealer Charged With Forgery Does Not Plead or Elect

Aubrey Smith Hancock, 35, was arraigned in police court today on a charge of forgery in connection with a "conditional sale contract" between Hancock Motor Sales and H. Moore. He entered no plea and bail was set at $20,000, believed to be the highest bail ever set on an accused man in Peterborough police court. Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw told the court more charges would be laid against the man. All the charges are believed to be in connection with a $100,000 car finance swindle which Colonial Finance Co. of Toronto said was worked against them last year.

Emmett F. Sheehy appeared in court and said he had been asked to appear for E. J. Murphy, K.C., Toronto, because Mr. Murphy had been retained by Hancock's family or friends to represent him. Mr. Murphy is also representing Jack Douglas, Toronto, charged with being an accessory after the fact in the negotiations.

Hancock was remanded one week.

Hancock was well dressed in light spring clothes. He showed no outward signs of nervousness. When he spoke, in connection with who was representing him, his voice was deep and clear with no tremor in it.

Flown From Vancouver

He arrived in Peterborough Wednesday afternoon in the custody of Detective Sergeant W. A. Clarke and Sergeant William Aggas who flew out to Vancouver Friday when word reached Chief Constable John Thompson that Hancock had been arrested.

Police are not talking yet about how Hancock was spotted by Vancouver police. It is known Hancock, using the name Howard Cleaver, bought a house and a car in Vancouver.

Apparently he had not actually gone into business, but was making arrangements to do some commission selling of household appliances in conjunction with a dealer in the city.

It was also reported Hancock had been drinking very heavily. Vancouver police said he had been in the city some months.

Imming Unheard Of

No word has yet been heard of Paul Imming who disappeared at the same time early in October with Hancock.

The swindle as outlined by the Colonial Finance Co. was that non-existent cars had been sold to fictitious people at real addresses or real people at fictitious addresses in Peterborough and surrounding districts, towns and villages.

Applications were made to the loan company to finance the buying of these non-existent cars. When the loans were okayed, the money lent to the people who either knew nothing about it, or did not exist, was sent through to the "used car dealers," Hancock and Imming. The swindle did not come to light until about a week or two after Hancock and Imming had left the city.

CHIMNEY BLOWBACK

All was far from well Wednesday afternoon with the heating system at the residence of J. Leo McColl, 635 Oxford Street. Firemen were called to deal with a dual trouble: The oil burner flooded, thus requiring attention, and the chimney became plugged causing black smoke and soot to blow back into the kitchen. The firemen were forced to use a handpump on the chimney which also caught fire.

Jobless Man Wins $14,425 In U.S. Lottery

When you gamble, don't tell the missus.

That's the formula Edric Moir, 25-year-old Lindsay army veteran, has used successfully for several years now, and its most recent accomplishment is the winning of $14,425 solid United States cash.

A few months ago he bought a ticket in Toronto on an American sweepstake. Then he promptly forgot about it. Now he's been told his horse—he can't even recall the name—romped in a valuable third.

"It's a good thing I didn't tell Lois," Moir commented. "If I tell her I've got a ticket on a pool or a sweep I never stand a chance.

"Yes," cut in his wife, "and a couple of times you won draws and I didn't know anything about them."

"Guess we'll keep it that way, eh?" Moir added.

Though he's still waiting for the money, he has most of it mentally spent. He has visions of a new home in Lindsay and a 1950 model car. At present he is visiting his wife's people in Toronto.

A machinist by trade, Moir has been jobless since October.

"This," he concludes, "couldn't have come at a better time."

Schools Re-Open

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 9 (AP)—Youngsters here got bad news today. The board of education ordered public schools reopened Monday after an unscheduled 17-day vacation due to the coal shortage.

Hotchpotch Before Council

Fire Hazards, Female Dogs, Park St. Drain

Parking meters at the rear of Centre Theatre are too close to the fire exit doors, Chamber of Commerce has mentioned to the council.

The doors open outward and are separated by the width of the sidewalk from curb line parking, Mr. James Fraser wrote.... "with the result that in the event of a fire, patrons leaving the theatre in a hurry would run into the front of parked cars.

"It is suggested that parking be prohibited opposite these exits to permit more rapid evacuation of the building. The cost of the two lost parking spaces would be infinitesimal compared with almost certain loss of life should a pile-up occur because of fire."

The letter was sent to the fire and light committee.

A note from Karl Duffus, secretary-treasurer of the Automobile Dealers' Association, conveyed information that Harry Goodman of National Motors, Hunter St., was selling used cars without a license. "We feel it is an injustice to other operators who have been duly authorized." The letter was sent on to. Chief Thompson.

Raise Dog Tax?

June N. Fraser of the Humane Society communicated a proposal to increase the license fee for female dogs to a substantial figure above the present four dollars.

Miss Fraser also wrote that a flaw in the bylaw is the lack of a fixed date for complying with it.

Railway Land

J. A. Johnston, Toronto, C.P.R. superintendent, informed the council by letter that the company could not consider sale of its small piece of land between the municipal yard on Townsend St. and the railway siding east of Peterborough Fuel and Transfer property, on Aylmer St.

"It might be leased to a small industry in the future if the city ever decided to cancel the present lease. The site has definite advantage due to its location, and you will appreciate our hesitation in selling."

Mr. Johnston also said there was no possibility of the present lease being cancelled as long as the terms contained therein are adhered to, and our relations with the city remain as in the past, and, of course, as long as the city requires this site."

Park St. Drain

In regard to the reading of the Park St. drain bylaw, Ald. H. Dodds, introducing it, said: "This has been discussed time and again, and I move it be taken as read."

Third reading was suspended for approval of the Ontario Municipal Board. City Clerk Outram said today that he had not yet been notified by the Board when it would hear any objections to the drain project.

To recall the terms the council has offered the Park St. property owners as set out in the bylaw, it should be first explained that the council adheres to the local improvement plan of payment, and the Park St. (south) people object that the cost should be borne by the city as a whole.

The council begins by assuming 75 per cent of the cost of this work on the west side of Park St. from Brioux Ave. south to the river; and the estimated cost of the job is around $100,000.

It is proposed that the remaining 25 per cent of the total be charged under the local improvement act against the property on both sides of the street. Two-thirds of the 25 per cent would be levied against the west side owners and one-third against the people on the east side.

The council proposes to issue 15-year debentures for this project.

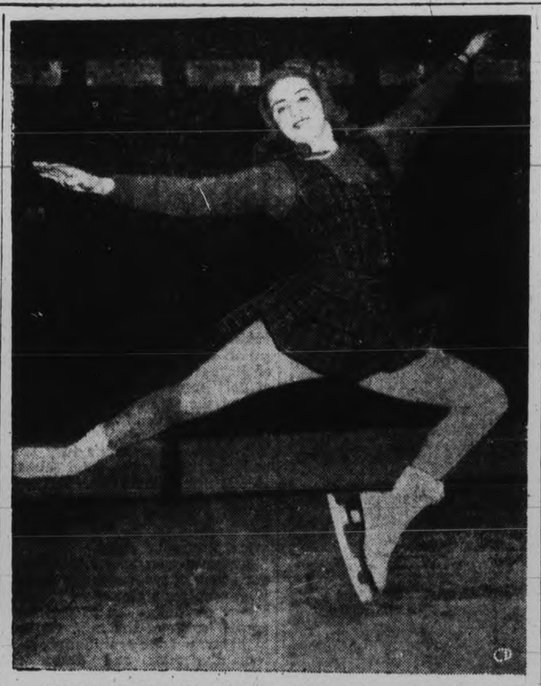
Ladder-Climbing Dog Gets Home

TORONTO, March 9 (CP). — Whisky, the ladder-climbing dog, Wednesday found a new home in the country where he can climb—and bark—to his heart's content.



The two-year-old mixture of beagle and collie won a reprieve from the gas chamber. It was his own bounding spirits that nearly put him there—this business of clearing nine-foot fences and climbing ladders.

Owner Robert Greer announced Tuesday that he just could not go on paying fines because Whisky was running loose and would have to destroy him. He changed his mind, however, after more than 200 offers of adoption came in.

Greer selected Larry Bright of nearby Unionville. A pensioner near 60 who lives alone, he and the dog took to each other at once. Besides that, Bright can offer Whisky a home in the country.

Order Investigation

TRAFALGAR, Ont., March 9 (CP)—Police have ordered an investigation into the death of Noel Craythorne, 46, found shot behind a barn at the home of his brother-in-law, J. H. Walker, in this village 20 miles west of Toronto. Police want to know why the bullet, apparently fired from a .22 calibre rifle held close to Craythorne's head, failed to penetrate his skull.

Earthquake Insurance

CORNWALL, March 9 (CP).—Cornwall Public School Board voted Wednesday to take out earthquake insurance on the two schools under its jurisdiction. Cornwall schools have not suffered from earthquakes since 1942 when damage estimated at $24,000 was caused by a severe tremor. However, a number of minor tremors have been felt since that time.

Standing Up Well

OTTAWA, March 9—(CP)—The Bureau of Statistics, in reports issued Wednesday on the quantities of tobacco released for consumption and the quantities of beer and spirits produced in January, found both standing up well in comparison with previous years. Cigarets released during the month totalled 1,408,000,000 compared with 1,262,000,000 in January last year. Beer production in January increased to 456,700 barrels from 440,100 barrels in January last year.

Legislature Hears Two Amendments

TORONTO, March 9 — (CP).—Government Bills introduced in the Ontario Legislature Wednesday included an amendment to the Statute Labor Act, which empowers road commissioners of any unincorporated area to compel a person who does not own property to contribute a day's labor for road work, or the equivalent in cash.

An amendment to the Teachers' Superannuation Act sets forth that teachers joining the staffs of certain government institutions may continue to contribute to the superannuation fund. The institutions listed are the instructional staff of any Ontario Normal School, the Ontario College of Education, University of Toronto Schools, Schools for the Deaf and Blind, Provincial Government correspondence courses, the Royal Ontario Museum, and any railway-car schools.

KINGSTON, March 9 (CP). — Twenty-four prisoners at Collins Bay Penitentiary graduated Wednesday in various trades. They are part of a vocational training experiment designed to give prisoners a trade when they are released.

Says Cows Should Give 8,000 Pounds Of Milk

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 9 — (CP). — A dairy cow should produce 8,000 pounds of milk and a live calf every 13 months, Art Owen, a Veterans' Land Act administrator, told officials of the administration Wednesday.

Addressing the officials on the third day of their annual convention, Mr. Owen said the average production for Ontario is less than 5,000 pounds a cow and at that level "profits almost disappear." He said that many of these cows, if given proper care, would jump into the profit-making class.

4 Tied Together Cross Ice With Petition

CASTELGAR, BC, March 9 — (CP) — Equipped like mountain-climbers for their trip across the rotten ice and over rocky trails, four men from the isolated community of Deer Park arrived here Wednesday with a petition for government aid.

Tied together with rope and carrying iron bars and hatchets, the party—Pete Williamson, Dick Mottershead, James Allen, and Casey Phelps—made the 20-mile trip here in four hours.

The petition they carried, signed by 70 Deer Park residents and addressed to Works Minister E. C. Carson, asks for a road for three lower Arrow Lake communities, whose only transportation to the outside is normally by water.

The villages—Deer Park, Renata and Broadwater—were isolated when ice in the lake cut off Canadian Pacific's steamship service.

"We are getting to the end of our tether," said Mr. Phelps. "The government should either see that we get our short stretch of road or be prepared to buy our land back from us."

Farmers in the district own land purchased from the British Columbia Government. Castelgar is 20 miles north of Trail.

I Think It's A Shame the way so many household products give such good service that they almost give their good name away. FRIGIDAIRE REFRIGERATORS are an example of what I mean. They have served homemakers so well for more than a quarter century that many people now speak of any make of electric refrigerator as a "Frigidaire". Actually, of course, there is only one make of Frigidaire refrigerator, just as there is only one make of Chevrolet car. "Frigidaire", like "Chevrolet", is the name of a product made by General Motors. The only refrigerator in Canada that is a "Frigidaire" is the refrigerator manufactured by General Motors' Leaside, Ontario, plant: Frigidaire Products of Canada, Limited.

at DOMINION There's CHEESE for Every Taste

Legend has it that cheese was discovered accidentally by an Arab herdsman who found that when rennet was added to milk it caused the milk to separate into curds and whey. By tasting the curds he discovered cheese.

Cheese-making is the oldest known form of dairy processing. Made in many countries, by various methods, there are more than 400 varieties of cheese available today, among them Gruyere from Switzerland, Roquefort from France, Edam from Holland, Gorgonzola from Italy, Canadian Cheddar. In Oka, Quebec, Trappist monks make Oka Cheese, for which Canada is becoming famous.

More than 65% of the cheese sold in Canada today is pasteurized, processed cheese, a combination of new and old Cheddar.

Because a pound of cheese contains the protein and fat of one gallon of milk and is rich in vitamins, iron, calcium and phosphorus, it is one of man's most essential foods.

MAKES LONG FLIGHT—Kaoona, 15-year-old Eskimo, was flown nearly 1,800 miles from Clyde River, Baffin Land, 750 miles inside the Arctic Circle, to Halifax in an RCAF Lancaster bomber when he had gangrene poisoning. Here FO D. H. Webb of London and LAC F. S. Fortune of Sydney Mines, NS, members of the plane crew, remove the boy from the aircraft. Sqdn. Ldr. A. H. G. McLeish of Hamilton, Ont., was forced to land the 30-ton bomber on a frozen river, the first time a plane of that weight has been landed on ice. Kaoona is now undergoing treatment in a Halifax naval hospital.

Find Child In Hole

VAL D'OR, Que., March 8 — (CP)—Alcide Barbe's hunch was credited Wednesday with saving the life of four-year-old Bob Chalykoff. The youngster disappeared Tuesday afternoon and fell through snow into a seven-foot hole near the town limits. Then he went to sleep. A heavy snow was falling and about 8 p.m. Barbe, a diamond driller in this mining district, had a hunch that he should examine the deep hole more closely. He returned there and found the child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Chalykoff.

More Refrigerators

OTTAWA, March 9 — (CP).— Production of electric refrigerators and domestic washing machines continued to increase during November, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday. The month's output of refrigerators reached record levels, while the production of washing machines was second only to the all-time monthly peak in March last year. Factory stocks of both appliances were higher than the corresponding month a year ago.

Unauthorized Petition

LONDON, Ont., March 9 — (CP)—Police are investigating complaints from Beal Technical and Commercial High School that two girl students had been circulating unauthorized petitions urging a ban on the atom bomb. Bushworker Hit By Tree

SHAKESPEARE, Ont., March 9 (CP)—A 32-year-old bushworker struggled alone over three miles of snow-bound countryside Wednesday after a tree crashed down on him, breaking his leg in two places. He was cutting the tree when it fell, breaking his leg below the knee.

Students Survey Social Customs Of United States

NEW YORK, March 9 — Ten students from nations in the Near East, Far East and Southern Asia took a frank look at social and political customs in the United States yesterday and found some of them rather curious contradictions of our traditional religious idealism and democratic political system.

The students had been in this country for ten weeks, sight-seeing from New York to Texas and visiting our homes and schools. Their reactions were expressed in two panel discussions at the fifth annual Forum for High Schools sponsored by The New York Herald Tribune at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

While 2,500 local high school students listened with interest, Chitaranjan Felix Amerasinghe of Ceylon said that American home life seemed to have been reduced by the machine age to "mad scurrying." He also was critical of the attitude toward marriage that he had observed.

"The marriage tie should imply a close association between the members of the family," he declared. "But today in America this tie seems very superficial. Life is thought of and led so much in terms of material interests that there has been a decline in material standards."

Our Life "So Complex"

Soesilo Sardadi of Indonesia suggested that Americans who wanted all the mechanical conveniences didn't seem to realize what they were getting themselves in for.

"American life is so complex," he commented. "When I first looked on a floor, I saw a carpet, which makes you need a vacuum cleaner, and for this you need electricity, and for this you need a hydro, and for this you need the T.V.A. project, and for this you need capital, and part of this capital comes from taxes, but you do not like to pay taxes."

One of this country's established social customs' the "date," had Malaival Mojdara of Thailand worried.

"You say you have dates because you must know the other person well before you get married. Why, if this is so, do you get divorced after a year or two of married life, regardless of how long you knew each other before? I can't see why the young people go out on dates, since they really don't seem to profit by them."

Syed Adam Edward Hogan-Shaddali of Malaya, called Eddie by the rest of his panel, expressed concern over the racial discrimination he had observed.

Firm Finishes Survey National Film Board

OTTAWA, March 9 — (CP).— Resources Minister Winters said Wednesday he expects the report of a management-survey firm on the National Film Board will be tabled in the Commons, but he gave no definite commitment.

Under questioning by Gordon Fraser (PC-Peterborough West), Mr. Winters said the firm, named to survey how the board is run and to make recommendations for any improvements considered wise, has completed its study.

Gets Special Diet

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., March 9 (CP). — A potassium cyanide-flavored diet has been provided for "One-and-a-half Step," the three-legged wolf which has been killing livestock for months in the Bodmin district north of here. In answer to an appeal by district farmers, Game Warden J. Clay has arrived in the district by snowmobile to prepare the poisoned repast for the giant timber wolf.

Put Indians To Work Mining Areas

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Saskatchewan, ambitious to become one of Canada's great mining provinces, has put its native Indians to work.

The plan was described Wednesday to the Prospectors and Developers' Association in a paper prepared by W. James Bichan and Malcolm F. Norris of the Province's mineral resources branch, and presented by Mr. Norris.

It is based on the proposition that in many large areas it is not possible for prospectors to gain a livelihood, particularly through the early years of reconnaissance.

"It is possible, however, for individuals resident in the territory, or more appropriately, native to the territory, to gain a livelihood from the exploitation of the game, fish and forest resources with auxiliary aid of small-time agricultural pursuits."

Logical Solution

Proceeding from this the government decided that the logical people to do primary prospecting are the native Indian population.

Last summer four parties of two men each were chosen and sent out. Each man was paid $4 a day, Sundays exclusive, plus a sustenance allowance of $1 a day straight time; a maximum of $135 a month for each trainee.

Apparently the results were encouraging, even if some difficulties were encountered.

Messrs. Bichan and Norris state that co-operation effected between native trainees and geological survey personnel has proved of mutual advantage.

"The interchange of scientific knowledge for practical details of woodcraft, the use and care of canoes and camp equipment, has been as much to the benefit of the geologists and students as to the prospectors."

Education Program

"While this program does give the participants some actual knowledge of prospecting techniques and the recognition of economic minerals, they are still lacking in the necessary awareness of the significance, economically, of mining activity and of the rewards it can hold for themselves. This intangible but most important requisite must be part of our mining activity education program."

The paper added:

"Through the direction of more and more individuals, both of Indian and white races, into this type of activity there will be maintained a steady amount of uncovering of new and interesting concentrations of valuable minerals."

Spastic Patients Learning Proper Muscular Control

By ROBERT PHILLIPS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINDSOR, Ont., — (CP) — Four-year-old Betty-Lou is trying hard to walk.

Although normal little girls can usually walk at two, Betty-Lou at that age had not even learned the rudiments of crawling. She is a spastic, a victim of cerebral palsy.

Betty-Lou and 30 other little girls and boys are learning all about walking, talking—for usually speech organs of spastic patients are impaired—and how to play and do things with their hands through the guiding direction of seven qualified "teachers" at Windsor's Curative Workshop.

The project, the first of its kind opened in Canada by the Canadian Red Cross, has been in operation here for 14 years. It is financed by the Windsor branch of the Red Cross and is operated by four occupational therapists and three physio-therapists under the direction of Phyllis Carleton, formerly of Toronto.

Betty-Lou's life story is not unique—it is, as a matter of fact, quite typical of the handicaps of spastic sufferers. Her progress back to a nearly normal condition is a fair example of the work being done here free of charge.

Spastics suffer the aftermath of cerebral palsy, poliomyelitis and other childhood spinal and muscular injuries. Usually they have poor muscular control and are unable to crawl, stand or walk, to talk and to do most of the things which make little girls and boy so active in their earl, years.

A busy Centre

Childhood curative aid is only one type of rehabilitation treatment at the workshop. The 13,735 treatments given the 528 patients during 1949 included the average weekly treatment of 32 children as well as aid for numerous adult sufferers of similar maladies and accident victims of all ages sent to the workshop by workmen's compensation boards, the department of veterans' affairs and private doctors. All patients arrive with a doctor's prescription for physio or occupational therapy.

Ages of curative workshop patients range from six weeks to more than 80 years. There is no price tag on the treatments, all of which are supplied through financing by the Red Cross. Those able to pay may contribute to its annual fund drives conducted through Windsor's Community Chest.

When Betty-Lou first arrived at the clinic two years ago she could not talk at all, her tired little limbs would not support her body even to crawl and her parents — who also have four other normal children — feared she would be a permanent cripple.

Now she is able to say most words and sentences that any child of four can, although, say the instructors, "she still has troubles with her Ts." She now is able to stand with the support of steel and leather braces and walk in a walking machine.

Workshop officials hope soon she may be able to start school lessons, in addition to the muscular direction she now gets.

Betty-Lou's official day begins at 9 a.m. when a workshop station-wagon picks her up at her home. For three hours she follows a rigid timetable—with only brief rest periods—all the while under careful and watchful direction of experts who know just how to handle children.

30-Minute Periods

During the routine she has three 30-minute periods each of: directed physio-therapy; play with creative toys designed to direct weak muscles in the daily tasks of buttoning, zipping zippers, lacing shoes and building with blocks and learning with the aid of equipment how to stand, crawl and then walk. She also takes speech lessons.

Foot patterns painted on the floor guide her wayward feet in the proper direction for walking; steel braces hold her tired legs upright and walking skiis aid the rest of her body to follow.

Soon she may be just like any other little girl, workship officials say.

Windsor is proud of its curative workshop. Although it was the first in Canada, it now is not the only one in the field. Most large Canadian cities have similar projects—but only one other at Brantford, Ont., is still operated exclusively by Red Cross.

During 1949 the curative centre here provided for a monthly average of 150 persons. Fifty received just physio-therapy—guided manipulation of muscles and 35 occupational therapy—the skill of using muscles to directed purpose. The remainder were booked for the combination treatment. All of Windsor's 125 medical men support the centre and most of them have recommended patients for treatment.

For the few who are still bedridden at home or in hospital workshop facilities and skilled staff are taken to them.

FUN FOR SPASTICS—Fun and games are all part of the treatment at Windsor's Curative Workshop. Here three-year-old Larry, a cerebral palsy victim, is shown learning how to balance on his weak legs through use of a steel frame. Miss Mavis Taylor of Victoria, BC, one of the workshop's three occupational therapists, is getting him ready for a workshop party.

MORE FLATTERY and greater comfort afoot are promised when shoes are selected to suit foot type as this girl does. Close-ups show typical examples of new styles recommended for the four basic types of feet.

Stick To Last That Suits Your Foot Women Advised

By ALICIA HART

Ever been stuck with a pair of new shoes that looked wonderful but hurt your feet after a few hours wear? If you have, chances are you bought shoes "to fit the eye" instead of your foot. It's common feminine failing, foot cialists say.

With so many styles to choose from, you can find shoes that are both smart and comfortable if you stick to the last that suits your foot. The specialists classify foot types as high instep, low instep, long and narrow, and short and plump.

If your foot has a high arch, you won't be happy in high-cut pumps that pinch delicate instep nerves and restrict circulation. Better choice for you, according to podiatrists, are low-cut models which leave the instep free of constricting bindings. Look for a snug heel fit to make up for the lack of shoe in front.

On the other hand, if you have low-arched feet, you'll find high-walled slippers or one-strap sandals more comfortable than the wide-open styles. The shoes should be cut high around the back to avoid any tendency to slip or bulge at the heel. Check to make sure shoes have flexible leather soles for easy walking.

Lucky is the girl who has long narrow feet. Specialists say she can wear any shoe styles with ease. New nude sandals are particularly flattering to slender feet Straps across the instep or toothin soles, however, may cause discomfort because of the lack of a fatty cushion on the arch and bottom of the thin foot. For that reason, shoes with leather-soled platforms, either concealed or visible, are recommended as shock-absorbers.

Give plump feet plenty of space at the toes of the shoes to avoid painful cutting. Any style with a walled last that has a roomy front is a good choice. The square toe and complementing square leather sole are made to order for comfortable wearing on plump feet. Beware of extra-high heels. Spike heels intensify the tendency of short plump feet to roll over at the ankles. This causes ankle strain and is apt to produce an awkward walk.

Child Care Talk And Music Enjoyed at Trinity

When the Baby Band Mother's Auxiliary of Trinity Church held a meeting Wednesday evening spring flowers and St. Patrick's motifs decorated the ladies' parlour. About 70 members were there.

Dr. Donald Clarke was guest speaker and his subject was "Certain aspects of the health and care of a child in the home." He was introduced by Mrs. B. G. Till.

Dr. Donald Kennedy, church organist, played two excellent and timely solos, 'Rustles of Spring' by Sinding, and "March Winds' by Edward MacDowell.

A vote of thanks was proposed by Mrs. A. Parker and extended by the program chairman Mrs. W. C. Cuppy.

During the business session for which the president Mrs. Eric Edmondson was in the chair, a letter was read which introduced the baby-sitting service being set up by Trinity CGIT. The girls are being instructed in proper technique by Miss Mary Ross of the VON.

A report on progress on plans for the Maytime tea and bazaar being held May 3, was given by Mrs. W. Taylor and Mrs. K. McVety offered to help the group get their sewing started for the children's bazaar table.

It was decided to pledge $200 a year for five years to the Sunday school building fund.

Mrs. M. L. Latimer volunteered to hunt storage space for materials donated during the spring and summer toward the auction sale to be held late in September.

The members of Mrs. Cuppy's group who had charge of the program and served refreshments were Mesdames M. Andrews, K. F. Barltrop, S. A. Bowman, C. V. Boyle, A. Parker, L. Putnam, A. L. Thompson, B. G. Till, R. Scrutton, R. E. Seabrooke and J. P. Moes.

Mrs. O. Jamieson was the pianist for the meeting.

BABY'S CRY IS NOT ALWAYS TEMPER

DISTINGUISH between your baby's cry of pain and cry of temper. The "pain cry" should have instant attention. For the feverish distress due to gas on stomach or bowels or those common digestive upsets, give Baby's Own Tablets at once. Mrs. May Mundy, of Toronto, finds they work every time.

"I am the mother of nine children, three of them prize babies, and Baby's Own Tablets have been my only medicine in raising them to the healthy children they now are. As soon as my children became a little feverish I at once gave them Baby's Own Tablets and in a very short time the fever disappeared and the children were normal again."

Equally effective for constipation, upset stomach, teething troubles and other minor ailments of babies.

Quickly effective. Sweet-tasting — easily crushed to a powder, if desired. No "sleepy" stuff — no dulling effect. Get a package today. Sickness often strikes in the night. 20 cents. Money back if you are not satisfied.

DOROTHY DIX

Is Nagging Incurable? Habit Can Be Stopped

DEAR MISS DIX: Is nagging an incurable disease? I am coming to the conclusion that it is. I have a friend who tells me that she married the dearest man in the world, but that he left her when he could stand her nagging no longer. Now I am again brought in contact with a young couple whose marriage is doomed for the same reason. He is a great lover of peace and harmony, a good provider, educated and talented, very popular, but at home he is never right about anything. A window left open, a chair out of place will call down volumes of unwarranted nagging on his head. I am quite positive that once this man's endurance reaches the point of saturation he will go, never to return. Can his wife help nagging him?

MIRA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I have sufficient faith in the power of the human will to believe that anyone who is not mentally diseased can cure himself of any fault that he really desires to correct.

Enjoys Nagging

We have all known reformed drunkards and gamblers and philanderers, and the only reason we never meet a reformed nagger is because the nagger gets such a kick out of nagging that he or she cannot bear to desist from his or her favorite diversion. There are several reasons why the nagger never departs from his or her evil ways. One is that no one ever admits to being a nagger. Another is that the nagger always justifies nagging on the ground that he or she does it for the good of the naggee. And, thirdly, because the nagger is possessed of such an all-comprehending self-conceit that he or she thinks that he or she is ordained by God to supervise the affairs of the universe and to run every detail of the lives of all those with whom he or she comes in contact.

I do not blame any man who has a nagging wife for taking the first train away from her. She has brought her misfortune on her own head because she could have reformed if she had wanted to do so. Every man who finds that he is married to a nagging woman should serve notice on her that if she doesn't quit he will. That would bring a lot of naggers of their senses.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a coed engaged to another student in the same university I attend. He is my constant companion during school days and comes to visit me three times a week. My mother objects to our being together so frequently because it will be at least five years before we can possibly marry, and she is afraid that he may tire of me before that time. Also, she says that this continual companionship takes away my chances to find another man if my sweetheart happens to get tired of me and leaves me. But my sweetheart gets jealous if I go with another boy and refuse to see him. We are both 20 years old. What is you opinion in this matter

T. A. S.

ANSWER: I agree with your mother that a young girl can do no more foolish thing than involve herself in a long engagement. Of course, it is possible that a boy-and-girl romance has in it the stuff that endures the wear and tear and unnatural strain of a relationship that is neither marriage nor freedom.

But almost always the long engagement just peters out. The man and woman get fed up on each other. Their romance gets torn to tatters. They are filled with jealousies and resent each other's trying to dictate to them. Being in different environments, they develop along different lines. And so in the end, even if they do marry, it is oftener a matter of duty and honor than it is of inclination.

Hence the wise girl steers clear of a long engagement and she never lets any man monopolize her until the wedding day is set.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think that most women use their leisure time profitably?

A DISLIKER OF CARDS

ANSWER: Before we could judge whether anyone used leisure profitably or not we would have to know what the individual got out of it. If he got rest of mind or body, or pleasure or amusement, or it gave an added zest to life, I should say he used it profitably, no matter what he did, provided, of course, that his occupation brought no harm or unhappiness to others.

You dislike card playing, but unless one does it to excess it is an innocent and pleasant way to spend one's leisure. If you will observe, you will see that less scandal-mongering goes on over bridge tables than anywhere else where women congregate.

6—In Memoriams

DIXON—In loving memory of a dear son and husband, Malcolm Dixon, who passed away March 9th, 1946.
Time takes away the edge of grief,
But memory turns back every leaf.
—Lovingly remembered by mother, dad and family.

EDWARDS—In loving memory of Charles Henry Edwards, who died March 9, 1949.
—Ever remembered by wife and daughters Doreen and Betty.

EVERITT—In loving memory of Arnold Everitt, who passed away March 9, 1947.
There is a link death cannot sever,
Love and remembrance last forever.
—Remembered by his wife Irene, son Ted and daughters Mrs. E. Hotrum and Mrs. J. Kanally.

EDWARDS—In loving memory of Henry Edwards, who was accidentally killed, March 9, 1949.
His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a pleasure to recall.
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
—Mother, father, sister, brother.

McCOLL—In loving memory of our dear son Clifford, who passed away March 9, 1941.
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
His vacant place there's none to fill.

ROGERS—In loving memory of Mrs. Ethel Rogers, who passed away March 8, 1949.
What would we give her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see;
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be.
But some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more
In heaven, that happy life.
—Ever remembered by husband, son and family.

Guay's Girlfriend Tells Love Story

QUEBEC, March 9 (CP) — A murder trial jury heard today of the love life of J. Albert Guay and were told by his 19-year-old enamorata that her association with the jeweler accused of wife murder had been tempestuous, filled with quarrels.

This testimony came from Marie-Ange Robitaille, a Quebec city waitress who said she lived with Guay and travelled with him at times.

Miss Robitaille—her name in English is translated "Angel Mary"—told of many times she tried to leave Guay. Time after time he induced her to remain with him.

The girl said that after she left home, following a family quarrel over her association with Guay, the jeweler obtained a room for her in the apartment of Mrs. Arthur Pitre.

The waitress said she roomed on Richelieu Street for a few months until January or February, 1949.

"Guay supplied me with money for food," she said. "He gave me two or three dollars at a time. He bought my clothes.

"I rarely went out," said the girl in her low voice. My people were under the impression I was in Montreal. I had gone there with the accused on the trip.

Suicide Verdict

half inch of milk left in the bottle.

Dr. J. Rogers of the Ontario department of health said in his report that death usually followed taking of potassium cyanide within a few minutes to half an hour. Dr. Waite set the time limit as longer than that.

E. L. Payne, local druggist, testified he had sold two ounces of potassium cyanide—to a man who signed for the poison as R. Anderson about 9.05 p.m., Dec. 13. He said this "respectable looking chap" had said he wanted the poison to kill a dog. The druggist testified he had suggested to the man that he take his dog to the Humane Society or use chloroform. But the man had said he had consulted a veterinarian and wanted the potassium cyanide. Mr. Payne said there was no reason to doubt his word and nothing to make him suspicious so he sold the poison and had the man sign for it. The address given by the poison buyer was 128 Park St. N.

At that address lived John R. Godfrey who testified Sanderson had boarded with him for more than a year, three or more years ago while he took a machinist course at the CGE.

He also said Sanderson had dropped into his house at noon the day he died and stayed for about an hour and a half, drinking one pint of beer. Godfrey, himself left to go back to work before Sanderson went, but he had appeared quite normal during the visit.

Visited Brother

Sanderson's brother Gordon testified that about 6 p.m. the night before his death, Sanderson had come into his house at 219 Charlotte St., carrying a 24-pint case of beer under his arm. With Mrs. Gordon Sanderson, they had spent the evening drinking the case of beer and playing crokinole.

Sanderson had appeared in quite normal spirits except for the effects of the beer and after spending the night at his home, had left about 10 a.m.

I don't believe he poisoned himself, Gordon Sanderson said.

Harry Johnston, a taxi driver testified he had taken Sanderson five miles out Highway 28 leaving him at Barrie's service station about 11.25 p.m. He said Sanderson was unsteady on his feet, but was not staggering.

As Johnston drove Sanderson out the highway, Sanderson had a bottle of milk on the seat between his legs. Johnston said Sanderson told him he was taking the milk home because his wife, whom he married nine years ago, had asked him to get it as he was leaving their house.

To Harry Dunford, taxi dispatcher, Sanderson had said he wanted to be driven "A dollar and a quarter's worth out the highway."

Robert Cathcart, Cavan, testified he had been driving west on Highway 28 that night. As he was travelling down the hill just east of the Five-mile Turn where Barrie's service station is situated, he saw the tail light of a car in front of him.

Then on the south side of the road, he saw what looked to be someone lying. He said the vehicle in front of him drove straight on taking the township road instead of turning south with the highway. At the service station, Cathcart started to turn around to go back and investigate the object on the side of road. He then saw a police cruiser, driving north on the highway, make the turn and stop opposite the object on the road.

Constable Henderson, driver of the cruiser, testified just as he was starting to make the turn, he saw a yellow or orange colored panel truck go off the highway onto the township road at "quite a high speed."

He said his headlights then picked up what looked to be a body on the side of the road. With Cathcart's help he briefly examined Sanderson and then radioed through for an ambulance.

Constable Henderson said there was a strong odor on Sanderson's breath, but he couldn't identify it. He found the milk bottle lying at the side of the highway about 75 yards from where Sanderson had been lying, containing about half an inch of milk-like fluid. A little distance away was some milk frozen on the highway.

In Sanderson's pockets, besides identification, was $3.36.

Police have been unable to find any trace of the orange or yellow panel truck which disappeared along the township road that night.

Members of the jury were: R. A. Dixon, 391 Water Water St., foreman, Fred McFadden, 457 Gilmour St., Jack Sinclair, 618 Walkerfield Ave., George Moore, 457 Thompson St., and William Saunders, 140 Morrow St.

U.K. Adjudicator Heckled In Montreal

MONTREAL, March 9 (CP) — British adjudicator Mexwell Wray commended Les Compagnons De Saint Laurent Wednesday night for their performance of Moliere's "Le Malade Imaginaire," only minutes after he was heckled from the stage by a small group of young French-speaking men and a girl.

But he threatened to "leave Montreal" if there is another similar disturbance during the remainder of the week-long western Quebec regional drama festival.

The heckling started while Mr. Wray was criticizing technical points of staging and lighting of Les Compagnons' entry in the festival, which is a preliminary to the Dominion Drama Festival in Calgary the week of May 8.

Outspoken Hecklers

Most outspoken of the hecklers who clapped their hands and called out remarks in French, was Jacques Herbert, young free-lance journalist. He yelled from the audience that he had "come here to hear a criticism of the play, not a repitition of the jokes you (Wray) made last night."

Herbert was referring to the performance Tuesday night of Jean Cocteau's "Antigone" by the French co-operative group, La Compagnie Du Masque, headed by the husband-and-wife team of Fernand and Charlotte Dore.

(During his adjudication of "Antigone" Mr. Wray commented on the "small stature" of Mr. Dore and said he felt Mrs. Dore tried to do "two jobs—act and direct—instead of concentrating on her leading role." He also commented jokingly on the use of two girls, instead of men, as soldiers in the modern version of the Greek tragedy.)

Mr. Wray walked from the stage of Les Compagnons' playhouse but returned a few minutes later after the Rev. Emile Legault made a public apology to the adjudicator. Father Legault is chairman of the western Quebec festival and director of Les Compagnons.

Rescue 7 In Crew

QUITO, Ecuador, March 9 — (AP)—Seven crew members were rescued yesterday from a small Panamanian ship which had been out of control and adrift 47 days. The United States fishing boat High Seas, out of San Diego, radioed it had found the vessel in Ecuadorean waters near the Galapagos Islands and had taken the exhausted crew aboard.

Bumps Head, Dies

FLORENCE, S. C., March 9 — (AP)—A 14-year-old high school youth died yesterday after bumping heads with a classmate as they left their seats to answer a recess bell. Dr. James Allen, called to the school, said the boy, Dean Holland, died of a cerebral haemorrhage.

Unrest Spreads As State Being 'Russified'

TEHERAN, Iran, March 9 (AP) —Refugees crossing the Russian border into Iran are reporting wide-spread unrest in the Turkmen Soviet Socialist Republic.

The Soviet newspapers they carry tend to support their stories, saying:

1. Moslem workers are using slow-down tactics against bosses sent in from Moscow.

2. There is a growing coolness toward the Communist party.

3. The Moscow Administration is lagging badly in repairing earthquake damage in the Turkmen capital of Ashkhabad, which was mostly destroyed in 1948.

4. Some agricultural workers are refusing to go to the fields, charging their Moscow-appointed supervisors treat them as slave labor.

The Turkmen Republic, with a population of about 1,252,000, is in the extreme south of Soviet Central Asia, bordering on Iran and Afghanistan.

Country Being "Russified

The refugees say it is now being "Russified," with forced immigration of Slavic Russians who are displacing the native Turkmen Moslems.

Failure to the Moscow government to speed reconstruction in the wide areas devastated by the great earthquake of Oct. 8, 1948, is a prime source of unrest, refugees say.

They showed recent issues of Turkmenskaya Iskra, (the Turkman Spark), a leading Ashkhabad newspaper. Here are some excerpts:

"The first construction trust, whose work was recently subjected to criticism, still is not fulfilling its part of the reconstruction plan.

"The second construction trust often has its workers idle because the central supply organization does not deliver materials on time The chiefs of the trust do not prepare detailed building plans and these must later be worked out on the building sites. The chief of the second trust complains that the architects quickly and thoughtlessly decide on the building sites with the result that it is frequently necessary to tear up the completed foundations."

Bosses Have Troubles, Too

The Moscow-appointed construction bosses also have troubles because of the slow-down tactics of their Turkish-speaking Moslem subordinates, who resent introduction of Slavic Russians as their overlords, the refugees say.

The newspapers also complain of the lack of fervor for the Communist party. Political schools and study groups are poorly organized, it states. Attendance is described as scanty and irregular.

The refugees said conditions in the cotton-growing regions of the Turkmen Republic are worse than in the cities. Nearly all collective farms are behind schedule in their production, they said. Workers in many cases refuse to go into the fields to pick cotton, charging their Moscow-selected bosses treat them as slave labor.

The Turkmen Republic was formed in 1942. Four-fifths of the territory comprises the impenetrable Kara Kum Desert, inhabited only by wild nomads. The capital, Ashkhabad, had a population of 125,000 before the 1948 earthquake.

Get Defence Training

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP) —Some 30,000,000 Russians have received basic civil defence training in preparation for an emergency, a report by the Senate-House of Representatives Aatomic Committee indicated today. In a pamphlet on civil defence against atomic attack, the committee observed that the Russians are planning to train additional civil defence "volunteers" at the rate of 5,000,000 annually.

Clocks Acting Up

OTTAWA, March 9 —(CP) —The clocks on Parliament Hill began acting up Wednesday. G. K. Fraser (PC—Peterborough West) drew attention in the Commons to the fact some of the clocks in the corridors were out as much as a half-hour. Works Minister Fournier promised that he would attend to them the moment he was through with his work in the Chamber.

Negro Problem Solved By Windsor

WINDSOR, March 9—(CP)—A bronze plaque on a main street building commemorates this Southwestern Ontario city's history as Freedom Station on the underground railway that once spirited slaves out of the southern United States.

Windsor promised freedom to the Negro then and today it tries to keep its promises.

As the latest measure of its success, civic leaders point to the appointment of James E. Watson, a Negro, as city solicitor. They can name other specific instances —a Negro alderman, doctors, clerymen, policemen, and a vice-president of the local Council of Women.

But a better example even than these, they feel, is the general way that the city's 2,000 Negroes fit into the total population of some 125,000.

No one will say there aren't individual cases of discrimination —of bars raised by isolated barber shops, restaurants and such. But, as Mayor Arthur J. Reaume says, "a large majority of Windsor's people look upon their fellow man as equal" and the discriminatory attitude of others "is slowly but surely changing."

Haven't Used It

The city's official policy is non-discrimination. Last year, a by-law was passed empowering the city to refuse renewal of business licences to stores which had a record of racial discrimination. It has not yet had to use the by-law.

Although just across the border from Detroit, Windsor felt no effect of the 1946 race riots in the United States city. Unlike Detroit, Negroes here inter-marry with members of other races. They live throughout the city, although there is an east-side downtown area most-heavily populated.

Annually, Negroes from many parts of North America gather here to commemorate the British Crown's emancipation of slaves in 1832.

Develop New Wire

FORT MONMOUTH, N.J., Mar. 9 (CP)—The United States Army Signal Corps has announced development of a single-strand wire that can carry a hundred different television transmissions instead of the one image now carried by Coaxial cable. The new wire could bring about major changes in the present television setup, the Signal Corps said, criss-crossing the United States and carrying television far beyond its present limit of major urban areas.

New Parachute Jumps

EL CENTRO, Calif., March 9—(AP)—Parachute jumps at altitudes up to 60,000 feet—just under the height where blood boils in your veins—will be attempted this summer at White Sands, N. M., proving grounds. The leaps will be made from F-80 jets by United States navy and air force parachutists, says Lt.-Cmdr. J. A. Morrison.

200 Strive For West Point Entry Several Navy Uniforms Around

NEWBURGH, N.Y., March 9—Two hundred potential replacements for West Point's "long grey line" will take the final stride toward their goal this week at the United States Military Academy Preparatory School at Stewart Air Force Base here.

The candidates, who will begin a four-day competitive examination for admission to the academy, have spent the fall and winter months at this "little West Point" —the country's only Army-operated training program for academy aspirants.

The school, which covers 1,200 wind-swept acres almost within the shadow of its big brother's historic battlements, is exclusively for candidates who are serving on active duty in the country's armed forces. All who attend hold academy appointments—Presidential Congressional or from the Army itself.

This year's crop of hopefuls would delight the heart of the stoutest "unification" advocate for there are a half dozen wearers of Navy bell bottoms and several young men attired in the Marine Corps' forest green.

Had a Short Hitch Afloat

Why a Navy man should be interested in a West Point education is a touchy subject hereabouts. But one such candidate, Robert L. Schucker, 19 years old, of Clearfield, Pa., proclaims frankly that, after a short hitch afloat, he concluded that "I'm just not crazy about ships."

One of the Marine candidates is Willard G. Wyman Jr., son of the major general who is chief of staff at First Army Headquarters, on Governors Island. Young Wyman, 19 years old, wants to make the Army his career and feels that a West Pointer has the edge on less fortunate colleagues.

The school's students continue to wear the uniform of their particular branch of the service. Thus the Navy jumpers and the Marine battle jacket can be spotted easily when the one battalion, composed of two companies, lines up for inspection. The majority of the men, of course, wear Khaki.

Included in the 200 academy candidates are several men who held commissions before enrollment. But the rules require them to dispense with the insignia, since every man receives the same treatment and the same privileges, regardless of previous rank or length of service.

Goal of Passing Tests

There is one academic goal: to pass the March and June entrance examinations. And then those who do pass receive an advanced course designed to provide a firm foundation for the work they will encounter at the academy.

The school runs from September through June. The chief obstacle to a candidate's ultimate success is his failure to arrive soon enough to take the entire course. Colonel Taylor says that many members of Congress delay their appointments, with the result that when their candidates finally enroll it is too late to prepare them properly.

But, on the whole, the school's record in turning out successful students is exceptionally high. Of the 237 young men taking the West Point entrance examinations last year, 147 became academy plebes, or fourth-class men. More than half of the 200 aspirants this year are expected to make the grade.

Last week, in preparation for the coming examinations, the candidates took "practice" tests with questions based on the examinations of previous years.

The resemblance of the school to West Point itself is striking. There is the same type of honor system, the same system of demerits, the same emphasis on military courtesy and bearing.

Farm Policy

ed Nations had asked Canada to catalogue her surpluses only last week and he would hesitate to say large surpluses were available.

Swinging to political issues, he denied charges that he and Trade Minister Howe had been guilty of misrepresentation in the 1949 election. The Progressive Conservatives would have won more seats had they talked more about "conservatism" while the CCF party would have done better had it not agreed so much with the Conservatives.

Because the Liberals believed in trade—and the Conservatives didn't—Canada always had good times when the Liberals were in power and poor times when the Conservatives held office.

Curtail Production

Mr. Johnston said the reason why there were no food surpluses was because the government had been encouraging the destruction or curtailment of production. Farmers were concerned about the government's plans for price support legislation.

On the election issue, he felt it was obvious the government had used the Canadian Wheat Board as a political instrument to further the Liberal party's interests. The reason the farmers voted Liberal in 1949 was that they had been "bought" with their own money through wheat participation payments.

"Your remarks," shouted a Liberal member, "are an insult to the intelligence of the farmers of Canada."

"My remarks," Mr. Johnston retorted, "are based on facts."

Itemize expenses

The various expenses were itemized in the annual report, copies of which were supplied to the members. For instance, the expense for technical services: salaries $33,690.57; mileage $30,730.85; supplies, $5,116.11; drugs, $109.13; express, $591.90; repairs to equipment, $26.50; chief technician's expenses, $68.52; total $70,333.58.

Mr. Keffer reported the number of Maple bulls at 28, of which 15 are Holsteins, five Jerseys, four Ayrshires and four Guernseys. The association is expanding into the beef cattle field. Two shorthorn bulls have been bought, two others are in prospect of purchase.

"The Shorthorn bulls are not in the barn yet, but they are due, and we expect to begin with them in the next two weeks," Mr. Keffer said. "One of the two we have bought is a half brother to Ransom 23 of Ontario Agricultural College, six years old; the other is a grandson of OAC Ransom 23. One of the better herdsmen in this province recently congratulated us on this second bull. He said: "I think it is safe to say this is the best bull in Ontario to suit your job. We are looking for substance, size, milk on the domestic side and all the type we could get."

Mr. Keffer said the two other bulls "which we are bargaining for will line up pretty well with the first pair." He said the female background was thoroughly considered in buying the Shorthorn group.

Brings Greetings

Russell Rowntree brought greetings from the York members of whom there were 677 at the end of the year as compared with 581 at the end of 1948.

"Of our first eight temporary directors, appointed when we took our first step at Maple, there are only two left on the board, and I am one of them," Mr. Rowntree said. "Little did I think at that time that our small group of farmers in a ten-mile radius of Maple and 1,000 cows, would expand to an area of eight counties in a radius of 100 miles and the total of 22,000 cows at the end of last year. I never imagined any development of that kind would take place. We had 11 directors' meetings last year, and nine executive meetings. They were held at night sometimes till 1:30 a.m., but we are changing to day meetings this year beginning at 10:30 am."

Gordon LaPlante, local representative of the technical service, said the number of cows bred in the area last year was a few short of 4,600 of which 225 were Jerseys, 50 Ayrshires, six Guernseys and 1325 Holsteins. Average rate of conception was 66%. "The average would have been higher, but we had two bad months in the dry weather when the average was down to 40%, and in September 50%."

Mr. LaPlante's mileage was 33,000 or 20 miles per cow. The cost per cow was $2.78 as compared with $3.05 for the entire club. The average cost per cow in Peterborough in 1948 was $3.18.

Fine Co-operation

"I wish to thank our members for their fine co-operation," Mr LaPlante said. "Without it, we wouldn't be able to show the results we have. Mr. Frank Paterson has always been a real support to me and our work. I don't think that in the eight counties of our association there is any other agricultural representative, except Mr. Cockburn in York, who is as well acquained with this work as Mr. Paterson."

Mr. Paterson was appointed to take charge of the election of the Peterborough director and the district board, and also to direct consideration of several changes to the constitution.

The constitutional provision for the election of directors had authorized nine, chosen at the annual meeting at Maple. The change gives direct representation on the central directorate in the following clause: "The members from each county represented in the association, shall elect at the annual meeting for the county, one member as direcor for each 200 members or fraction thereof."

Mr. Keffer said that with the expansion of the association it was only fair that each county should have proportional representation on the central board. Mr. Harry Kennedy becomes the first Peterborough area representative.

Approval of the amendments to the constitution was unanimously expressed in the adoption of a motion by Harry Young and Mr. Kennedy.

Mr. Keffer said he hoped Peterborough area would send at least two or three cars of its members to the annual meeting.

Teachers And Trustees Need Better Relations

ST. CATHARINES, March 9 — (CP)—The need for increased teacher trustee relations in the school system was emphasized Tuesday night by J. E. Morris, of Hamilton, at the Trustee Association of Ontario.

Mr. Morris, past president of the Urban School Trustees Association of Ontario, said that there is a public relations problem in maintaining the good relationships between the differing viewpoints of trustees and the teachers.

Some 70 school trustees, principals, and school inspectors attended the meeting which was held in the Welland House.

Representatives came from Niagara Falls, Welland, St. Catharines, Fort Erie, Stamford, Port Colborne, Thorold, Lincoln and Welland High School, Hamilton, Beamsville, Grantham township boards, Port Dalhousie, and Niagara township.

Attlee Wins First Test By 14-Vote Majority; Faces 2nd Crisis Monday

Fear Second Vote On U.K. Housing Issue May Prove Tougher Affair; Government Majority Now Cut To Six Seats

LONDON, March 10—(AP)—The Labor government squeaked past its first major parliamentary test Thursday night. But uneasy Labor members face fresh trouble in another crucial vote Monday. By a 14-vote margin, 310 to 296, Prime Minister Attlee's Socialists beat back a Conservative motion aimed against the impending nationalization of the iron and steel industry. A defeat would have forced the government to resign only two weeks after it won a second term in a close general election.

Still ahead of the government—whose over-all majority in the House of Commons was cut Thursday to only six seats—is a vote Monday on another Conservative motion. This deplores the government's failure to suggest housing program improvements in the Speech it prepared for the King to deliver at parliament's opening last Monday.

Like the nationalization censure voted down Thursday, the housing motion proposes an amendment to the Throne speech. The government has said any such amendment is an issue of confidence. Labor leaders said that if beaten, they would resign and call a new election.

May Be Tougher

The vote on housing may find it even tougher for the Labor government to keep all its members in line. Several Labor members of Parliament have criticized the government's housing record in the past.

Labor lost one seat of its tiny parliamentary majority Thursday when Conservative Florence Horsbrugh defeated the Labor candidate, Rowland W. Casasola, in the Moss Side constituency of Manchester. The by-election had been delayed 15 days by the death of a previously-nominated Conservative candidate.

Parliamentary whips of both parties mustered the heaviest attendance in the House of Commons since 1892 for Thursday's record vote. Labor got the votes of all its members who were not prevented from voting by illness or parliamentary positions—all but five of the party's members.

Nine Conservative members were missing from the balloting, but all nine Liberal members voted with the Tories.

Chain Store Assessment Increased 25%

TORONTO, March 10—(CP)—The business assessment of large chain stores and mail order firms is increased from 25 to 50 per cent by a bill introduced Thursday in the Ontario Legislature.

Chain stores with more than five retail order offices and mail order firms have their assessment increased to 50 per cent and assessment of wholesale merchants is reduced from 75 to 50 per cent by the terms of the bill.

Another change clarifies the right of the assessor to gain access to property. If after two visits to the property, he has been unable to obtain the necessary information, the property owner is compelled to complete a questionnaire submitted to him.

An assessor who improperly disclosed information obtained by him in the course of his duties leaves himself open to a fine of not more than $200 or six months or both.

An amendment to the Public School Act permits school boards to provide pensions for employers other than teachers and inspectors. Sick leave credit systems may be set up for employees.

A clause permits school boards to provide life insurance for any class of employee and accident insurance for injuries to pupils. At present boards may contribute to life insurance only for teachers and officers of the board.

Would Forbid Margarine Color

TORONTO, March 10 (CP). — The Ontario Federation of Agriculture today asked the Ontario Government to forbid sale of margarine with color capsules enclosed in or attached to the package.

A delegation presented a brief to Premier Frost and his Cabinet contending that color was the natural trade mark of butter and coloring of margarine should be more strictly controlled.

The brief also charged that margarine manufacturers are using misleading advertising in such slogans as "Country fresh and "Milk makes the flavor." Uses of preservatives other than common salt should not be permitted, the Federation said. Other preservatives were forbidden in butter.

"It is unfair and unjust to be faced with a competitor which legally hides its inferiorities with a chemical preservative such as benzoate of soda," the brief said.

Trenton Plant Closed For Good After Strike

BELLEVILLE, March 10—(CP)—The Downes-Coulter textile plant at nearby Trenton, strike-bound for the last three months, will be closed indefinitely, Mayor Kenneth Couch said Thursday.

The plant is being closed on instructions of the parent organization in England.

The order came during negotiations by striking employees during which they voted to return to their jobs if they received wages in effect at the time of the walk-out and officials showed no discrimination in re-hiring workers. They also asked the right to negotiate after their return to work.

AFTER ONLY ONE hour's deliberation, a jury acquitted Dr. Hermann N. Sander, of Manchester, N.H., in the mercy killing death of a cancer patient.

Auriol Captures London Hearts During Visit

LONDON, March 10 — (CP).—President Vincent Auriol of France left London's Victoria Station today with enthusiastic cries of "Vive La France" and "Vive Le President" from multitudes of people still ringing in his ears.

He was on his way home after a triumphant three-day state visit to London.

It had been "Auriol Week" in London, with colorful horse and coach parades, solemn receptions with the trappings of centuries of tradition and banquets and theatre shows glittering with the diamond tiaras and scarlet sashes of Royalty.

The King and Queen saw the French President and his wife to the station.

Londoners gave Auriol a rousing send-off. Thousands of people waited under cold, grey skies, and they swarmed past the police on to the road to besiege the President's car on his drive to the station.

Fire Salute

At Dover the battleship Vanguard fired a 21-gun salute after the President boarded the French steamer Arromanches. British jet fighters stood by to fly out as an escort to the President's vessel halfway across the Channel.

British destroyers, too, waited in Dover Harbor with full steam up to escort the President halfway home on his return journey.

Thursday Auriol addressed the members of both Houses of Parliament in the Royal Gallery of the House of Lords. Speaking in French, Auriol said Britain and France "are the guardians of a great hope."

He added:

"The democratic nations expect a lead from us in the guidance of Europe to her destiny of unity and liberty. The Treaty of Brussels has already marked one important step in the accomplishment of this historic evolution."

Merger Will Reach Official Level March 24

TORONTO, March 10—(CP)—Discussion of the scheme to amalgamate Toronto and 12 neighboring municipalities will reach an official level March 24 when the Ontario Municipal Board hears representations from the city, suburban Mimico and suburban Long Branch, it was announced today in the Ontario Legislature.

All three municipalities have applications for hearings filed with the board.

Following examination of the applications the board ruled a joint preliminary hearing should be held.

Toss Bomb In Belfast

BELFAST, March 10—(Reuters)—A bomb exploded outside a Belfast police station today, damaging nearby houses but causing no casualties. The bomb was thrown against a wall about 15 yards behind the police station. It caused no damage to the station but broke windows in nearby houses and blew a big hole in the front door.

Major Gottlieb Suicides Hint Caught In Spy Net

ROME, March 10 (Reuters)—Maj. Walter Kurt Gottlieb, Austrian-born British business representative in Rome, was found dead in his bath here Tuesday, with his wrist veins severed.

Today the independent Rome newspaper Il Tempo said he was in London at the time of the Fuchs atomic secrets inquiry and later returned to Rome "a completely changed man."

It declared that Gottlieb, an Austrian Jew who became a naturalized Briton, showed a disquiet which resembled fear when he returned from London.

It asked: "Was Maj Gottlieb caught up in that network of investigation that the British and American secret police have been spreading over all countries in Europe since the Fuchs case?"

Gottlieb was formerly a major in the Intelligence Service in the British Eighth Army.

On the evening of March 6, the newspaper said, he received some unknown news from London. Next morning he was found dead.

Il Tempo said that five "farewell" letters were found by the police.

In one, addressed to "Simon," Gottlieb said "I die for my country and for my stupidity."

In another, addressed to Dama," he said, "I love you and am dying for something I cannot tell you about."

In another

The newspaper said that another "violent" letter was addressed to Derek Verschoyle, first secretary at the British Embassy in Rome. Il Tempo suggested the police were concealing the contents of this letter.

Jury Frees Doctor, Out One Hour

State Board Decides If Doctor Continues To Practise

CANDIA, N.H., March 10—(AP)—Dr. Hermann N. Sander, acquitted of murder in the death of a cancer-riddled patient, still faces a hearing before the State Board of Registration in Medicine.

Dr. John S. Wheeler, State Health Officer and secretary of the board, said Thursday night the board will decide what medical penalty, if any, will be imposed on the 41-year-old country doctor.

Dr. Wheeler said his board has authority to grant or revoke licences to practise medicine.

Wheeler's announcement came after court attaches had told newspapermen that Dr. Sander was free to resume medical practice immediately. They said restrictions, which prohibited him from practising during trial were lifted with acquittal.

The doctor and his wife, who sped off to an undisclosed place Thursday night after the jury returned its verdict, planned to return home today to the people who swear by him.

Jury Out Hour

The jury deliberated a little more than an hour before freeing Dr. Sander.

With his pretty, smiling wife on his arm, Dr. Sander pushed his way through a cheering crowd outside the county court in Manchester, 12 miles from here, shortly before 5 p.m.

Louis E. Wyman, 71-year-old defence counsel, said that he felt "the evidence in the case justified the verdict."

Reginald Borroto, husband of Abbie Borroto—the woman Dr. Sander was charged with killing by air injections—said the acquittal was "the most heart warming news I have ever received. I don't know if I can express any happier thoughts than that."

A Harvard pathologist, who testified Mrs. Borroto did not die of air injections, said he was "delighted" with the verdict.

Use Extortion To Get Dollars

OTTAWA, March 10 (CP) — Chinese Communists have a new method of accuumulating foreign currency—extortion.

Bruce Rankin, former Canadian trade commission in Shanghai told a press conference Thursday of the methods used in Red China to "milk" foreign companies of huge sums of money.

"They lock the management in their offices, without food or water, until they get what they want," said the Edmonton-born trade commissioner.

Another favorite Red "blackmail" method of acquiring foreign exchange is to refuse foreigners the right to fire their Chinese help. If they do, they must pay huge lay-off awards.

Using these and other methods, Chinese Communists had built up large stocks of foreign currency, said Mr Rankin. They had a big stock of U.S. dollars. He knew of one kitty in New York amounting to about $17,000,000.

The Red regime is avoiding Canadian officials in Shanghai, he said. He believed they were ready to do business with Canada once Canada granted the Red government official recognition.

Dinner Ends Drive

Whether the Red Cross and Community Chest objective of $75,000 has been attained will be known tonight, when all campaign workers meet at the Empress Hotel for a dinner which will mark the close of the 1950 campaign.

Announcement of the total is expected from chairman Ross Robbin.

Willie The Actor Popular Man With N.Y. Police

NEW YORK, March 10.—(AP).—Willie the Actor can't complain he's never been wanted.

He's been "wanted" for most of the last 33 years as one of the slickest stickup men in the business, and a prison escape artist to boot.

And he's wanted more than ever today as the No. 1 suspect in Thursday's butter - smooth, 90-minute robbery of a branch bank here that netted a haul of $63,050 in untraceable small bills.

If police ever catch up with Willie they'd also like to chat about that $1,500,000 Brink's robbery in Boston last January—biggest cash holdup in United States history.

Willie's real name is William Sutton. He became known as Willie the Actor for the disguises he used on various jobs.

Slick Job

Willie—if it was Willie—and two other gunmen hit the bank before opening Thursday morning and forced their way in with the first employee to arrive.

The others walked in one by one, were caught in the mousetrap and made to sit down. Then as soon as the time locks opened in the vault doors, the gang cleaned out all the paper money on hand and disappeared, spurning $11,000 in silver. Police believe two others were involved in the getaway—although the trio might have escaped by subway.

In addition to robbery, "Slick Willie"—as they call him in Philadelphia—has an impressive record as an escape artist.

He is one of the few men to make good an escape from Sing Sing—New York's tough prison on the Hudson River.

Shovel Snow On Roof Save Bank From Fire

TEMAGAMI, March 10 — Two men who frantically shovelled snow while standing on the roof of Northern Ontario's smallest bank building here were credited with saving the business section of this vacation village from destruction by fire Thursday.

The fire destroyed a taxi stand on the west side of No. 11 Highway. The walls of the bank of Nova Scotia next door were already smoking when Gordon McCart and Lorne Pacey, both of Temagami, climbed to the low roof and shovelled and pushed the snow from the roof down on the flames.

Bank records and cash were taken to the street as the bank windows blew in with the heat. When the two men had used all the snow on the roof, more was shovelled up to them by onlookers.

"The bank and the entire business section would certainly have been lost; but for the action of these two men," Bank Manager E. A. Walters said. "The wind was really pushing the flames along. It was a very narrow escape."

Urge West Indian Colonies Be Linked In Federation

LONDON, March 10—(CP)—A Colonial office report today recommended the linking of all West Indian colonies in a "British Caribbean Federation." Such a Federation, the report said, would be "the shortest path towards a real political independence for the British peoples of the region, within the framework of the British Commonwealth — what is meant in fact, by 'Dominion status.'"

The report was made by the standing Closer Association Committee for the British Caribbean, composed of 17 members and a chairman. It was created in 1947.

The standing committee's report will be examined by the Legislature of the colonies concerned.

The report said the federation would comprise Barbados, British Guiana, British Honduras, Jamaica, Antigua, St. Kitts-Nevis, Montserrat, Trinidad, Grenada, St. Vincent, St. Lucia and Dominica.

Under this set-up the federation would have more than 2,500,000 population. But all the colonies are not yet in favor of such a union

Not Sold on Plan

British Guiana and British Honduras, with a combined population of 435,000, are not completely sold on the plan. British Guiana has suggested a plebiscite to ascertain the feeling of the residents of the islands.

(Bermuda and the Bahamas are not considered Caribbean colonies and would not come into the plan.)

The federation would have full internal self-government, a status just short of that of a Dominion such as Canada. Its constitution would be modelled on that of Australia with the federal government having only such powers specifically given to it. All other powers would remain with the unit governments.

The committee suggested Trinidad as the capital with a federal legislature, consisting of a Governor-General, a Senate, and a House of Assembly.

At present, British West Indies colonies are governed by a system under which a governor administers through a parliamentary body in which some members are elected and other appointed.

GE Terminates Contract With UE

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—General Electric notified its 100,000 United States employees today that it is terminating its contract with the United Electrical Workers Union April 1.

The UEW was recently expelled from the Congress of Industrial Organizations on grounds it is Communist-dominated.

Hearings have been completed by the National Labor Relations Board, but a spokesman for the NLRB said "it will be another two or three weeks" before an election date is set to determine whether the UEW or the new CIO International Electrical Workers Union is official bargaining agent for GE employees.

The company told its workers "it seems clear that we would be interfering with the right of our employees to freely select their bargaining representatives if, at this time, we were to extend or renew the UE contract expiring April 1."

Arrest Five Youths Fleeing In Stolen Car

TORONTO, March 10—(CP)—Five Toronto youths were arrested at gunpoint in a stolen automobile early today after police set up a roadblock in suburban Scarboro. They ranged in age from 16 to 19.

Police said the youths were surrounded by oficers after a wild, seven-mile chase over icy streets and offered no resistance when stopped at the barricade. The car was reported stolen in London.

Constable Frank Bridle, of the Ontario Provincial Police, said he spotted the stolen auto shortly after Toronto police flashed a warning over the police radio. He was joined by other officers at the roadblock.

Handcuffed Life Termer Drives Car In Getaway

GAYLORD, Mich., March 10—(AP)—State police engaged in an hour-long pre-dawn chase on northern Michigan roads today to recapture a fleeing criminal.

Cop killer Alcide (Frenchy) Benoit, life termer who figured in one of Michigan's cruelest crimes 13 years ago, set off the chase.

The 36-year-old convicted murderer fled from a policy convoy carrying out a transfer of prisoners.

Although handcuffed, Benoit stole a police car about 2 a.m. and raced 20 miles along a dark highway before another officers' car overtook him.

He surrendered peaceably. He had been free about an hour.

In the car, police said, were two axes which they reported Benoit had obtained by breaking into a shack in his wild flight.

The convict went to prison for life in 1937 in the sadistic killing of a policeman. The slaying had spurred one of Michigan's greatest manhunts.

On Jan. 19, 1937, Trooper Richard Hammond picked up Benoit on a road near Monroe in southern Michigan for routine questioning. Later Hammond, shackled to a tree, was found shot to death.

Benoit went to prison for life on a first-degree murder conviction.

There is no death penalty in Michigan.

Cardy Guilty Of Violating Currency Law

Charge Funds Involved Total $200,000; Sentenced March 24

MONTREAL, March 10 — (CP)—Vernon Cardy, retired hotel owner, today pleaded guilty to violations of Foreign Exchange Control Board regulations involving a total of $200,000.

The plea of guilty was made through counsel, Raymond Noel, and Judge Gerald Almond delayed sentence until March 24.

The prosecution, represented by John Ahearn, suggested the imposition of a fine of $100,000 plus a jail sentence. The prosecutor said that originally it was thought the amount involved was more than $500,000, but it was later discovered that the amount was actually less than half this because of duplication of amounts mentioned in the four complaints.

Mr. Noel told the court that Cardy violated regulations by using U.S. funds to publicize his hotels through the publicity of his horses in Canada and the U.S.

Famed As Horseman

Cardy, who disposed of his controlling interests in a chain of five Canadian hotels and a summer resort in January, won continent-wide fame as a horseman. He has appeared at many horse shows throughout Canada and the United States.

Cardy's control of the hotels, the Mount Royal, Montreal, the King Edward, Toronto, the Royal Connaught, Hamilton, the General Brock, Niagara Falls, the Prince Edward, Windsor, and the Alpine Inn at St. Marguerite, Que., passed to Sheraton Corporation of America nearly two months ago.

Conacher Fined $200 By NHL

MONTREAL, March 10 (CP)—The National Hockey League today slapped a $200 fine on Charlie Conacher, coach of Chicago Black Hawks, for his attack on Lew Walter, Detroit hockey writer, last February 8.

"The sports writers and radio men have a job to do in covering the activities of the league and its clubs and they are entitled to decent, courteous treatment from all hockey personnel while they are carrying out their duties," said League President Clarence Campbell.

Walter dropped court action against Conacher in Detroit on Thursday. He said he had received a public apology from the big Chicago coach. Walter had claimed in his complaint that Conacher had knocked him down in the Chicago dressing room after Detroit Red Wings had beaten the tail-end Black Hawks in Detroit.

"The charge of assault and battery laid against Conacher in the Detroint courts having been dropped, there no longer is any reason for deferring league disciplinary action," said Campbell.

German Chancellor Protests Saar Pact

BONN, Germany, March 10 — (AP)—Konrad Adenauer, West German chancellor, told a special parliament session today he will protest to the Western Allies against the recent Franco-Saar agreement.

The agreement gave the German - speaking, 700-square-mile Saar almost complete self-government in return for assigning its border area coal wealth to France for 50 years.

Adenauer's government Thursday published a white paper proposing to Western Allied authorities that the Saar be placed under international control similar to that which rules the industrial Ruhr.

The accord between the Saar government and France aroused a storm of protest in West Germany.

Charges 40% On Subway U.S. Workers

TTC Chairman Says Report False, Only 5% From States

TORONTO, March 10—(CP)—Men from the United States employed in building Toronto's new subway system are doing jobs that could be done by Canadians now unemployed, the Ontario legislature was told Thursday by J. S. Dempsey (PC—Renfrew South).

Mr. Dempsey said during Throne-Speech debate that 40 per cent of the men employed on the Toronto Transportation Commission's subway project are from the United States, and he felt Mayor Hiram McCallum should "look into" the situation.

The Americans employed were not all key men but foremen and welders, "and even some electrical workers." He asserted that some were paid as high as $1,000 a month.

(W. C. McBrien, Toronto Transportation Commission chairman said Thursday night in commenting on Mr. Dempsey's statements that only about five per cent of the subway workmen are from the United States. He said they are key men who will return to the U.S. as soon as Canadians can take over their jobs.)

Other speakers in the debate were F. O. Robinson (CCF, Port Arthur), S. L. Hall (PC, Huron), G. T. Gordon (Lib., Branford) and J. B. Salsberg (Lab.-Prog., Toronto St. Andrew).

Mr. Robinson called on the government to implement recommendations of the Ontario Royal Commission on forestry. The Commissioner, Howard Kennedy, in his report tabled in 1947, recommended establishment of integrated logging systems to conserve forest resources.

He suggested that the government set up pilot plants combining functions of a veneer mill, saw mill, pulp mill and other methods of wood processing. Mr. Robinson said that Lands Minister Scott "fiddles while the forests disappear. We have watched this game going on for years and years, and we never seem to get closer to the big move needed to meet the problem."

Have No Voice

Mr. Gordon described the plight of more than 1,000 persons living on the site of a former flying school near Brantford who pay taxes to the city and yet may not take part in municipal elections.

He said "a lot of red tape" was depriving these "municipal D.P.s" of their right to vote. He urged the Ontario government to intervene.

Also he asked for better salaries for guards at provincial reform institutions. A large turnover in personnel of the Burtch Industrial Farm near Brantford could be traced to the fact "no married man with a family can hope to live on what the government is paying." Salary was $12 a month plus a $15 cost-of-living bonus.

Mr. Gordon told the House the recent increase in Hydro rates would not have been necessary and Hydro plants would not be "mushrooming" across the province if the present government had carried out proposals for hydro development when it assumed office in 1943.

Bell Operating On $500,000 Monthly Deficit

OTTAWA, March 10.—(CP)—A dwindling surplus in prosperous times was given Thursday as a reason why Bell Telephone Company of Canada should be permitted to increase its telephone rates.

A host of figures on Bell operations were placed before the Board of Transport Commissioners which will rule on the company's application for telephone rate boosts in Ontario and Quebec averaging 20.6 per cent.

John Cleugh, Bell comptroller, was cross-examined throughout the day. He said the increased phone rates were necessary to maintain Bell in a position where it could borrow money for a large construction program.

Mr. Cleugh, an accountant with Bell for 35 years, said it had been necessary to postpone a new stock issue totalling over $90,000000 until increased rates were allowed. Originally scheduled to be issued in April, 1951, and the same month a year later, the dates now had been changed to July of 1951 and 1952.

$33.00 A Share

Price of the stock would probably be $33.00 a share on a par value of $25.00. Each shareholder would be permitted to buy one share for every five already held.

Mr. Cleuch said Bell is currently operating at a deficit of about $500,000 a month. However, with increased rates it would have a profit of $454,000 this year, $3,628,000 in 1951 and $505,000 in 1952.

Lovell Carroll, Montreal counsel, expressed the opinion that too much of the higher rate burden was being placed on the ordinary calls. He felt the increase should be heavier on long business calls.

In Montreal and Toronto the rate for individual business phones would jump from $7.35 to $12 a month. The increase in initial period charges on long-distance calls would range from five to 15 cents.

Another Lawyer

The battery of lawyers opposing the rate increases was reinforced Thursday by the appearance of W. S. McKay, city solicitor of St. Thomas, who is also representing Guelph and Galt.

A. J. Polson, Hamilton's city solicitor, said he has been asked to also represent Woodstock.

Toronto, Three Rivers, Valleyfield, Ottawa and Quebec are also personally represented at the hearings. The rate boosts will affect most Ontario and Quebec municipalities.

Doctor Pleased

Dr. Richard F. Ford, 35-year-old head of the Harvard Medical School department on legal medicine and the defence's key witness, said:

"I am delighted an American jury will not convict a man on word of mouth, unsupported by thorough investigation, when it's a charge of murder."

Miss Elizabeth Rose, the nurse who saw Dr. Sander make the air injections, said she was "glad it's all over with."

Her testimony was the cornerstone of the State's case. The pretty 24-year-old young woman testified that she heard Mrs. Borroto utter a "loud gasp" as Dr. Sander injected a hypodermic needle into her arm.

The final courtroom scene moved swiftly. The word went around at 4 p.m. the jury was ready to report. They were only given the case at 2.51 p.m.

Attlee Wins

More than 70 M.P.s are in the government administration. Many have offices away from the parliament building. All were present for Thursday's vote, but the independent Times pointed out today:

"The strain of making such efforts to stave off defeat would be intolerable in the long run."

The Throne speech had made no mention of steel nationalization, which was voted by the last Labor-dominated parliament. But Prime Minister Attlee had announced the government's intention of carrying out the steel ownership law. Under the law a government corporation can be set up Oct. 1 to take over the iron and steel industry next Jan. 1.

In the Manchester election Miss Horsbrugh, who based her campaign on Conservative opposition to nationalization, polled 25,347 votes. Her Labor opponent garnered 16,769, and Liberal candidate Eric P. Atkin received only 2,607 ballots.

RECREATION NOMINEE

Dr. H. Scott Dies 25 Years In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, March 10—(ENS)—A practising chiropractor in Campbellford for the past 25 years, Dr. Henry T. Scott, died early today at his home on Front St. He had been in poor health for the past two weeks and had recently gone to Belleville for a medical checkup.

Dr. Scott had just stepped out of his bath when he collapsed and died.

He leaves his wife, the former Flossie Rutherford, and four sisters: Mrs. M. Campbell (Francis), London; Mrs. C. Baker (Caroline) London; Mrs. J. Woolsey (Edith) Kingston, and Mrs. E. Robins, (Annie), Springfield, Mass.

Dr. and Mrs. Scott had no children.

He was born in Havelock but was a chiropractor here for 25 years. During the First World War he served in the United States army.

Prominent In Affairs

Dr. Scott was a prominent Mason being a member of the Golden Rule Lodge, AF and AM, the Ionic Chapter 126 of the Royal Arch Masons, Moore Preceptory Knights Templar, Peterborough, and the Ramesis Shrine, Toronto.

An ardent hunter and fisherman he was looking forward to the opening of the trout season when he would indulge in his favorite hobby. He was also a member of the Campbellford Lawn Bowling Club and a past president of that organization.

He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford.

Fruit Farmer To Guide OFA

ST. CATHARINES, March 10—(CP). — Decisions of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, currently faced with slipping prices and reduced British markets, will be guided by a 34-year-old Louth Township fruit farmer this year.

And Jack C. Brodrick, recently elected head of the provincial farmers' organization, has clear-cut opinions of ways to advance the interests of agriculture.

The government, he says, which put ceiling prices on agricultural produce in wartime, should do something about cuts in the British market and other setbacks.

He said it might be a good idea to reduce tariffs on British goods and refuse to permit into Canada products from the United States in direct competition.

Toronto Painters Library Exhibit

Some thtirty paintings, most of them oils, now hanging in the upstair gallery of the Public Library are a vivid and interesting example of post-war Canadian art. The painters represented are mainly younger Toronto artists. There is a considerable variety of techniques and subject-matter, and a fresh approach in, for instance, James Francis' Guitar, Aba Bayefeky's evocative Displaced Person, and the strong almost caricature Conversation of Florence Vale Franck. Ernest Brangers treats nostalgically but without sentimentalism, rustic Ontario, as in his Buggy.

Others painters in the show are W. J. B. Newcombe, Doris McCarthy, John Bennett and Leonard Brooks.

It is well worth a visit, and should stimulate our local painters.

Limit Political Clubs

KINGSTON, March 10—(CP)—A motion to permit political clubs equal rights with other clubs on Queen's University campus was defeated by a vote of 59 to 54 at the annual open meeting of the Alma Mater Society. It was argued the clubs should be permitted to affiliate with off-campus organizations as religious clubs do.

Recognized By Turkey

TEL AVIV, Israel, March 10—(AP)—Israel has gained full diplomatic recognition from Turkey, a predominantly Moslem country, it was officially announced Thursday night. Turkey did not join the Arab Middle East countries warring against Israel in 1948.

Western Oils Show A Strong Recovery

TORONTO, March 10 (CP). — Western oils were in a strong recovery movement of recent losses as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Mining issues slumped while industrials barely held their ground —volume for the first three hours was 691,000 shares.

Gains ranged up to 20 cents in leading Western oils as the group staggered upwards from the lowest average price level of the year touched Thursday. Pacific Petroleum was ahead 20 cents at $4.50 and Anglo-Canadian, Central Leduc, and Atlantic Oil also brightened.

Base metals sagged for a second successive session. Papers were strong in an otherwise mixed industrial list.

Junior gold producers showed losses ranging up to 10 cents. A few seniors eased fractions.

Tweed Refused Liquor Store

TWEED, March 10—The Liquor Control Board of Ontario does not favor the opening of a liquor store in this village members of council have been advised by the Liquor Board. Notification to this effect was read at this week's meeting of council.

Reeve T. C. Graham and Mr. Burkitt were named a committee to contact F. S. Follwell, M.P., for Hastings South, regarding the matter.

Mr. Woolfrey of the Miss A. M. Rayburn Insurance office and Mr. W. Hurst addressed council with respect to fire insurance on the new municipal building. It was moved that insurance on the building be placed with Mr. Hurst who will act as broker. Commission on premiums will be divided between Mr. Hurst and Miss Rayburn and Mr. Sayers in the proportion to be set by council.

U.S. Keeps Controls

WASHINGTON, March 10—(AP)—The Senate voted 44 to 28 Thursday to keep rent controls in the United States going until June 30. What happens after that will be decided later.

Students To See Nature Films

The Board of Education Thursday night decided to comply with a request from the Peterborough Nature Club and during the 1950-51 winter season will allow lectures and films to be shown school children at the Collegiate.

Instead of a maximum charge of 50 cents a pupil being levied the Board decided to underwrite the cost of the five colored films and lectures, estimated at $225.

Permission was also granted the Nature Club for adult showings in Queen Mary auditorium similar to those during this winter season.

A two-man delegation consisting of Morley Powell and V. R. Henry appeared before the Board to make their proposition and went away "more than pleased" with the offer to meet the full cost.

Audubon Films

Mr. Henry explained that the films and lectures—all on nature subjects—were sponsored jointly by the National Audubon Society of New York and the Audubon Society of Canada. For educational purposes the showings were at less than cost.

Consensus among Board members was that the selling of tickets in the schools was a poor policy and if the subject were of sufficient educational value it should be paid for out of Board funds.

Social Security Dangerous Liberal Declares

OTTAWA, March 10 (CP) — Without creating anything in the way of parliamentary fireworks, a prominent Liberal sounded off against current-day the state 'owes me' a living philosophy, and a few opposition members took pot-shots at Agriculutre Minister Gardiner for the continuing sag in overseas food markets, in the House of Commons debate, on Thursday.

A lengthening list of speakers—they now total 69 in 10 daily sittings—continued to make their contributions to this free-for-all debate, one of the few parliamentary vehicles in which a member can touch on any subject he wishes.

It was Leslie Mutch (L-Winnipeg South), parliamentary assistant to Veterans' Minister Gregg, who belabored social security thinking. He called it a "snare," a "delusion" and a "fraud." He warned that it could destroy the possibility of any real measure of social security for the people of Canada.

John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) rolled up an impressive

Skiing Conditions Reported Only Fair

Skiing conditions vary from only good to fair in the Peterborough district for the weekend. On most hills the snow is expected to be quite icy breaking into corn snow when the sun hits it. Bush skiing is good in most places.

Peterborough Ski Club officials were hesitant to say today whether the tow would be running at Kempt's hill or not over the weekend. The top of the hill is bare. The ski school which has been operated for the past two weekends has been cancelled for this weekend, officials decided today.

Out on the Bethany slopes this weekend the skiing is expected to be fair unless the temperature rises as high as last Sunday.

BOX 95, EXAMINER

$15,000 In Prizes Offered For 1950 Fair

A prize list of about $15,000 was approved for the 1950 Peterborough Exhibition by a meeting of the Board of Directors Thursday night.

This prize money, which was approved on a motion made by Melville Johnston and seconded by Norman McConkey, was about the same amount as for the 1949 exhibition.

A $350 increase in prize money was asked for and granted to sheep and swine committee as a means of encouraging a better showing of sheep this year.

"This is one part of the show we have been a little lax on," exhibition president Hugh Stewart commented. It was said Peterborough has been attracting sheep raisers' second and third string sheep while the top stock was in Ottawa winning more money than could be won at Peterborough.

Mr. McConkey said there were many sheep men in the district who would rather not send their sheep on the long trip to Ottawa if the Peterborough prize money were raised. He said there were some fine flocks around Port Perry which could be attracted to this city's fair.

Almost all the committee chairmen who were present or had communicated with Secretary-Manager George A. Gillespie asked for the same budget as in 1949. With the exception of the horse racing committee, none of the committees spent all their budget money. But they had to allow for all the prize money that was offered to possible competitors.

Clarence Mann, chairman of the dairy cattle committee, said the practice of artificial insemination had come into such wide use that there were no longer the number of bulls competing in the various classes. As a result he proposed to drop the age bull class and make one broad class covering all bulls two years old and up.

The prize money that was saved by cutting down in this way would be applied to the female classes. This move was approved by the board.

Mr. McConkey declared there would have to be more prize money offered to Holstein breeders if the Peterborough Exhibition expected to continue to attract a large number of entries of top grade Holstein cattle.

After considerable discussion, it was agreed the cattle committee had the right to apply about $200 designated for other poorer showing breeds to the Holstein prize list.

President Stewart said that the directors must try to manage their budget and did not want to see any great increase in the prize money offered until the Exhibition was making more money.

A new class of market steers was added to the beef cattle division with added prize money of $35.

Clare Collins, chairman of the advertising committee proposed a plan whereby all children attending public and separate schools in Peterborough county and parts of surrounding counties would be given a free ticket to attend the exhibition on the first day. No action was taken on this proposal immediately, although it seemed to meet with the approval of many of the directors.

FRANCIS DECARROLL, son of Mr. and Mrs. F G. DeCarroll of Campbellford, was awarded $200 scholarship to the Toronto Conservatory of Music, for his performances at the Toronto Kiwanis Festival. He is now in his last year at Victoria College, Toronto University, where he is taking an art course.

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y., March 10—(AP)—The 32nd victim of the Rockville Centre, N.Y., train wreck of Feb. 17 died Thursday night in hospital. He was Theodore Chapin, 46, an electrical engineer. The wreck resulted from the head-on collision of the two Long Island railroad trains.

Fathers Model Hats And Gowns

CAMPBELLFORD, March 10—(ENS)—The Home and School held fathers' night at a meeting Wednesday in the high school auditorium.

Mrs. Wm. Tatham was in the chair in the absence, owing to illness, of the president, Mrs. A. C. Newman. Mrs. Ed Roberts was in charge of the entertainment. As each guest arrived, a ticket was drawn dividing the guests into four groups, the Gnomes, Fairies, Elves and Goblins.

The men modeled hats and old evening gowns, much to the delight of the audience. A questionnaire also added to the entertainment, a few from each group taking part.

The competition was won by the Fairies, in charge of Mrs. Jack Clarke. Mrs. Ruth Thompson, Mrs. Wm. Tatham and Mrs. Jack Cowell were leaders of the other groups. Judges were Revs. Dr. D. M. Smith and Staples and Mrs. A. E. Toombs.

Members of each group composed a song, and sang it to the tune of some popular ballad. The guests enjoyed a square dance at the close of the meeting.

Miss B. Redner's class won the attendance prize again. The dollar prize each month is used to purchase supplementary books for the children.

Mrs. Sid Hopping was lunch convener. Sidney Hopping moved a vote of thanks on behalf of the club, to all those who were responsible for the fine evening.

During the business part of the meeting it was decided to send a delegate to the OEA convention to be held in Toronto during the Easter holidays. The club made a donation of $10 to the Red Cross campaign.

Mrs. Jack Cowell reported the completion of the course in discipline. Mrs. Johnstone, MA, of Toronto, who has bee ninstructing the members in this course, will return in the spring for another series of lectures on the preschool child.

Plans for holding a sewing class have been completed and this is now under way. Mrs. Ken Robins is directing the class.

Israel Shamming

STOCKHOLM, March 10 — (AP)—The Swedish State prosecutor Thursday accused Israel of being unwilling to trace and punish the killers of Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator who was assassinated in Jerusalem in September, 1948. In a report to the King, prosecutor Maths Heuman also charged that Israel submitted misleading information to the U.N. and the Swedish government concerning the Bernadotte case.

Placed On Probation

CHICAGO, March 10—(AP)—The parents of a baby girl found dead of malnutrition last April 14 were placed on probation for five years by a Judge Thursday after they pleaded guilty to manslaughter. Martin King, 44, and his wife, Eileen, 36, were arrested after their daughter, three-months-old Kathleen, was found dead in a filthy, unkempt apartment.

Ontario Comes Through On The Highway

The most unimpeachable of all authorities, a "usually reliable source", tells us that the Ontario Government has decided where it will allow the Trans-Canada route to trespass across Ontario. This is good news, for Ontario was one of the provinces which had not informed Ottawa of its route preference, and until all the provinces decide where they want the road to be, work on it will be stalled. Not only has the Ontario Government made its choice; it has made alternative choices from which Ottawa may pick and choose (so the Usually Reliable Source states). That is a commendably co-operative attitude which we hope will be followed by other provinces, so that there will be no delaying squabbles.

• • •

Our Source fails to tell where the route will lie in Ontario. That will wait official announcement. A Peterborough question: will it pass through this city, on its way to Ottawa? The suggestion was toyed with by the Ontario Minister of Highways several months ago. It is possible, but not probable.

The Man Who Changed The Met

The retirement of Edward Johnson as manager of the Metropolitan Opera in New York was marked by a wonderful party in which everyone connected with the great theatre had a part. Mr. Johnson, at 71, has finally decided to retire and we, as Canadians, take pride in all that he has done.

What he has done makes a remarkable story. He was a great tenor, and for several years he sang many of the principal tenor roles in the greatest opera houses in the world. And when he became the manager of the Metropolitan he brought to his job not only a good head for business and a fine artistic conscience, but also a determination to alter the estimation which opera holds in the minds of people on this continent. He has done so with distinguished success.

Opera, as a foreign import, was for many years regarded as a social affair, of interest to people moving in wealthy circles who could afford boxes and the best seats for an opera season. At the Metropolitan there have always been humble music-lovers who occupied the cheaper seats, but for most people outside New York opera meant "society".

Opera in Europe has for decades been free from this nonsense. It is a popular entertainment, and although socially prominent people attend it (for socially prominent people are just as likely to enjoy good music as socially obscure people) it was not their concern exclusively. Edward Johnson wanted to lessen the social influence at the Metropolitan and make it a predominately musical organization.

With the greatest skill and tact, he has done so, and he has made use of the radio in a highy imaginative way. The listening public of the Metropolitan is now numbered in the millions; the seeing public must still be reckoned in thousands. It is not correct to say that Mr. Johnson made opera democratic, for it has always been so. It is correct, however, to say that he has made it democratic in North America. The music is now the thing.

Wanted: A Woolsack

We view with dismay the news photograph of the opening of Parliament the other week. In the middle of it below the throne dais are nine black-suited, somewhat elderly gentlemen sitting on nine straight-backed chairs, three by three. These gentlemen are the Justices of the Supreme Court of Canada. We respectfully suggest that these gentlemen have no business to be sitting three by three in straight-backed chairs. They ought to be where they have always been when the Speech from the Throne is being read: on the Woolsack.

What has happened, of course, is that the Supreme Court has been enlarged and the Woolsack has not. This circular hassock stuffed with wool and covered in crimson was a close squeeze for the former seven Justices sitting back to back or shoulder to shoulder. But now that there are nine, the excuse should not be taken to do away with the Woolsack—uncomfortably lumpy as it may be. A new one should be made; it should have been made before the opening on Thursday.

There is a regrettable tendency in Canada to minimize ceremony and discard custom; there are probably benighted people in this country who would abolish even the Woolsack. Let them consider its place in the history of law, its link with the Mother of Parliaments and with Tudor times. (It was first used to give ceremonious recognition to the importance of the wool trade and to support it officially during a slump.) The Woolsack for our Supreme Court Justices is more important this year than ever, for now the Supreme Court is the highest decisive authority in the land. When the Justices have become really supreme are they to be relegated to straight-backed chairs like clerks?

And while they are on the Woolsack, why should they not wear their robes and ermine? They have exalted positions: let them wear the garments of exaltation.

Public Good And Private Taste

The property committee of the Toronto City Council proposes to set up a panel of architects who will pass on the external design of all new houses, and all major alterations to houses, in the city's South Rosedale district. This is being done at the request of the South Rosedale Ratepayers Association. It has been suggested in some quarters that such action is dictatorial and arbitrary.

This complain is true. But it must also be recognized that the action of a man who builds a monstrosity, or throws up a shack in South Rosedale is equally dictatorial and arbitrary. It is easy to say that a man may build what he likes on his own property, but can this be interpreted as a license for a man to build something which will offend the taste of his neighbours, or which may decrease the value of their property? We already have local laws in most cities controlling the building of places of business in residential sections. A law to control the appearance of what is built does not go much farther. If we can legislate for safety and for suitability, may we not also legislate for taste?

The answer, of course, must depend upon the application of the law. If the board of architects who decide such matters are fuddy-duddies who will not pass anything except traditional buildings, there is reason for complaint. If, on the other hand, the architects confine themselves to regulating styles of building with judicious liberality, and get tough only when somebody wants to build a Tudor cottage with a Gothic tower, a Moorish dome and a California barbecue pit, we are on their side. There seems to be no good reason why a neighbourhood should have to endure eyesores or houses of an obviously cheap and undesirable type.

Rewarding Library Exhibits

The Peterborough Public Library is not the same old place it used to be. It has opened out, physically and metaphorically, apart entirely from changes in the book stacks and reading-rooms. There are sessions of recorded music, film showings, travelling exhibits and a dozen and one things to see and do. If it is less a bibliophile's haunt (though we do not think it has suffered in that regard) it is more of a community centre.

Examples of what we mean are two shows which have been hanging in the upstair rooms. One is the annual exhibit of the Peterborough Camera Club—the best show it has had we think. It is selective, well varied, and individual photographs have outstanding merit. The other exhibit is of post-war Canadian paintings, most of them oils. A colourful, stimulating and pleasing show, despite the lack of famous older Canadian names to the paintings. Such travelling shows are appreciatively received, and we can be thankful to the Library Board, Mr. Graff and his staff for bringing them to the city.

Both exhibits will be hanging only a few days longer.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A psychology quiz says, "What would you do if you woke up and saw a burglar going through your trousers' pockets". We'd laugh at him.

An F.B.I. man, passing as a Communist, has been deceived by another U.S. government agent who was doing the same. This is the kind of thing which keeps the spy business from slumping into a dull routine.

In Austria a man has given six weeks' suspended sentence because he kissed a girl so passionately that she lost consciousness. There is a fortune for that fellow if he will give up practice and take up teaching.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: (1) Would you please tell me why Bewdley is called "Police village of Bewdley"? Is it inhabited only by policemen and their families, or is it an effort to intimidate the motorist into keeping within the 30 mile per hour speed limit?

(2) What is the purpose of the monument set at the edge of a grove of evergreens on the east side of the highway near Bewdley? Is it a one-man cemetery or just another mystery surrounding the police village?

ANSWERS: (1) Bewdley has not even one policeman, except for a couple of months in the summer when a villager does part-time police duty. Nor is it an effort to intimidate speeding motorists (such as you seem to be, since you do not know what the inscription on the monument outside the village reads—tut! tut!) The adjective "police" in front of "village" is a recognized term to indicate a hamlet too large to have no identity, too small to exist as a corporation with its own village council, and yet maintaining a glimmer of municipal services—such as a few street lights and perhaps a sidewalk or two. A police village's affairs are looked after by an appointed small commission—as well as by the township council in which the village is situated. The commissioners may appoint a policeman if they wish or feel it necessary. Warkworth in Percy township, is a Police Village; Keene in Otonabee is not. There is talk of making Chemong Park a police village. Bewdley is, by the way, not in Peterborough county. It is in the township of South Monaghan in Northumberland county—on the line of Durham.

(2) The monument in the evergreen thicket is in memory of the man who penned the well-known hymn "What A Friend We Have In Jesus", Joseph Scriven, B.A., Dublin. I wrote about him in this column on August 6th, 1948. He came out to this country as tutor to the Pengelley family—whose home is still in that Rice Lake area. The hymn was written in Port Hope in 1857, where a similar stone (near the Town Hall) may be seen. He is not buried under the highway stone, but nearer Rice Lake in the Pengelley cemetery.

SIR: How do you pronounce the "kiln", the furnace or even used to bake pottery? I have heard some people call it 'kill'.

ANSWER: Either as spelt (with the 'n'), or as 'kil'. Professional potters seem to favour 'kil'.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR ALPHA: Now that Newfoundland is a province of Canada, wouldn't it be a good idea for us to smarten up, and adopt some of their ways of making the place attractive to tourists? I'm thinking of the names they give some of the coves—for instance, Heart's Desire and Horse Chops. Such names attract tourists as being quaint. Now, if Peterborough and the Kawartha's used such names, we would have the American's completely titillated.

ANSWER: Newfoundland has some wonderful place names, as it has folk songs, but they are not invented for the tourist trade. They are the indigenous (almost autochthonous) thing. For instance: Joe Bott's Arms, and the railway stop, Come By Chance. One of the more delightful is Seldom Come By—which is a fishing hamlet. You mention Heart's Desire. There are others of the same ilk—Heart's Delight, Heart's Content, and the captivating LITTLE Heart's Ease.

Tourists see through falsies quickly. The advantage Newfoundland has in its place-names is that they are honest, the ones I have mentioned dating from the great fishing days of another century—and stemming from the plain Anglo-Saxon tongue.

Peterborough could mend its way names slightly. For instance, Charlotte Street could revert to its original popular name of Hell Street (from the blackguards and saloons which dotted it eighty years ago). We could put more stress on Indian names such as Omemee (which I have heard an American tourist call Awe-meh-meh). But a tourist advantage which Newfoundland used to have over Ontario was the cheap price, and good quality of its rum. Dollars speak louder than words, particularly in hootch business. If Ontario reduced the price of its rum to, say, $1.00 a bottle (which it could, if it did not want a big profit) tourists would flock here.

N.B.: Despite its attractive place-names and rum, few tourists go to Newfoundland.

◇ ◇ ◇

ALPHA: Does the Ontario Hydro have to pay any taxes or rent for the land it occupies?

ANSWER: The Hydro, as a Crown corporation, pays no taxes. The city Utilities Commission pays ground taxes and rents on property its buildings occupy, but not on the buildings, poles, wires and the like. When Hydro puts power lines over farm land, it pays the farmer for the right, and the right of trespass to put up and maintain lines. Usually this is a small lump sum.

SIR: What precisely are the regulations governing the 1 cent rate for letters?

ANSWER: One-cent letters come under regulations governing "Third Class Matter". They are, officially, "circulars" and may pass between places in the Dominion of Canada or outside of Canada, for one cent for each two ounces. A circular is defined as: "communications in print, or produced by a multiplying process easy to recognize, but not direct from a typewriting machine, which are issued in identical terms to several individuals. A circular may, without becoming liable to a higher rate of postage, have a written date and signature, and may have the name of the addressee repeated in writing inside. Reproductions or imitations of hand or typewritten matter, in order to be accepted as circulars, must be handed in at the post office wicket, in a number not less than twenty identical copies, separately addressed. Failure to comply with either of these conditions will subject the article to letter rate of postage".

Christmas cards in envelopes come under this regulation. On them nothing may be written at all, except date and signature. There is no rule allowing as many as five words to be hand-written as a personal message. The regulation is that at least 20 "circulars" have to be presented at one time, as a packet. This is not insisted on by the Post Office for Christmas card mail.

◇ ◇ ◇

FOR THE RECORD: The dog-days of winter (if you will permit such a contradictory expression) are upon us, and the heaviness of the times seems to cause a general inertia, even in news. An example is the dullness in parliaments: most legislatures across the country are now in session. Do you realize that both the Ontario Legislature and the Dominion Parliament are sitting? The quiet in Toronto and Ottawa shrieks of winter lassitude.

History Of St. Peter's School

By SISTER M. CLOTILDE

WHILE the first Separate School of St. Peter's Parish, for boys only, was erected in 1867 on Murray Street, one must mention the fact that the first Catholic Separate School was organized in Peterborough in 1851. According to Dr. Poole, "rooms were rented in a building on the corner of Aylmer and Simcoe Street." The salary of the teacher therein was, according to F. H. Dobbin's History, £14 per annum. Tradition relates that an old building on the northeast corner of Hunter and Sheridan Streets was also used for Separate School premises.

In 1854 a roughcast storey-and-a-half building with two rooms, one for the boy and one for the girls, was erected on the lot directly opposite St. Peter's Cathedral. This building was destroyed by fire on November 14th 1864.

A new school, for boys only, was built on the north side of Murray Street about where the Armouries now stand in 1867. All the land between Murray and McDonnel Streets, and east to George Street, formed the school grounds. This was a beautiful park of magnificent pines.

The school was a two-storey, plain, red-brick building standing about fifty feet back from the street. There were two rooms at first, one upstairs and one downstairs, but in 1878 a two-storey white brick addition was made to the front of the old building, bringing it much nearer to the street line, and giving it two storeys with two rooms apiece. The first floor room of the old portion was used as an apartment for the caretaker and his family. There were in all four class-rooms for junior pupils, and a well furnished, splendidly-equipped library and reading room for a Literary Society which was then formed. There are some who recall with pleasure the social evenings of a literary nature which exercised so cultural an influence on the community.

In May 1905, the Murray St. School property, about three acres, was sold for $30,000 and one acre, north of the Bishop's House and Cathedral Rectory was purchased from Nicholls' Estate. A new school, St. Peter's School, was erected on this site. It was completed, opened and blessed April 23, 1906. The total cost was $28,940.

Increasing numbers necessitated the addition of annexes in the years 1936, 1947, 1948 to relieve congestion. Two hundred junior pupils were thus accommodated.

St. Peter's Catholic High School was opened on Sept. 2, 1913 with an enrolment of 59 pupils in Grade IX. Each year an additional grade was added until Middle School work was begun. In 1921 the work of Upper School was added. The enrolment of the High School in September 1949 was 255.

A Commercial class was formed and continued for some years until lack of accommodation compelled its discontinuance. The late Sister St. George taught this class and introduced, in addition to the usual Commercial Subjects, that of Telegraphy. The Commercial department was from the first eminently successful.

THESE facts concern the material, but bricks and mortar do not make a school. It is impossible in limited space to pay tribute to the many people clerical, religious and lay, who have helped make St. Peter's School what it is today, but tribute must be paid to two Sisters of St. Joseph, Principals of this school for many years.

Sister M. Patricia, retired since 1948 and now residing at Mount St. Joseph, is responsible for pioneer work at St. Peter's High School. An outstanding teacher of English, she is at present engaged in literary work and hopes to publish this year an interesting little volume, based on careful research, dealing with "Canadian Writers of the Kawartha District."

Sister Lucretia, the present principal, is well known for the efficiency of her teaching, and beloved for the wisdom of her guidance and direction. If you visit the fine red-brick building on Reid Street you will receive a gracious welcome to her office, the walls of which are hung with pictures of St. Peter's boys and girls, graduates of many universities and schools of advanced religious or secular studies. These are only a few of St Peter's graduates. Many whose pictures are not there have distinguished themselves in the business or domestic world.

Many successful men and women of today, in Peterborough and across Canada, attribute that success to the fine discipline, the moral and intellectual training which characterized the work carried on under the administration of these capable and cultured women, and their able assistants.

Editor's Note: Arrangements have been made to publish some portions of Sister Patrica's study of the writers of the Kawartha District in The Examiner later this year.

Unconsidered Trifles

Norah, aged five, had been told to watch a silk dress airing in front of the fire while her mother was upstairs.

"Mummy, shall I turn the dress now? It's lovely and brown on one side."

◇ ◇ ◇

In a certain home, a foreign visitor had just enjoyed a typical holiday season, including the after-Christmas croquettes.

When these relics of departed holiday glory were served, the guest, whose knowledge of our language is decidedly imperfect, inquired in all innocence: "And what part of the turkey are croquettes?"

"That," replied the master of the house, with what humour he could muster, "is the part of the turkey which goes onto the table last!"

Back in the days when outlaws were ravaging the country, they terrorized conductors into letting them ride free on the trains. One day the leader of the gang boarded a coach, pulled out his gun, and to the frightened ticket-taker proclaimed: "There's my fare!"

"O.K.," the conductor meekly replied.

But he slipped up to the baggage car and provided himself with a sawed-off shotgun. In a little while he was back at the side of the recalcitrant passenger. Poking the business end of the weapon into the ribs of the bad man, he gently announced: "All right, I'm ready to punch your ticket now."

The outlaw paid.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God.

All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made.

In him was life; and the life was the light of men. (John 1: 1-4.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And he spake this parable unto them, saying, What man of you, having an hundred sheep, if he lose one of them, doth not leave the ninety and nine in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost, until he find it? And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders, rejoicing. And when he cometh home, he calleth together his friends and neighbours, saying unto them, Rejoice with me; for I have found my sheep which was lost.

I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons, which need no repentance. (Luke 15: 3-7.)

Letters To The Editor

CHURCHILL A GREAT LEADER

Sir: I should like, with your permission, to analyze a few points raised by "Argus" in reply to Mr. Gilbert's letter on Mr. Churchill.

Argus refers to Churchill as "a worn-out glove, cast aside after guiding the ship of state". Surely unlike Mr. Churchill he has got his metaphors mixed more than somewhat.

As for Winnie's colourful phrases causing Britain's dollar illness, I should think they are much more potent medicine than some of the vituperation indulged in by his socialist countemporaries. Furthermore, perhaps Argus does not realize that until Mr. Churchill's party are once more returned to power he cannot become Prime Minister, and must therefore, for the time being, content himself with being leader of the Tories.

Argus also omits to state (or more than likely, chooses to forget) that although thirteen millions of voters are convinced that Churchill's policy would be a fight against the working class, another thirteen million workers are convinced that he can lead them back to freedom. I repeat that it is the genuine working people who admire and respect Churchill's policy, not the swollen ranks of coal board officials, railway executives, and the ranks of underworked bureaucracy created under socialism.

Churchill does not claim that his memoirs will go down to posterity as an objective history of the war. They are, as their title implies, his personal memoirs, and as such, must of necessity be autobiographical.

Finally, the fact that Churchill's party have stated that they will, when returned to power, retain certain of the social services, and the problematical reception similar legislation would have by Canadians, has no leaning whatsoever on Mr. Churchill's ability as a statesman and a gentleman (a combination of qualities which is rare nowadays).

No. Argus, your whole case is very poorly stated, and on re-reading your letter I fail to find any reason for renouncing the admiration for Winston Churchill, not as a "has-been", but as a man who was, is, and will continue to be, the greatest leader and statesman of our time.

As a parting thought—are ground—not harvesters included among the "working people" of Britain?

JACK GILCHRIST.

Appreciation Of Bishop Fuller

Wilfrid Eastland Fuller was one who "wrestled valiantly with Time." In his sixteenth year he enlisted for active service in the World War. Returning from overseas he worked hard to overcome the interruption in his schooling, playing a church organ and serving as a layreader to gain experience. On the festival of St. Matthias, 1925, he was ordained by Bishop Richardson. While yet in his thirties, having served on synod boards, he was made a Canon; and he was a director of C.B.C. During the Second World War, and in the years following, he was a naval chaplain. He lived strenuously, read incessantly, and made friends everywhere.

In 1942, while rector of St. Matthias, Halifax, he was appointed Dean of Saskatoon and elected to the General Synod. Then on St. Luke's Day last he was installed as Bishop and on the 25th anniversary of his ordination was buried from his Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist.

He was always interested, and always interesting. The talents entrusted to him were multiplied. Like a meteor he "consumed himself to the light of the world." The sky is darker because of his passing but we are the better because he lived.

Sterling Balance In News Again That 10 Billion Important Issue

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

There's that $10,000,000,000 in the news again.

And why shouldn't so much money be in the news? Well, chiefly because it is called "sterling balances," and that sounds a mouthful to talk about.

It's worth talking about, because Canadian farmers, lumbermen, factory workers, and just about all of us, are not going to feel too secure until something is done about it.

"Sterling balances" are a shadow over British finance, industry and recovery, and her ability to buy from us.

It is what we used to call a war debt. Britain incurred it for war supplies from India, Pakistan, Egypt and a few other countries.

Those countries either couldn't or just didn't accept the idea that war debts were out of date, that a common effort was a common effort, to be taken care of by such things as lend-lease in the case of the United States and mutual aid in the case of Canada, with no post-war headaches of who owed whom.

String Attached

So Britain bought from them and paid them; but paid them pounds sterling that had a string attached. The string was that the money couldn't be used until Britain was in a position to honor it.

Now these countries would very much like to have the $10,000,000,000; or, more properly, the £3,200,000,000. And Britain has been paying some of it.

She pays by exporting goods to these countries and letting them pay for the goods out of the "sterling balances." This does apy off part of Britain's debt, if it is a debt, but it also is a drain on her production for which she gets no present-day money, no rupees, nor pounds, nor dollars with which to buy from us.

For a while no one paid much attention to this—it was just another British worry.

Should Share Burden

However, a couple of years ago a committee of the United States House of Representatives rather brutally said that the countries to whom the balances were owed, and the Western European countries which Britain had helped liberate, should share some part of the burden.

Some American opinion declared that Britain was in effect using Marshall aid to pay off the debt, that in effect it was coming out of United States pockets.

Once in a while Canadian spokesmen tossed in their comment. The latest Canadian development is a resolution, announced Thursday, which will go before the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

This, if adopted, will urge that there be some sort of settlement of the "sterling balances" and that, if necessary, Canada should consider joining with other wartime Allies in assuming responsibility for a part of the indebtedness.

Very likely when every one gets around a table, concessions will be made from all interested parties.

Save Sinking Ship

PORT COLBORNE, March 10 (CP) — Firemen Thursday night gained control of a leak which threatened to sink the grain carrier Bayton at its moorings. A fire department pumper raised the vessel 18 inches by midnight and a three-inch pump, expected to hold the Bayton above water overnight, was later installed. A seacock opened by the pressur. f ice was blamed for the incident.

Farmer Morale In Canada Said Very High

OTTAWA, March 10—(CP)—William J. Major (L—Glengarry) said Thursday in the Commons that both farmers and consumers suffer if the prices of food products are "depressed beyond reason."

Making his maiden speech during continued debate on the Speech from the Throne, the Green Valley farmer said that what happened when Britain failed to renew an egg contract was a good example of what he had in mind.

When the contract was not renewed, egg prices were forced down to a price that did not cover the cost of production. Farmers immediately began selling off their flocks, even at a loss. There were indications that if the trend had continued eggs would have become a scarce commodity.

The move to dispose of poultry flocks was stopped after the government announced a support price for eggs.

As a result of government plans to place support prices under agriculture products, he believed that the morale of farmers was never higher than at present.

Cry Loch Sloy In Scotland After 200 Years

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 10—For the first time in more than 200 years the rallying cry, "Loch: Sloy" can be heard on the bonnie banks of Loch Lomond.

Once the war call of the mighty MacFarlane clan, the words Loch Sloy today have become a slogan of hope for the return of prosperity to the Scotti Highlands victim of a two-century depression and well-nigh deserted.

Loch Sloy—a mountain lake 800 feet above sea level and about two miles northwest of Loch Lomond—is the site of the largest hydro-electric development in the United Kingdom. It is the first of 29 such Highland projects to be completed. After centuries of oil lamps, coal and peat heat, Highland homes are now beginning to enjoy the luxury of electricity, notes the National Geographic Society.

As soon as plentiful and cheap electrical power has been assured, Scotland hopes to repopulate the region by introducing light consumer-goods industries and converting the hunting and timber lands into productive farm and cattle areas.

Rangers Trip Wings 3-1 As Leafs, Canadiens Tied

By HARRY ECCLES
Canadian Press tSaff Writer.

New York Rangers just can't be stopped in the National Hockey League's closing drive.

Rangers won their third straight by defeating Detroit Red Wings 3-1 Thursday night, consolidating New York's hold on third place.

Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs deadlocked 1-1 at Montreal, and the two results portend a terrific struggle for the vantage points in the playoffs.

When the league schedule ends March 26 the top four teams go into the Stanley Cup semi-finals, and the system calls for the first and third teams to battle in one bracket, while the second and fourth teams collide in the other. Right now no one could predict the cup line-up.

Detroit leads with 76 points, virtually certain of first place. Toronto is second with 67, New York third with 65, and Montreal fourth with 63. Montreal has nine games left, the others eight. Boston with 53 points and Chicago with 46 may be left out of cup considerations.

Have Chance at Second

League fans are figuring that Rangers actually have a chance of driving into second place, the most coveted spot since the second-place team will not have to face Detroit in the semi-finals.

Rangers were ahead all the way at Madison Square Gardens on Thursday night and they outshot the Wings 31-20. The pressure may have been a factor in two penalties given Detroit's goalie Harry Lumley in the wild third period. He drew minors for holding Alex Kaleta during a Ranger flurry, and for interference later.

Fred Shero scored for Rangers in the first frame and Ted Lindsay tied it up in the second. Ed Slowinski and Nick Mickoski scored the other Ranger goals in the third frame, when a fight broke out between Lindsay and Defenceman Gus Kyle of Rangers. Lindsay and Kyle were each given major penalties.

Gain Tie

At Montreal Forum a crowd of 14,003 saw Canadiens come from behind to gain the tie with Leafs. Bill Ezinicki scored for Toronto in the second period. Canadiens drew level on Billy Reay's goal at the 17-minute mark of the third.

All the penalties, 11, came in the first two periods, with eight of them to Leafs. Leafs' Juzda and Canadiens' Bouchard, sent off for roughing, resumed their tussle in the penalty box and Richard threatened to take a hand, but the incipient riot was quelled when Juzda and Bouchard were ordered to the dressing rooms for the rest of the first period.

Before a good gallery of fans the Peterborough Normal School boys' cage squad walloped St. Peter's High quintet 74-20 in an exhibition tilt Wednesday in the YMCA gym. Oshawa Bees play the local Oddfellows at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena, second of their best-of-five OHA junior "B" group finals. Oshawa won 5-4 in a furious fray in the Motor City on Wednesday, but Bun Kingdon's crew should tie up the series here this p.m. In fact, they'll have to or they're on the brink of oblivion for this semester. It'll be a redhot junior battle all the way between two strong young squads of hustlers, and it deserves a big crowd. You won't see any more action anywhere than in junior hockey playoffs. And that's for sure.

Marlboros And IOOF

Next night—which is Saturday, of course—there'll be an OMHA juvenile "A" playoff at 8.30 in the arena here. Between Toronto Marlboros and Art Heal's big IOOF team. They're meeting in Weston tonight, the first of a goals-to-count series, winding up in Peterborough on the morrow. After rubbing out Oshawa and Belleville, the smart Triple Links face a stern task in the Leaf-sponsored Marlies as they hit into provincial quarter-final playoffs. Yeah, it'll be another grand game with elimination the lot of the losers, so don't pass this one up, hockey fans.

Legionnaires are off to Kingston this aft at 3.45, hitting the Limestone City around 7.45—after eating in Belleville—for the next playoff number. Fifth of their best-of-seven OHA senior "B" group finals. Each team has won two, and this one is highly important. If Nylons win, then Legion will have to do it the hard way, winning here Monday and again in the deciding game in Kingston next Wednesday. But if Legion can yank out the verdict tonight, they're sitting pretty—having to win but one of the next two. They could take the group crown right here on Monday. A pretty hefty "if", of course, but we think they can do it. And another whopping crowd will be on deck at the arena Monday night.

PMHA Playoff Setup

No bantam PMHA game tonight, Al Watkins advises, and here's the rest of the playoff schedule: Monday—Trojans Nos. 1 and 2 bantams at 5.30; Wednesday—Optimists and SPS bantams, followed by Trojans vs. Southend midgets; Friday—Marines vs. SPS midgets; Saturday—Bantam winners at five, followed by Trojans vs. Clapper juves at six. On Mar. 20—Midget winners at 5.30, followed by IOOF vs. St. Pete's juves; Mar. 22—Bantam winners again at 5.30, with the juvenile winners following; Mar. 24—Midget winners at 5.30, followed by the juvenile winners at 6.30, to wind it all up. You see, semi-finals are sudden-deathers, whilst finals are two-game series, goals to count. First games are at 5.30 except on Saturday when they start half an hour earlier. Clip out this list, if you're interested.

When you put two villains in the main pro mat match here, you can't tell what'll happen. We thought Doc Len Hall might prove more popular with the fans than Nanjo Singh, but it turned out last eve at the Brock that the Hindu wrestled cleanly, for a change. And the Doc didn't. Cold weather got the Indian down with the flu lately, and maybe that's why he wasn't up to his usual wicked mat style. But the paunchy California pharmacist escaped this ailment and was in top villainous form. They'll cross you up every time. Two clean matmen met in the semi-final, with Pat Flanagan getting the nod over Juan Hernandez in a good go, while Steve Stanlee and Vern Baxter drew in the prelim. Doc Hall hasn't lost a bout here this year.

CURLING NOTES

There are eight local and four visiting rinks competing today in the final day's play for the Empress Hotel Trophy.

In yesterday's games, R. Robey of Hamilton, P. Canning, Oshawa, and F. Stenson of Peterborough, were the winners and it is the first day that the visiting clubs have had the majority of winners.

Owing to sickness, a couple of rinks withdrew from yesterday's contest. However, the 10 remaining rinks played their three 10-end games.

We overheard this yesterday as one of the visiting rinks came off the ice. The lady vice said to her skip: "You know, Bell, on that last end we had four shots, one biting on the 121 ring and three chewing at it."

A few more rinks needed for the men's 'spiel of tomorrow.

Kirkland Lake Rink Wins Curling Crown

VANCOUVER, March 10 (CP)—Four Kirkland Lake hard-rock miners emerged today with the Canadian curling championship, a pot of gold that has eluded northern Ontario throughout the 23-year history of the classic. But the runner-up spot still was in the air, a toss-up between Ontario and Manitoba.

The scramble for No. 2 position in the 10-rink four-day competition, at one time involving four clubs, was cut to two early this morning when Kitchener rink defeated Alberta's entry 7-5. The Winnipeg Elmwood rink of Bill McTavish, which received a bye into the play-off, takes on the easterners to decide the issue at 12 noon EST.

There was no denying Tom Ramsay's march to the title. The quartet needed only eight rounds of the nine-round competition to pile up its championship-winning score, manufactured by seven straight victories following an initial round 13-12 defeat to Cliff Manahan's Edmonton rink.

Turns Trick

The ninth round, played on Thursday night, was anti-climax but the northerners battled pint-hungry Manitoba to the wire before losing 8-7. It was a five-point last-half drive that turned the trick for the Winnipeggers.

The victory gave the McTavish rink a 6-3 won-lost record, equalled by Ontario which walloped New Brunswick 20-4 and Alberta which battled to an 11-10 verdict over Nova Scotia. It was in Quebec's grasp to keep pace with the second placers but Herbie Simons' surprisingly-strong rink fluffed it with an indifferent display, conceding the game to Saskatchewan in the 11th end with the score 16-2.

Make Decision

After the cheering, trophy-giving and picture-taking was over before a crowd of more than 3,500 Ontario and Alberta got down to the business of deciding which rink would take on Manitoba. In view of the hour — it was well past midnight—it wes agreed to play only eight ends each conceding alternative singles for the first four.

Here's how the game went:

Alberta	101 000 120 000—5
Ontario	010 100 001 121—7

Whatever the result of today's game, the huzzahs belong to skip Ramsay vice-skip Len Williamson second Bill Weston and lead bill Kenny. They sliced western Canada's string of titles at seven straight and the victory probably will give the game a big fillip in Ontario's north.

'Y' Volleyballers Go

The Peterborough YMCA volleyball team travels to Toronto Saturday for the second round-robin series with Toronto Central YMCA and Toronto YMHA for the Eastern Ontario championship. The winner of the series will advance into the Ontario finals against the Kitchener-Toronto victors.

Central YMCA defeated the locals here two straight as they appeared in the first round-robbin series with a fast group of Estonian volleyball players. In the games here with Toronto YMHA the locals broke even but were awarded the points for both games because the Torontonians violated the player rule. They were short several players for the games.

Instead of playing two round-robin series in Toronto, the Peterborough team will be playing four-point games Saturday. To take the series the locals will have to pull out with two wins.

Cliff Gadd, ace spiker for the YMCA crew, will be in the lineup for these important games. Others playing Saturday are Nels Stanger, Howard David, Ken Kingston, Don McTavish, Erroll Hanbidge, Stan Payne and Steve Csumrik.

In the last 16 years of Ontario championship play the Kitchener team has taken the honors 14 times while Peterborough have been champions twice.

Pharmacist Flattens Hindu In Top Bout of Mat Card

Two "good guys" met in the semi-final of the pro mat card last night at the Brock, and two "villains" met in the final—so the fans didn't know what to do. They finally sat on their hands, as the saying is, and didn't do too much applauding for anyone. Nanjo Singh crossed them all up in the main go by acting like a nice chap, while Doc Len Hall was his usual villainous self, and his ultimate victory was generally unpopular. Pat Flanagan won the semi-final over Juan Hernandez, while the prelim between Steve Stanlee and Vern Baxter went to a draw.

Hall weighed 20 while Singh scaled 232, following a bout with the 'flu, and he wasn't his usual peppy and rough self at all. The Doc had some supporters at first but not too many later as he played it rough and dirty from the start. He won the first fall in 12 minutes when Nanjo had to concede after a punishing leglock, Hall using the ropes for leverage, as well as kicking and pulling other illegal tactics, despite warnings from Referee Ernie Powers. Nanjo played it clean enough but didn't have too much chance the way the chesty California pharmacist went after him. The latter even pulled choke holds on the "cobra man" and got away with plenty.

"Cobra" Hold

The second fall went to the Hindu in just eight minutes when he caught Hall on the ropes with two elbow smashes and made him concede shortly after applying the "cobra" grip, an unconscious hold on the sides of the neck. Doc started it off rough again and lost more fan support, but Singh mixed it more, too, to earn this fall, while the referee was kept quite busy throughout, usually in yanking Len off irregular grips in the rough going.

Hall took the decider in four and a half minutes with the same punishing leglock, plus kicks and the rest. He even tossed the referee down once and got away with it, after a sharp warning. It was short and snappy this time both staying in the ring between rounds. Nanjo tried to make a fight of it but Doc—who hasn't yet been defeated here this year—was out for the kill and tore right into the Indian from the start. He claimed later that Nanjo had been thumbing him hard in the throat and getting away with it, and that was why he played it so roughly. The fall was not a popular one.

Worked Hard

The 228-pound Pat Flanagan had to work hard to pin Juan Hernandez, at 226, in 21 minutes with a reverse full nelson after each in turn had got in some hard body slams. This was a speedy, scientific and open bout, with both grapplers very clean all the way. They at times had the same grip on each other and showed plenty of mat style with the more experienced Toronto wrestler finding the chunky Mexican a big chore for this nifty semi-final. They broke cleanly when told and drew a big hand at the finish for their sportsmanlike bout, winding up after the fall by shaking hands. The ref. found this an easy one to handle.

Vern Baxter scaled 240 pounds, 10 more than Steve Stanlee but the latter looked a bit better in the prelim, which went to a time limit draw. Baxter was rough and unpopular but the blond didn't hesitate to mix it, too, both grapplers drawing warnings for illegal tactics at times. Each in turn had a definite edge, with Baxter using knees, fists, hair-pulling and strangle grips when he got the upper hand as the fans yelled in disapproval. The ref had to use force to break him, and there was some biting done, too, before the gong finished it up.

Say Dutchmen May Default OHA Playoffs

TORONTO, March 10 (CP)—The Ontario Hockey Association has left it squarely up to the Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen whether they want to continue along the playoff trail.

George Panter, assistant secretary of the OHA, told the senior A club's officials they had their choice between playing hockey under conditions set down by the association or defaulting their final series against Toronto Marlboros.

The idea of defaulting the series originated with the Dutchmen who complained of the refereeing after they lost the first two games of the series. They threatened to withdraw unless the officials were changed.

Thursday night Panter said the OHA would stand pat.

"Wherever possible we shift referees around," he added, "but we never permit clubs to tell us whom to use. . . . The surest way for a team to get a referee they don't want is to tell us that they refuse to have him." He said the referees for tonight's game were already appointed, "and they will not be changed."

Comes To Head

The situation came to a head after Wednesday night's game when Marlboros beat the Dutchmen 6-5 in overtime to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven series for the senior title.

Coach Punch Scherer of the Dutchmen said the refereeing was the worst of the year. He was particularly bitter over a penalty to Billy Flick in the overtime period, which, he said, resulted when Flick tried to pull his stick away from Frank Sullivan of the Dukes who was holding it when Flick tried for a breakaway. Toronto scored the winning goal during the penalty.

Scherer said: "If they want to start paying refunds on 10,000 or 12,000 admissions in Toronto all they have to do is trot out Red Farrell and Mehlenbacher."

Takes Trophies

HAMILTON, March 10 (CP)—Hamilton curlers walked off with four of the five trophies in the 29th annual Hamilton bonspiel that concluded Thursday night. The Spectator Trophy, premier award, went to a host club rink skipped by R. W. Cross. The Cross quartet scored an easy 16-6 victory over club mates skipped by W. F. G. Adams in the final match

Havelock Victors

NORWOOD, March 10 (ENS—Havelock and Norwood battled in the arena on Tuesday evening, the former edging Norwood 5-4

Cuthbertson from Scott started things rolling in less than one minute of play. Elliott and Revoy and Revoy, Cosgrove and Elliott combined on two to put Havelock one up.

The second period was late in getting under way. Cosgrove and Elliott and Hamilton, Revoy and Wight made it 4-1 for Havelock. "Bay" Webb from Waldon sank Norwood's lone counter in the second. It was near the end of this one that stick swinging broke out. Nobes and Rusaw were checking rather heavily, Morrison gave Nobes the nod to the cooler, when Rusaw swung his stick and struck Nobes on the side of the face. The stick was completely smashed and Nobes was lucky not to have been knocked out completely. However, before anyone had a chance to retaliate Morrison skated Rusaw off the ice for the rest of the game. Webb and Waldon served two minutes, Waldon serving for Rusaw.

Don Andrews and Waldon scored for Norwood in the third with Revoy getting another for Havelock. Both goal tenders were sensational and stopped plenty of rubber.

Havelock—Goal, Hill; defence, Nobes, Whitney; centre Elliott; wings, Green and Cosgrove; alternates, Revoy, Forsythe, Hamilton, Wight, Milne, J. Brown.

Norwood—Goal, H. Stinson; defence, Wrightly, Garden; centre A. Scott; wings, Rusaw, Andrews; alternates, Allan, Fairfield, K Cuthbertson, J. McMillan, Jack Robson, Ray Webb, F. Waldon, H. Scott.

Referee, J. H. Hunt; linesman, Hartley Morrison.

Providence Trounces St. Louis Flyers 7-4

By The Canadian Press.

Providence Reds took over undisputed possession of second place in the eastern division of the American Hockey League on Thursday night with a 7-4 triumph over St. Louis Flyers. The Reds now lead Springfield Indians by a single point.

Indianapolis Capitals downed Buffalo Bisons 5-2 in the only other game of the night. The victory just about assured the Caps of second place in the western section as they now lead Pittsburgh Hornets by six points and have five games left to play. The Hornets have only four.

C's Capture Series

CAMPBELLFORD, March 10 (ENS)—Although Wilson was a sick boy, Campbellford bantams held off a very determined team at South River on Wednesday night to win a semi-final round by the narrow margin of one goal.

South River being down five goals for their final game had to work hard from the drop of the hat. R. Stack scored at 3.40. The Campbellford team was working well and they hemmed the South River boys in for minutes at a time but Neely in goal held them off until 12.45 when Garvey scored from Fields and 25 seconds later it was Fields from Dooher, to put Campbellford six goals up on the two-game round.

South River came back strong and scored three fast goals before the end of the first period. The second period was very even, Sedore scoring for the River boys and Paul Hendricks carried the puck from his own blue line and shot one past Neely to end that frame.

The pace really stepped up in the third period, South River scoring three goals and Campbellford one. While South River was pressing hard Baker and Dooher broke away and headed for the South River goal. Someone in the crowd blew a whistle and Neely stepped out of the net, thinking play had been stopped. Baker neatly put the puck in the net. Most of the players and the goalie thought the referee had blown the whistle, but as there was nothing wrong with the play, the goal had to stand. Campbellford was two up on the round with two minutes to go when South River put on five forwards and pressed hard. D. Harkness scored to bring his team to within one goal of tying the series. South River pulled their goal-tender and put six forwards on the ice but were unable to get that all-important equalizer.

The final score was South River 8 Campbellford 4. Campbellford won the first game 9 to 4 and so won the round by one goal. Campbellford will now meet the western champions from the Elmira area to decide the Ontario championship.

South River: Goal, Neely; defence, Ball and McIsaac; centre, B. Kincaid; wings, Hawthorne and Maeck; alternates, J. Harkness, Butcher, Stack, A. Tough, J. Tough, Sedore, McCaig, D. Kincaid, spar goal.

Campbellford: Goal, Ingram; defence, P. Hendricks and Baker; centre, Dooher; wings, Garvey and Field; alternates, Wilson, Holmes, R. Hendricks, Bland, Petherick, Seymour, Kelly, Peake.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Edmonton Mercurys flew into London from Stockholm Thursday, fit and raring to go in the world hockey tournament which starts on Monday. Coach Jimmy Graham said he figures his squad's chances are "good" to win back the world crown for Canada.

The team came through their Swedish tour, during which they won 6 and lost 1 game, without injury, and have been bolstered by the arrival from Canada of Don Stanley, veteran centre. The Mercury's lone setback in Sweden was a 5-3 defeat by the Swedish national team in Stockholm last Saturday. With one more exhibition game before the world tournament starts, the Mercurys have a record of 23 wins, 3 losses and 4 ties.

Canada's Empire Games competitors won three races, gained two second places, and took one third in seven events contested at Sydney, Australia, Thursday night at an invitation meet. Irene Strong of Vancouver broke an 18-year-old New South Wales record by 1 2-5 seconds when she won the 110-yard breast stroke in 1 minute 29 seconds. Lucien Beaumont of Quebec City won the 110-yard men's free-style event in 1 minute 1 second. The third Canadian success was in the 220-yard women's race which Kay McNamee of Victoria captured in 2 minutes 48 2-5 seconds.

The 1950 Dominion junior basketball final will be played in Vancouver in April, it was learned Thursday. Playoffs now are under way in the Western division with the Prairie champions scheduled to meet the British Columbia titlists at Vancouver.

Drama Official Apologizes For Heckling

TORONTO, March 10 (CP). — Dr Park Jamieson of Sarnia, chairman of the Dominion Drama Festival, expressed "regret" on Thursday night at the incident Wednesday night when Adjudicator Maxwell Wray was "rudely interrupted" while commenting on the regional festival.

The British adjudicator was heckled following a performance by one of the French groups, Les Compagnons du Masque.

"The executive," said Mr. Jamieson, "has every confidence in Mr. Wray's ability." It "would be unfortunate" if the Montreal incident "adversely affected an opportunity of securing equally competent adjudicators for future festivals."

Share Honors

At Montreal, Canada's oldest amateur drama group shared the honors with two Canadian playwrights Thursday night at the fourth Western Quebec Regional Drama Festival performance.

The distinguished Trinity Players are commended by British Adjudicator Maxwell Wray for selecting a "worthwhile" play—"Jupiter in Retreat," a three-act comedy-melodrama by Janet McPhee of Montreal and Herbert Whittaker of Toronto.

"This play is extremely well written," said Mr. Wray. "The dialogue is smooth and easy. The plot, though thin, developed correctly."

He urged the playwrights to continue their writing and offered to read and possibly "do something" with their next "good" effort

Direction of the play by Charles Rittenhouse was "an extremely good job," Mr. Wray said. "It was directed skilfully; the moods and intensity were realized."

FORMER CHAMP DIES

At Jacksonville, Fla., John Henry Oke, 69, former Canadian golf champion, died at his home Wednesday night after an illness of several weeks. Oke, a native of Northam, Devonshire, England, won the Canadian open in 1904. He served in the Canadian Army during the First World War.

Request Labor Hold Down Building Costs

OTTAWA, March 10— (CP) — Concern over demands of construction labor for higher pay was expressed today by Robert Drummond of Toronto, president of the Canadian Construction Association.

Mr. Drummond, in a statement following a meeting of the CCA management committee, called on labor for co-operation in holding down building costs.

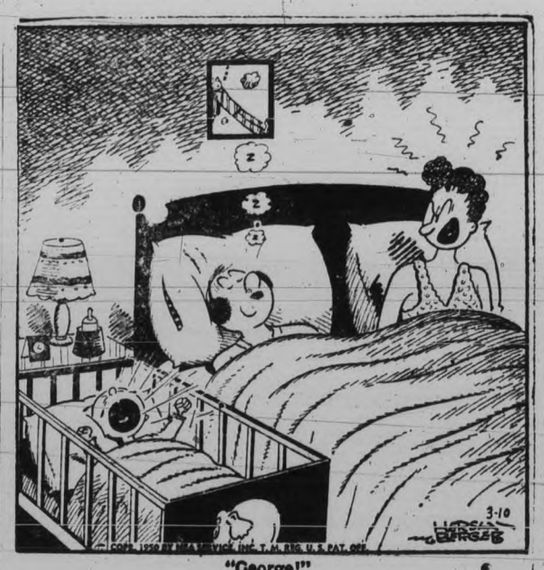
"The industry recognizes the vital importance of stabilizing costs, and reducing them wherever possible," Mr. Drummond said.

"This is necessary to keep construction attractive and economically feasible in all regions of the country."

The CCA president's statement was issued against a background of two major wage disputes—in Toronto and Ottawa—in which plumbers are seeking pay increases. There is some feeling in the industry that any increases obtained by these groups would set the pace for similar demands in the construction trade across the country.

While agreeing with government forecasts of a good volume of construction in 1950, Mr. Drummond said there would have to be assurance of cost stability and continuous operations in the industry before this could come about.

"The construction industry's desire to hold the cost line in 1950 is not based on any intention to gain advantages at the expense of labor," he said. "It is based on the sincere desire to retain the stable cost position which was achieved last year through the industry's strenuous efforts, and which we feel must be maintained if the industry is to continue in the market for a large volume of construction and provide the employment that goes with it."



Take New Turn

LONDON, Ont., March 10 (CP) Wednesday's incident of the seizure of two anti-atom bomb petitions at Beal Technical High School took a new turn Thursday when officials said that leaflets urging students to join the "London Youth Peace Council" were being distributed outside the four secondary schools. Police Chief Earl Knight said no action was being taken on the leaflets as they apparently were not handed out on school property.

Threaten Strike In Gold Mine

TORONTO, March 10—(CP)—Cleve Kidd, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Federation of Labor (CIO-CCL) said in a statement issued Thursday night that refusal of Ontario gold mine operators to grant the check-off, minimum form of security demanded by the unions, might lead to strike action against the miners.

The federation Thursday presented a brief to the Ontario government warning that opposition by some employers to any form of union security would force strikes against those firms.

The federation's brief asked the government to make it mandatory on employers to check off dues of employees if a majority of the latter make the request in writing.

The brief also criticised delays involved in conciliation procedure outlined in the new provincial labor code, now before the legislature.

On another point, it said union locals have to think twice before taking dispute to arbitration, because of alleged exorbitant fees for services of judges. It asserted judges acting on conciliation boards were demanding fees as high as $100 a day. Unions are required to pay half the cost of a judge's services.

Hiccuping Again Girl Sent Home

MONTREAL, March 10 (CP) A 22-year-old girl, hiccuping for long intervals since New Year's eve, Wednesday night was given a novocaine injection here that is hoped will give her temporary relief.

Olive McKelvey of Cherry River in Quebec's eastern townships, was brought back from a Florida rest cure and entered hospital here to receive the injection.

The former Magog, Que., bank clerk attracted nation-wide attention in January when she was unable to overcome the spasms for weeks. Doctors estimated she hiccuped 400,000 times at a rate of about 15 to 20 times a minute.

She was given two previous similar injections—one 15 days after the continuous spasms had started. This brought her a six-week break, but she had grown so weak that she had to be fed intravenously.

Her family doctor then suggested that she go to Florida for a rest.

While in Florida, the attacks occurred again and doctors there gave her another novocaine injection. Miss McKelvey once more knew relief—that is, until last Saturday then she suffered a third relapse and was returned to her hometown.

Lie Asks UN Oust Nationalists

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., March 10 (CP)— Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary-general has called on U.N. members to oust Nationalist China in favor of Communist China.

That was the interpretation given by Nationalist Chinese delegates as well as most observers of a memorandum on the Chinese representation issue released Wednesday by Lie.

Dr. Tingfu F. Tsiang, top Chinese Nationalist delegate described the memorandum as an attempt to prejudice Nationalist China's case before the U.N. He said it undermines public confidence in Lie's impartiality.

The memorandum, which had been circulated previously among security council delegates, contended that when there are two rival governments for one country's seat in the U.N., the organization should admit the government which controls the bulk of the population in the disputed territory.

Ernest Gross, United States delegate, said his country's position remains the same: The U.S. will vote against unseating a Nationalist representative although she will not veto such a move if the council majority favors Communist China.

WA Presents Life Memberships

SELWYN, March 10 —(ENS)— Mrs. Clifford McIlmoyl was hostess to the W. A. of the United Church for the March meeting when eleven members and one visitor were presented. This was a small attendance owing to the severe cold and bad roads.

Mrs. George McIlmoyl delivered the topic and the scripture was read by Mrs. Lloyd McConkey.

Letters of thanks were read from Mrs. Donald McConkey and Mrs. Irwin Tully for flowers they received while hospitalized.

The group planned to sponsor a play entitled "Little Clodhopper," to be presented in the church hall on March 22 by a Peterborough cast.

This play will begin a monthly series of entertainments by the two groups in the W. A., each group sponsoring alternately.

The high-light of the meeting was the presentation by the president, of two life-membership pins and certificates to Mrs. Herbert McIlmoyl, Sr. and Mrs. Grace McIlmoyl in recognition of their long services to the W.A.

As Mrs. Grace McIlmoyl was unable to be present, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Charlie McIlmoyl received the gift on her behalf.

Mrs. Donald McConkey invited the W. A. to her home for the April meeting. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

Bell Co. Deficit In Next 3 Years

OTTAWA, March 10 (CP). — The Board of Transport Commissioners was told Thursday the Bell Telephone Company will run deficits of more than $34,000,000 in the next three years unless it gets permission to boost rates.

The testimony was given by John Cleugh of Montreal, Comptroller of the company. The company is asking the Board to permit it to increase Ontario and Quebec telephone rates by an average of 20.7 per cent.

Mr. Cleugh said Bell had operated at a deficit for every month last year and that in January, the latest month for which figures are available, the deficit had been $470,000.

He said that if the rate increase is granted by June 1 this year, the company will wind up the year with a profit of $454,000. If the increase was not granted, there would be a deficit of $7,942,000.

In 1951 the company would make $3,628,000 or lose $11,148,000 depending on whether the rate boost is granted, and in 1952 the deficit would be $15,035,000 or the profit $509,000.

The Bell application is being opposed by seven of the municipalities which will be affected by proposed increases.

As the sitting got under way yesterday, board rejected a challenge from a number of municipalities and ruled that it will continue to hear the Bell application.

Dance To Raise Funds For Hall

MILLBROOK, March 10 (ENS) —The ladies' auxiliary to the Canadian Legion Branch 402 met in the Legion Hall on Tuesday with Mrs. E. C. Richards, the president, in the chair. There were 2 8members present.

It was decided to hold a St. Patrick's Day dance and basket social in the town hall on March 17 and to engage Todd's orchestra. The proceeds are to go to the building fund for a new Legion hall.

The draw for the overseas parcels was won this month by Jean Smith. Each member brings an article for the overseas parcel and the one whose name is drawn has the privilege of choosing to whom overseas it shall go. Last month Mrs. David Lunn won the draw. She received a letter which told that the parcel arrived at the home of her brother, Mr. Matthew Bailey, in Cheshire, England, on his twin daughters' 13th birthday, Jan. 24. They had not planned to have a party, but when the Canadian parcel arrived they invited their friends in to share it with them.

Mrs. Jack Coulter won the draw on a crystal cream and sugar. The proceeds from this draw go to the flower fund for sick members.

Plans were made for the zone rally to be held in Peterborough Legion Hall on April 21. About 20 members from Millbrook plan to attend.

Refreshments were served by the social convener, Mrs. Hugh Blair assisted by Mrs. James Bell, Mrs. D. Lunn, Mrs. Allan Earl and Mrs. Wm Hilton.

Britain Having Trouble Making Her Own Ships Pay

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, March 10—(CP)—Britain, who agreed last month to operate 123 Canadian vessels which dominion owners found uneconomic, now says she's having trouble making her own pay.

The annual report of the chamber of shipping says that Britain, having restored her merchant tonnage to its pre-war total, now has more available than there is a demand for.

The post-war gap of 3,500,000 tons has been made up but there's not enough business at high enough rates to keep them going.

A decline in freight rates caused by the greater availability of ships is listed as a major cause. Others include United States Marshall aid policies and signs the chamber sees of "an economic war of the continents."

Best business is being done by the tanker fleet, already 500,000 tons greater than in 1939. An ever - increasing oil demand throughout the world assures continued progress.

Bulk Trading

But the central trade is beginning to be hamstrung by increasing tendencies of various governments toward bulk-trading and the insistence of some countries that fixed proportions of their imports and exports be carried in their own shipping. This has prevented free competition in the field, the chamber complains.

The United States is the principal target for criticism. The chamber says the goal of the United States' policy seems to be that 50 per cent of its cargoes be reserved for U. S. shipping.

"So long as the principle was confined to Marshall Aid shipments no objection could be made since they are essentially in the nature of relief and gift," it said.

More strenuously deplored was the enthusiastic follow-up the U.S. policy had brought in South Africa. Agentina headed the movement of insistence that 50 per cent of its cargoes be carried by the ships of the countries with which its trade agreements are concluded.

Chile has gone further by specifying that 50 per cent must be carried in Chilian ships and the remainder of the cargoes in the ships of western hemisphere countries.

"This," says the chamber, "is getting near an economic war of the continents," and it has protested.

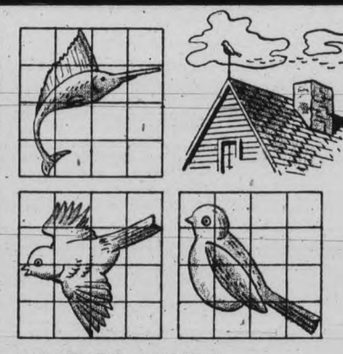
Around the Home...

My small daughter brought to light the origin of the weathervane when, for her bedtime story, she handed me her book containing the tale of the wandering chick. I enjoyed it as much as she.

March has arrived with its usual blustery winds. I have been noticing the attractive weathervanes as I travelled across Southern Ontario. Not only are they of use to the amateur weatherman, but they add a touch of beauty when carefully chosen to suit the location. I was so favourably impressed with three of the designs, I am passing them along to you.



Bricks and Books

I have been searching some time now for a bookshelf that can be placed under a window as my books are overflowing their present space. If I had only thought to talk with the people next door, my search would have been shorter. They built one of bricks and inch lumber that is cheap, easy to set up and very attractive. You can select the bricks to blend with your color scheme and add pieces of thin building board between them to give the appearance of a cemented pier.

Wonder if anyone gets the first twinge of summer cottage fever this early in the season? I'm just in the midst of making a dressing table for the cottage from two orange crates, patterned after one I saw in a magazine the other day. It promises to fit my needs exactly, but would be equally adaptable to an attic or bedroom.

Well . . . well . . . well . . .

Gardeners are thinking in terms of soil fertility these days as plans are laid for the rush of spring work. I first saw this novel idea for camouflaging the compost heap a few years ago. By dressing the pile up to look like an old-fashioned well you do not lessen its usefulness —in fact you add an ornament to the grounds.

MILLBROOK, March 10 (ENS) —A proposal from the Lions Club to remove the balcony and install a new floor in the auditorium on the second floor of the Town Hall, was placed before Millbrook municipal council Monday by Laurence Winslow and Howard Lancashire.

After the two Lion representatives had explained the proposal, the matter was referred to the public buildings committee of the council, Weldon Coulter and J. H. Raper, to make any agreement after a meeting between representatives of Cavan Township council and the Lions.

A request from Herbert Bremner for permission to rebuild and enlarge his garage on lot two, S.S. King St., was considered by the council. A decision was deferred until more information can be obtained as to the effect this proposal would have on the present building bylaw.

Fire Chief Douglas Sheppart reported 10 firemen present at the fire practice and equipment in good order.

Fire Destroys Barn

WOODSTOCK, March 10 (CP) A large frame barn on the farm of Steve Szecskos, of New Durham, 10 miles east of here, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin early today. All the contents of the barn, including horses, cattle, pigs, hay and grain were lost. A garage near the barn and housing a new tractor and late model car was also destroyed.

Sees Vocational Grants Reduced

ST. CATHERINES, March 10— (CP).—J. A. MacDonald, accountant of the Hamilton Board of Education, said Wednesday night that he believes vocational grants from the province will take a drop under a new system of calculation being used this year.

He told the Niagara zone conference of the Urban School Trustees Association of Ontario that most elementary and secondary schools will benefit by the changes but vocational schools will probably suffer.

"In some cases, it may be that the increases in other panels will offset the loss suffered by the vocational schools," he said. "This will not be the case in large centres."

He said that, at present, vocational education is "vitally important" in maintaining employment and preventing an increase in lawbreaking.

"Might it not be much better for our Department of Education to help the boards of education produce good citizens through vocational education than to expand the reformatories and prison farms?" he asked.

MORE ABOUT—
Social Security

list of projects on which he thought the government negligent and accused Mr. Gardiner of double-talking about Canada's farm-surplus position.

Raps Wheat Board

Hazen Argue (CCF-Assiniboia) criticized the government's operation of the Canadian Wheat Board and charged that it had put the board in a bankrupt condition last year to give wheat farmers a special payment and win their election votes.

Mr. Mutch declared himself in favor of social security measures which were borne by the public generally and were in the public interest and for the public good. He had a "holy horror" of the modern conception of the welfare state.

Any approach to the question of social security from the standpoint that the "state owes us something" was not only "fallacious but exceedingly dangerous." It was a doctrine that could pave the way for communistic control of Canada.

"Today, the Communists among us are quiet and restrained. They can well afford to be, because many of those who sincerely hate communism and decry the communist himself are doing his work for him.

Confession of Failure

Mr. Mutch said nothing in his record would show that he was opposed to any of the existing social security legislation or an expansion of state assistance that would properly be a charge against the nation as a whole for the benefit of the nation as such.

It was debateable whether some of the existing social security legislation was a "confession of failure."

He added:

"I have a holy horror of the modern conception of the welfare state. I have a congenital distrust of planners, and a passionate, persisting faith in the good judgment of that great mass of people who, above all things, desire to be protected from the dishonest and rapacious few and to be left alone to work out their own salvation."

Mr. Diefenbaker wanted the government to remove discriminations against Western Canada before the recently - announced freight rate increases are allowed to be put into force, to open the way for full utilization of the Hudson Bay railway to the port of Churchill and to proceed with irrigation works in Southern Saskatchewan.

Quotes Speeches

Then he quoted speeches given by Mr. Gardiner to support his contention that the agriculture minister said at one time that Canada had no surpluses of farm products for export and at another time they did.

E. D. Fulton (PC, Kamloops) renewed a Progressive Conservative demand for a Commonwealth conference to promote prosperous trade within the Commonwealth and quoted statistics showing a steady decline in Canada's share of the sterling markets.

B. Poulin (Ind., Beauce) urged the undertaking of publicwork projects as a means of relieving unemployment and said steps should be taken to make pulp and paper companies pay fair wages to lumbermen.

W. S. Browne (PC, St. John's West) felt that the government was trying to minimize the number of unemployed. It was a paradox that a country as wealthy as Canada had 400,000 persons receiving unemployment insurance. It would appear that Canada's wealth was not properly distributed.

J. W. Noseworthy (CCF, York South) asserted that the government had abandoned its shelf of post-war public works. They were needed to take up the lag in the activities of private enterprise.

Robber Band Stages Film-LikeBankHoldup

NEW YORK, March 10 (CP)—A band of five robbers, working as though they were following a movie script Thursday stole $63,933 in small bills from a New York bank.

Leaving two of the band outside as lookouts, three of the robbers took complete charge of the Sunnyside branch of the Manufacturers Trust Co., before it opened in the morning.

The 17 members of the bank's staff were permitted to enter as they reported for duty. Each was made to take his regular post and appear to be working.

Marion Lankin Being Held In Hancock Case

Mrs. Marion Lamkin, 29, was today charged in police court as being a material witness in connection with a charge of forgery against Aubrey S. Hancock, and was remanded to Saturday.

She was known as Marion Douglas, but had been married and divorced. She was charged today under the name Marion Hancock.

Mrs. Lankin is a sister of Jack Douglas, Toronto, who faces a charge of being an accessory after the fact in Hancock's negotiations. She is believed to have been living with Hancock in Vancouver and Peterborough.

Detective Sergeant W. A. Clarke picked her up in Barrie Thursday night and brought her to Peterborough at five o'clock this morning.

The charge of forgery laid against Hancock is believed to link him with a $100,000 car finance swindle the Colonial Finance Co. of Toronto said was worked on them last summer.

Paul Imming, who disappeared with Hancock early in October, and also sought by police, has not yet been found. Richard O'Brien, James King and Jack Douglas have all been charged as accessories.

LABOR TALKS CONTINUE

Louis Fine, chief conciliation officer for the Ontario Department of Labor, will sit in again next Thursday on negotiations between the Toronto-Peterborough UE locals and CGE officials. He presided Thursday morning at the talks between the rival claimants. During the first three days of this coming week both sides will prepare written statements on matters already discussed and tentatively agreed on.

Elderly Residents Of Anson House Give $61 Make Great Sacrifices For Community Chest

One of the finest examples of generosity which have come to light during the Red Cross and Community Chest campaign is the contribution made by the people of Anson House.

The $61 is an increase of $10 over last year's subscription, largely because of the sacrifices of one elderly woman who, by saving a little here and there, managed to contribute $7.

With only a small income this woman, who has failing eyesight, has probably made the greatest sacrifice in the entire community, for the benefit of the fund.

Bridgenorth Votes Pumper To Serve Chemong, Village

BRIDGENORTH, March 10 (ENS) — Residents of Bridgenorth and Chemong Park Thursday voted unanimously in favor of having a fire truck located in Bridgenorth. The vote was taken at a public meeting between Smith township council and the residents of Bridgenorth and Chemong in the basement of Bridgenorth United Church, to discuss the question of fire protection.

It was decided after the vote had been taken, that the council will meet with the suburban area in the near future to discuss the matter further.

In the meantime, the committee at Bridgenorth and Chemong Park is going ahead with plans for the pumper to be installed at Bridgenorth.

Location Controversy

Residents of the suburban area near Peterborough feel they have the prior claim to have the pumper installed in their locality on the Chemong Road. Bridgenorth residents feel, however, that adequate protection could not be given if the pumper were near Peterborough. The distance to be covered in an emergency would be from six to eight or nine miles.

Mr. Edmison said the suburban area had absolutely refused to work with Bridgenorth if the pumper were installed in the Bridgenorth area. The feeling of the meeting of Bridgenorth and Chemong Park residents was that they wanted a pumper in their area and had sufficient general assessment in the area to cover it.

Reeve Ross Harrison, chairman pointed out that the need for fire protection for both suburban and Bridgenorth and Chemong Park areas was great, but they did not feel that two fire trucks could be bought. Each area in itself was not large enough to take care of a station of its own.

At the council meeting Monday it was decided that there was sufficient assessment for the township to buy one truck for the combined areas, and that the purchase of two trucks was absolutely out of the question.

Government Pay 35%

A. Edmison, township clerk, quoted the price of a new pumper at $13,500, 35 per cent of which would be paid by the government, leaving a balance of $8,775. This would require a debenture issue of $1,053 for each of the next ten years.

Estimated annual upkeep would be in the neighborhood of $2,500, including debenture, salaries and general expenses, he said. Over a period of 15 years, the rate would be lower.

The proposed fire area of Bridgenorth extends from Fiddler's Green to the eighth line and up to Mel Crapp's property near Selwyn.

Al Crowe, spokesman for Bridgenorth area, and his committee, had canvassed all this area and 281 names had been signed on the petition for fire protection.

This did not include any farmers in the area who might want to buy protection after the pumper would be installed.

Board Seeks To Buy 5 Lots In Ashburnham

An offer to purchase five lots in Ashburnham—two on McFarlane Ave. and three east side of the Erskine property was approved Thursday night by the Board of Education.

The board offered $1,300. The lots are all part of the old Erskine property and are immediately west of those purchased by the Board from the city last fall.

A new public school is to be built on the purchased land.

The two lots on McFarlane Ave are valued at $900 and the other three at $400, thus bringing the total up to $1,300.

Damage Award Of $15,000 Given C. W. King

Injured in an accident Aug. 24, 1948, Charles William King, of Peterborough, was awarded $15,000 damages by a Supreme Court jury Thursday evening after a three and a half day trial.

There were three defendants in the action; Kenneth Heard, Ray Harrison and Maurice Mandell. Each was judged as sharing a percentage of the responsibility and therefore would have to be responsible for that percentage of the damages.

Heard's percentage responsibility was 42 per cent; Harrison's 26 per cent and Mandell's 32 per cent.

Street Accident

The suit arose out of an accident on George St. just north of Romaine St. King was riding his bicycle south on George St. Heard, driving a motorcycle was following Harrison also on a motorcycle, was travelling north on George St. Mandell was driving a car south on the same street. Near the scene of the accident there was a car parked on the east side of the street.

From the evidence it appeared Mandell was over part way on east side of the street about four feet from the parked car. The two motorcyclists swerved to the west side of the street and King riding his bicycle was struck. Mandell, Heard and Harrison all said they did not see the other until almost the last moment.

To relieve him of pain in his ankle the bones were fused and as a result it is not known if there will ever be any movement at the ankle joint, and his foot may not be aligned properly.

His arm fractured again a few days after the accident about one -half inch from the first fracture and he will have only moderately good function of the arm.

Expenses connected with his injuries amounted to about $2,600 and his estimated loss of wages were about $3,000. King may undergo another operation in about six months.

It is believed the amount of the award to King will be appealed.

W. J. Arthur Fair KC, represented Heard; T. J. Carley KC, represented Mandell and Alex L. Elliott KC represented Harrison. A Toronto firm, Hughes, Agar, Thompson and Amys acted for King.

GARAGE DAMAGED

Fire that started from overheated pipes Thursday noon caused about $50 damage to the two-truck wood frame garage on the property of H. B. Taylor Coal Co., Aylmer St. A high wind is believed to have been the source of the strong draft that caused the pipes to overheat. A portion of one wall began to burn and the fire spread to the roof covered with roofing paper. Firemen encountered little difficulty in dousing the blaze. Total damage is estimated at $50.

Honor W. T. Jeffrey

Brantford, March 10.—(CP). IN recognition of nearly 34 years of "faithful and meritorious service" as a letter carrier for the Peterborough post office, William T. Jeffrey Thursday night was presented with a certificate of appreciation from Postmaster-General Gabriel Edouard Rinfret. The presentation was made by E. H. Kite, Brantford postmaster.

Mr. Jeffrey, who recently took up residence in Brantford, commenced duties with the Peterborough post office in December, 1916, and retired in October, 1949.

Plan Removal Of Dummer Jog Fateful Hazard

The County Roads Committee is negotiating with three Dummer township property owners to obtain a new right-of-way for the Stony Lake road at Hamblin's Corners, four miles northeast of Warsaw.

At Hamblin's Corners the Stony Lake road takes a jog almost at right angles and because of the layout of the land and the fact that a house and barn are on the corner, the view of approaching traffic is almost obscured. The 3rd line of Dummer also converges at the jog.

Motor traffic authorities have long maintained that the junction was a hazard. A large number of accidents have occurred there including the fatal one on November 10 when two heavy trucks collided and William Ireland, 23, Buckhorn, was killed.

First Priority

Although hard-pressed for funds this year the County Roads committee at the January session of the County Council decided that rectifying this dangerous turn would be their No. 1 project for the year. It might be their only one involving any major expenditure.

As visualized by County Engineer J. D. Kean the old right-angled junction would be eliminated and a sweeping curve substituted. A 66-foot wide ribbon of land would have to be purchased from the properties of Mrs. Joseph Martin, whose home is directly on the corner, and that of Edward and Gordon Hamblin, set further in from the roadway.

The right-of-way would touch both properties but its construction would not involve tearing down any buildings.

Mr. Kean estimates that the total area of land required would be two acres and cost of construction would be somewhat more than $4,000.

6-Year Sentence To Penitentiary Attempted Rape

Leo Webb, 30, Smith township, was today sentenced to six years in penitentiary by Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel after being found guilty by a Supreme Court jury Feb. 28 of attempted rape.

In moving for sentence, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said Webb had a record of being convicted of the same type of offence in September, 1943. On that charge he was sentenced to three years.

Crown Attorney Bradshaw asked for the maximum seven years penalty but did not recommend lashes "because the accused did not use brutal force."

Both the crown attorney and defence counsel Gordon H. T. Farquharson asked Mr. Justice LeBel to take into consideration, in passing sentence, that Webb had already spent 11 months in jail awaiting trial because he was unable to raise the $3,000 bail set.

Before passing sentence, Mr. Justice LeBel said to Webb, "I want to say you were most ably defended at your trial, and I say that seriously."

His Lordship said he had no authority to set back the date of sentence, but was taking Webb's time in jail into consideration.

Women Must Be Protected

"It has been suggested you may not be mentally well . . . and that may be true, but that is no reason why the public, and especially women, should not be protected," Mr. Justice LeBel said.

Evidence at the trial was that about two p.m. April 4, Webb knocked at the door of a house in Otonabee township in the eastern outskirts of the city and asked the woman, who was alone in her bungalow home, to use the telephone.

She let him in and helped him to try to find the phone number he said he wanted. But as she was sitting on the living room chesterfield, he seized her by the throat saying, "Now I've got you!"

The woman scratched Webb's face and knocked his glasses off while struggling with him, but said she was pushed to the adjoining bedroom and shoved across the bed. He ripped her clothes but after some considerable time she was able to talk him out of doing anything.

Webb was arrested at his Nassau home little more than an hour after he left the woman's house, by Constable Claire J. McGillen.

Practices will be held from 3 until 4 p.m. by Queen Alexandra Monday, Confederation Tuesday, Prince of Wales Thursday and Central Friday. The hour practices will be part of the schools' physical education periods.

City Taxpayers Must Raise Almost $2 Millions To Finance All Departments

By HARRY THEOBALD

Peterborough's municipal tax rate for 1950 is four mills higher than last year: 49½ mills for Public School supporters and 50½ mills for those who pay rates to the Separate Schools. And for the first year in its history, seemingly celebrant of the 100th anniversary of incorporation, Peterborough is going to collect from the taxpayers almost two million dollars. Finance committee of the council Friday night convinced itself that shearing half mill off the rate to the even 49 mills was not the way of prudent administration of a city growing at Peterborough's recent pace.

Sought $30,000

Recently in deliberation and pondering of the tax problem for this year, it had been suggested that something like $30,000 be arbitrarily lopped from the estimates of the Board of Works.

It was at that stage that the Board adjourned the other night to consult City Engineer Chalmers, housebound with influenza. Subsequent discussions emphasized the continuing problem of news roads and sewers and walks and so on that will have to be built this year, a continuation of the expansion of 1949, the biggest building year in the records of the council.

To be on the safe side of such financing and especially to avoid a deficit at the end of this year, the board of works escaped with a clipping of around $3,400.

Ald. Hugh Waddell, chairman, told the committee that since Monday several credits had turned up, apparently by accident of search. He quite frankly said he did not know about them. That was the only reference to this access of accounting help.

The chairman said there was an item of $3,500 provincial government's contribution to the laboratory at the city hall. Parking meters had been credited as a source of revenue with $16,000. Actual receipts last year had been nearer $19,000. But, the meters had paid for themselves last year and were now entirely owned by the city. Expected increase in revenue from that source would be approximately $29,000 instead of $16,000, a gain of $13,000.

An additional $5,000 appears to be in promise from the Civic Arena, in excess of the funds required to meet its debenture charges. Finally there was $3,900 which is virtually a refund on payments made last year in aid of the Children's Aid Society. The total of these items was $25,400, but in the possibility that a contribution of $4,000 might not be forthcoming this year from the Hydro-Electric Commission because of its financial problems, that sum was erased from expectation, leaving extra credits at $21,400.

$7,500 For Centennial

Incidentally, the finance committee has appropriated close to $35,000 in its miscellaneous account, for unforeseen requirements this year. Of that amount $7,500 is marked for the centennial committee.

At Monday night's committee meeting some of the members, especially Aldermen Doug Miller and Arthur Burrows, intimated that they were not quite satisfied that the council had thoroughly canvassed the possibilities of pruning the estimates back to the 49-mill mark.

As a result, Mayor Swanston, Aldermen Waddell and Dodds consulted City Engineer Chalmers at his home Thursday morning, and finally they recommended that the lopping of $30,000 from the board of works appropriations would not be wise.

It was recalled that the Board oversent its appropriation last year by $32,000.

"The growth of Peterborough and these recent years is a large part of our financing problem, and part of it is due to the development of residential subdivisions" said the Mayor. "There was a rush about getting new housing accommodation. Subdivisions were brought in almost over night. The council tried to help them get building underway, and sewers, streets and sidewalks had to be put in, and most of that cost falls back on the treasury. The time has come for the council to decide whether we should point out to the subdivision people that sewers and such works should be included in the promotion costs and not fall upon the general body of taxpayers."

Mayor Swanston said the experience of last year in the City Engineer's department was likely to be continued this year, that demands for improvements that could not be anticipated right now were bound to develop as the year progressed.

Canadian Businessmen As Citizens of Democracy Termed By Lawyer a Complete and Total Failure

The state of Canada's trade is now the worst in its history, Malcolm Robb, a Belleville barrister told the Kiwanis Club Thursday during his talk on "The Fatal Germ."

Mr. Robb said that Canada is a trading country with the people totally dependent for survival and solvency on trade. He added there is no country in the world which is so dependent on trade as Canada, where 27 percent of the income is from foreign trade as compared with five percent in the United States.

England, Canada's largest customer, has bought Canadian goods to the extent of 60 percent since the end of the war with Canadian on American money. Seventy-five percent of the remaining 40 percent is British goods which only sell in Canada in a seller's market.

Mr. Robb said that England and other countries, constituting Canada's market abroad, have created a barter area in which they trade among themselves. All these countries are bartering at high prices and are shutting Canada out of the trade picture. The more barter they do, the more the impossibility of selling the product in Canada or the U. S. because of the high price, he explained. Eighty-five percent of Canada's foreign trade other than the U. S. has been to countries which are joining the barter areas.

Regarding trade policies with these countries Mr. Robb took France as an example. Canada's line of credit to France, he said, was $353,000,000 of which $242,500,000 was spent in Canada. In 1945 Canada bought less than $1,000,000 from France and in 1946 only $5,000,000. France in 1948 was buying $90,000,000 from Canada and Canada $14,000,000 from France. As long as the high tariff on nearly all the principal exports of France continues the opportunity for a healthy trade between the two democracies cannot exist, he explained.

Canada has the same policy toward other European countries. Against all these countries Canada has enormous tariff barrier which kills their normal markets, bankrupts their businesses and impoverishes their economics, he added.

"The tariff policy in this country for many years has been on no higher basis than what patronage or pressure groups can do for special interests seeing to better themselves on a short term basis."

Total Failure

"The Fatal Germ" in this country, he said, is that the average Canadian businessman as a citizen of democracy is a complete and total failure. As citizens, he said, the first duty is to tend to that democracy, to preserve and strengthen it. The absolute refusal to acknowledge this fact by businessmen has brought about the present plight of Canada.

To most Canadians, said Mr Robb, the most urgent and important problem is that of survival. Over 30 percent of the heads of families are making less than the minimum cost of living. To them, he said free enterprise has been tainted and discounted and has little to offer. They become fodder for the communist, he concluded.

The workman's wife, who is trying to raise a family will pay a tariff on cotton goods of 35 percent, for woollen goods 40 percent and 35 percent for shoes, he said.

In Toronto two out of every five persons is dependent on one or more of 67 charitable organizations, he said. Of all the school children 27 percent are undernourished and 23 percent more show signs of malnutrition. Milk, he added, is the most necessary commodity of family life and because of its absence due to the high cost, in Toronto at 19c a quart and slightly less in other cities, children in this province are stunted and undernourished. Even the Minister of Health in the province has described the situation as critical.

Government Cartel

Milk distribution in Ontario is a gigantic government-sponsored cartel with no permission permitted, in price, quality or service. The result is undernourishment, hardship and discontent, he explained.

"It exists because of the utter callousness and blindness of the Canadian businessman who refuses to give leadership to rid us of this shocking situation."

Because the bussinessman gives no leadership the people are being driven gradually into the clutches of the Communist party, he warned.

Russia and the Communist party has already conquered and annexed, not by open warfare but by tactics just as deadly, more territory and more peoples by far than Germany had acquired on the eve of the attack on France. Her annexed parts are Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, and part of Finland, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Romania. Poland, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Albania, and China have been brought under domination by the party, he said. Pressure is being placed on Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Finland, Greece and Turkey.

Mr. Robb said that leading statesmen refer to the present conditions as a "cold war", meaning that the enemy is bent on destruction of democracies without a formal declaration of war followed by fighting.

Mr. Robb was introduced by Walter Howell and thanked by Charles Huffman.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Quinte District Seed Fair At Lindsay March 16-18 — All Seed Is Sold By Auction Saturday — Local Bulls Consigned To Sale In Toronto March 21-22 — Maple Cattle Breeders' Association Inspired At Farm Forum — Is Still Expanding.

If some farmers hereabouts are skeptical of the practical results of their Radio Forum they should be reminded that the Maple Cattle Breeders' Association was conceived at a Forum meeting early in 1945. A few farmers of a York county community turned their thoughts and discussion after a Forum broadcast venturesomely toward the new idea and practice of artificial breeding.

Their purpose was for their own advatage. They were not thinking of cattle breeders down here in Asphodel and Cavan, or in Peel and Halton, or in any others of the eight counties which now comprise the Maple area of operations.

Russel Rowntree, president told the annual group meeting here wednesday they did not even think of the potentials of their enterprise. It might possibly be, with all respect to Mr. Rowntree and his presidential experience at Maple, that he and his associates have not yet adjusted their vision and planning to the possibilities or the organization that is attracting new members every day.

For instance, the major item of capital expenditure last year was $25,259.59 on the second barn of the Association's property at Maple. Total outlay of capital nature was $36,869.64.

Mr Rowntree said that accommodation had caught up with the demand for it, that there was no further building program contemplated by the directors, and it was hoped that volume of revenue and margin of profit might enable management to make some cash returns of members' loans.

Membership fee is five dollars and the loan by each member with more than three cows bred annually is $35. Naturally the average farmer would welcome any repayment on his loan, although the total cost of obtaining the service of the association is only $40.

However, efficient operations and extension of the Maple plan in its eight counties are likely to bring further and sustained increase in membership. Mr. Rowntree and his handful of neighbors started something in 1945 that is still rolling promisingly and fruitfully along.

In 1945 there were 768 first inseminations in the six months from the beginning in June to the end that year. The corresponding total last year was 20,791. Peterborough, Victoria and Dufferin counties were not received into the Maple fold until 1948. Thousands of farmers in the association's area have not yet taken up artificial breeding. Its scope is now being expanded to include Shorthorn cattle.

With such a progressive organization, obviously in good hands with G. W. Keffer as secretary-manager, it is almost a certainty that growth will continue on a substantial scale. In that moving position it might convince directors that for the present they would be following good practice of financing by developing a stronger capital position against possible emergencies and probably for enlarging operations.

In the meantime, the association repay's the loan to any member's estate in event of death.

Peterborough members had no criticism of the directors' report for last year. Mr. Rowntree, Mr Keffer Mr A. E. Snider, assistant secretary and treasurer, must have been encouraged by their reception from the 75 members of the local area who attended the meeting.

Incidentally, the annual meeting of the Association is announced for Monday March 27 at 1.30 p.m in Maple Community Hall. Peterborough was asked to send a strong representation.

Corn Practice Changes

"A few years ago the mention of corn in Ontario brought to mind the broad check-rowed, carefully cultivated fields of husking corn in southwestern Ontario, or the neat, straight rows of ensilage corn reaching up and down the gentle slopes of the farms in Central and Eastern Ontario."

"Today, after eight years," says William Wallace, 2nd vice-president of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association, "a vastly different picture of the industry appears. In the old corn belt mechanization has taken over almost completely. Farms are often prepared and planted in one day by tractors.

Now we seldom see in our district the riding cultivator pulled by the slowest and gentlest team on the farm, the driver steering the machine with his feet, and stopping here and there to remove a sod or clod of earth from a hill of corn with a stick carried for that purpose.

The one-horse scuffler which was often used until the corn was higher than the horse is also outmoded. Instead, those same tractors are on the job, a few days after planting, with a spike-toothed harrow, rotary hoe our mounted cultivator, or possibly a 2-4-D sprayer. No longer do we see so many fields with rows each way. It is not so necessary with the newer methods of weed control.

Possibly the greatest changes have taken place in harvesting. Mechanical pickers cover 10 to 20 acres a day with one operator plus a couple of men to unload wagons. The corn area has been widely retended in recent yeats. I believe that with the more widely extended in recent years hybrids it can be extended and intensified still more in the near future. I think most livestock men can profitably use home grown corn both for grain and fodder.

Many central Ontario farmers found that their corn came through the drought of last spring and summer to give them a valuable supply of fodder when other crops were a near failure."

BRITAIN'S COMPULSION

In London, Ont., this week to attend the Canadian Co-Operative Congress, Sir Andrew Jones said at the Middlesex Seed Fair, in regard to curtailment of United Kingdom purchases of Canadian farm products: "What we have done, we had to do."

He also emphasized that Canada's agricultural production had never equalled commitments to Britain. The UK order for 60 million pounds of bacon this year, combined with an increased domestic demand for pork products due to rising price of beef should take care of "a good percentage of Canada's exportable surplus." British farmers are increasing home production. Agriculture is a preferred industry luring many into intensive farming.

Surveying the agricultural scene in Canada, Sir Andrew remarked that no other industry has "so many conventions, so much free advice, and so much co-operation among government officials and agencies."

PAID 19 CLAIMS

Annual meeting of Kawartha Medical Health Services will be April 12. This seedling of the Federation of Agriculture has a membership of more than 200. It has already paid nineteen claims the largest being $80. These indemnities amounted to 10 per cent of the membership fees.

The Kawartha M. H. Services was sponsored by the Federation and has already demonstrated its possibilities as a form of insurance.

Federation is planning an increased membership drive throughout the county with school sections as units. It is a farm organization that must depend for its future strength on the support it receives in the rural community.

A VOICE FROM WISCONSIN

The American farmer is at the mercy of the cost and price structure determined by labor-management policies said Milo K. Swanton, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Council of Agricultural Co-Operatives of Commerce at the annual farm forum sponsored by the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce last week.

"If the labor-industrial price pattern bore a measurable relationship to agricultural price trends then our business of farming would stand less in economic jeopardy," Mr. Swanston said at one of the sessions of the two-day discussions.

We want to see greater employment security, less seasonal employment and better distribution of annual payrolls, but agriculture also wants to see industrial production and prices more closely related to the constancy of agricultural production. Continuing high-cost farm production and falling agricultural prices in the face of purchasing in a realm of labor-industrial rigidity can lead only to disaster."

Continuance of industrial returns to employees and managment at sustainted and in some instances at higher levels, while farm revenue has been declining, has been a cause or resentment to agriculture on both sides of the border.

✦ ✦ ✦

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING?

Monday night's Forum subject is "Can We Farm Co-Operatively?" It has been done agreeably and well in many parts of the country, particularly in some special phases of the season's work, such as threshing groups or associations. One of them has operated in Otonabee for years.

This example is from the Guide: "At Cavan, Ontario, a pool for the use of farm machinery has been carried on successfully by a group of farmers. Each farmer owns his own machinery. Each farmer's labor and machinery is contributed to the pool and charged for at rates agreed upon by the members. Accounts are kept during the summer and tallied at the end of the season. Results show that by pooling labor and equipment in this way, each farmer has the advantage of more help and machinery than would be possible otherwise."

One of the summaries of the Guide is: "Whether a farmer wants to farm co-operatively, either in land or machinery, will depend on his personal preferences. Many farmers wish to keep control over their own farming operations rather than farm co-operatively even if the co-operative may be to their financial advantage."

IN DANISH HOME

Ronald Marquis of Sunderland one of the Ontario plowmen who at the International Plowing Match at Brantford last October won a trip to Britain, Denmark and Holland recently recounted some of the highlights of the trip.

Here is a memory of a visit "to the most up-to-date farm in Denmark, the home of Arnold Reiman, who specializes in a herd of Red Danish cattle. They have the highest production of butter fat in the country. We were dinner guests, and the courtesy of the adults and even the small children amazed us. They greeted us with a curtsey and handshake in the morning, and bade us good night in the same gracious manner.

We were impressed with the efficiency of a co-operative cheese and cream factory sixty miles from the Reiman neighborhood.

We found that on small farms the Danish white hogs are produced with carcasses six inches longer than our in Canada and with leaner sides. Hogsboro Holm, manger and director of the Danish Department of Agriculture and head of the Farmer's Co-Operative, told us that the breeding, feeding and grading of bacon is handled in such a way that they can trace a side of bacon from consumer to producer. With such efficiency, 96% of their bacon is exportable.

Incidentlly, 80% of all Danish income comes from its agriculture. In 1949 Denmark exported to Britain 88,447 tons of bacon and one million cases of eggs."

✦ ✦ ✦

BATTLE ON PRICES

"Farm organizations have been putting up a stiff battle for satisfactory agricultural prices during the last three months," James Gifford of Ennismore told the Federation directors here Tuesday night. "It is time that we as farmers looked out for our own interests. Our organizations are on trial, but even yet we are not as well organized as we should be."

W. W. Dawson commented that there are still some farmers in Peterborough who do not know they are members of the Federation. Their association is through their membership in commodity groups which make financial contributions to the Federation treasury, and are threby in collective affiliation with it. The implication of Mr. Dawson was that those farmers were needed in active membership and support if the Federation was to do the job which is expected of it when farm interests are affected as they have been since the first of the year.

ALF. BARBER GUEST

Alfred Barber, president of the United Packing House Workers and also of the Allied Labor Council, was the guest of the Farm Forum meeting Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Stewart, Otonabee. The subject was "Labor-Farmer, Friend or Foe?" One of the rural members reported a friendly discussion indicating various ideas and wishes held in common by the two groups represented.

DETERMINED MUSHER — It has taken Cecil (Mush) Moore nearly four months to make the first 1,600 miles of a projected 5,000-mile trip by dog team from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Lewiston, Me., but he's still determined to make it. Moore is shown with his dog team at Dawson Creek in northern British Columbia. He left Fairbanks Nov. 14.

Business Men Have Big Role In World Trade

TORONTO, March 10—(CP) — The part business men of the three great English-speaking democracies can play in revitalizing foreign trade was outlined by C Gordon Cockshutt of Brantford before the Empire Club Thursday.

Mr Cockshutt is chairman of the Anglo-Canadian trade committee and the Canada-United States committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, as well as president of the Cockshutt Plow Company.

In his prepared address Mr Cockshutt said preparations are under way for establishment of a committee representing business men in Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom to tackle many of the problems involving the three countries.

Mr. Cockshutt told the growth of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce — from 150 chambers and boards of trade in as many cities before the war to 645 today—and its closer relations with the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Solve Many Problems

This international group not only helped solve many economic probems common to the two countries but extended its interest beyond purely trade matters.

One is joint mobilization of the industrial defence forces of the North American continent.

"Business men in Canada and the United States are very directly concerned in this matter because modern war has become, to a large degree, a conflict of production and of technical development," said Mr. Cockshutt.

Further, the Canada-U.S committee "has paid particular attention to the matter of customs administration between Canada and the United States and it has been successful in bringing this important subject more into the public eye."

The committee is also interested currently in "the development of Canada and United States natural resources and the most efficient use of them for the welfare of the North American continent."

Handwritten Testament

KITCHENER, March 10 (CP)—A hand-written New Testament, the work of 224 Public School pupils, has been completed after five years' work. The 9-pound, 368-page volume contains 260 chapters of New Testament books. There also are 30 illustrations of Biblical scenes, most of them used to introduce chapters.

The work was conceived by Everek Storms, a Grade 6 teacher to relieve the monotony of formal penmanship exercises, and to aid in religious training.

2 Children Burned

ST. MARTIN'S N.B., March 10 (CP)—Two children were burned to death Thursday when fire destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hatfield near this village 30 miles northeast of Saint John. The victims were the Hatfield's daughter, Linda, 2, and her four-year-old cousin, William Hatfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hatfield.

Difficult Operation

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, March 10 (CP)—Siamese twins born Monday are joined by bone rather than by flesh, making separation more difficult, doctors said Thursday. Doctors, who declined to be quoted by name, said X-rays would have to be taken before a decision is made on whether to attempt separation. The two babies, girls, are joined at the abdomen, face-to-face.

Can Operate Car

TORONTO, March 10—(CP)—The city parks committee Thursday recommended that special permission be granted to Dr. E. V. Frederick to operate his small car on Toronto Island during the summer months. The doctor had threatened to give up his island practice if the ban against motor cars including his was continued on the islands.

Falls Out Window

OTTAWA, March 10 (CP) — Mrs. C. D. Hunt, about 30, of the suburban Westboro district was killed Thursday when she fell from a seventh floor window of the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa's largest hotel. Police said a coat and purse belonging to the woman was found in a bathroom on the seventh floor. Dr. Harry Dover, coroner, said an inquest will be held.

544-Apartment Project Nearing Financial Rocks

SEATTLE, March 10 (AP) — A government-guaranteed 544-apartment project south of Seattle Thursday was reported on the financial rocks.

It appeared to the heading, at least temporarily, into government hands.

A representative of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada said it was planning to foreclose on its $4,101,000 mortgage on the Lake Burien Heights project.

The project was built during the postwar housing shortage, when the government guarantee against mortgage losses was started.

The 35-acre development which includes 44 two-storey buildings, is near the Boeing Aircraft Company's main plant. A decrease in jobs and a drop in the population of the area from the wartime peak were blamed by mortgage men for the financial setback.

Attorney Dewitt Williams said the effect of the foreclosure suit, if successful, would be to give the title to the project to the government.

Clark Jackson, housing director said there would be no loss to the government or the taxpayer in the transaction.

"Part of the interest payments on such mortgages goes into a reserve fund to cover losses," he explained.

Sees Areas Of Peace Widening–Wallace

LONDON, Ont., March 10 (CP) —While many think that the United Nations may not avert a possible third world war, there is hope in signs that "the areas of peace are widening," President R. C. Wallace, of Queen's University, Kingston, said Thrusday night.

One obstacle to peace is suspicion, and today it is difficult to break down suspicion of the Soviet Union, he told the Polyon and Clio clubs at the University of Western Ontario.

High Liquor Rate

TORONTO, March 10 (CP) — Prof. Joslyn Rogers said Thursday the record of deaths caused by drunk driving is "too amazing to be believed." Statistics show 20 per cent of major accidents are due to liquor, said Prof. Rogers, consulting chemist to the Ontario medico-legal department. "But the figure should be 50 or 60 per cent if we could get all the facts," he told the West Toronto Kiwanis Club.

Hard To Choose Extension Men

TORONTO, March 10 (CP) — Selecting extension workers is one of the toughest problems facing members of the Canadian Agricultural Extension Association, it was revealed at the association's annual meeting Thursday.

J. A. Garner, Ontario's Director of Extension, said that picking new workers is something of a "headache" each year. Norman C. MacKay, Director of Extension for Manitoba, said he had found the personal interview one of the best methods of selection.

The meeting agreed that such aid from commercial firms would be of greater value if it were provided by associations in lump sums rather than by individual companies.

T. R. Hilliard, assistant director of extension for Ontario, said that without strong local clubs "the whole organization would be valueless." He commended the use of drama in brief plays used to illustrate farm problems and their solutions.

"We in Ontario feel that junior farmers' work is helping to meet the needs and objectives of farm youth," he said. "It provides for wider social recreational and religious life and at the same time assists in the problems of home and family living."

The call that wakes a nation's heart to action

Somewhere in Canada, a tiny victim of disaster clings tightly to the comforting arms of a Red Cross worker. In a Red Cross Outpost Hospital in the wilderness, a desperately injured trapper is fighting for life. In a modest room in a great city, the wife of a hospitalized war veteran prays for the joyous moment when she'll see him again in the homelike Red Cross Veterans' Lodge.

They are depending on you to hear the call of the Canadian Red Cross . . . and answer generously, from your heart. $5,000,000 is needed this year to ease the pain, to lighten the sorrow, to heal the ills and wounds of the less fortunate. Your gift is needed to extend the life-saving Red Cross Free Blood Transfusion Service across the Dominion . . . to maintain the Outpost Hospitals . . . to support the Veterans' Services . . . to widen the activities of the Red Cross Swimming and Water Safety Programmes, of the First Aid, Home-Maker and Nursing Services, of Women's Work Activities, and many other Red Cross services.

You have a part to play in the work of the Red Cross . . . and only you can play it. Give from your heart—give all you can!

This year the need is urgent for $5,000,000 to carry out the work you expect your Red Cross to do

THE WORK OF MERCY NEVER ENDS...

Give from the heart

Paris Theatres Enjoying Biggest Season

By VINCENT EGAN.

PARIS, March 10.—The legitimate theatres of Paris are having their biggest season since the war. The three state-owned theatres, the two national operas, and some 50 other playhouses are currently offering everything from classics to vaudeville. The choice is wide but, with some notable exceptions not highly rewarding.

The state-owned Opera reopened in mid-January, after a musicians' strike had kept it closed for a month. This season's repertory includes Samson and Delilah, Faust, Aida, The Magic Flute, and two productions of Romeo and Juliet—as an opera and as a ballet by Serge Lifar.

At the Opera-Comique, there are such lighter pieces as Madame Butterfly and Carmen, and ballet interpretations of Oscar Wilde's The Ballad of Reading Gaol and Alarcon's The Three-Cornered Hat.

The old Comedie Francaise, the French national theatre founded by Louis XIV in the 18th century leans heavily on the works of the Big Three of French classical drama—Corneille, Racine, Moliere. The current repertory also includes a French translation of Shakespeare's Othello and a production of Paul Claudel's The Satin Slipper. It is a high tribute to Claudel that, while he is still living, his works have already been recognized as being among the greatest in French literature.

The newest of the state-owned theatres is the Palais de Chaillot, opened in 1937. After being the scene of the September, 1948, assembly of the United Nations, the theatre was dedicated to a policy of presenting semi-classic plays, such as Victor Hugo's Hernani, as well as musical and dancing recitals. Katherine Dunham's dance troupe has recently completed a highly successful engagement after having been held over twice.

This winter the Latin Quarter branch of the Comedie Francaise, known as the Salle du Luxembourg, presents six twentieth-century French plays by lesser-known authors. The most recent addition to its repertory is a new play by Andre Obey, entitled L'Homme de Cendres.

The dean of modern French actors, Louis Jouvet, has been starring in Moliere's play, Tartuffe, at his own theatre.

A French adaptation by Jean Cocteau of Tennessee Williams' A Streetcar Named Desire, another play which Torontonians saw recently, is having an enormous success at the Theatre Edouard VII.

Annie Get Your Gun, under its French title, Annie du Far West has recently replaced the Austrian operetta, White Horse Inn, which filled the Chatelet, the city's largest theatre, for nearly three years.

Also in its third year, but in a smaller theatre, is a show called Branquignol. Obviously inspired by Olsen and Johnson, it has all their gimmicks except the fireworks display at the end.

CENTURIES AGO

The first bicycle appeared on the streets of Paris in the 16th century.

JUDITH COPLON, left, arrives at the Women's House of Detention, and Valentin A. Gubitchev, right, sits in a police van outside the federal courthouse in New York City, after both were convicted on charges of conspiracy and attempted espionage. Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan sentenced Valentin A. Gubitchev to 15 years in prison. But he said he would suspend sentence at the personal request of the US Attorney General and Secretary of State effective on the date when Gubitchev can leave the United States. Judith Coplon, his co-defendant, was sentenced to 15 years in prison. She was sentenced to five years for conspiracy and 10 years for attempting to pass US secrets, the sentences to run concurrently.

Reconsider By-Law

MONTREAL, March 10 (CP)—City council Thursday night voted by a narrow margin to return a proposed by-law on brief, summer costumes to the executive committee for further study. The by-law would prohibit women wearing "indecent" clothing such as sun-suits without boleros, beach suits of two-piece and shorts on streets, parks and public buildings. It would also forbid any man of more than 16 years of age to circulate with bare torso.

Senator Lesage Dies

QUEBEC, March 10 (CP) — Senator J. Arthur Lesage, 68, chief Liberal party organizer for Quebec district died suddenly at his home Thursday night.

Liquor Profits Boost Revenue For PEI Gov't

By The Canadian Press.

First report of Prince Edward Island's temperance commission tabled in the Legislature at Charlottetown shows a profit of $550,719 in the 1948-49 fiscal year. Prince Edward Island had prohibition until 1948.

The island temperance commission reported total sales of $1,919,837, or about $22 for each person, believed the highest per capita consumption in Canada.

The PEI Temperance Act, while doing away with the necessity of obtaining scripts for the purchase of liquor, provides more and stiffer penalties for infractions of the law and commission officials believe it has been proven satisfactory legislation for both "wets" and "drys."

The New Brunswick Legislature resumed throne-speech debate at Fredericton. Dr. E. T. Kennedy (PC-Kings) said he had received numerous protests against a provincial sales tax which has been rumored lately.

Debate Bill

The Quebec Legislative Assembly debated a bill revising juvenile delinquency laws while Chief Justice Antonin Galipeault, acting in absence of Lieutenant-Governor Sir Eugene Fiset, who is ill, gave royal assent to 29 government measures. These include supplementary estimates to carry the government over to the end of the fiscal year March 31.

The Ontario Legislature continued throne-speech debate and J. S. Dempsey (PC-Renfrew) claimed 40 per cent of the workers on the Toronto subway project are from the United States at a time when large numbers of Canadians are unemployed.

The Saskatchewan Legislature defeated by 29 to 19 a motion by J. W. Horsham (L-Wilkie) urging the government to write hull insurance on ships using the Hudson Bay route.

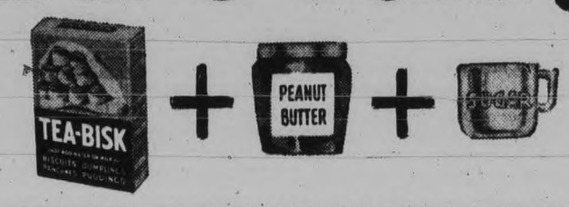
The Alberta Legislature defeated two opposition requests for information on oil lease tenders and public works contracts. After Mines Minister Tanner and Public Works Minister MacMillan asserted that publication of the requested returns would not be in the public interest, the House rejected the motions by votes of 46 to 5, in each instance.

Plan To Co-ordinate All Sea Rescue Work

OTTAWA, March 10 (CP) — Proposals will be placed shortly before the government for co-ordinating existing facilities for search and rescue at sea and on the Great Lakes, and their implementation probably will be the government's substitute for a Canadian coastguard.

An inter-departmental committee of the government has been working for several months on the problem and is about ready to turn in proposals for cabinet consideration, it was learned on Thursday night.

Its task has been to devise ways of co-ordinating the activities of such agencies as the RCAF and the RCMP in rescue work, which now work independently on rescue operations.



May Have Operation

MONTREAL, March 10 (CP)—Olive McKelvey, 22, Thursday night was reported resting comfortably in hospital after a third injection of novocaine had stopped her hiccups. Doctors said that if attempts to determine the cause of the hiccuping fail, Miss McKelvey will be operated on. The operation would crush the phrenic nerve, where the spasms originate, and would give the girl six months' relief.

Restore Service

BRANTFORD, March 10 (CP) —Double-track service on the Canadian National Railways main line between London and Toronto was restored Thursday night after a freight train derailment Thursday morning. Nine cars were thrown off the westbound line one half mile west of Brantford. Officials believed a broken wheel truck on one car was the cause.

British Car Industry Hopes Increase Sales To Canada

A visit to those twin centres of of British motor car production, Birmingham and Conventry, finds the industry in good heart for its 1950 production program, which includes plans for exports above even the 1949 level of nearly 250,000 vehicles,' says a British release.

This area of the Midlands is a hub of export activity, and commodities, shipped overseas are many and varied, ranging from silver plate and precision instruments to fish hooks and pens. But the motor industry is the chief exporting industry. The motor cars produced in the Birmingham-Coventry district bear such famous names as Austin, Rover Daimler, Singer, Hillman, Jaguar and Standard.

40 Percent

About 40 percent of all cars made in Britain are produced either in Coventry or Birmingham. Certain makes of car are associated with other areas such as the Morris with Oxford, the Bentley and Rolls Royce with Crewe, the Bristol with the city of the same name, the Ford with Dagenham, the Vauxhaul with Luton, but production is centred in the Midlands and much of Midlands traditional drive is now being directed to producing more cars to supply the needs of world markets.

The outlook for 1950 in encouraging. The industry should have more sheet steel, the lack of which has been holding back output since the end of the war. There should be enough steel to allow a production of about 450,000 vehicles this year, compared with about 415,000 in 1949. The intention is that about 75 percent of total production should go into the export trade; should this intention be realized, exports of British motor cars in 1950 should top the 335,000 mark.

Major Effort

It would be a splendid achievement if this increase of nearly 30 percent in exports over the 1949 level were to come about. It calls for a tremendous effort but for no greater effort than the industry has already put forth. It should not be forgotten that between 1947 and 1949 the volume of motor car and commercial vehicle exports from Britain almost doubled. Since devaluation, the industry has begun to recover from the export setback it received during the spring and summer of 1949. Given the expected increase in production and the absence of a similar setback this year, 1950 should be another record postwar year for car exporters.

The Birmingham - Coventry manufacturers will play their full part in the export drive.

Among the biggest names in the exports trade are Austin, the Rootes group (who make the Humber, Hillman and Sunbeam Talbot at Coventry) and Standard with which is associated the Triumph car.

Special Items

Exporters of more specialized products are Alvis, Jaguar, Armstrong-Siddeley and the Daimler company. During 1949 the Austin Motor Company was the leading exporter to such important markets as Canada, Australia and South Africa; the Standard Motor Company also did a big business with Australia while the Rootes group were the leading British exporters to Switzerland. A pointer towards the trend for 1950 is the announcement by the Austin organization that in order to meet export commitments, neither of its most popular models will be sold on the home market at all for some months.

In its export program for the year, the industry's special task is to increase shipments to the dollar markets and a great deal of planning has been going on in the Midlands to make this possible. Manufacturers in Birmingham and Coventry will take a prominent part in the all-British Motor Show to be held in New York in April. They are determined to try and recapture the U. S. A. market lost in 1949 when total exports of motors cars to the U.S. were only 6,700 vehicles compared with 24,000 in 1948. A factor in the decline was the improved delivery of U.S. models, which continued despite the temporary recession in United States economy in Mid-1949.

Canadian Market

The British industry, and the Midlands manufacturers as much as anyone in it, expects to continue to make headway in Canada during the current year. In 1949 Canada took over 31,000 cars from Britain and was, in fact, the second best market after Australia, which took nearly 85,000 complete cars and car chassis.

It is believed in the Midlands that the British industry can do much better in the Canadian market than at present. The demand for cars in this market shows no sign of slackening and it is pointed out that nearly eight times more new Canadian and U.S. cars than British cars were being registered in Canada in 1949.

Told Prisoners In Guelph Getting Drugs

TORONTO, March 10—(CP)—Reports by two prisoners that liquor and narcotics are being smuggled into Guelph Reformatory are being investigated by Ontario Provincial Police, it was learned Thursday.

There was no official comment on the reports but it was learned at Queen's Park Thursday that substantiation of the claims will not be known until the prisoners, John Stuherland, 22, and John Krasta, 20, are brought to trial and evidence heard.

The invesitgation started after the two prisoners allegedly hit Guard Edward Booth on the head with a piece of scantling last week in an abortive attempt to escape. The attack was witnessed by 20 other prisoners who did not interfere.

Booth suffered concussion, head wounds, back injuries and a possible fracture of the jaw.

The reformatory is an open institution with 940 prisoners. There are no walls or fences on the 1,000-acre layout.

5 Million Lbs. Apart

LONDON, Ont., March 10 (CP) —Two experts were 5,000,000 pounds of butter apart Thursday in estimating the butter surplus at the end of the government fiscal year, March 31. J. H. Duplan, local dairy executive and president of the National Dairy Council, forecast a figure of 25,000,000 pounds. Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to the Dominion agriculture minister, thought the surplus would be less than 20,000,000 pounds.

60 Cycle Work Done In Scarboro Area

TORONTO, March 10—(CP)—The first milestone in the 10 to 12-year frequency standardization program in Southern Ontario has been reached in suburban Scarboro where the work of changing electrical equipment from 25 to 60 cycles has been completed.

The number of appliances and pieces of equipment converted totalled 42,239.

On March 13 the standardization operations move into the Markham district. In Western Ontario, a second front was opened Jan. 11 at Corunna, downriver from Sarnia where to date 1,233 consumers have had their equipment converted. Total cost of the program is expected to be $200,000,000.

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

As I point in my answer to a reader's question, you can never lose by drawing from the stock pile. There's no sense in trying to dodge your fair turn to draw.

Q—In have only one card in my hand. My partner has made a meld on which I can play my card. May I play it and go out, or do I have to draw a card from the stock pile?

A—Yes, you must draw a card from the stock pile, but why object to that? If you cannot use it, discard it. It might be a red trey which would give you an extra 100 points; or it might be a wild card that would complete another canasta for you.

• • •

Q—Are the individual cards in a canasta counted in addition to the bonus for a canasta?

A—Yes. the scoring procedure is, first, to score the basis, which is made up of the canasta bonuses, red trey bonuses and the bonus for going out. After scoring the basic, put the red treys in the discard pile. If your side does not go out, you pay off for cards held in your hand and your partner's hand, then score for all of the cards you and your partner have left, including those in canastas.

• • •

Q—We play five-handed Canasta with only two decks. Should we use more than two decks?

A—No. Five-handed Canasta is actually four-handed with one player sitting out.

• • •

Q—The pack is frozen. I have taken the last card of the stock pile but do not go out. When I discard, can the next player take the whole pack if he is a natural pair matching the card I put on the discard pile? Or can he refuse to take the pack, and if so, what happens?

A—The next player has a perfect right to take the discard pile if he has two natural cards matching the up-card of the discard pile. However, he is not forced to do so and if he does not take the pack the hand is over.

Q—When you pick up a card from the discard pile, can you keep it in your hand and not play it?

A—In the first place, you cannot "pick up a card from the discard pile" and put it in your hand. If you are going to use the card on a meld, you must first put down on the table the two cards from your hand that allows you to take the up-card of the discard pile. Then take the up-card and play it with the 2 you have put down on the table. There is actually a penalty for taking the up-card of the discard pile and putting it in your hand.

• • •

Q—I had a red trey dealt to me which I failed to put on the table. I drew a card from the stock pile which would give me enough to make an initial meld provided I could take the up-card of the discard pile. Could I take the up-card to replace the red trey which I still had in my hand?

A—No. You did this backwards If you had put the red trey on the table and drawn from the stock pile to replace it, as you should have done, you still would have held the option of taking the discard pile or drawing another card from the stock pile.

DOROTHY DIX

Summer Camp Best Remedy For Shy Teen-age Girls

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl 16 years old. I am ugly, shy, awkward. Can't swim, skate, dance. My clothes look clumsy on me. I never had a date and when I am near a boy I get tongue-tied. I am pale and tired all the time, have no energy. I lie awake at night worrying and longing to be like other girls. Isn't there some place where I can go where I can become healthy and strong, where I can learn to swim and dance, and how to be charming and graceful?

DISCOURAGED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A summer camp for girls is the remedy you need. Go to one for the whole summer an unless there is something organically wrong with you, you will come back well and strong and with a different outlook on life. I have een so many girls actually made over by a couple of months at a summer camp.

Will Learn Adaptability

In the camp you will be thrown intimately with other girls and that will do more than anything else to cure you of your shyness and teach you how to be adaptable and companionable. The right food and the proper exercise will improve your looks by improving your health, and you will learn how to play the games and do the things that other young people do so that you will fit into any crowd. And you will get away from your family for a while, which i a good thing both for you and the family. All girls and boys should be sent away from home at 16 if their parents can possibly afford it, because at that time they get upon each other's nerves.

The mere fact that you recognize your defects and are anxious to set about curing them is a practical guarantee that you will succeed. For the only people who are hopeless are those who are so conceited that they are blind to their faults. At 16 you are still young enough to be plastic and you can practically make yourself what you will.

Don't despair because you are unattractive at 16. That is the ugly age. Many a girl who is an ugly duckling at 16 turns into a glorious swan by the time she is 20.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: You speak of women taking an interest in their husbands' affairs — reading good books and keeping themselves well informed in current events so as not to fall below their husband's standards of intelligence. What about the husbands who do not keep up with their wives, who never read anything but the headlines and the comic strips in the papers or a detective story? What about the men who slump intellectually after marriage?

DISGUSTED WIFE

ANSWER: What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander, and if marriage is to be made a success it is just as important for the husband to make himself an interesting companion to his wife as it is for her to be good company to him.

Of course, heretofore the idea has always been that women, spending most of their time in their own homes and having fewer outside contacts with the world than men, must make an effort to keep up with their husbands. But nowadays, what with the majority of girls staying in school as long as boys, and most women belonging to study clubs and book clubs, the shoe is on the other foot, and it is husbands who have to make an effort to keep up with their wives.

But in any case husbands and wives should try to grow together, to keep step with each other, for it is a tragedy when either outgrows the other.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a young man who is everything that, is fine and desirable, but he says that while he is deeply in love with me, he loves his mother better than he loves me. I like his mother very much, but I am not sure our marriage will be a success if I have the feeling that I take second place in my husband's heart. Should I overlook this for all of his virtues, or would it make a difference to me

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Before I married the young man I would try to decide just how much of a mother complex he really has, and particularly about how much his mother encourages him in his making her the centre of his universe. If she is one of the women who are determined always to be first with their sons, then I should say let him stay with mother. She will never cut her apron strings and he will always be more married to mother than to his wife.

DOROTHY DIX: cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

Rape Subject Of Latest Lupino Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 10 (AP) —Having treated the problems of unwed mothers and polio on the screen, Ida Lupino is now tackling the subject of rape.

The actress discussed the question in a rare moment of leisure during the filming of "Outrage," which she is directing. She relaxed at lunch with Collier Young, with whom she is still on friendly terms as co-producer but not as husband. They are separated maritally.

"Our picture," said Miss Lupino, "deals with the psychological effects of rape upon an average American girl, we are treating the subject not in shoddy or sensational way, but with a clinical approach."

She related that the heroine is the daughter of a college professor and the fiancee of a normal young man. She is attacked by a rapist who has been eying her for some time.

Censor Trouble

"That was our only trouble with the censor," the actress-director said 'Originally we pictured the rapist as mentally deranged. We had to change it so the act was premeditated."

The rest of the picture will show the effect of the rape on the girl. She shuns her boy friend and flees to a small community. There she comes under the influence of a minister, who tries to treat her mental instability.

All goes well until a boy tries to kiss her at a country dance. She clouts him senseless with a farm implement. A trial determines whether or not she should be punished.

Capsule Review

"Perfect Strangers" (W.B.) tells the story of two people who fall in love serving on a murder trial jury. Both are married to other people. The premise is good and it's carried out with judgement and an eye for creating apt characters. Ginger Rogers and Dennis Morgan show admirable restraint in the leads, and Thelma Ritter supplies some fine comedy.

You want your child to have a friendly, courteous attitude toward grown-ups.

WRONG WAY: When his manners aren't all they should be tell him how ashamed you were of him.

RIGHT WAY: Try to keep him from becoming self-conscious by making what corrections you have to make in a casual "This is how we do such-and-such" manner.

6—In Memoriams

COURNEYEA, Mrs. Minnie Courneyea who passed away, March 10, 1923.
What would we give her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see;
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be.
But some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more
In heaven, that happy life.
—Ever remembered by her sons and daughters, Frank, Ed., Phil, Helen, Stella and Marie.

LOWERY—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Ida Frances Lowery, who passed away March 10, 1944.
Two dear bright eyes, a tender smile,
A loving heart that knew no guile,
Deep trust in God that all was right,
Her joy to make some other bright,
If sick or suffering one she knew
Some gentle act of love she'd do,
No thought of self, but of "the other,"
I know He said "Well done, dear mother."
—Sadly missed by husband and daughters Lottie and Viola.

MOONEY—In loving memory of William Mooney, who passed away March 10, 1947.
I have only a memory dear father,
To remember my whole life through,
But the sweetness will linger forever
As I treasure the image of you.
—Ever remembered by son Percy and daughter-in-law Muriel.

REHILL—In loving memory of Bruce Rehill, who passed away March 10, 1943.
Five years have passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was called away
God took him home, it was His will,
Within our hearts he liveth still.
—Ever remembered by wife, Hilda, and daughter Doreen.

SHEWARD—In loving memory of Selina Sheward, who passed away March 10, 1948.
It's just two years ago today,
Since our mother was called away
Her trials were many,
God thought it best
To take her into eternal rest.
—Lovingly remembered by the family.

TALLMAN—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Flossie E. Tallman, who passed away seven years ago today.
Today recalls sad memories
Of a dear mother gone to rest,
And those who think of her today
Are the ones who loved her best.
—Sadly mised by daughters, Muriel, Katie, son-in-law John and grandson Garry.

TALLMAN—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Flossie Tallman, who passed away seven years ago today.
When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear mother, how we think of you.
Friends are friends if they are true,
We lost our best friend when we lost you.
—Sadly missed by daughter Eva and son-in-law Glenn.

Three Publications Receive Awards

NEW YORK, March 10 (CP)—Three Canadian student publications Thursday received awards from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association in its annual competition.

The Canadian prize winners were among the long list of awards, made in more than 40 classifications, which went to student periodicals in many countries.

A third-place rating went to the Niagara Falls, Ont., Collegiate and Vocational Institute newspaper, The Roar, in competition among duplicated newspaper in senior high schools from 301 to 750 pupils.

City Taxpayers

"What we don't want is an overdraft at the end of this year" His Worship said.

Leave Figure at 49.5

His position was that for the sake of half a mill in the rate is was preferable to leave the figure at 49.5 and have sufficient revenue for the probable expenditures of the year.

"And we are not budgeting for a surplus," said Ald. Waddell. "We are budgeting only to break even at the end of the year. It is in the best interest of the ratepayers that we should be a little on the plus side than on the minus side, bu. we are not putting in the rate any unnecessary tax on the people."

Ald. Waddell said the estimated disbursements this year amounted to $1,014,904.07; the estimated receipts were $252,361; leaving $762,543 to be raised by tax. This is the amount of outlay controllable by the council.

"It represents a lot of manhours," Ald. Waddell answered.

"I have been keenly interested not only in the rate this year, but also as to what it may be next year," Ald Miller said. "I don't want to see a rate of 52 or 53mills next year. In committee it has not been a matter with me of support of the present rate only, but also of trying to look forward to next year."

Ald. Waddell said the committee had shuffled all the way down from 51 mills to 49, discussed the extra revenue, and the outlook at 49 mills. Then, the needs of the Board of Works were further looked into and it appeared almost essential that the council should fix the rate at 49.5 mills."

Ald. Doug Miller suggested that the finance chairman should make a survey of the financial position of the council at the end of six months this year, instead of at the beginning of the last quarter as was done with helpful results last year.

Ald. Waddell replied that this course had been considered, and that it was the intention to prepare a statement at the end of the half year, if not earlier.

Ald. Dodds moved the committee's recommendation of the 49½ mill rate to the council. Ald. Burrows seconded that motion.

Ald. Burrows said he did not hesitate to second it, after what he had suggested Monday night. He felt that the possibilities of striking a rate of 49 mills had been thoroughly investigated.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

The most publicized holdout in baseball history ended 19 years ago today when Babe Ruth, the Yankee slugger, signed a $160,000 two-year contract with New York Yankees. Newspapers made much of the fact that the Babe was being paid more than the president of the United States, whose salary was $75,000.

Forum Agrees Farmer-Labor On Better Terms

NORWOOD, March 10 (ENS)—Norwood farmers agreed that labor and farmer had very much in common and were dependent upon each other, when the subject Lebor and Farmer, Friend or Foe, was discussed by Killarney Corner farm forum.

The discussion took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Nixon. H. Bradley, vice president of the U.P.W.A. in Peterborough, was present.

The demand for higher industrial wages enables the laborer to buy more farm produce and to pay a fair price for it, it was agreed. Farmers knew they were much better off in these days of higher industrial wages.

Labor unions were taking much more interest in the welfare of the farmers according to the newspaper "The Packinghouse Worker", official organ of the U.P.W.A.

The farmers warned that any new round of wage demands could not be tolerated when farm prices were now on the downward trend. They could not produce at a price below the cost of production.

Just as farmers needed the purchasing power of the city worker, so labor needed prosperous farmers to buy the products of their labors.

The hostess served lunch.

LOOKING AHEAD TO SPRING. A young version of sheath dress in navy dotted pink taffeta. Model carries snug little mess jacket and detachable pleated nylon apron which makes this three-way costume; right, misty grey organdy with blush pink appliqued flowers on skirt and "little girl" sash in soft shade of pink.

IODE Officers All Re-elected

NORWOOD, March 10 (ENS)—Mrs. A. M. Weir presided at the I.O.D.E. meeting in the Legion Hall on Thursday.

A supplied quilt made and finished by Mrs. W. Throop was on display. Mrs. W. P. Forshee and Mrs. W. H. Giffen will pack the overseas box this month.

It was decided to cover all shelves and work counters in the kitchen of the Legion building in the spring, in return for the use of the hall for IODE meetings.

Officers of 1949 have been re-elected for 1950 as follows: Regent, Mrs. A. M. Weir; first vice regent, Mrs. W. H. Giffen; second vice regent, Mrs. Harry Pearce; recording secretary, Mrs. C. A. Copp; corresponding secretary, Mrs. P. Kempt; treasurer, Mrs. A. A. Waddell; educational secretary, Mrs. Jas. R. Baskin; press secretary, Mrs. W. J. Turner; post war work convener, Mrs. R. D. Fuller; overseas box convener, Mrs. W. P. Forshee; sewing convener, Mrs. George Bitten.

Final plans were made for the tea to be held on Saturday. Mrs. A. Gill is tea convener.

Tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. A. M. Weir and Mrs. A. A. Waddell. Hostesses at the next meeting will be Mrs. A. R. Atkinson and Mrs. J. Hockridge.

Iran Changes

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—Iran was reported ready today to break ranks with most of the Moslem world and grant limited diplomatic recognition to Israel.

Twp. Council Prepares For Work On Roads

BETHANY, March 10—(ENS)—A deputation of ratepayers from the north boundary asked Manvers township council Tuesday to give special consideration to work required on the north boundary road.

The tender submitted by Russell Kerr of Bethany for gravel crushing was accepted, subject to the approval of the Department of Highways.

Other tenders were submitted by R. A. Blythe Company, Toronto; Harvey Construction Company, Kingston; Spencer Vernon, Bradford; Harnden and King, Grafton and Greenwood Construction, Grand Valley.

Try New Drug

NEW YORK, March 10—(AP)—Three-year-old Scotty Hanson, slowly dying from leukemia, arrived in New York by plane from Minnesota today from emergency treatment with the new drug ACTH. His malady is a form of blood cancer, and last November he was given only six months to live.

Farmers Say City Men Have More Free Time

DARTFORD, March 10—(ENS)—West Dartford Farm Forum was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mercer White and Bruce on Monday. After listening to the radio broadcast it was decided that strikes do affect farmers and also that city people enjoy more leisure time than the farmers.

When the farmer takes a day off he does many hours work before leaving in the morning and again he has to be home for chores at night.

The program took the form of a debate on "A Woman's Place is in the home". Those taking part were Eilen McCracke, captain for the affirmative; George Broadworth Jr., Stanley Morrow, Carman Atkinson, Bruce White and Aureen Brown. John Atkinson, captain for the opposing side, was assisted by Arthur Ward, Jack McCracken, Victor Morrow, Cecil Grills and Bill McCracken. The judges, Mrs. Arthur Ward, Raymond Richardson and Donald Yule gave their decision in favor of the affirmative.

The next meeting will be held at the home of David and Raymond Richardson and will take the form of a progressive crokinole party.

Lunch was served by the men.

Never At Loss

CHICAGO, March 10—(AP)—A soldier, asked for identification to cash a war bond at the National Bank, whipped out his upper dentures. Neatly printed on the back of the plastic choppers were his name and serial number. The bank cashed the bond.

Gored By Hog

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Mar. 10—(AP)—Ashton Sullivan, 51, was severely gored and chewed Thursday by an enraged boar hog on his farm. Sullivan's condition was described as "fair." He was attacked when he tried to force the 500-pound animal back into a pen from which it had escaped.

Need Better Pensions Plan Commons Agrees, Ideas Differ On Changes

Joint Committee Proposed To Study Form Old Age Pensions Take, Martin Charges Devise Best Possible

OTTAWA, March 11.—(CP).—All parties in the Commons agreed Friday there should be a better system of pensions for Canada's aged. Agreement ended there.

From various parts of the Chamber came conflicting views on what changes should be made, when they should be implemented and how they should be financed.

The debate, adjourned until next week, was on a motion by Health Minister Martin for establishment of a joint committee of the Senate and the Commons to study the whole pensions question.

Mr. Martin said the committee would study all phases of old-age security, with the eventual aim of establishment of the "best possible" old age and retirement system for Canadians.

Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton) said the government was establishing the committee to relieve itself of "pressure" from all parts of the country for improved pensions.

Contributory Scheme

The Progressive Conservative party, he said, wanted immediate implementation of a national contributory old-age pension scheme.

Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) called for immediate removal of the means test. He said the CCF party, while in favor of an over-all contributory social security program, was not in favor of a program requiring contributions for pensions alone.

He sponsored an amendment to Mr. Martin's motion with a view to making it clear that the committee would have the power to study the possibility of removing the means test from the present pensions system.

The Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC-MacLeod) indicated he was opposed to a contributory system. He wondered what would happen in a contributory system to those who could not contribute.

He proposed an amendment that would make it possible for the committee to study the possibility of paying a pension to incurables unable to earn their livelihood.

David Cross (L-Toronto Spadina) supported Mr. Hansell's amendment and said he wanted to see the means test removed.

WAITRESS TESTIFIES—Shown here hiding her face is dark-haired Marie-Ange Robitaille mounting the steps of Quebec courthouse on her way to testify at the murder trial of her former boy friend, J. Albert Guay. In her testimony, the 19-year-old waitress said she knew Guay since she was 16 and left her home to go on trips with him. Guay is alleged to have murdered his wife to be free for the waitress' affections, by having a time-bomb placed on an aircraft which crashed Sept. 9 at Sault au Cochon, Que., killing 23 persons including Mrs. Guay.

Boost Asked Once More In Rail Rate

Wants Further 3.4% In Suprise Move, Provinces Ask Drop

OTTAWA, March 11.—(CP).—Canada's tangled freight-rate situation was more confusing than ever today following a surprise move by the railways for another rate boost.

The Railways Association of Canada Friday placed an application before the Board of Transport Commissioners to boost its March 1 increase by another 3.4 per cent. If granted, it would add about $11,000,000 to the country's freight bill.

The move was made while most of the provinces opposing rate increases were considering an appeal to cabinet for downward revision of the March 1 award giving the railways a 7.4 per cent boost in existing rates.

One province—Saskatchewan—already has announced its decision to appeal to cabinet against the award that gave the railways about $26,000,000 annually in additional revenue.

Hearings Since 1946

The railways action re-opened the whole controversial question of freight rates that has been threshed out in lengthy hearings before the Commission since 1946 and is the subject of a current Royal commission probe.

The association, made up of the two national systems and about 15 smaller lines, contended in its application that the board's March 1 judgment had been out of line on legal points.

They claim that the board found a "deficiency" in the financial requirements of the Canadian Pacific Railway—the yardstick for the fixing of rates — and then did not grant enough of an increase to overcome that deficiency.

The board accepted a deficiency figure of $29,971,700 for 1949, without the eight-per-cent increase granted last September. The new application said the CPR would get only $22,300,000 in additional revenue based on 1949 level of freight traffic.

Asked 20 Per Cent In 1948

The new application is an aftermath of an application first made by the railways in 1948 when they asked for a 20 per cent rate hike. The board granted them an eight-per-cent boost last September and another eight per cent March 1. The latest boost amounted to 7.4 per cent on the rates in effect.

After that award, the railways filed new rate schedules taking in the increase, to become effective March 23. Now they ask the full 20 per cent of the original 1948 application.

The railways' action was regarded as a tactical move tending to block off any action by cabinet to reduce the March 1 increase.

IT'S THREE O'CLOCK IN THE MORNING—Here is a group of Quebecers with lunches and soft drinks who lined up at 3 a.m., March 9, at the door of Quebec courthouse to get seats at the murder trial of J. Albert Guay. They wanted to hear testimony of Guay's former girl friend, Marie-Ange Robitaille, 19-year-old waitress for whose affection Guay is alleged to have murdered his wife.

Must Join Europe Union Drop Tariffs

Hoffman Annoyed By Britain's Attempt To Keep Pound Block

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11 — (AP)—Paul G. Hoffman said today Britain stands to lose $150,000,000 in Marshall Plan aid unless she joins with other European countries in a plan to lower trade barriers.

The economic co-operation administrator told reporters the big cut-back—amounting to almost one-quarter of the sum tentatively earmarked for British recovery next year—won't be put into effect as "punitive action"; the money simply will go into a proposed European payments union whether or not Britain joins.

Nevertheless, Hoffman said he is "annoyed" with the British government for its stand on the complicated plan to help liberalize the exchange of currency among western European countries.

"But they are the usual annoyances that result from trying to resolve differences," he said, adding that he expects Britain to go along with the project eventually.

The European Payments Union, as blueprinted by Hoffman, would function as a currency clearing house for all Marshall Plan countries. ECA has set aside $600,000,000 to finance operation of the scheme but Britain thus far has refused to say that she will participate.

Real Problems

Hoffman said Britain has "some very real problems" which affect the British attitude on the payments union.

These include extensive financial commitments with countries in the sterling area which would be difficult to resolve should Britain join the new currency pool.

"This brings up some very real problems—not trumped up ones, either," he said. But the recovery administrator said he still is annoyed at what he calls the British failure to see the "broader issues involved."

Hoffman has called the payments union a "must" if the Marshall Plan is to succeed.

Actors Quit Following Row With Adjudicator

MONTREAL, March 11 (CP)—La Compagnie Du Masque, a 12-member co-operative group, announced today it has withdrawn its entry from the Western Quebec Regional Drama Festival.

The action came three days after British Adjudicator Maxwell Wray was heckled from the stage of Les Compagnons De St. Laurent Playhouse by a group of young French-speaking men and a girl.

La Compagnie Du Masque on Tuesday night presented Jean Cocteau's one-act "Antigone" in the current festival. The following night when Mr. Wray arose to make his criticism of "Le Malade Imaginaire," a Moliere comedy-satire presented by Les Compagnons De Saint Laurent, a group in the audience began yelling questions at him and Jacques Hebert, Montreal free-lance journalist, attacked Mr. Wray's comments regarding "Antigone."

Mr. Wray finally left the stage but later returned when Father Emile Legault, director of Les Compagnons, went to the stage and made a public apology for the treatment of the adjudicator.

The regional festival committee was scheduled to meet later today to determine "a course of

UN May Operate Without Russia

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., March 11—(CP)—Possibility of a United Nations functioning permanently without Russia-bloc representation was given growing credence today by some diplomatic sources.

Trygve Lie, U.N. secretary-general said Friday at a press conference that a decision could not be expected for "some weeks" on the Chinese representation issue which has caused the U.N.'s gravest crisis.

But he warned that it is necessary to reach a decision "soon."

Meanwhile, there was no break in sight in the Russian-bloc boycott which has extended to 15 U.N. bodies since Jan. 13. The Russians walked out when U.N. group voted down Soviet demands for ousting of Chinese Nationalist delegates.

Only 15 of the U.N.'s 59 members have recognized Communist China. In the Security Council, key U.N. body, five of the 11 members have recognized Mao Tze-Tung's regime. Canada continues to back Nationalist China.

Wrong End!

BRANTFORD, March 11. (CP). A prehistoric "skull" found by the Rev. Andrew Maracle on the Six Nations Indian reservation near here has been identified by an expert as the back end of a cow. Mr. Maracle for hours perused books trying to find out what kind of an animal had such a "skull" but it seems that he was looking at the wrong end.

Communist Spy Prefers Soviet

NEW YORK, March 11. (AP)—Valentin A. Gubitchev, convicted as a Soviet Spy, will accept the United States government's offer of release from a 15-year prison term on the condition that he go home to Russia, it was reported today.

The government had told the 33-year-old engineer that he could pick his own penalty for conspiracy and attempted espionage against the United States.

He could get out and stay out, or he could go to prison for 15 years.

Both the New York Times and the New York Herald Tribune said they had learned of Gubitchev's decision to sail March 20.

The reported sailing date is four days ahead of the deadline set by Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan Thursday when he handed out sentences of 15 years each to Gubitchev and his co-spy, 28-year-old Judith Coplon.

Never To Return

The judge, on recommendation of the Justice Department and the State Department, said the Russian's sentence would be suspended if he made his exit within two weeks—"never to return."

The government has hinted that the offer was made in the hope that it might induce Communist countries to accord similar treat-

Canada-Mexico Trade Ten Times 1939 Total

MEXICO CITY, March 11 (CP)—Canada's Resources Minister Winters said Friday night his country and Mexico are doing a $40,000,000-a-year two-way trade—10 times the 1939 total—and Canada wants to keep it right on growing.

He hailed as a remarkable achievement the growth in both import and export trade between two countries rapidly increasing their industry on either side of the United States, the greatest of all industrial nations.

Mr. Winters, in a speech to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Club of Mexico City, said Canadian business firms are "carefully examining" Mexico's plans for increased economic diversification and her encouragements to foreign investment.

He brought a "message of sincere friendship and affection from the Canadian people" to Mexico The outstanding feature of current and foreseeable Canadian-Mexico relation was "an increasing exchange of ideas, people and goods."

Trade had increased to the point where Canada was "firmly in second position as a supplier to Mexico, having advanced from 15th place in four years." Canada also was Mexico's best customer.

Her exports to this country were worth $15,000,000 in 1949, including wheat, newsprint, aluminum, machinery and equipment. Her imports from Mexico were valued at $25,000,000. Total trade, both ways between the two countries in 1939 was worth $3,500,000.

"Canadians are anxious to buy even more from Mexico in 1950 and are hopeful that Mexico, in turn, will buy more from us, to our mutual benefit."

Canadian investment here was particularly notable in the development of public utilities, but "more recently increasing interest has been shown in the establishment of branch plants."

Reprieve Doomed Man Escapes Chair By Hour

COLUMBUS, O., March 11—(AP)—A convicted slayer sat jubilant in his Ohio penitentiary death row cell today after a dramatic 11th hour reprieve saved him from the electric chair Friday night.

Governor Frank J. Lausche granted Theodore R. McClure, 23, a Cleveland negro, a 60-day stay of execution at 7:10 p.m., only 50 minutes before McClure's scheduled electrocution.

The governor's move came only a few hours after he had refused to intervene in McClure's behalf.

McClure owes his lease on life to a group composed of a doctor, a detective, an author and a publisher who call themselves "The Court of Last Resort."

Former Mayor, 84 Dies In Lindsay

LINDSAY, March 11.—A pioneer Lindsay industrialist, D. J. McLean, died in the Ross Memorial Hospital, in his 85th year.

He was born in Mariposa township, west of Lindsay, farmed for some time and then embarked in the carriage-making and blacksmith business. He operated at Sonia and Norwood, coming to Lindsay in 1907 to establish the Dominion Wheel Works. Later he bought the Victoria Wheel Works at Galt and following an amalgamation with J. D. Chaplin and Senator Taylor formed the Hayes Wheel Co., of Galt. With the advent of the steel wheel on automobiles the business finally closed up and Mr. McLean retired from business.

He was a life-long Conservative and Presbyterian and his recreation was baseball, fishing and lawn bowling.

He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Majory of Toronto. He was a councillor in 1915 and mayor of Lindsay in 1916.

Brothers Shot By Police After Wild Chase

KINGSTON, March 11 (CP) — A wild 60-mile-an-hour chase of an alleged stolen car on the outskirts of Kingston late Friday resulted in the wounding of two Kingston brothers after they had been surrounded by a cordon of Provincial Police.

In hospital are Clauston Van-Koughnet and his brother Dalton. Police said the pair tried to shoot it out after being trapped in a tile factory near the northern edge of the city.

The pursuit began when Richard Brewer reported his car stolen from a downtown street. The car later was reported first in the vicinity of Norton and then near Elgin, 35 miles northeast.

Police set up road-blocks as word was received that the car was returning to the city. It crashed through one road-block near the Kingston Tile Works and two men were seen to abandon the car to flee into the company yard.

Firing broke out when police surrounding the area met resistance.

The gunfire ended when police shots found their marks as the pair tried to escape in another stolen car. One of the brothers was believed in serious condition.

Report Reds Fleeing Canton

HONG KONG, March 11. (AP).—Canton, greatest city of South China, today was depicted by independent Chinese as a centre of terror and Communist Government crisis, all because of a relative handful of Nationalist air bombs.

Promiscuous shootings by frightened Red troops, use of forced labor and a financial panic are reported elements in the atmosphere of fright.

The Reds have not tried to conceal the fact that they are attempting to move their regional government to a safer place. They have encouraged the mass flight of civilian which has been in progress since the damaging Nationalist air raids of March 3.

The independent Wah Kiu Yat Po said today that Communist money had practically collapsed. It said that on the morning of March 8 the money was quoted at 6,000 to one Hong Kong dollar, and by 4 p.m. the same day had fallen to 22,000 to one Hong Kong dollar. (This would make it about 1,500,000 to one Canadian dollar).

Another Chinese dispatch said trains, river boats and every means of getting out of Canton had been jammed for a week and that the Red mayor, Yen Chien-ying, had departed several days ago for Kukong, 120 miles north.

One-Rat Invasion Alerts Top Defence In Alberta

EDMONTON, March 11.—(CP).—A lone and probably unsuspecting rat has thrown the province of Alberta into a tizzy.

The rodent, spotted and summarily dispatched in Edmonton, is the first known member of its species to cross the provincial boundary from Saskatchewan in years.

The little invader may be the forerunner of a devastating horde which could cause damage estimated at up to $15,000,000, and destroy the province's reputation as the only place in North America where the pest does not appear in numbers.

John H. Brown, Provincial Health Department advocates an all-out fight against an expected invasion, with shooting, trapping, and poisoning carried out under supervision.

Mr. Brown, the Paul Revere of the crisis, is stumping the province to arouse the citizenry.

"It has been definitely proved," he says, "that rats can never be eradicated once they become established. Immediate action should be taken to enter into an agreement with the Dominion government and the Province of Saskatchewan to allow us to start eradication work in Saskatchewan."

He expects the invasion to come from the east, with the Rockies protecting the western frontier. Most insurgents to date have arrived by "accidental importation" in box cars.

Garage Destroyed In Fire At Cambray

LINDSAY, March 11.—The garage and service station of James Ketchen, at Cambray, eight miles northwest of Lindsay, was destroyed by fire Friday. The Lindsay brigade was called, but the fire was out of control by the time the brigade reached the scene.

Villagers rushing to the fire were able to roll out three cars and a truck, carry out tools and other equipment, as well as tires. A tractor, minus the two front wheels, was destroyed.

Origin of the fire is unknown.

Ontario Budget Due Next Week

TORONTO, March 11 (CP) — Ontario's 1950 budget is likely to be presented to the Legislature next week, probably Friday, government sources indicated Friday.

There are still 18 members who have indicated they want to speak in the throne-speech debate but this list may be cut down if the government is pressed for time. The budget usually is brought down following the throne-speech debate.

Premier Frost said Friday in an interview that debate on Ontario's proposed new labor code is not likely to go through second reading before the budget debate is completed and the estimates approved.

If the budget is brought down Friday there might be "a couple of hours" debate next week, the Premier said. Two weeks' debate on the budget and estimates will follow.

Pope Raps Arms Race Wants Prayer Crusade

VATICAN CITY, March 11 — (AP)—Pope Pius declared in a world-wide encyclical today the armaments race leaves "the souls of all fearful and suspended." He called for a "crusade of prayer" on Passion Sunday, March 26, to invoke of God "opportune remedies to prevent evils."

The pope said :

"Although war has ceased almost everywhere, nevertheless the desired peace, a solid and stable peace that could happily resolve the many and always increasing motives of discord, as not arrived. Many nations place obstacles in each other's path and as trust fades there is a race to rearm, leaving the souls of all fearful and suspended."

US May Be Empty Of Atom Secrets

WASHINGTON, March 11 — (AP)—Dr. Klaus Fuchs, confessed Russian spy, may have stripped the United States' scientific cupboard bare of all but its latest atomic secrets.

Further, it is considered likely among those familiar with the situation that he could have passed on to the Rusians highly "educated guesses," to say the least, about the rate of U.S. A-bomb production and the size of the country's stock-pile.

Both are closely-guarded secrets. So is all data connected with development of the potentially more deadly hydrogen bomb. Fuchs was familiar with the theory of the H-bomb, too.

Men Sleeping In Shifts In Crowded Boom Town

MATTAWA, March 11 (CP)—The troops who "hot-bunked" it in the liners Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth during the war had nothing on newcomers to this Northern Ontario town.

But Mayor Arthur Valois denies conditions here are so bad that while one shift slumbers, the other toils.

Why, he exclaims, "we have only four families in houses where one family used to live."

The Mayor did not explain this cryptic remark, but the stark fact in this booming district where a mighty dam and powerhouse are being constructed and a big timber-clearing project is under way, is this: Beds are being used on a round-the-clock basis. The sheets hardly get cold before the next man rolls in.

Since last year the population has increased from 2,000 to 3,100, and more are coming, says Mayor Valois. Some 50 new buildings also have been constructed.

The 24-hour working shift beds bring back memories of the boom town days in such northern communities as Cobalt, Timmins, Kirkland Lake, and Sudbury. That's when the bed, in which four persons slept, was the hallmark of expansion.

But, this is the crowning insult, says the Mayor: Men not fortunate enough to get a bed can't even get a bottle of beer—too many transients and not enough seats.

"The transients are crowding the local people off the street," he remarked.

No Vatican Envoy Says St. Laurent

OTTAWA, March 11 (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent said Friday he does not believe a Canadian diplomatic representative to the Vatican should be appointed while there is a danger of the move stirring religious controversy in Canada.

He made the statement in an address to a delegation from the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor, which urged the appointment.

Mr. St. Laurent said he personally felt it would be advantageous for Canada to have a representative at the Vatican. But in the government's opinion there still were too many people who believed the appointment would be a statement by the government that the Roman Catholic faith was superior.

Smaller Stores 'Squeezed Out' -CCF Member-

TORONTO, March 11 —(CP)— Measures to save small business men from being "squeezed out" by large chain stores were urged in the Ontario Legislature Friday by Reid Scott (CCF—Toronto Beaches).

Mr. Scott said that large chain stores were using their great purchasing power unfairly in competition with small independent merchants. He suggested that a retailers research and advisory council be set up under the provincial planning and development department, to curb unfair trade practices.

Other speakers in the continued Throne-Speech debate were S. J. Hunt (PC—Renfrew North) and J. D. Baxter (L—Prince Edward-Lennox).

Mr. Scott said Ontario chain store grocery business in February, 1948, was 50.6 per cent more than in 1947. In the same period independent business increased only 5.5 per cent. This latter figure, actually indicated a loss in volume of independent trade, he said, since it was a period of rising prices.

Purchasing Power

Chain stores with their great purchasing power were able to win discounts and other concessions from manufacturers and wholesalers. To attract customers chain stores sold some nationally-advertised products below the cost of handling, giving the public the impression they were being "robbed" at other stores.

Lifting of commercial rent controls had benefitted large property owners, but dealt "another major blow" to the small business men, he said.

Publish Sale Terms

Mr. Scott, at 23 the youngest member of the Legislature, advocated that wholesalers be required to publish their terms of sale, including all discounts and concessions, so that everyone in the trade could take advantage of them. He asked the government to encourage the growth of co-operative purchasing agencies so that small business men could pool their purchasing power.

Labor Minister Daley said he did not agree that chain stores "undersell the eficiently-operated small businesses."

In addition small grocery stores, for instance, gave "individual service" and "a little credit here and there when urgently needed."

"The small business man is doing a good job and will be in business for a long time," Mr. Daley said.

Low Hydro Prices

Mr. Hunt suggested that manufacturing firms should be offered lower prices for Hydro power if they were close to the generating source. The power could be more cheaply supplied and would encourage decentralization of industry.

There was a growing tendency to look to government for solution of all problems, he added, but "people can do more to help themselves than they have actually tried to do."

Mr. Baxter, while commending the farm products marketing act, said there was a danger that farmers would use collective bargaining provisions of the act to build a price structure so high that it would erect a "tariff wall" around Ontario.

He said the government, through agricultural colleges extension agencies, should guide the farmer to use the act's provisions wisely.

He repeated the demand by Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver for a provincial-municipal conference to define the fields of authority of the two levels of government.

The girl is Regine Rowiskeija, 22. The army defined a confusion agent as a person who purposely acts suspiciously to divert attention from real spies.

RADIUM HUNT ENDS—Two National Research Council lab assistants study the dangerous radium needles which sent officials on a mad hunt through Ottawa. Fifty Belgians Injured; Vote On Leopold's Return

BRUSSELS, March 11—(AP)—Fifty demonstrators were injured at Antwerp Friday night in a violent prelude to tomorrow's advisory referendum on the future of exiled King Leopold III. Hand-to-hand fighting between Leopoldists and large numbers of his opponents broke out during a fireworks display staged by supporters of the move to bring the king back to the throne he left after surrendering to the Germans in 1940.

Five hundred policemen were needed to quell the riot.

It was the largest disorder reported thus far in connection with the referendum, in which some 5,500,000 of the 8,000,000 Belgians are eligible to cast ballots.

Leopold has said he would abdicate in favor of his 19-year-old son, Prince Baudouin, if he receives less than 55 per cent of the votes. But if he does attain that majority, it will not insure his return.

Referendum Advisory

The referendum is only advisory, to indicate the will of the voting population. Parliament still must decide whether to ask the 48-year-old Leopold to "resume the use of his constitutional powers."

Following Belgium's surrender to the Germans May 28, 1940, the King refused to follow the country's exile government to London. Instead he remained to become a prisoner of the Germans and was deported by them to Germany in 1944.

The liberated country's parliament in 1945 voted he could not return without its permission. Since his own liberation by Allied forces in 1945, the King has lived in Switzerland. He has been the centre of a violent controversy at home in which the strongly Catholic Social Christian Party has campaigned for his return and Socialists, Communists and Liberals have bitterly fought the proposal.

The King's brother, Prince Charles, has reigned as regent in his absence.

action to prevent any recurrence of disturbance."

The withdrawal was announced by Fernand Dore, director of La Compagnie Du Masque and also French-language secretary of the regional committee.

He said "we wish to deny certain rumors to the effect that La Compagnie Du Masque was the instigator of the disturbance. . ."

Later Mr. Dore told The Canadian Press he thought the withdrawal action would clarify the present festival situation. He said his company has nothing against Mr. Wray as adjudicator, but with the "present turn of events" the company thought it necessary to take this action.

After Wednesday night's disturbance, some drama followers said they thought Mr. Wray's comments were too humorous." Mr. Wray at the time said he was "stunned" and "not used to being attacked this way."

He told The Canadian Press Wednesday night he would "leave Montreal if anything like this happens again."

Tower Prisoner Now Sells Honey

DUBLIN, — (CP) — Norman Baillie-Stewart, 41-year-old prewar "officer in the Tower" and wartime Nazi broadcaster from Hamburg and Bremen, has arrived here to develop German-Irish trade.

He told reporters: "I've finished with politics."

Baillie-Stewart, once a British army officer and now a German citizen, prefers to be known as "James Scott" for business and social purposes. German goods he will help to sell here include cattle, rabbit skins, dried milk, honey, bicycle parts, diesel engines and surgical instruments.

In 1933 he was sentenced to five years' imprisonment for giving military secrets to a foreign power, and held in the Tower of London for many months.

In 1946 he began another five-year term helping Germany during the war. He was released last May.

He favored a system that would provide a uniform pension for all at a fixed age. He suggested it be paid out of a social security tax.

Cost Extra $300,000,000

John Dickey (L-Halifax) said that those who were advocating removal of the means test should say where the government would raise the extra revenue to pay for the pensions. Removal of the means test under the present system would cost the government another $300,000,000 a year.

Mr. Martin said elimination of the means test depends "on arrangements to be worked out with the provinces and on the kind of system that is ultimately devised."

Denies Delaying

He said he realized that some would say the committee was nothing more than a "delaying action."

He added:

"I want to say most emphatically that this is not the case.

"We consider the next steps we take in developing a comprehensive program of old-age security to be of vital importance to the people of our country, and we want to be sure of our ground in detail when we take these steps.

"In this connection, I would like to stress again that we must view this program as one in which we are associated in a close working partnership with the provinces."

Cook Goes Berserk

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)— Waving a butcher knife in one hand and a meat cleaver in the other, a man early today sent pedestrians fleeing in panic from an uptown Manhattan street corner. Police said the man, identified as John Stanplalia, an unemployed cook, knocked one woman to the ground, then smashed the window of an automobile as a motorist tried to get away in his car. No one was reported injured, however, and Stanplalia surrendered meekly to police.

Buyers Choosey In Recovery On Stock Market

By The Canadian Press.

Stock markets moved irregularly in highly selective dealings this week.

A moderate recovery movement that followed the end of the coal strike in the United States faded and prices resumed their narrow trading path.

Brokers report a considerable number of buying orders just under the current market which would tend to hold the market on firm ground.

The unemployment situation continues a pessimistic barrier to investors.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed the week at 73.3, a loss of .3 from the previous Friday.

Canadian markets did a better job of holding their ground. In Toronto, selective buying in key stocks held industrials in the plus column. The group gained 1.12 on the exchange's index of representative stocks.

Mine Stock Active

Mining issues encountered comparatively heavy selling late in the week. Base metals lost 2.64 on the index. News of a drop in the price of lead brought increased downward pressure. Key stocks like Consolidated Mining and Smelting and Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting were the heaviest losers.

Senior gold producers declined steadily and interest waned in low-priced stocks that have featured recent weeks. Danger of a possible strike in the mines scared away potential buyers. The index dipped 2.13.

Western oils dipped to a new low for the year Thursday but recovered to chalk up a gain of .25 on the index.

Grain markets were in a two-way movement. In Winnipeg, May barley was strong and May oats and rye brightened. In Chicago, March oats and corn held firm while the remainder of the list dipped.

But in Washington, the leeway given Gubitchev brought a blast of condemnation against State Secretary Dean Acheson from Senator Kenneth S. Wherry (Rep.-Neb.).

He said: "Sentencing one person to 15 years in prison and freeing another for the identical offence is a travesty upon justice."

Under the new financial scheme, western European countries would be able to draw upon the Payments Union for funds to finance purchases among themselves. Repayment would be in the countries' own currencies plus certain percentages of so-called "hard money" such as dollars or gold.

Backbone financing of the project is the $600,000,000 in Marshall Plan funds allotted exclusively to the currency pool. Britain thus would lose its share—estimated by Hoffman $150,000,000—if she does not become a member.

Drama Group Lauded By Judge For "Ghosts"

MONTREAL, March 11 (CP) —A young Montreal drama group won the admiration of British adjudicator Maxwell Wray Friday night with its "Provocative and Controversial" presentation of Hendrik Ibsen's "Ghosts."

The three-act social drama, which deals in a subtle manner with congenital diseases, was the fifth entry in the week-end western Quebec Regional Drama Festival.

Friday night's presentation by the McGill Arena Wing—which specializes in arena-type productions—was praised for its "interesting experiment" in the field of amateur drama, but Mr. Wray would not encourage the group to continue such work. It belongs in university productions and "has no future in the theatre."

No Scenery

Ibsen's play was staged on a central section of an auditorium with the audience seated in bleachers on all four sides. There was no scenery. The players entered and left the floor-stage through aisles between the bleachers.

"You have given one of the best performances of this play which I have ever seen," said Mr. Wray.

But half the audience at times receives "bursts of drama" while the other half "was cheated," depending on the positions of the players and the directions they faced.

Peterborough's 1950 Tax Schedule Compared With That Of Last Year

The composition of Peterborough's tax rate for 1950, compared with that of 1949, is shown in the appended statement received from City Treasurer A .S. Couper.

The new rate is 49½ mills for public school supporters and 50½ mills for separate school supporters. Corresponding rates last year were 45½ and 46½.

The first item "the general rate," provides for all the spending over which the council has direct control, board of work, parks, fire department, police department, municipal administration and so on. The increase in 31/100 of a mill. The cost of garbage collection and disposal is down 9/100 of a mill. Apart from debenture charge on borrowing, the increase by the council itself is 22/100 of a mill.

The special rates require hardly any explanation. The Board of Education requires 10.25 mills for public schools, an increase of one-half a mill over last year, and there is also fractional increase for the vocational department and likewise decrease in the academic department of the Collegiate.

On its operating cost this year the requirement of the Civic Hospital is up from two mills to 2.17 mills.

The debenture service charge, that is the paying of interest and principal on borrowing is up 1.97 mills. The total increase on current and debenture payments is 2.14 mills.

The differences as compared with last year are: Increases (in mills): general rate .31; collegiate vocational .44; public schools .5; separate schools .28; Civic Hospital on this year's operations .17; relief .04; city general debentures .67; local improvements .39; Civic Hospital debentures 1.97; St. Joseph's Hospital debenture interest .29.

Decreases: garbage collection .09; Collegiate Academic .44; collegiate academic, debentures, .01; public schools debentures .22; incinerator debentures .02.

Total hospital charges this year are 6.23 mills; that is 5.94 for Civic and .29 for St. Joseph's Hospital. The corresponding charge last year was 3.8 mills. Net increase for the year is 2.43 mills.

Increases chargeable to the city council requirements are general rate .31; relief .04; city general debentures .67; local improvement debentures .39; St. Joseph's Hospital debenture interest 29. . . Total 2 mills.

Decreases are: garbage collection .09; incinerator debentures .02; total .11. Net increase 1.89 mills.

Farmers Claim City Workers Have Easier Time

TRENT RIVER, March 11 — (ENS)—Trent River west farm forum decided at its meeting this week that in comparing the circumstances of city and rural people, industrial and farm labors came under the same category and farmers and men with small businesses in urban areas could be compared.

It was agreed the demand for higher industrial wage harms the farmer by increasing his costs Since 65 percent of the final price of a piece of farm machinery is a labor cost, shorter hours and higher wages do affect the farmer It was thought that company profits and middle men's commissions also caused high prices for machinery.

The group discused demands by some labor groups for pensions, sick benefits, etc., to be paid in whole or past by the companies The companies also paid all the costs of workmen's compensation and had to hire extra help to look after deducting employees' income taxes.

The companies included all these extras for labor, in their costs and as a result, farmers paid more for goods. The farmers looked after their own pensions accident and sickness insurance, and filled out their own income tax forms or pay to have it done for them.

It was thought that labour unions had been satisfactory at the beginning and had made necessary improvements. but when they demanded a five-day week, too many free benefits and higher wages, they were going too far.

Margarine was another subject for discussion. It was introduced to help working men who thought the price of butter too high, the farmers claimed. This cut the income of farmers. Margarine manufacturers made higher profits than on butter. Would labor want their incomes cut or would industry like to take lower profits?

To the question, "Are Farmers' marketing schemes against the interests of the city consumer?" it was pointed out that the subsidies were imposed to give cheaper food to city consumers. If farm workers had the same wages and hours as those in cities, and farmers the same profits as industry, farm prices would be much higher than at present and there would be little need of foreign markets or subsidies. Farmers could produce a little less and still have a fair income.

Assessment Appeals

COBOURG, March 11.— The Municipal Board, sitting here yesterday to hear six assessment appeals, reserved its decision in each case. The appeals were first before the court of revision, following the new re-assessment of the town and when no change was allowed by the court of revision, the appellants took it to the Municipal Board. The appeals asked for a review of the assessing methods used, in order to arrive at a more equitable assessment.

Chamber Hears Address On Reforestation

MARMORA, March 11 (ENS)—"Reforestation and Farm Wood Lots" was the subject of a talk given to the Marmora District Chamber of Commerce at their dinner meeting at the Royal Hotel Thursday, by W. E. Edwards, Zone Forester for the counties of Lennox, Addington, Frontenac and Hastings, resident at Napanee.

Introduced by Reeve C. H. Buskard, of Deloro, Mr. Edwards declared that the increased interest being shown in conservation in general was a healthy sign. He then launched into problems affecting forest management indicating that there was need of each township to come withing the fire district and not a certain number at present. He stressed the great value to the country of planned cutting, using the white pine as an illustration.

The growth of the white pine is slow for the first 50 years but in the next 20 its volume is increased five times, he said

Should Learn Facts

"Everybody can help by learning about planned cutting and talking about it," he said.

Another problem is that of pasturing. It is hard to find a wood lot in some districts that is not pastured and this is prejudicial to some extent to the welfare of the trees.

The speaker instanced the care given to forests he had seen in Europe during the years of the war.

The final problem touched upon was that of land use. Some land used for pasturing was not good for that because of shallow soil. Trees could be planted with advantage here although he admitted it could be hard to do so in a dry season. A reforestation estimate had been that five million acres should be planted with trees again.

Four Ways To Help

In conclusion, he estimated that there were four ways in which the Chamber of Commerce could be of service in the matter of reforestation. First, the members could show a personal interest; secondly, they could use their influence for the extension of fire protected areas; thirdly, they could link up with an educational program; and lastly, stand for the Trees Conservation Act.

The speaker then showed a series of colored slides, some featuring the reforestation that had been carried out in Hastings county.

He was thanked for his talk on motion of Secretary Ralph E. Neal, President Alex Fraser, who was in the chair, welcomed the gathering prior to the address. The meeting wound up with a keen discussion on industrial development.

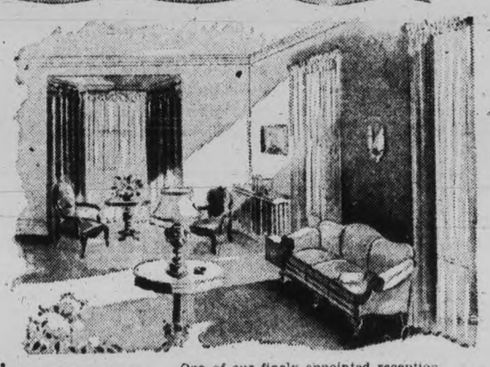
TakesCashAlong Crosses Border; Searched, Fined

TORONTO, March 11 (CP) — Miss Donna Grozdanove saved pennies for years so she could have an operation. She accumulated $378 and Friday paid out $150 for a breach of the foreign exchange control act.

It all started when Mrs. Grozdanove and her husband took a trip to Niagara Falls, N. Y. Mrs Grosdanov said she was afraid the money might be stolen so she took it along—tucked in the place where women usually hide their money.



At the United States-Canada border she said she tried to deceive the customs inspector but a later search uncovered the money. She pleaded in court on Friday to ignorance of the exchange act.

Crown counsel Ald. Joseph Gould joined the defense in asking leniency. Magistrate A. Prentice reduced the fine to $150 — it's usually the same as the amount involved.

VET CRAWLS ON CRACKING ICE, SAVES GIRL FROM DROWNING

House-painter Oscar Cyr, of Eastview, Ont., Uses courage and haversack to rescue child

1. Riding home in a bus near Ottawa, Canadian Army veteran Oscar Cyr was startled to see a child floundering in a large hole in the ice of the nearby Rideau River. Ordering the bus to stop, Cyr raced to the shore and began running out on the ice towards the almost frozen little girl.

2. The ice started to crack under him and Cyr was forced to drop prone and crawl the rest of the way. Under his arm was his army haversack — now used for carrying paint brushes. The 9-year old girl remained calm as Cyr flipped the haversack straps to her. Her little hands, numb with cold, finally managed to grip the straps!

3. Cyr began to pull the youngster out . . . but it was difficult to get traction on the ice. Another man came out and grabbed Cyr's heels. Cyr then grasped the child's wrist and soon all were safe ashore. We are proud to pay tribute to gallant Oscar Cyr through the presentation of THE DOW AWARD.

One Big Happy Family

The U.S.S.R. will have an election tomorrow, to choose the members of the two chambers of the Supreme Soviet. This Supreme Soviet is the constitutional government of Russia, and it has two short meetings each year. Its members come from all parts of the country, and are known to the constituents, as are our members of Parliament. The main job of the Supreme Soviet is to appoint the Council of Ministers who run the business of the country; the head of the Supreme Soviet is sometimes called the President of the U.S.S.R. But the real ruler of Russia is the Chairman of the Council of Ministers, and we need hardly inform our readers that this is none other than Josef Stalin.

* * *

It will be seen that the government of Russia superficially resembles the government of Canada. The resemblance is strictly limited, however, for Russian voters have only one candidate to vote for, and they can vote for him or against him, as they choose; it requires great courage to vote against him, as the secrecy of the ballot is not inviolable in Russia.

* * *

The Supreme Soviet is ruled by the Central Committee of the Communist Party, and particularly by the Politburo, the agents of which include the secret police.

The election is chiefly useful to create enthusiasm for the person of Premier Stalin. Here is a typical election article, from Pravda:

"Stalin and the people are one. What Stalin thinks, the people think; what the people thinks, Stalin thinks. In this organic unity of leader and people lies the strength of Stalin's genius, the strength of the Soviet people.

"Stalin is the first candidate of the Soviet people, and when we go to the poll we should say to ourselves: 'Dear leader, wherever we may be we vote for you. Wherever we may be we shall think of you and swear that in all things, great and small, we shall follow your example, shall love the people as you do, shall hate its enemies as you hate them, shall be as merciless as you in fighting them and, if necessary, shall sacrifice ourselves for the people's good'".

* * *

This gives the impression that all of Russia is one big, happy family. There are signs, however, that the Russian people are not as high-hearted as they were at the last election, just after the war. The revaluation of the rouble, which brings prices lower, is also an election dodge, calculated to endear the government to the people.

* * *

The result of the Russian election is in no doubt. The heavy propaganda campaign which has been going on for the past three weeks, however, suggests that the Communist Party thinks that the people of Russia need reassurance that all is for the best in the best of all possible worlds.

Our Squandered Forests

The Canadian lumber industry has had a see-saw course in the last century and a half, but the rate of sawing has increased constantly. The Napoleonic Wars created a great demand for ship's timber; this faded as the wars ended. Then came a great demand for lumber for house-building in early nineteenth century industrial Britain. Later followed the demand on the Maritimes for timber for China clippers, when trade between this continent and China expanded. This need passed, but fortunately for the industry in Canada, (our largest), if not for our forests, in 1859 Angus Logan perfected his process for the manufacture of wood pulp and of paper from pulp. Since then the market for Canadian wood has been almost insatiable.

But the Canadian supply is not inexhaustible. It is estimated that of the 660,000 square miles of productive forest land in Canada, only about 44 per cent., or 292,000 square miles, is covered by merchantable timber. The rest is young growth. This is evidence that Canada has been reckless of her timber—cutting without replacing. The denuding of our forest lands has agitated clear-sighted people for a half century, but it is only lately, when the situation is obvious to even the dim-sighted, that the real attention has been given to the problem of making the forests self-perpetuating.

As Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, Deputy Minister of Resources and Development, said in his address last month to the University of British Columbia, on the H. R. MacMillan lectureship, it is a significant fact that we do not even now know whether Canada's accessible forests are being depleted more rapidly than they are growing. But we do know that in certain areas cutting is being done far in excess of annual growth; that the size of the sawlogs is decreasing; that we are having to log farther away from the centre of operation, with resultant increases in the transportation costs; and that our losses from fire, insects and disease are enormous, averaging close to three-quarters of a billion cubic feet each year. Dr. Keenleyside remarked: "There is no cause for complacency as we contemplate our forest reserves and our present method and rate of exploitation."

Canada has been blessed by fortune in its forest resources (even today this country possesses greater forest areas than any other country in the world except Russia and Brazil); but we have squandered our fortune. We have been eating up the capital, instead of living on the verdant interest. Dr. Keenleyside put the matter plainly: "A national asset of this importance should receive the concentrated attention not only of those directly engaged in its processes but of the business community as a whole, of our scientific foundations and universities, of our financial institutions, and of governments. Here is one field in which everyone can and should co-operate."

Pleasant Income Tax Returns

The time is approaching—in fact, the deadline is the end of next month—when income tax papers must be filed. Already many thousands are licking the pencil, frantically searching for old receipts for charitable donations and agitating their brains over T.1 Short—printed in green and black this year. It is not fashionable to have pleasant thoughts and kind words about the income tax returns, but after a bout with the tax form last evening, we cannot help but drop a few kind words.

The form is simple and short. The tax rate is the smallest it has been for years. And although it is a shock to get the firm's slip of paper (T 4) showing how much has already been "deducted at source" by the firm at the government's behest, there is comfort in knowing that that money has already been sent to the Receiver-General and does not need to come out of the pocket in one fell grab.

If we were coldly logical about government spending of our own money it gets through the income tax (we are not; is anybody?), we could take a bit of satisfaction in the thought that our money is helping to build the Trans-Canada Highway; to prosecute the Cold War against Russia; to finance the numerus Trade Missions where cabinet ministers and others drum up export business for Canada across the seven seas; to build Canada's defences (we do not bleat about the need for a large standing army; it is noticeable that some of the people who prate most about enlarging Canada's defence are the same people who prattle most about the high taxes).

The special comforting part of this year's income tax dealing is that the tax rate was lowered only last April, but the reduction was made retroactive to January 1st, 1949. Therefore thousands of Canadians unwittingly overpaid (through "deductions at source") their taxes for the first three months of 1949. This overpayment is reflected and allowed for in the tax rate schedules of the current form. All across the country people tackling the T.1 Short form are finding that the Minister of National Revenue owes them money. We suspect that this year will be a record of early returns, as people find that they have a cheque coming from the government, instead of their having to make out a cheque in favour of George Rex of Canada.

While we do not exult over incomes taxes, we confess that this year we are less pained than usual. We have found, after an evening over T.1 Short that we do not have to pay a cent more than has already been paid; in fact, the Government owes us $1.13. When we made this discovery, we sent off the form last evening, a whole month early, and with gleeful heart.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A statistician shows that the proportion of people in Canada over 50 has greatly increased since 1900, whereas the proportion under 20 has declined. The wise politician is going to forget about the young voter and advocate baby bonuses for grandparents.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Haubergeon Hydra, Esq.
Dear Mr. Hydra:

The five-day week is undoubtedly a fine thing; the less work people do the less mischief they are likely to cause. It has been my observation that it is men's work, rather than their recreations, which create trouble. But Oh Mr. Hydra, do you think you could do anything to prevent those who work a five-day week from using Saturday to pester those who don't?

I make this appeal to you, as Special Commissioner of Nuisances. There is springing up in our fair land a whole class of people who use Saturday morning, especially, as a time for social calls, practical jokes, foolish questions, and kindred knavery. As one who works a six-and-a-half day week I find that it adds intolerably to my burdens. Could you not form a Sixth Day Alliance, to protect Saturday workers from the floating population?

Yours distractedly,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.
Dear Mr. Marchbanks:

Capital news, Mr. Marchbanks, sir! At last we see our way clear to bring your case against Richard Dandiprat to court. I fear that perhaps the proceedings may not be precisely as you have envisioned them in your layman's imagination. You have asserted that Mr. Dandiprat, with malice aforethought, induced a skunk to enter your car, and there to comport itself in such a manner as to constitute a nuisance. But as you appear to have lost all the documents which establish you as owner of the car our case breaks down at that point. We can only bring action against Dandiprat on charges of having behaved with cruelty toward a skunk, by incarcerating it in a stationary vehicle without food or water. You enter the case only as undoubted owner of the garage in which the car stood at the time. If the defence should claim that you were negligent in not locking the garage you may be censured by the judge, but I doubt if you will be asked to share Dandiprat's fine.

If we are very fortunate we may be able to get this case on the docket for the Spring Assizes; otherwise it will hold over until autumn. The law is a dreadful engine, Mr. Marchbanks, and when set in motion it moves with frightening speed.

Yours in high glee,
MORDECAI MOUSEMAN

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.
Dear Pil:

This is a world of rush and bustle, but I have found one point of calm in the maelstorm, one unfailing fountain of surcease. For some years I have subscribed to two or three English weekend papers, deceiving myself that I do so in order to keep up with what is doing abroad. I take The New Statesman, and The Spectator, and The Sunday Times But I have long realized, at the back of my mind, that I do not read these to keep up with the news, but to put a brake on the news. When I get these journals—or I suppose they should be called hebdomadals — they are about a month old, and I have the delightful sensation of reading about the past, laughing at the predictions which have been proved untrue, and the fears which have become groundless. It is a thoroughly god-like amusement.

Why they arrive so late I cannot really discover. In my grandfather's day it took about a month to get a paper from England, and it still does. The English attitude toward such things is leisurely. I imagine the editor of The New Statesman saying to his secretary, "Oh, Miss Whatabottom, have you sent the parcel to the Canadian chap—Matchbox or whatever his name is?" And Miss Whatabottom says, "Not this week, Mr Martin; the new ball of twine hasn't come yet; I shall attend to it first thing next week". Then Martin says, "Oh, don't concern yourself, Miss Whatabottom; plenty of time; the mail-packets leave Tilbury every second Thursday". And thus it goes. I pray that news of the dollar shortage may never reach the circulation departments of the radical journals, or I may lose this delicious sensation of repose.

Your crony,
SAM

To Chandos Fribble, Esq.
Dear Friend Fribble:

I understand that you have some connection with the Traveller's Aid. You don't suppose you could establish a branch at Smith's Falls, do you? Recently I made a train journey which demanded a stop of one hour and 50 minutes at that important junction, and I sought diversion. I went to the Public Library; it was closed. I next tried the doors of three solemn temples; all were locked against the passing worshipper. I then amused myself by looking at a tasteful display of various kinds of coal in a shop window, but the temperature was below zero, and in ten minutes my interest in unlighted coal was exhausted. So I found a branch of the bank in which I keep my humble savings and went inside. In a very few minutes the manager approached me. "We don't want loiterers", said he. I produced my bankbook, hoping to curry favour with him. He looked at the balance and called the janitor, who threw me out. So I went to Woolworth's, and made a great show of particularity in choosing a plug for a bathtub, which I did not want. I then returned to the station. It is a nice station, but lacking in diversion. Could you put a Traveller's Aid man there with a movie projector, and a few old Charlie Chaplin films? Thank you.

SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

To Waghorn Wittol, Esq.
Dear Mr. Wittol:

Yes, I was at the Eastern Ontario Regional Drama Festival, and I saw you there, but where was Mrs. Wittol? I thought I saw her with another gentleman, but very likely I was mistaken. I was much impressed by "Payment Deferred", the melodrama in which a man shared with his wife the secret of a murder, and in which his wife contrived his death by a clever dodge. But you know, Wittol, I think that there is an even more exciting melodrama to be written about married life. What about a play in which a man and his wife, discovering that they are boring each other, set out on a race as to which can bore the other to death first?

Think of the scenes which such a drama could contain! The great scene in which the wife tells her husband the plot of a movie she has seen: he falls sleep, coma seems about to supervene until, with a tremendous effort, he rouses himself and retorts with a description of his bridge game at the club, recalling each hand in detail; she tumbles forward in her chair, and is seen to reach for the cyanide bottle. But no! She still has some fight left in her, and begins to read a letter from her mother, who is touring in the Middle West. You see the plan? A tournament of boredom! Hollywood would jump at it, but I think the Little Theatres ought to have it first.

My regards to Mrs. Wittol, when next you see her.

Letters To The Editor

PLAN FOR STOPPING WARS

Sir: I am sure the time has come when the sure-cure for the greatest curse the world has, namely, Wars, cold, hot or otherwise can be affectively outclassed by the simple expedient of every nation stopping completely all taxation for war purposes, in other words a complete boycott by the people for the people of any armament makers, shippers or otherwise. Because when it is carefully surveyed, what common folk of any country has ever sanctioned such taxation? It has always been stolen by traffickers in this commondity through government channels and otherwise. Stop and think. How many billions of money could be put to useful purposes? Think how many more people who are now engaged in military life could be put to useful peacetime pursuits. Think of the diseases, poverty, homeless cripples etc., could be eliminated by the complete frustration of war-mongers and their wares. Think of the flop of the League of Nations prior to the last war and yet we still have "Peace Disciples" rushing around the world at great expense and getting nowhere because the people still are being robbed in taxation for a commodity they do not want but who are accessories to the fact because they will not collectively rebel against this wholesale robbery of life, limb, body and cash. It is high time every body said a say in this matter and put a stop to this "goose stepping" tactics once and for all so that our kiddies who are growing up need not any longer ask older people "Will there be a War" and we will be able to answer a positive NO. How much easier things could be planned, business, economy and international affairs when war would be an impossibility. Should they become hot headed over trifles. So, how about making an International motto of "No more taxes for military purposes"? now or never.

Yours truly,
"LET'S BE FREE AND PEACEFUL"

ENGLISH NONE THE WORSE

Sir: Three cheers for Mrs. D. Sayer's letter appearing in the Examiner.

Of course one can't compare the hospitality between the Scotch and English.

As an English woman myself, but also much travelled in Scotland, also stationed there during the war, I agree that the Scotch hospitality is more spontaneous, whereas the English are slower to make friends, but we are none the worse for that.

What is particularly odious to English people living in Canada, are the letters and articles written by people who have just spent maybe three months' holiday in the Old Country, and think that they are in a position to judge our way of life, over prevailing Government, our Health Scheme etc.

Why don't they go over there to enjoy themselves, and see the beauties of the country, and then come back and talk about such things and maybe encourage more visitors, that England, yes and Scotland may benefit from those much needed dollars.

The British people do not want pity or criticism, but the war years were long and tedious, and the readjustment to peace not too easy, speaking from personal experience nerves aren't quite as steady but having fulfilled my life-long ambition to come to Canada, I came prepared to find differences but I hope never to criticize.

Regarding the Canadian veteran's opinion, the obvious reason why they preferred the Scotch was of course, that a large majority of their ancestors came from Scotland and naturally they spent most of their leaves with relatives.

May I also remind your correspondents that "Brotherhood Week" has just been celebrated in Canada, and how can there be true brotherhood when we even start criticizing each other's country.

Thanking you sir, I am,
Yours truly,
PHYLLIS MYATT.

Cruelty To Horses?

The decision of a Vancouver court that it is an act of cruelty and, therefore, a criminal offence to tie a strap around a horse's flanks to induce him to buck, endangers the existence of Alberta's favourite outdoor Summer entertainment.

Horses will buck without that flank strap, and there is more to a stampede than a bucking bronc. But the saddle bucking events are always the main feature of the show, and the better the bucking the better the stampede.

It is the general opinion among cowboys and stampede officials that horses aren't hurt by the flank straps or even by the spurs. Tickle a horse's neck or shoulder and he will nibble at your arm with his lips. He can't help it. It's automatic with him. Similarly his automatic reaction when anything tickles his flanks is to buck hard. Most good rodeo horses know the harder they buck the more oats they'll get, but the strap still seems to be a necessary reminder in most cases.

Progress of Peterborough: XI

Big Estates, Pioneers On Small Holdings In Otonabee

By HOWARD PAMMETT, MA.

Otonabee is a classic example of a township where surveyors, ex-officers, government officials and speculators (of whom few actually settled) got large land blocks, among which were sprinkled small grants of 50-200 acres to settlers, whose industry was to make the absentee landowners wealthy. The Hon. Zaccheus Burnham got 3,832 acres in 1820, and in the same year Anderson (the trader) 600 acres, John Bannister 800 acres. In 1821 John Williams got 800 acres, Philip Elmhirst 800 acres; in 1822 Walter Boswell 700 acres, George Boulton 600 acres, Charles Rubidge 800 acres; Alec Pringle, 400 acres; in 1822 Rev. John Wilson 600 acres; in 1827 HenryMacaulay 700 acres; Francis Spilsbury, 600 acres; in 1825 Henry Jenkins 700 acres; in 1828 the Rogers family 800 acres; in 1829 the Canada Company 1,640 acres; Fathergill 200 acres; Spilsbury, another 600 acres; In 1830 Francis Connin 800 acres; Robert Hawthorne 500 acres; and so on.

The government intended these grants as payments for services rendered, as a stabilizing influence against American ideas and settlement, and as the nucleus of a colonial gentry who would become leaders of loyal communities on the British model. An earlier intention to settle only naval officers and seamen was given up when a large group of settlers in Hamilton township petitioned the government to allow them to cross Rice Lake to take up lands, after 1818, since the soil was better and it was less crowded.

Rubidge In 1820

Captain Spilsbury, as a condition of his grant, brought out some emigrants to Otonabee in 1819, but only one, George Kent, stayed and cleared his land. In the same year Lt. Charles Rubidge of the Royal Navy also visited the township to choose his 800 acres. Only 31 years of age and retired on half pay of £100 a year after Waterloo, Rubidge decided to emigrate to Canada with his wife and three children three to seven years old. Arriving at Cobourg on July 19, 1819, they stayed at the home of Captain Boswell, a naval friend who was on the Land Board, and decided to try Otonabee where Boswell also had an "estate." He relates in his "Autobiographical Sketch": "In February 1820 I contracted with two men to put me up a log house 28 x 20 feet; and 13 logs or as many feet high; to roof it with shingles, and to board up the gable ends; and to clear off one acre about the house, for which I paid them $100. . . Whilst the snow and ice were good, I moved all my effects, got boards sufficient to finish my house, and a six months' stock of provisions, and on May 8, 1820, took my family into their pile of logs in a Canadian forest. . . ." His land consisted of lots 13 and 30 in concession 11, and lots 14 in concessions 12 and 13.

THE MAN FOR WHOM RUBIDGE STREET WAS NAMED: Lieutenant Charles Rubidge of the Royal Navy, was a veteran of the Napoleonic Wars. Like other officers of the armed services at that time who were retired when the wars ended, he was offered land in Upper Canada (a kind of veterans' rehabilitation scheme, which had the advantage, from the British point of view, of costing little, and of ensuring that the newly-opening country would be inhabited by loyal Englishmen). As Mr. Pammett relates in today's instalment of his history of Peterborough, he emigrated to Canada, and in 1819, was in Cobourg. He was granted an "estate" in Otonabee. Later he was made Otonabee's first postmaster, and Registrar of Peterborough county. He died in 1873 at the age of 86. He has always been known locally as "Captain" Rubidge, although he was never a captain in the Royal Navy—which is a high rank. This engraving is made from an old photograph in the possession of his granddaughter, Mrs. A. B. Lambe, of Murray street, by whose courtesy it is reproduced.

That summer he hired two Americans to chop 4½ acres at $6 an acre, and had another retainer to work around the farm who chopped three more acres, while he himself spent the first year improving the interior of his house, certainly a "gentlemanly" way of pioneering the wilderness.

Due to the influence of his friend Chief Justice Draper, Rubidge in 1820 was appointed Justice of the Peace and Postmaster of Otonabee township. Concerning the latter job, it is recounted that Rubidge used to carry the mail around with him in his tall hat, giving it out whenever he saw the addressees, perhaps months later.

Unconventional Major

Major Charles Anderson, Indian trader at the mouth of the Otonabee, was an interesting character, if somewhat unconventional. His house became a gathering-place for many of the gentry who were fond of seasonal hunting and fishing, although their good ladies, because of his irregular liaisons and habits, looked down their noses at the gallant major. In 1837 it is said that Anderson led out his Indian company to track down rebels and American "invaders" rumored to be hiding in the district, but he became confused and lost himself, retreating home ignominiously.

A neighbor, John Bannister, another retired naval lieutenant, wrote several pamphlets on the best method of British emigration. He bombarded the British government with letters and petitions of advice on pauper emigration, offering to lead them to the colonies himself at a "reasonable" profit. Like Bastable, Astle and others, when his own offer was turned down he became a bitter critic of Peter Robinson and the Irish emigration.

Ignorance is degrading only when found in company with riches.

SCHOPENHAUER (1788-1860)

The Land Board made 174 locations in Otonabee up to 1825: 1820 79, 1821 18, 1822 7, 1823 12, 1824 13, 1825 45. These were ordinary settlers on 50 to 200 acres, carefully scattered among the large "estates." Poole's History lists the following in 1820: John Walstead, Major Design, Thomas Carr, John Nelson and sons Andrew and William, John Mackintosh, ——. Lindsay, Ambrose Mayett, James Beckett, Thomas Nelson, George Esson with sons Thomas, Alexander, Daniel and Robert, John Fife and family, James Foley (who remained only a short time), John Stewart, William Sowden, and Ralph Davidson, also these single men, Robert Redpath, James Hunter, George Banks, Nicholas Bullen, Robert Ferguson, Robert Hyatt, Lieut. Jenkins, and ——. Collier.

Famous Fife

John Fife is of course the most famous of these, a Perthshire Scot of 47 years, who settled on the east half of Lot 22, Concession 4, consisting of 100 acres, and was given the patent for it July 27, 1822. According to a Fife Cemetery Centenary article in the Examiner of July 21, 1945, the family tombstones reveal that in 1820 when he settled in Otonabee he had four sons, John, Jr., aged 23, David aged 21, Thomas aged 11, and Alex aged 5; several others were born later.

The cemetery on the old homestead, which is still farmed by descendants, contains the graves of John Fife, six sons, and numerous kindred. David Fife was the discoverer of the new frost-resistant wheat, Red Fife, which opened up the prairies to settlement. It is said that Fife and others of this Otonabee group intended to settle in Cavan, but turned to Otonabee because of an antipathy to the Irish, and later regretted it because Otonabee was so isolated from the Ontario lakefront.

According to family records, the Fife men helped Birdsall survey parts of Asphodel and Dummer. The fifth generation of Fifes, is carrying on the homestead farm, and others are settled on farms in the neighborhood.

More Land Titles

The first land titles in Otonabee were issued to Zaccheus Burnham on February 26, 182[illegible] followed on August 1, 1820, by title to Charles Anderson. In the same year some ordinary settlers received their titles: November 23, 200 acres, broken lots 10 in concessions 4 and 5 to James Foley; November 17, 200 acres, lot 21, concession 12, to Anna Woolcut; December 7, 50 acres, southwest quarter of lot 14, concession 4, to Samuel Dermot.

In 1821 the following received their land titles: Nancy Goheen, Rosell Seton, James McCarty, Hannah Marvin, Peter Edict, Jas Hunter, Simeon Stevens, John McNie, Cortis Price, John Williams, Susanna Loucks, Sarah Conliff, Richard Ferguson, Philip Elmhirst, Benjamin Ashton, Elizabeth Gifford, William Flemming, Alex McIlmoyle, Morris Ashton; 1822, George Howson, Richard Daile, Nancy Randall, Walter Boswell, George Boulton, Francis Bonask, Charles Rubidge, Robert Wallace, John Haly, Thomas Hopkins, John Eleano, Francis Bercier, Robert Highet, John Fife, Simon Fennel, John Knowlson, George Banks, Jacob Condall, Betsy Batter, Alex Pringle, Charles Fulton, Jacob Fike; 1823: Rev John MacAulay, Francis Spilsbury, George Gillespie, John Bedford; 1824: William Smith Jr., James McNeil, John and Robert Hope, William Howson, John Lewson Jr., James Lowes, John Haddy, Elizabeth Rice, Daniel Alger, Jacob Cryderman, Wm. Dyer, Tunis Eckert, Daniel Hicks, John Morgan, John Ogden, Daniel Pettit, John Spencer, Isaiah Tubbs; 1825: James Bell, Margaret Batter, John Hinds, Christopher Hinds, Rev John Wilson, Peter and John McFarlane, Alex and Malcolm McFarlane, Robert Wallace. A good many of these were not actual settlers, but militiamen from the War of 1812, pensioners, and widows of army officers who proved their titles and then sold the land.

The true security is to be found in social solidarity rather than in isolated effort.

DOSTOYEVSKY (1821-1881)

Crossing the Lake

In spite of the gristmills at Scott's Plains and in Cavan, most early settlers in Otonabee crossed Rice Lake and took their produce to Smith's Creek or Port Hope, where they could get necessities in exchange. Crossing the lake either by boat or on the ice was dangerous. When the water was open, squalls might blow up swiftly to overturn the rough boats. Jenkins and Collier, two early settlers, were drowned thus, while Alexander MacIntosh and his daughter were lost through the ice. The story is told, on the other hand, of one fearless man who ferried four head of cattle down the lake 14 miles in a skiff, arriving safely. Mrs. F. Tinker in an "Examiner" article some years ago described the adventures of John Becket in November, 1821, returning north across the end of Rice Lake on the newly-formed ice, his supplies on his back, carefully pushing two planks ahead of him one after the other. Thomas Carr, who with his brother Andrew drew the land on which the village of Keene grew up later, kept a postoffice there from 1821 on. On this spot in 1825 Dr. John Gilchrist erected a sawmill and gristmill which were o great use to the pioneers of Otonabee and Asphodel townships.

City's Worst Snowfall 1870 Train To Port Hope 16 Hours

By CHARLES IRESON

Recent heavy snowfalls induced enquiry as to other great snow storms in Peterborough's century-old municipal history. The worst was 80 years ago, in March 1870, which had a heavy aftermath of destruction and caused death of a well-kown business man. A contemporary paper states "Snow is the order of the day—nothing but snow."

The downfall began on Sunday, March 13, stopped for a while, and started again on Tuesday and carried on in earnest. It snowed all day Tuesday and Tuesday night, and day and night Wednesday and all day Thursday. Observation recorded three feet of snow on the level. No trains could run and Tuesday's mail arrived on Friday morning.

When people were congratulating themselves that the worst was over, it started again and snowed all day and all night Saturday and Sunday. On Sunday the churches were practically deserted. The schools were closed and nearly all business suspended. Streets and roads were impassable and the later fall increased to five feet on the level. All traffic was tied up and it took the Port Hope train 16 hours to make the trip to Peterborough.

Following the abnormal snowfall and an early spring, disastrous floods resulted which caused great damage to property, and as stated, the death of a well-known local man.

On April 23, while engaged in an attempt to save his saw-mill Samuel Dickson lost his life while standing on a pier directing operations. A mass of logs carried by the raging current of the river smashed the pier. Mr. Dickson was thrown into the water and was so severely crushed between the floating logs that he died just as he was rescued.

The flood did enormous damage to property—the southern portion of the town was flooded to Park St., and George, Aylmer, Bethune, Rubidge and Stewart streets were impassable south of Dalhousie street. The newly-erected gas house was flooded 15 inches above the working floor, and the depth of water there was said to be five feet above normal high-water mark. The damage in fact was universal and such a column of water had come down from the back-country, following the waterbed formed by the river, that it was two weeks before the flood subsided.

Samuel Dickson was born in County Cavan in Ireland and came to Peterborough in 1830. He went into the lumber business and operated a large saw-mill. He built the Dickson raceway, which provided power for many local industries. He was for many years a member of the town council.

Any organization, it seems, can start a "Week" for some cause or another at the drop of the hat. There have been some dillies. As an individual I am going to plump here and now for a "Point-Our-Fingers-At-Ourselves-And-Go-Stand - In - The - Corner Week". My policy is for the abolishment of local lethargy.

FIRST ONE: Timmins Rod and Gun Club together with Sudbury Fish and Game Protective Association have planned a canoe racing derby along the old Gowganda or Whiskey Water Trail between Timmins and Conniston. According to the map it is a long, long way, about 200 miles. The event is to be held in mid-July. Porcupine paddlers will race from Timmins to Conniston and return and their Sudburian rivals will reverse the course. It is to be held, not only for a tourist attraction, but to revive the passing art of paddling in the North.

It may even attract Peterborough paddlers since it seems doubtful that such an event will ever be established here. Or will it? At least, we shall continue to supply our expertly-made canoes for this and other similar events at Three Rivers and Minneapolis.

POINT TWO: Down Belleville way fishermen in the Bay of Quinte have been going after snapping turtles, not only as a conservation measure but for financial returns. Turtle meat sells in American food stores for the princely sum of $1.75 per pound. Equipment consists of a barrel-shaped net baited with dead carp or ancient meat. Results have been excellent. One fisherman found four of these brutes in one netful, the largest weighing 30 pounds and 20 inches across the shell. It is estimated that 100,000 snappers live in Quinte waters.

It was suggested several months ago in this column that some conservation-minded group might organize a similar program in some of the turtle-infested lakes of the Kawarthas or go after females this spring as they come up landside before they deposit their eggs. Good idea?

POLICY PAYS OFF: As a result of making an issue last week about the neglect of the Transvaal battle flag in the basement of the Public Library, ladies of St. Luke's Scout and Cub Auxiliary are having the ancient banner dry cleaned. They are also trying to find out where the old duster can be properly displayed. Will someone assist them further in the matter?

Logs For That Dream Cabin

Blustery March weather is a chilly time to be thinking of that new summer place you are planning on building but if it's a log cabin you have in mind, start dickering now about logs. They have to be snaked out while the frost is still in the bush. And you will need more material than you think. Take the smallest week-end cabin 12 by 20 feet inside measure, for instance. You will need 26 logs, 16 feet long, and 26 more, 24 feet long, for walls and gable ends. No timbers less than six-inch tops should be considered, eight inches is much better.

Beside Highway 28 in the north part of the county there are some mighty stately poplars on Crown Land. A lot of people will scoff at the idea of using poplar but that isn't the way I heard it from an expert. Regional Forester Keith Atchison and I rode a bus for many miles last fall between Fort Frances and Kenora. Among many things talk turned to cabin building. Friend Keith advises that his department build many log structures, the two bottom rounds of cedar and the balance of poplar, all peeled, of course. Funny superstition about the use of poplar for building purposes comes from Ukrainian and Central European Canadians in the mid-West: they refuse to use it, saying that the Cross was made from such material. This is a tough decision for homesteaders to make when they are long on poplar bush stands and very short on cash.

Baying Of The Hunters

Tired of hearing of wolves and wolf hunters? Peterborough, North Bay and the Soo, have been previously ribbed in turn. We should turn to our American sportsmen friends for advice, it seems. A group recently visited the Sioux Narrows country of the Lake of the Woods and besides bagging two wolves, recorded the whole business of the hunt on TV film . . . Further east at Atikokan, iron miners found the carcass of a deer at the bottom of an open ore pit which, they say, was the result of a wolf driving the fleeing beast over the 300-foot rim. Now THEY are thinking of a mass hunt.

Notes By The Wayside

Professor Thomas R. Louden, University of Toronto, suggests boat licences with large-size numbers on each craft to assist residents in passing information along to game officials where poachers are suspected on forbidden waters. The same system could be used against smart-alec speed boat operators who get away with their antics each summer.

Field and Stream fishing contest judges have finally given their decision on the largest muskie caught in 1949. The gold-plated flannel casting rod goes to Louis Spray who landed the most colossal, gigantic and stupendous of 'em all at Rice Lake, Wisc., in October. It scaled 69 pounds, 11 ounces and a live sucker was used for bait. Previous record lunge weighed 64 pounds, eight ounces.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

Wilde On Immortality, Sin

"There is no such thing as a good influence, Mr. Gray. All influence is immoral—immoral from a scientific point of view".

"Why?"

"Because to influence a person is to give him one's own soul. He does not think his natural thoughts, or burn with his natural passions. His virtues are not real to him. His sins, if there are such things as sins, are borrowed. He becomes an echo of someone else's music, an actor of a part that has not been written for him. The aim of life is self-development. To realize one's nature perfectly—that is what each of us is here for. People are afraid of themselves, nowadays. They have forgotten the highest of all duties, the duty that one owes to one's self. Of course they are charitable. They feel the hungry and clothe the beggar. But their own souls starve, and are naked. Courage has gone out of our race. Perhaps we never really had it. The terror of society, which is the basis of morals, the terror of God, which is the secret of religion—these are the two things that govern us.

"And yet, I believe that if one man were to live out his life fully and completely, were to give form to every feeling, expression to every thought, reality to every dream—I believe that the world would gain such a fresh impulse to joy that we would forget all the maladies of mediaevalism, and return to the Hellenic ideal—to something finer, richer, than the Hellenic ideal, it may be. But the bravest man amongst us is afraid of himself. The mutilation of the savage has its tragic survival in the self-denial that mars our lives. We are punished for our refusals. Every impulse that we strive to strangle broods in the mind, and poisons us. The body sins once, and has done with its sin, for action is a mode of purification. Nothing remains then but the recollections of a pleasure, or the luxury of regret.

"The only way to get rid of a temptation is to yield to it. Resist it, and your soul grows sick with longing for the things it has forbidden to itself, with desire for what its monstrous laws have made monstrous and unlawful. It has been said that the great events of the world take place in the brain. It is in the brain, and the brain only, that the great sins of the world take place also."

OSCAR WILDE: The Picture of Dorian Gray, Chapter 2.

Lusty Cavan 'Blazers'

By MRS. MARGARET ARGUE

Many are familiar with the name "Cavan Blazers," yet no doubt that very few know how it originated.

Perhaps as early as the year 1800 or thereabouts when most of Cavan was woodland, oak, maple and beech, and fine virgin pine, settlers began to come in from Scotland, a few from England, but the majority from Ireland. They called this place in the new land Cavan, after County Cavan in Ireland and later in 1816, when it was surveyed, it was called Cavan township.

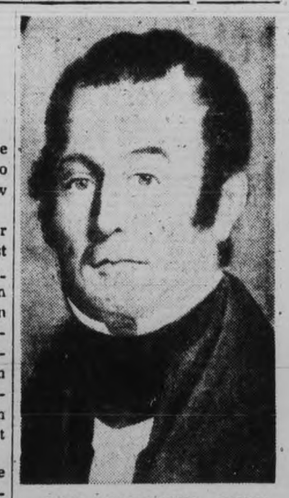
Peoples natures were much the same then as now. They had disputes and quarrels, which often developed into fist fights. There was no provincial police in those day within call, so some young men of the community decided to form themselves into a little band and in their own crude way to punish those who offended in any way not only by lawlessness but by pride as well.

Such a proud one, a physician from Millbrook, appeared at a church service at St. John's Anglican church on the hill in a swallow tail coat, striped trousers and a silk top hat brought all the way from Belfast. The hat, as was the custom, was left on a ledge at the back of the church. When the service was over and the owner came to claim his headpiece it was not to be found. Hearing shouts and derisive laughter out in the roadway, he went out to find his elegant hat being used as a football.

All Ablaze

One fine winter day several of these lads from North Cavan took a team and sleigh and went over to Silver Creek, about a mile east of Millbrook, to buy some chairs from a man who lived on the bank of the creek, and made chairs by hand, fine, sturdy ones, they were, and many of which are in use to this day. Straw was placed in the bottom of the sleigh to keep the chairs from sliding around. Loaded up, they started home and coming through Millbrook one of the lads lit his pipe and dropped the match into the straw. The straw blazed up as the team galloped along Tupper Street. One man, a carriage maker, whose shop they passed, hearing the commotion, looked up and dropping his hammer yelled "there goes the Cavan Blazers." The name stuck and all over Canada to this day the legends of the Cavan Blazers are uncounted.

They did many kind deeds too as on one occasion when a dour Scotch farmer who by thrift and frugal living had gathered a goodly store of this world's goods refused to let his beautiful daughter follow the dictates of her heart and was going to force her to marry a rich old bachelor, old enough to be her father and known to be cranky, eccentric and stingy.



The daughter had met a fine young chap from a nearby community, who came of a large family and had to turn out and fend for himself.

After gaining her consent he went one day to her father's for his permission. The father promptly told him to clear out and never set his foot on his farm again.

The poor girl began to droop and fade. The Blazers heard about it and decided to help further the romance by carrying notes secretly from one lover to the other.

Plans were made for an elopement. One lovely evening in spring, two Blazers called at the kitchen door of the dour father. They were invited to come in and kept the father and mother engaged in lively conversation. So interested were they in the jolly jokes and stories of their callers that they failed to hear a window upstairs being opened and light footsteps descending a ladder which was being held firmly in place by two other Blazers. A quick rush through the woods followed and on the back line a man waited with two horses. The couple mounted and rode to Mount Pleasant where they were married by the Presbyterian minister, then rode to the young man's home. The parents were filled with consternation at the daughter's disappearance but were so relieved were the parents to see their daughter safe and sound next day, forgave them. They gave her a feather bed, goose feather pillows and enough linen to make her the envy of all the girls in the township.

In time the couple had enough money to please even the girl's old Scotch father.

HON. ZACCHEUS BURNHAM of Cobourg, is one of the the absentee landowners mentioned in today's Progress of Peterborough. He received a grant of 3,832 acres in Otonabee in 1820. His only son was the Rev. Mark Burnham, rector of St. John's church, after 1852, and father of John Burnham, MD, MP, Dr. Geo Burnham and the second Zaccheus Burnham. It is from this family that Ashburnham gets its name. The photograph is from an oil painting in the Otonabee home, of Mark S. Burnham, a great-grandson.

LEAVES OF T

(One of a series of 14 special articles on the ancient art of tea-cup reading, written by the Examiner's own teacup reading expert. These are appearing intermittently on this Feature Page.)

No. VII: Affairs of the Heart.

An Anchor denotes constancy in love.

An Angel, bearer of good news may be the special messenger of love.

A chain, if unbroken, denotes an early marriage; if broken difficulties in emotional affairs

Flowers, especially when present in quantities or in a bouquet, are a sign of happy marriage.

A Harp is a sign of marital happiness.

A Heart, if seen with a ring, speaks clearly of marriage — a genuine love match.

A Horse-shoe, if in the picture with any other marriage symbol, promises a most happy engagement or marriage.

A Man, appearing in a cup with any of the love symbols, is probably the man in the affair; if his figure is very clearly defined, he is dark. If somewhat indistinct he is of blond type.

A Palm Tree, with its tall trunk and crown of leaves, to a maiden is a sign of speedy marriage; to a married woman, a sign of children.

A Peacock with a spread tail may denote a happy marriage or a notable piece of good fortune, such as the acquisition of property.

A Pear in a woman's cup promises a wealthy marriage.

A Ring means marriage; an initial near it will be that of the surname of the future betrothed; if it is cloudy, the prospect is not untroubled. If it is far down the sides, the marriage is somewhat distant and if right on the bottom will be postponed, or perhaps never take place.

Scissors or a sword speak of lovers' quarrels.

Legionnaires Trim Nylons To Go One Up In Pldyoffs

Knocking off the Nylons 7-2 in Kingston last night, the Legionnaires went one up on their best-of-seven OHA senior "B" finals, having three wins to two losses, before a capacity crowd of 2,700 fans. The next game, and possibly the last, of this hard series, will be here Monday, the winner likely meeting Markham in provincial playdowns.

Legion swarmed in from the start to gain a 3-1 margin in the first frame, and lead 6-1 going into the third. Though getting the worst of it on penalties — several cheap ones because the rabid crowd roared loud enough —the Ellis outfit had a good margin on play throughout to earn the win. Kingston fought back desperately, but were well-beaten as Legion played their best hockey of the season.

WENT GREAT — Freddy Mortimer turned in a great performance for Legion last night as they beat the Nylons 7-2 in Kingston, scoring two goals and helping in another, as he and Bob Parnell came close on several more before 2,700 disappointed fans.

Clicked Good

The winners were clicking from the goal out and going both ways as they showed their old championship fight. They ignored rough stuff to a large extent, though the game was fairly clean and stuck to their checks defensively and roared in when the opportunity presented. Ross Nicholls was solid again in goal and all the defence worked well, with the forwards coming back fast to cover after hard rushes. They also clicked better around the goal.

The Parnell line was really good in this game, and Bob Parnell and Freddy Mortimer pulled some fine combination in close to amaze the big crowd. Toodie Greenlaw also working hard. They made it look easy as the large gathering's booing at the visitors gradually diminished as the score mounted. F. Mortimer was in on three goals, while in on two each were Rochetta, Greenlaw, Hill, Vitarelli, Parnell and Coombs, but the whole crew looked good in this game. Partis and McKeown got the lone Kingston goals and Catlin had an assist. Gerow being kept off the score sheet. Even when a man short—and Legion drew nine of the 16 penalties—the winners held their own.

Scored Early

Partis put Kingston up in less than a minute when he snared Catlin's pass at the goal-mouth and backhanded it home. Vitarelli got that back later, neatly from Crowley and Rochetta. With Murphy off for interference, Fred Mortimer put Legion in front on Greenlaw's passout. Freddy went over right after for tripping, but Murphy followed again for a tripping offence, and before he returned Coombs scored in close from Stewart and Hill on a hot angle shot as Legion pressed hard.

Rochetta ran the count to 4-1 early in the second from Vitarelli and Montgomery on two nifty forward passes and neat finishing. D. Mortimer got it for charging but was back when F. Mortimer took Greenlaw's in-close pass and coolly lifted it over the sprawled figure of Udall. D. Mortimer went off again for holding but was back when Crowley got the finger for tripping, followed by Patterson for high-sticking. Parnell tallied a nice one on a return pass in close from Fred Mortimer, and then Burns and Armstrong were gated as the frame ended for roughing.

Kept Ahead

Vitarelli climbed the wall in the third for slashing and returned in time to see F. Mortimer go for tripping. Then Plumb got it for slashing and Crowley later for hooking. All were back and Legion still had a margin on play, which was slower in the third, when D. Mortimer and Harrison were chased for high-sticking, as things got a bit rougher. McKeown scored from a face-off in close with a slap shot for Kingston, but Hill got it right back on a corner passout, with Coombs and Godfrey earning assists. McKeown was waved over for tripping just before the finish.

Legion: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Crowley and Vitarelli; alternates, Parnell, F. Mortimer, Greenlaw, Hill, Stewart, Coombs, D. Mortimer and Montgomery.

Kingston: Goal, Udall; defence, Patterson and Murphy; centre, Partis; wings, Catlin and Gerow; alternates, Graves, Plumb, Armstrong, Aitken, Joyce, McKeown, Harrison and Hawkins.

Referees: W. Wilson and L. Heffering.

Nurses And CGE Win Series In Girls' League

Nurses Srs. trimmed Black's 27-8 and CGE defeated Normals 26-13 last night in the YWCA in girls' basketball semi-finals. The Nurses were easy victors in the two-game series, but CGE pulled an upset with their comeback to edge out Normals by a point on the round, 34 to 33. It was a fine fixture.

The score in the first tussle was 23-7 at the half for the strong Nurses squad, with the scoring low the last half and 4-1 in favor of the winners. Anita Davis was the big gun for the victors, as Bev Pringle turned in a good effort, and Joan Plunkett clicked well the first half. Ruth Beard was the main sniper for the losers, getting seven of their points in a good effort throughout. Teams:

Black's: M. McKee, C. Ferguson, M. Beggs, R. Beard 7, M. McGill, R. Naylor 1, M. Knox. D. McNeeley.

The Electrics pulled an upset in their determined return game as they won 26-13, leading at the half 9-6 and driving hard near the end to have a 17-6 margin. They won the round by a single point with only five players. All of them shone in a great comeback, Marg Kennedy, Barb Luther, Marg Batley, Teresa Stewart and Marg Perrin. Sheila McEwen went best for the Normals, who fought back but gradualy faded under the hot pressure. Teams:

Normals: A. Curtis 2, M. Coombs 3, M. Holroyd, M. Kerr, S. McEwen 8, G. Clark, J. Galway.

PCVS Victorious In Senior Fray

Collegiate junior girls cagers, coached by Miss Eva Scott, absorbed their first defeat of the season in Bowmanville Friday night to lose the chance to enter the COSSA tournament next Saturday. The girls lost the game 25-9 and lost the round by eight points 45-37. They won seven straight.

In the other game the PCVS seniors were edging Uxbridge High in Uxbridge 23-20 to take the COSSA semi-final series by 10 points, 61-51. The Miss Doreen Pemberton's team will enter the COSSA finals next Saturday in Toronto. Last year both the Collegiate squads managed to reach the first games of the COSSA tournament.

Had An Edge

The Collegiate seniors edged the Uxbridge High squad 11-8 on the strength of baskets by Mary Craw, Mary Braund and Lois Hutchinson. Mary Craw made four out of seven foul shots while Mary Braund had one for three. Dorothy O'Dell and Isabel Acton each had three points in the half.

Mary Craw led the way for the PCVS squad in the second half as the teams were even on the play and the score 12-all. Craw had six points while Betty Jaquith had four and Mary Braund two. Helen Willis led Uxbridge with three baskets in the half while Dorothy O'Dell had three to add to her total.

Top scorer for the evening was Mary Craw with 12 points while teammates Mary Braund had five, Betty Jaquith four and Lois Hutchinson two. Helen Willis was tops for Uxbridge with seven. Dorothy O'Dell was good for six and Isabel Acton five.

Too Strong

Bowmanville had little trouble with the juniors as they stacked up a 17-5 score in the first half. All the locals' points were foul shots as they made five out of seven good. Husak flipped in eight points and Bates seven for Lakeshore quintet during the half. Bates did all the scoring for the Bowmanville squad in the low-scoring second half with four baskets, eight points. Pat Nixon drifted in the only two PCVS baskets for the PCVS four points.

Bates stood out with 14 points while teammate Husak had eight and Dippell three. Pat Nixon was the best for the Collegians with six points. Other Collegiate points went to Joan Krogh, two, and Rosie McInroy, one.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

As this para is being written ere we hit for the long hockey haul to Kingston, naturally we haven't the scores of the Friday night cage contests around and about. But they'll be in elsewhere, mayhap in the bottom of this pillar. Just wanted to mention again the men's game at eight tonight in the Collegiate. Second of the points-to-count OABA playdown round between Toronto Broadview "Y" and the smart Outboard Marines. Latter are down five points after a 43-38 loss in Toronto, but should make up that margin and go on to win here. Unlike the Ancient Mariner of Coleridge conception, these modern Mariners are not "as idle as a painted ship upon a painted ocean"—nossuh, indeed!

It comes up playoff time for teams in the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association, and Al Watkins gave us the list which we ran yesterday. Monday sees the first bantam semi-final betwixt Trojans No. 1 and Trojans No. 2 at 5.30 in the arena. Optimists and SPS bantams have their sawoff on Wednesday, followed by a midget go, the latter also being in playoffs Friday in two sudden-death semi-finals. Juveniles don't see action until next Saturday. With semi-windup numbers sudden-death affairs, and the finals just two-game series, it won't take too long to knock off the weaker ones and declare winners in the various sections. Should all be over in less than two weeks.

Marlies Play IOOF-ers

There'll be a hot time tonight about 8.30 in Civic Arena when the scrappy juveniles tangle in the third OMHA playdown round. Between Toronto Marlboros and the local Triple Links, led by Art Heal and Len Symonds. This one settles the issue, one squad falling by the wayside and the other heading into provincial semi-finals. These husky youngsters will go all out in this fray, and fans should drop around and take a look. They'll see hot, speedy action from start to finish, as youth has energy to burn—and doesn't hesitate to burn it up. They're the senior stars of tomorrow, these champ juveniles.

* * * * * *

This is not a gloat, nor yet a desperation song; it's just a week-end jingle, which might possibly come true:

There are some Legions in this town, in this town,
Who love to knock those Kingston Nylons down,
And do this trick so very handily,
Like maybe 8 to 4 or 7 to 3.

(Ch.)

Fare-thee-well opponents, prithee,
Do not let these pastings grieve thee,
And remember that hockey class will tell, will tell;
Adieu, you Nylons, we bid you now adieu,
We can no longer stay with you, stay with you:
We'll mop this group up and then march on——
Fare-thee-well, fare-thee-well, fa-hair thee weeeeeIIII!

* * * * * *

Should Be O'er Monday

We rather expect Legion to wind up the old ball of yarn here Monday, following their 7-2 win in Kingston on Friday night. The Nylons, of course, will be desperate—being back of the eight-ball for the first time in this series, and suddenly finding that their long list of undefeated games don't mean a thing when the chips are down. They could possibly pull an upset and force that deciding game yet in Kingston on Wednesday, but we'll chomp up the old chapeau (it's not worth much, anyway) if they do. We think they've had it as that was the big one. Class will tell. And it's always a pleasure to win right in Kingston where the fans are quite rabid.

* * * * * *

Legionnaires were at their best this time. All the way from the goalie out. Checking back, passing well, and finishing off smartly around the cage. Freddy Mortimer and Bob Parnell were really good, but we won't single any others out, as they all turned in a bangup performance. A bit rough, but not unduly, and the Ellis outfit played smart, hustling hockey. Even looked good when a man short, which was fairly often. Of course, they could lapse a little on their laurels Monday against a Nylons' squad which will surely shoot the works, but we can't see 'em losing this next one if they play at all up to form. A bus load of fans, and a number in cars, were down to root them along, helping to pack the Harty Arena.

Marlies One Up Over The Links

Marlboros defeated the juvenile Oddfellows at Weston last night 4-0 in a hard-fought hockey game to open their two-game, goals to count, series as OMHA playoffs continue. The return game is at Civic Arena tonight.

The score is not indicative of the play over the route as Art Heal's boys made it a tough and fairly even struggle but were outlucked many times. Angus was good in goal for Marlboros, who edged Peterborough for a goal in each of the first two periods, despite good work by the defence of Bigford, Shearer, Kimball and Armstrong. The Jackson, White line proved very effective for the home crew while Robinson, Pammett and Buckton were outstanding for Oddfellows with every man giving his best in a hard battle. The boys expect to turn the tables completely here.

Marlboros—Goal, Angus; defence, Stoyan, Simmons; centre, P. White; wings, L. White, Jackson; alternates, Bonnello, Taylor, McIntosh, McCausland, D. Bonnello, Tolton, Pinkney.

Peterborough — Goal, Batley; defence, Byford, Armstrong; centre, Pammett; wings, Buckton, Ferguson; alternates, Jenns, K. Floyd, Golaska, Robinson, Bacon, Collins, Shearer, Kimball.

Summary

First period—Marlboros, F. Bonnello, 6.25; penalties, Stoyan, McIntosh.

Second period—Marlboros, McIntosh (Taylor), 12.40; penalties, Simmons, Taylor, Collins.

Third period—Marlboros, L. White (P. White), 8.27; Marlboros Tolton (Pinkney), 15.30. Penalties Shearer, Bacon.

Trojans Triumph

The Filter Queen Trojans took an exhibition hockey doubleheader in Port Hope, beating the home midgets 4-0 and capturing their home game with the Port juveniles 4-1. Play was fast and rather rugged, with Ferguson getting three goals in the two games, as Batley, Church, Seabrook and Dunn had assists. Doris scored a pair of goals, and Johnston and Lundy one each.

The manager and coach of the Trojans would like to see more parents attending these games, seeing plenty of good minor hockey and encouraging the young pucksters.

PCVS Cagers Win Two To Gain Final

PCVS Senior and Junior A boys' basketball teams are in the COSSA finals next Saturday in Toronto at Hart House, University of Toronto. Both teams will be playing in the first games finalists from the Georgian Bay area, the junior game at 1 p.m. and the senior at 3:30. The COSSA final game is in the evening.

Bev Goulding's seniors coasted Friday to an easy 52-27 win over the Bowmanville High seniors to take the Lakeshore championship in two games 102 to 57, while the junior A squad was winning 38-26 from the Bowmanville juniors to take their Lakeshore championship 61 to 45 on the round. Doing so, both teams earned the right to enter the COSSA tournament next week-end.

The seniors rattled home a 17-3 lead in the first quarter on the strength of the first line. The second squad took over in the second and made it a closer game with the mixed seniors and juniors of the Bowmanville team. The score at the half was 27-10. The first string pushed the Collegians well ahead to victory in the third as they scored 19 points to Bowmanville's 8. The Lakeshore quintet were back in the third to outscore PCVS 9-6 to make the final 52-27.

Led the Way

The big gun for the night was Bowmanville's Gallagher, who racked up 17 points in Friday night's game to lead the scoring of the series with 38 points. Al Northcott for the PCVS cagers had 11 points, while teammates Pete Bailey, Nell Thompson, and Bryon Young each had 8. The rest of the PCI'ers points were well spread out throughout the the team.

Grafstein, star guard of the Collegiate squad, sat out this game with a bad knee. An old football injury was aggravated during last week's first game of the series. Carl Sergeant filled in, playing a steady game on defence and offence. Bryon Young was in for the Bowmanville rebounds time and time again to stem the Lakeshore attack.

In a close-checking first quarter the junior team battled to a 6-all score. Quick baskets on a strong offensive put the PCI'ers up early in the second quarter, but the Bowmanville boys were climbing back again at the half 21-11. In another quarter similar to the close-checking first the lakeshore crew outscored the locals 6-5 in the third. McIlraith and Brown started to combine in the fourth for the Collegians, shoving the score up to 38 against 26 for Bowmanville.

A Highlight

Late in the last quarter Al McIlraith who enjoyed his best scoring night this year with 18 points, left the game favoring his right ankle. He was taken to the doctor's, but the final result was not known at this writing. The whole team worked well with McIlraith setting him in scoring position, which suited him fine and dandy. Brown was second scoring man for PCVS with 6 points.

Stutt led the Bowmanville quintet with 10 points, while Taylor had 6 with long shots and Buchan 5. Dadson turned in a nice effort in the Bowmanville play although he only scored 2 points.

Back on the PCVS defence Ron Doughty and Bill Stewart were towers of strength as they checked steady throughout and were up continually for the Bowmanville rebounds.

The lineups:

Senior Game

Bowmanville — Gallagher 17, Frank, Jones, Mohun, Coombes 4, Hills 1, Dadson, Stutt 5, Taylor, Buchan.

PCVS—Bailey 8, Thompson 8, Sergeant 5, Robinson, Young 8, Ackford 5, Northcott 11, Hall 2, Taylor 4, Cranfield 1.

Junior Game

Bowmanville—Buchan 5, Dadson 2, Stutt 10, Taylor 6, Stainton, Maguire, Bate, Kelly, Hockin, Piper 3, Murdock.

PCVS — Doughty, Hendren, Langhorne 3, McIlraith 18, Ash 4, Hempstead, Johnston, Brown 6, Fortner 1, Stewart 3, Boorman, Grafstein 3, Fowler.

Lindsay Junior Rink Loses In First Round

TORONTO, March 11 (CP)—A Hamilton rink skipped by Tom Duffy Friday won the Ontario Junior Tankard and the Thomas Rennie Trophy by defeating Bill Scanlon of Guelph Curling Club 13-4 in the final round.

Duffy went through the eight-team, knockout competition undefeated. He defeated G. McFadden of Lindsay 12-8 in the first round and B. Collins of Guelph 11-10 in the semi-final match.

Scanlon reached the finals with a 14-3 win over Dave Hudson of Midland.

WILT WINNER

Cagy Fred Wilt outfoxed Ireland's John Joe Barry Friday night to win the featured mile race by eight yards in 4:25 in a track meet at the 369th Regiment Armory.

IOOF Juniors Sew Up Series In Overtime Win Over Bees

Triple Links rose to superlative heights last night at Civic Arena to outplay and defeat their rivals Oshawa Bees 3-2 in overtime, to deadlock their best of five series for Junior B group supremacy at a game apiece and send upwards of 1,000 rabid hockey fans home talking to themselves.

Bun Kingdon's fighting lads lifted the lid from the opening whistle and carried on a relentless drive that could not be denied. After 66 minutes and 47 seconds of play, Ron Turner took Bob Wyatt's fast pass-out from behind Bees' goal to rifle the winning counter behind Claus on the open right corner and settle the issue then and there.

It was a great finish to the mighty struggle between two evenly matched clubs and thus the locals by virtue of a swell display of form and drive in recent days continue on in their quest for further laurels as the series goes in Oshawa on Wednesday and back here on Friday.

Bees Started

Bees opened the scoring in the first as Deeth smote home Attersley's rebound close in with D. Wasson in the coop. Red Wasson the individual star of the game in the net for Oddfellows, who was called upon several times during the game to hold out short-handed, proved strong, and at the eight-minute mark Ben Mason, who worked like a Trojan all night, scored his first of two goals on a double pass from Fennell and Desjardins as all combined in a ripping power play to splatter around Claus, who had a hectic night of it in that cage.

IOOF took the lead in the second as Ben Mason again combined with his brother Ross and Dean Wasson to take a short pass close in to outsmart the rival goalie clean. The Motor City lads were in the fight some, too, and after sustained end to end rushing by both squads, Deeth got a breakaway past centre on a criss-cross from Weddup and Pollard to give Wasson no chance in the Oddfellows' mesh.

Couldn't Score

Two determined crews opened the third stanza but despite hard play and stiff penalties, six in all, neither team could score. It was fast and furious all the way with both goalies good and forwards and defence working like grandfather's clock. Bees threatened several times early in the session with Deeth in all alone once, but Wasson proved impregnable. With play tied at the end of regulation time it became apparent skill, endurance and the breaks would decide it. Links qualified, and took home the marbles against a worthy foe. Every player gave his level best. The Mason-Desjardins line was effective throughout as they turned in a whale of a game. The Turner-Wyatt-Floyd trio pounded all the way and the clinching goal made them a host of friends. The Birch-Doris-Baker line, always trying, never looked better, while Millar, Fennell, Richlark and Wasson played a well-nigh perfect two-way defence game all through. Dean Wasson played with a painfully swollen face injured seriously in Oshawa.

For the visitors, Deeth was outstanding with Claus, Attersley, Weddup, Myles, McAllister, and Etcher good and all hands working hard.

The teams:

Oshawa — Goal, Claus; defence, McAllister and Edwards; centre, Myles; wings, Brabin and Wilson; alternates, Etcher, Bannon, Deeth, Johnson, Attersley Weddup, Pollard, Marshall.

IOOF — Goal, R. Wasson; defence, Richlark and D. Wasson; centre, Turner; wings, Wyatt and Floyd; alternates, Desjardins, B. Mason, R. Mason, Birch, Doris, Millar, Baker, Fennell

Referee—Jim Crombie.

Linesman—Herb. Payne.

First Period

Oshawa—Deeth (Attersley) 4:15
IOOF—B. Mason (Desjardins, Fennell) 8:05
Penalties—Turner, Pollard, Myles, D. Wasson, Fennell.

Second Period

IOOF—B. Mason (D. Wasson, R. Mason) 7:15
Oshawa—Deeth (Weddup, Pollard) 14:10
Penalties—Bannon, Floyd Myles.

Third Period

No score.
Penalties—Pollard Baker, D. Wasson, Johnson, Wyatt, Baker.

Overtime Period

IOOF—Turner (Wyatt) 6:47
Penalty—Etcher.

Manitoba Places 2nd In Curling

VANCOUVER, March 11 (CP) —After spending more than 30 hours on ice in the last five days, Billy McTavish of Winnipeg relaxed Friday night with second place in the Canadian curling championship all wrapped up for Manitoba.

The 32-year-old skip from the Elmwood Curling Club in Winnipeg, a hot pre-bonspiel favorite, tied down second place with a handy 13-8 victory over Cal Asmussen's Ontario foursome in an unprecedented play-off.

Earlier, Ontario defeated Alberta, also in on the three-day tie for second place—first in 'spiel history since it expanded to a national basis in 1937—after regular play ended. That moved the Kitchener shotsmith into the set against McTavish and his partners who had drawn a bye.

A four-ender on the opening end put Manitoba well in front and, although Ontario once drew even at 5-5, McTavish swept to a comparatively easy victory. The Ontario rink was obviously tired compared to the more youthful manitobans.

Lindsay Rink Captures Empress Cup

By HERB MARTIN

With the presentation of prizes at 8 o'clock Friday evening, the week-long mixed rink bonspiel for the Empress Hotel trophy came to a successful conclusion with the veteran curler Dr. C. Laidley, of Lindsay, skipping his rink to win first honors and the big trophy. The Wes. Champ trophy goes to Fred Stinson and his rink. The remaining prizes were pretty well distributed among other clubs with probably the local club getting more.

Looking over the games that began early Monday morning and continued until 7 p.m. Friday, it would not be fair to single out any particular game as the outstanding one. There was the odd one-sided affair but an the whole the games were well above the average.

During the presentation of the prizes many compliments were passed on to those who had worked so hard to make the bonspiel a success. They deserved it all.

Guelph Takes Semi-Finals With 4-3 Overtime Win

By The Canadian Press.

Barrie Flyers, the "Cinderella" team of the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A division the last two years, lost their magic touch last night.

Guelph's hustling Biltmores bobbed up with a second overtime pefiod goal to defeat the Flyers 4-3 and oust them from the dwindling list of Memorial Cup contenders. The victory gave the Bilts the best-of-five semi-final series 3-1 and put them into the loop's finals against the power-packed Windsor Spitfires.

The opening whistle for the sudden-death second overtime period had blown and just 38 seconds later Herb Dickenson took a pass from Ron Plumb to rap home Guelph's fourth counter.

In the third game of the best-of-seven Senior A finals Toronto Marlboros took a less-dramatic win, a smashing 4-0 victory. It was their third straight over the Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen.

Go Ahead

Kitchener-Waterloo had refused to take the ice for last night's game if the same referees who handled the second game — Red Farrell and Jack Mehlenbacher— were used. However, Bill Morrison and Doug Young were announced as officials and the game went as scheduled.

In the 1948 and 1949 playoffs Barrie, most lightly regarded of the teams in the post-season parade, knocked off the favorites and in the 1948 campaign went all the way to Dominion finals before bowing to a power-packed Port Arthur squad.

Herb Dickenson's first period tally gave the Hatters a 1-0 lead and Don Bellringer increased it to 2-0 mid-way through the second. The never-say-die Flyers fought back and deadlocked it at 2-2 by the end of the middle frame. John Bobenic and Real Chevrefils were the marksmen.

Came the third period and the teams battled through 20 minutes of hard-fought scoreless hockey. But in the first 10-minute overtime period Red Barber put Barrie ahead for the first time in the game. Don Oberholtzer tied it near the end of the frame.

Buchanan Hero

Marlboros' Al Buchanan was again the hero in the senior tilt. The peppery winger scored twice for Joe Primeau's boys. In the second game of the series he also notched a pair.

Buchanan opened the scoring in the first period—when the Toronto team clicked for three — and was followed by Danny Lewicki and Scotty Mair. Lewicki was playing his first senior game as a call up from the eliminated Junior A Marlboros.

Buchanan closed the scoring in the second period.

The seniors continue their feud tonight and Marlboros have a chance to end it all in four straight. The clubs play at Waterloo.

Argos Sign Up Assistant Coach

TORONTO, March 11 (CP) — John (Moose) Kerns, first-string tackle with the professional Buffalo Bills for the last three seasons, Friday signed a contract as assistant coach with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football League.

The 26-year-old, 245-pound star will play as line coach when the Argos get under way this season. He played with the Bills until the all-America football conference was merged with the National Conference. Buffalo was then dropped.

Argo president Bob Moran said Kerns was recommended by coach Frank Clair and said his record suggests he'll be a useful addition to the Toronto squad.

A native of Ashtabula, Ohio, Kerns played standout football at both high school and university before going to Buffalo. He played with the University of North Carolina in 1944 and was voted all-southern tackle that season.

Montreal Seeks Playoff Spot Over Weekend

By JOHN D. HAMILTON, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Montreal Canadiens hope to nail down a play-off berth in the National Hockey League this weekend.

Now in fourth place, 10 points ahead of Boston Bruins, the Habitants can make it a virtual certainty before Monday. Tonight the Canucks play host to Boston and Sunday tackle the onrushing New York Rangers while Boston meets Toronto Maple Leafs.

All around, it's one of the heaviest weekend schedules this year with all six clubs seeing action twice as the season draws to a close. Rangers play Toronto and Chicago at Detroit tonight. Detroit goes to Chicago Sunday for the sixth weekend game.

The Rangers, a hot club lately, with luck could shoot past Toronto into second place. They're only two points behind the Leafs today and have a two-point margin over Montreal. Detroit holds the league leadership by nine points.

In There Trying

There's no doubt the Rangers will be trying for second spot because that figures to be a good place in the playoff picture with the first and third-place winners meeting in series A and the second and fourth place winners tangling in series B.

Detroit, a rugged club, has been notorious for years as a killer of playoff hopes in the first round.

Montreal, not so spectacular as the Rangers lately, also is a dangerous club, even without its ace goalie, Bill Durnan. Big Bill has been out of action for a week with a badly-gashed head and the club reported Friday that he still was weak.

Gerry McNeil, goalie of Cincinnati Mohawks of the American League, has been filling in capably for the Habs and he'll be between the pipes again tonight.

All of the clubs but two have eight games remaining in the 70-game schedule. Montreal and Chicago have nine each. The game in hand won't do Chicago much good however; the Hawks are bedded deep in last place, seven points behind Boston.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Cincinnati Reds stand a good chance to be the surprise club in the National League pennant race says Luke Sewell the Reds' freshman manager at Tampa, Fla.

The Reds finished in seventh place last year. Not many observers rate them much higher this year. But that doesn't stop Sewell from being enthusiastic about his team's prospects of climbing a notch or two.

"We're definitely going to be a better ball club than last year," Sewell predicted. "People might as well expect it.

"Our pitching will be sounder. And we're going to score more runs. We're a young club and young fellows like Lloyd Merriman, Ted Kluszewski, Grady Hatton, Red Stallcup and Herman Wehmeier are bound to improve even if only because of the experience they gained last year."

At Amherst, Mass., E. Howard of Toronto was the lone Canadian to survive the second round of the National Intercollegiate Squash Racquets Tournament which opened here Friday. Five other Canadian university entrants won their opening matches but were knocked out in the second round.

Charlie Fusari, sharp-shooting welterweight contender from Irvington, N. J., handed young Jimmy Flood a terrific lacing Friday night as he won a unanimous 10-round decision over the game New York middleweight in New York's Madison Square Garden. Fusari was outweighed 158 to 151¾.

Rudy Pasco, Toronto featherweight, knocked out George La Falgio of New York at 1:06 of the fourth round in a scheduled six-round preliminary on the Flood-Fusari card. Pasco scaled 129½, La Falgio 132¼.

Hamilton Strand Cycles Friday night at Hamilton defeated Windsor Assumption College 54-45 to move into the second round of the Ontario Intermediate A basketball playoffs. They will meet the winners of the Toronto-Peterborough series.

Junior hockey fans at Montreal are optimistic that Quebec province will win the Memorial Cup for the second successive year.

The Junior Amateur Hockey Association—only Junior A circuit in the province—produced Quebec's first Memorial Cup winner last spring when the young Montreal Royals overcame Brandon Wheat Kings in the final in the west. This year the final swings to the east with the eastern winners as hosts.

Lining Up New Scientists Worry In U.S. Hydrogen Bomb Program

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON, March 11 — (AP) — Lining up the needed scientists, particularly those from overseas, apparently is one of the big worries in the country's new hydrogen bomb program.

The problem may involve such issues as:

1. Setting up safeguards against another Fuchs spy case.
2. Deciding whether the H-bomb effect shall be partial or full scale.
3. Draining scientists from universities and industry to an extent that might cripple the training of the physicists of the future
4. Making another deal with Britain.
5. Amending the Atomic Energy law.
6. Opposition of some scientists to going ahead with the super H-bomb now.

Foreign Scientists

In developing the atomic bomb the United States had to draw heavily on men who came from overseas, men like Budapest-born Dr. Edward Teller and Rome-born Dr. Enrico Fermi, both of the university of Chicago.

While the theory of the hydrogen bomb has been known for years, getting this proposed super weapon into production again would be likely to require many such scientists in key places.

Getting British scientists opens up several questions.

Some authorities say it would require an agreement with Britain, and loosening U. S. atomic energy law controls over atomic information and materials.

Some doubt that any scientists who are not American citizens could be employed on the H-bomb project unless the law is changed

There is some thought that as a condition of letting the U. S have scientists for the hydrogen bomb program Britain may insist on a greater share in American atomic weapons know-how and an actual share in the bombs.

A formal British-Canadian-American agreement on sharing atomic information, set up during the war, ran out last year. Diplomatic officials say it still operates informally but that Britain wants a closer partnership, one that would give her some A-bombs, and perhaps H-bombs on an if and when basis.

"NERVES" She Called It

Losing interest—losing friends—she never went out any more—always too tired. "Nerves", she thought—but it was her kidneys—the filters of her blood—that needed attention. She used Dodd's Kidney Pills at once. The improved action of her kidneys helped to clear away blood impurities and excess acids. Fatigue, backache, headache, lack of energy disappeared. Dodd's Kidney Pills contain essential oils and medicinal ingredients that act directly upon the kidneys—and help restore their normal action. 144

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

MOST VITAL WATERWAY, the Panama Canal, was born of necessity coupled with American engineering genius in the Twentieth Century. This passageway between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans has saved countless millions of dollars worth of time to commercial shippers and naval vessels. Its value to the country's defence during wartime can hardly be overestimated. Here, the battleship Missouri has just passed through Miraflores locks on its way to the Atlantic. The Canal's builders overcame almost insuperable obstacles to push it through to completion. Col. G. W. Goethals of the Army Engineers headed the huge project, which began in 1904 and went on for 10 years at a cost to America of some $367,000,000. The first ship went through the Canal locks in 1914.

Cobourg Parks Board Reports Small Deficit

COBOURG, March 11 (ENS)—In spite of heavy expenditures in 1949, Cobourg's Park Board finished its year with a deficit of only $146.89, the auditors' statement for the year reveals. Total income was $8,469.62.

Expenditures on grounds amounted to $1,070.63 and on the tourist camp, $3,187.06. Operating expenses of the grounds totalled $476.18 and of the tourist camp, $290.87. Miscellaneous items totalled $697.87 and salaries, $2,893.90

The income included the town grant of $3,413.20; tourist camp revenue $3,424.50 and pavilion rental, $1,125.00

It was pointed out by the chairman of the Parks Board that the parks superintendent, Gordon Nicholson, had had the opportunity of the job of caretaker of the post office but that he had been persuaded to remain with the parks board. Mr. German felt that in view of Mr. Nicholson's loyalty in spite of an offer of more money, he should be given an increase in salary. The Board accordingly voted him an increase of $200 per year.

All-Out Effort Against Soviet Short Of Shooting-Acheson

WASHINGTON, March 11 — (AP)—A new cold war battlecry — 'total diplomacy —" "has been raised by States Secretary Dean Acheson. Its meaning: an all-out effort, short of shooting, to curb Russian expansion.

Declaring that the United States must do far more than it is now doing to halt Soviet plans for "world domination," Acheson said:

"We clearly are not focusing our resources in the winning of that struggle."

What's needed, he said, is a single-minded, "voluntary" campaign by all elements of the U.S. —Congress, the executive departments of the government, and the people. He mentioned particularly such institutions as business agriculture, the press and the radio.

Acheson sketched this new outline of national support for United States foreign policy three weeks ago, in an imformal White House talk before the advertising council, a private organization of leaders in the field of advertising

Talk Kept Secret

Officials said the talk was kept secret, in the expectation that Acheson might use the same ideas in a public address in late February or early March. When this did not materialize it was decided to make a reconstructed version of his speech public.

In it, Acheson declared that the United States must follow two closely-related lines of foreign policy.

The first, he said, is "to meet wherever possible all thrusts of the Soviet Union"—as has been done in Greece and Turkey.

The second policy line, he said "must be to create those economic, political, social and psychological conditions that strengthen and create confidence in the democratic way of life."

In this connection, he cited the European program and American aid in bringing independence to Indonesia. Then he added:

"One of the things that we must do is to enable other countries to buy with their own products the raw materials that they need to feed and clothe and employ their own people. This means that we must buy their goods and their services to a greater extent than at present."

Anti-Gambling Squad Reported In Windsor

WINDSOR, March 11 (CP) — There were reports here Friday that the Ontario Provincial Police anti-gambling squad paid a quick visit to the city Thursday as a result of a magistrate's mention of gambling in his judgment on a liquor case.

However, there was no conclusive sign of their presence. No persons had been booked on gambling charges up to noon today. There were conflicting reports on whether the bookies operated Thursday. Some said they closed. Others said it was possible to get a bet down on a horse.

Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan mentioned gambling in Windsor when he sentenced Joseph Assef Wednesday to six months in jail on a charge of selling liquor.

Stories From The Bible

Now there was a famine in the land. And a certain man went to sojourn in Moab, he Elimelech, and his wife Naomi, and his two sons Mahlon and Chilion. And they came into Moab, and continued there. And Naomi's husband died. And her two sons took wives of the women of Moab; one was Orpah, and the other Ruth; and they dwelled there about ten years. And Mahlon and Chilion died also; and the woman was left of her two sons and her husband.

Then she arose to return unto the land of Judah. And Naomi said to her daughters in law, Go, return each to her mother's house: The Lord grant that ye may find rest, each in the house of her husband. Then she kissed them; and they lifted up their voice, and wept. And Orpah kissed her mother in law; but Ruth clave unto her. And she said, Behold, thy sister in law is gone back: return thou after thy sister in law. And Ruth said, Intreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God: Where thou diest will I die, and there will I be buried: the Lord do so to me, and more also, if ought but death part thee and me.

So they two went and came to Beth-lehem in the beginning of barley harvest.

And Naomi had a kinsman of her husband's, a mighty man of wealth, and his name was Boaz. And Ruth the Moabitess said unto Naomi, Let me now go and glean ears of corn after the reapers. And she said, Go, my daughter. And she went: and her hap was to light on the field belonging unto Boaz.

And Boaz came, and said to his servant that was set over the reapers, Whose damsel is this? And the servant answered, It is the Moabitish damsel that came back with Naomi out of Moab. Then said Boaz unto Ruth, Hearest thou not, my daughter? Go not to glean in another field, but abide here fast by my maidens. So she gleaned in the field until even, and beat out that she had gleaned: and it was about an ephah of barley.

And she went into the city: and her mother in law said, Where hast thou gleaned today? And she said, with Boaz. And Naomi said, Blessed be he of the Lord, who hath not left off his kindness to the living and to the dead.

Then Naomi said unto her, My daughter, shall I not seek rest for thee? And is not Boaz of our kindred, with whose maidens thou wast? Behold, he winnoweth barley tonight in the threshing floor. Wash thyself therefore, and anoint thee, and put thy raiment upon thee, and get thee down to the floor: but make not thyself known unto the man, until he shall have done eating and drinking. And when he lieth down, thou shalt mark the place where he shall lie, and thou shalt go in, and uncover his feet, and lay thee down; and he will tell thee what thou shalt do.

And she went down unto the floor, and did according to all that her mother in law bade her.

And at midnight, the man turned and, behold, a woman lay at his feet. And he said, Who art thou? And she answered, I am Ruth thine handmaid: spread therefore thy skirt over thine handmaid; for thou art a near kinsman. And he said, Blessed be thou of the Lord, my daughter: for thou hast shewed more kindness in the latter end than at the beginning, inasmuch as thou followest not young men, whether poor or rich. And now, my daughter, fear not; I will do to thee all that thou requirest: for all the city of my people doth know that thou art a virtuous woman.

And Boaz took Ruth, and she was his wife: and the Lord gave her conception, and she bare a son. And the women said unto Naomi, Blessed be the Lord, which hath not left thee this day without a kinsman, that his name may be famous in Israel. And he shall be unto thee a restorer of thy life, and a nourisher of thine old age: for thy daughter in law, which loveth thee, which is better to thee than seven sons, hath born him. And Naomi took the child, and laid it in her bosom, and became nurse unto it. And they called his name Obed: he is the father of Jesse, the father of David.

God Ever Ready To Receive But He Does No Forcing

By REV. E. R. JAMES

Satan Said Unto Jesus If Thou Be The Son Of God Cast Thyself Down From Thence St. Luke 4: 9.

SATAN is the adversary of God and quotes scripture but only that which suits his purpose. "He shall give His angels charge over thee to keep thee" Note the important ommission:—"In all thy ways" teaching that in the path of duty God will never fail you. If you are in middle life I am sure you know this truth.

The scene is the pinnacle of the Temple on which the watchers stood waiting to see the first glimpse of the rising sun and signal the new day to the worshippers below. The evil one is still more subtle. "Are you sure you are the Son of God". It is an appeal to work by non moral means. "Cast thyself down for the angels will take care of thee." He is truly man; It will bring satisfaction to you and to the people. It makes a very strong appeal to the Jewish mind, which has been trained to look for a sign from the Messiah. The cry runs through the Gospels. St John in his Gospel does not use the word miracle but calls the wonders "signs" which is to appeal to the thinking man, who is to look below the surface for the inner meaning. To force himself upon the people is a fascinating thought for one who has a new idea or ideal. It is NOT the principle of the Gospel.

For the second time the Master quotes from Deuteronemy. "It is written thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God". It means that the Christ is to put his whole trust and confidence in the Father, whose will he came to do.

It is easy to forget this ideal that God does not force himself upon his people. "Behold. I stand at the door and knock. If any man will open unto me I will enter."

The Christ begins his ministry with his mind settled upon the principles of his mission as Messiah. He is not to turn the stone into bread but to feed his soul on the divine bread from heaven. He is not to be a king as the multitudes expected. Above all He is not to force himself upon his people.

Dr. Knight has written a stimulating book on the temptations and sums up in these words, which may appeal to your mind.

BREAD. I AM THE BREAD OF LIFE.

AUTHORITY. I AM COME TO DO THE WILL OF THE FATHER THAT SENT ME.

MYSTERY. THE WORD WAS MADE FLESH AND DWELT AMONG US.

LORD, IN THEE HAVE I TRUSTED LET ME NEVER BE CONFOUNDED.

FRASERVILLE, March 11 — (ENS). — The WA of Fraserville United Church met for the March meeting at the home of Mrs. K. Moncrief Wednesday, and the afternoon was spent is quilting.

In the absence of the president Mrs. W. Waterman, vice-president, presided. Mrs. F. Whitfield read the Scripture lesson, and 10 answered the roll call with one visitor present. The program for the month was in charge of Mrs. McClenaghan who then took over. She chose as her topic Prayer, and gave some interesting items based on this. She also carried on a picture study based on the painting, "Christ in Gethsemane."

Mrs. L. Hewitt gave a reading on the painter of this picture, Heinrich Hoffman, after which Mrs. P. Moncrief sang. Supper was served after the meeting

Big Business

TORONTO, March 11—(CP)—A return tabled in the Ontario Legislature Friday for Liberal [illegible]r Farquhar Oliver said that cost of the Des Joachims hydro-electric project on the Ottawa River so far is $58,596,000. The return also showed the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission purchased 883,000 barrels of cement from Canada Cement Company for construction and maintenance work in 1950. Approximately 36,000 tons of structural steel were bought from 13 firms last year.

72 Jobless Seek New Funds Beside Insurance

Applications for the supplementary benefits under changes in the Unemployment Insurance Act total 72 since March 1, William Mellis, local National Employment office manager, said today. Sixty-four men and eight women have applied for the funds provided by the government.

Up to March 6 about 20,000 applications had been received by the Labor Department across Canada for supplementary financial help. The funds became available February 28, under new government regulations, to take care of employees who lose their employment in the winter months have either exhausted the benefit to which they are entitled or cannot yet qualify for it. The supplementary funds will be paid this year up to April 15, and in following years only between January 1 and March 31.

Extra Relief

The classes entitled to supplementary benefit include: (1) Persons who have worked in insurable employment but have exhausted their benefit; (2) persons who have worked in insurable employment for too short a time to qualify for benefit; (3) persons who have worked in lumbering and logging for at least 90 days in any 12-consecutive-month period in the 18 months prior to the Bill's enforcement; (4) persons who have been working in employments that have been brought under the Unemployment Act too recently for the employees to accumulate the necessary contribution credits to qualify for ordinary benefit.

The supplementary benefit is to be financed by an additional contribution of one cent per day paid by the employee working in insurable industry and a similar contribution paid by the employer. The government will contribute one-fifth of the total. The new contribution rates will not be effective until proclaimed, which will not be before July 1.

Another class affected will include those whose present salary is between $3,120 a year and $4,800. Anyone in this class losing employment will be entitled to one-fifth of the day's worked since March 31, 1949, although they have made no employment insurance contributions.

12 CIO Unions Forming New Labor Council

By DAVE WHITE

Twelve CIO unions in Peterborough, claiming a membership of nearly 4,000 workers, are forming a new labor council in this city to be chartered to the Canadian Congress of Labor and affiliated to the Ontario Federation of Labor.

This was announced today by A. E. Johnston, director of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CCL) and CCL organizer in this district.

Formation of the new labor body, named the Peterborough and District Labor Council, lops off a large proportion of the membership in the Allied Labor Council which was organized in 1944.

All CIO-CCL locals previously affiliated with the ALC (a unity council admitting CCL and TLC as well as independent unions) have now seceded to form the Canadian Congress of Labor council.

According to the constitution the new labor body admits locals directly chartered to the CCL, or affiliated groups such as the Trent Valley Area Joint Board composed of Textile Workers' locals.

Hands In Resignation

One of the blows suffered by the Allied Labor Council is the fact its president, Alfred Barber, also president of Local 210 UPWA (CIO-CCL) (Canada Packers), handed in his resignation and the local has now switched to the CCL council.

It is no secret that this was a hard decision for Mr. Barber to make as he was one of the ALC's most active members but he abided by a decision reached through a recent vote of Local 210's membership.

"We decided to withdraw from the Allied Labor Council and felt we should join the new CCL council being formed," was Mr. Barber's terse comment when asked by the Examiner for a statement.

Left in the ALC are Local 524 UE and the TLC unions not eligible for membership in the CCL.

The new council has been organized by Mr. Johnston and a committee from all of the locals concerned. Election of officers will take place at the first meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the CCL hall, 168½ Charlotte St.

Poor Approach

"For a considerable time now the general feeling in this area has been that the Allied Labor Council's approach to conditions in this area affecting the working class has been sadly lacking in efficiency," Mr. Johnston said.

The CCL organizer charged that delegates to the ALC had not been truly responsible to their memberships. Motions on the floor were decided on the "whim" of the delegate, he said, instead of being referred back to his local for discussion before a decision was made.

Because of this, Mr. Johnston continued, it was decided that the ALC had outlived its usefulness as far as the CCL-affiliated unions were concerned.

Bitterness Reflected

The bitter struggle between the left-wing UE and right-wing IUE (CIO-CCL) that has continued for the past four months here in Peterborough is also reflected in the move.

In November the UE was tossed out of the CIO at the 1949 convention and the CCL followed in December by suspending the militant leftists. The UE has continued to be a local in good standing in the Peterborough ALC but the IUE has made no attempt to join.

The touchy problem of whether the ALC should recognize the UE or the IUE as the legal bargaining unit for the more than 3,000 CGE production workers did not arise. Presumably the IUE, as well as the other CCL unions, knew a council chartered by Congress was in the offing and decided not to make an issue of it in the ALC.

A year ago, Mike Fenwick, Steelworkers organizer with HQ in Oshawa, came to the ALC and made three main points: one, the

With Only $5,552 To Go Campaign Extended Week

Peterborough has failed by $5,552 to complete the $75,000 objective for the Red Cross and Community Fund during the campaign week scheduled to conclude Friday. Because the aditional sum still has to be raised the campaign has been extended into next week, when an all out effort will be made to make up the deficiency.

B. H. Myers, chairman of the retail division, reported only $9,158 of the $16,500 objective had been raised, when campaign workers met at the Empress Hotel for dinner Friday.

Canvassers in this division would continue to campaign among the stores and businesses, he said, and he hoped that by the latter part of next week the figure would be much higher.

Targets Exceeded

Gordon Matthews, chairman of the special names division, reported the $255000 target for his division had been exceeded, the total amounting to $22,615.

Mrs. W. E. Fanning, chairman of the women's division, reports the objective of $4,000 for her division had been exceeded by $1,309. Although the women's goal had been set at $4,000, they had voluntarily raised it to $5,000, she said. Receipts Friday night amounted to $5,309.

Larry Quade, reporting in the absence of Ian F. McRae, chairman of the industrial division, announced a total of $32,246, with approximately $750 expected in addition. The objective for the division had been $32,000.

Pupils' Effort

Clare Collins, who had organized the penny collections in the schools, reported the children's $500 target had been exceeded by $28. Last year the children raised $486.

The leaders of all divisions decided to continue to campaign until the $75,000 was reached. It was suggested that there may be some people in the city, not connected with businesses or other organizations, who had not yet contributed to the annual community drive. Their donations would be awaited at headquarters, 332½ George St.

When Mrs. Fanning announced the succes of the women's division she said the west section had subscribed $1,132, which was a record figure since the annual campaign started ten years ago.

William Richardson said the combined totals of the divisions, excluding the retail section, amounted to $1,698 above the objective. He thought the retail objective may have been set high, but if this division could raise $6,000 during the next week it would bring the total fund to approximately $76,000.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

SMALL BOYS' FEARS

Two small boys of Alparka said this morning they were afraid to play in Lafayette St. because other youngsters were likely to beat them, a little admission confirming the adult observation that childhood has its anxieties and fears, and evidently its pains, too.

CROWD AT STATION

CPR station waiting room was crowded Friday afternoon for the Toronto train which was marked up an hour late. The only explanation was heavy traffic somewhere. It was said that the number of people was no larger than usual at week ends.

VACATION PERIOD

The annual vacation shutdown at the CGE will this year be from Friday, July 21 to Tuesday, August 9 the day following Civic Holiday, the management announced this week. This provides an uninterupted period of 17 full days.

NO SCHOOL CANVASS

A request from the Local Council of Women that the schoolchildren be solicited for donations in the UEFB food and clothing drive, has been turned down by the Board of Education. Board members felt that individual canvassing put pressure on the children.

WANT 500 MEMBERS

Objective of the Chamber of Commerce this year is 500 members, P. D. Scollard, president of the Chamber, has stated. At present, there are 429. In 1947, there was a membership of 141 and in 1949 it grew to 381.

PAY $369.60 IN CLAIMS

Since the accident insurance policy for schoolchildren came into force in September, the company has paid $369.60 in claims, the Board of Education has announced. This leaves the present cost to the Board for the policy year, September to June, at $193.75 for public shools, $38.70 collegiate academic, and $62.50 collegiate vocational.

CHILDREN AND ST. LAURENT

At the request of City Clerk E. A. Outram, a committee has been appointed by the Board of Education to organize the turnout of schoolchildren when Prime Minister St. Laurent visits the city on Saturday, May 20. The three on the committee are K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, Percy D. Windrim, inspector, and C. S. Browne, principal of PCVS.

1950 Tax Rate Set 49.5 Mills By City Council

Mayor Max Swanston thanked committee chairmen "for the way they went into the estimates," as the council adopted the 49½-mill tax rate at a special session Friday afternoon.

"Taking into consideration the increased works that have to be done they have kept the rate down to something we think will reach the end of the year without a deficit. That will be entirely up to the council to make sure that they are keeping within their appropriations as we go along."

Council is postponing the committee meeting Monday night, giving some of the aldermen a chance to see the Legion hockey squad in action for the first time this year.

The special meeting was called Friday for the reason that the next regular meeting of the council was not scheduled until Monday, March 20.

The council did two things Friday. They accepted the assessment roll which was compiled in 1949 as the basis of the 1950 taxes, and they also set the tax rate. The determining of the individual citizen's taxes is a remaining and simple matter of arithmetic.

Ex-Editor Changes Tune Relax—Heron Motto Now

After the fitful fever of his newspaper days—and nights—John R. Heron has been exploring the virtues and values of relaxation with particular application and advice to the business executive who has got himself and his ambitions into a hectic way of life.

Mr. Heron was once managing editor of the Examiner, graduating to the corresponding but relatively higher and more turbulent and stressful desk of the Toronto Star. In recent years he has retreated from the unremitting exactions and tensions—prior to the abbreviated week—of a key job on a big paper to the unhurried and untaut position of public relations adviser for the Royal Bank in Montreal. He also writes the Royal's monthly letter one of which, entitled "What's The Hurry?" has been given first place in the March issue of Coronet.

Peterborough friends of Mr. Heron will concede to him all the satisfactions of contemplation in hours he can call his own after distinguishing himself in two wars, the one against the Germans of Kaiser Wilhelm and the other in metropolitan newspaperdom. They know he has earned it, although they may wonder at the change that has come upon his spirit in his advance in wisdom since the period of his youth when news was the firstling to hand and heart.

Warns Against Worry

Nowadays he is warning against worry and other mental unbalance. He sees signs of neurosis in "unnecessary hand-waving and pencil-tapping, wrinkled foreheads, frowns, vacant stares, restlessness." Some men are unhappy without white-walled tires on their cars, others like to have their names emblazoned on stationery and speakers' programs; the social climber must "sit above the salt" or suffer heartburn. The sensible man by reducing the number of his desires and fears finds himself able to cast aside the jitters and to work toward accomplishment instead of striving.

Manifestly, Mr. Heron has reached the philosophic stage of life which enviable men attain. The search for prestige leads to all kinds of neurotic bypaths, he writes.

"Caught up as we are in the rush of life, we have forgotten how to live. We have forgotten how to find simple things charming.

"Taking a walk at night under the stars does something to you that not all the successful busines deals can provide." That is not disillusionment. It is part of the maturity Mr. Heron invokes. And it can be far more refreshing and relaxing to the executive who has sought something from astronomy and knows the stars for their majesty as well as their beauty, and in the words of the Psalmist "telleth them by their names."

Mr. Heron appears to suggest that the busy executive would probably get more rewards out of life if his background of training and education had given ample place to the humanities and cultural pursuits.

Glow To Day

The city editor, who used to sleep with a telephone at his pillow and a corps of correspondents scattered around the country at the other ends of its numerous wires, writes in the memory of his escape: "Most effective year-round release from rush and tension is in the home. When you can look forward to spending the evening in your peaceful family circle, it gives a glow to your whole day."

One other paragraph invites contrast with an earlier Heron. "One point we do wish to make emphatically is that enough time should be taken for a leisurely lunch, completely divorced from business." That is only part of it, but it recalls the young city editor who coined a vastly different phrase that tossed meals out of reckoning of the job in hand. "Mis' your breakfast, miss your dinner, miss your supper, but don't miss the story." That was the general briefing of Examiner reporters too young to worry about thrombosis.

This is the Heron homily to executives: "Between appointments, why not sit back with closed eyes and released muscles? While dictating, why not put your feet on a stool or chair? If you have a mid-morning orange juice and an afternoon cup of tea, don't gulp them at your desk while reading a sizzling letter from a customer; stand up at the window and relax muscles, eyes and mind."

Mr. Heron's rating by the executives he is solicitously addressing should be enhanced by this dictum of avoiding the cluttered hour. "In keeping his balance amid the turmoil of business life, a man must shuffle off the tasks that do not require his personal genius, keeping his mind free for decisions that matter."

Two Collisions Occur On Ice-Coated Streets

Two colisions on ice-covered city streets resulting in damaged fenders and bumpers occurred Friday night. Cars driven north and south on Aylmer St. by Ralph Clysdale, RR 1, Keene and James Earnshaw, 116 Princess St. sideswiped left fenders at the intersection of Aylmer and Sherbrooke streets shortly after midnight.

During the afternoon the rear bumper of a car driven by Alex McFadden, 48 Driscoll Terrace, was hit by the front of a half-ton truck driven by Ron Vernon, RR 1, Cannington.

The incident occurred at George and Hunter streets when McFadden's car had stopped behind a truck, waiting for the red light to change. Vernon's truck came up behind the two vehicles and on the slippery pavement, failed to stop until it had hit the bumper of the car.

Constable Donald Mackay investigated this accident and the midnight incident was investigated by Constable V. A. McConnell.

PCVS Students Wanted For Farm Work

Secondary school students at PCVS are again being solicited to help in farm work during the late spring and summer. A memorandum from the Department of Education has been ciculated among secondary school authorities giving details.

Because extra help is urgently needed for farm work in 1950, the Minister of Education hopes that PCVS wil co-operate with the Ontario Farm Labor Service in asking the assistance of volunteers below Grade 13 for the period subsequent to May 19.

Grade 13 students will not be eligible until after the Departmental examinations in June.

Even before the war students helped in farming but this operation did not assume major proportions until the shortage of labor during the war caused them to respond in large numbers. Their special value was, and continues to be, meeting the seasonal labor requirements of fruit and vegetable growers and mixed farmers throughout the province.

Boys and girls of Middle School standing (candidates for Grades 11 and 12) who have attended regularly and do not have to write final examinations may be released for farm work on May 19. They must first undertake in writing to remain at the work as long as their services are required, but be prepared to return in time for the re-opening of school.

This plan is applicable in the case of promotions from grade to grade in Grades 9 to 12, but must get approval of the Board of Education.

Students released from school for farm work will be credited with full attendance so the Board of Education will receive its proper grant.

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

Choose Lasting Materials For Permanent Plumbing

It's safe to say that the kitchen and bathroom in your new or remodelled house will be the last word in gleaming smartness. That is as it should be—but what about the plumbing behind those smart new fixtures.

Real efficiency does not stop at the fixtures and their arrangement. The hidden piping and fittings must be properly designed and well made of non-corrosive materials. For haven't most of us, at one time or another, been surprised to find in some otherwise artistically impressive kitchen or bathroom probably you have detected on towels or fixtures similar evidences of rusty water in an otherwise irreproachable bathroom. And perhaps, it even has been necessary to postpone dish-washing, laundering or a bath until cold water could be heated on the range, simply because the water as it came from the hot water tap was brown with rust—too dirty for either china, clothes or complexion! So, obviously, in view of such inconvenience is merely a matter of perfection of appearance and arrangement.

Then, isn't it good logic to have a plumbing installation of non-corrosive pipe that will provide freedom from rusty water and its attendant replacements and repairs? There can be this freedom if the piping system is of non-corrosive brass or copper and the hot-water storage tank also is of rust-proof material.

Small Extra Cost

And the cost? While the initial cost is somewhat higher, you must remember that what your money is buying is not simply equipment, but service, based on the number of years that equipment will give you without additional cost of repairs. Modern design has necessitated piping systems being less accessible; and that points to the importance of selecting materials which, once installed, will be trouble-proof, and not requiring replacements in the walls, with accompanying expensive redecorating.

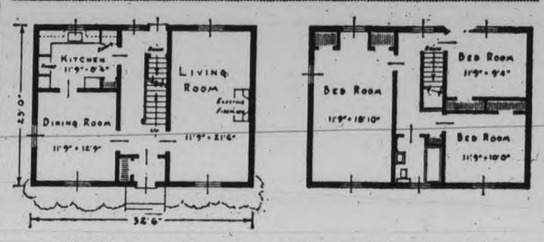
Apart from that, much of the initial cost of any plumbing system goes for labour; and labour cost is high, whether permanent or nonpermanent materials are use — another good argument in favour of rustless equipment! Copper tubing is so pliable that it can be installed easily and quickly, thus actually tending to lessen expenditures on labour.

Soldered Fittings

The soldered fittings used with copper tubing have been so designed that the tube telescopes into the fitting, forming a double wall of additional strength at the joint. Solder is applied by the use of the law of capilliary attraction, and the joint is made with a very thin layer of solder, which becomes the strongest part of the line. The cuttings are so carefully machined and held to such close tolerance that the distance between the inner wall of the fitting and the outer wall of the tube remains constantly at a capilliary distance. This capilliary distance has been carefully worked out by all the manufacturers so that the solder can be inserted at the bottom of the fitting. Gravity plays no part whatsoever in the making of this joint, and just as perfect a joint will result as though the solder were fed from the top.

Soldered Joints Stand Strain

There are many advantages in a properly made solder or brazed joint. Soldered joints are considered the best by a number of industries involving refrigeration and air-conditioning where a break would have such serious consequences. It has also been adopted for use in the construction of naval cruisers, because it will withstand the shock and vibration of the firing of broadsides without leaking. A further example of the durability and dependability of solder joints is the fact that it is the only type of rigid joint that will withstand the vibration of airplanes.



Equally important to piping is a sound, rust-free hot-water storage tank. Add to this copper heating coils in the hot-water heater, with brass fittings and copper pipe and you have an unbeatable combination for trouble-free service.

Long Life Bronze Screening

Today, when a home or cottage is to be screened, the wise owner is on the lookout for equipment that provides long and satisfactory wear, with the very minimum of expense for maintenance. Bronze screening, by reason of its rustlessness practically obviates future expenditure—barring some unusual accident: hence the slightly higher initial cost over ordinary rustable screening is soon absorbed.

Rusting and broken window and door screens cause more than their share of nuisance, for screen wire is necessarily light and unless made of strong, rust-proof material, soon rusts and breaks when exposed to the weather. Besides the advantage of durability, the beautiful gold colour of bronze screening adds much to the appearance of any house. This golden colour gradually changes to a soft neutral shade over a period of years.

HOUSE No. 156 — Attractively styled is this six-room house. The lower part of the exterior walls is stucco, with white painted cedar above. Roof is of weathered shingles. It will be noticed that there are no chimneys. This is because the house is heated by steam from a central plant. Heating bill for the season averages about $80.00, says the owner! The electric fireplace is well situated on the outside wall facing the only entrance into the living room. The master bedroom is of good size with ample closet space and windows. Note the coat closet in the vestibule. For further information, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Toronto Dancer Wins Acclaim In New York

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, March 11 (CP)—Melissa Hayden, trim young Toronto dancer who turned a hobby into a successful profession, is winning critical acclaim as a top-flight performer for the New York city ballet.

Miss Hayden has won commendation for her work in a number of ballets in the company's current season at the City Center but the critics really pulled out the stops after watching her in the New York premiere of Ferderick Ashton's "Illuminations."

The hazel-eyed, dark-haired Miss Hayden symbolized Profane Love in "Illuminations." Ashton, choreographer for Britain's celebrated Sadler's Wells ballet, based his work on the life and poems of Arthur Rimbaud. Benjamin Britten, also British, wrote the music.

John Martin of the New York Times said the figure of Profane Love "in the magnificent performance of Melissa Hayden comes very close to dominating the piece."

The Herald Tribune's Walter Terry said she "gave a tremendous performance. . .it was wild, pagan and free in character and Miss Hayden danced it for all it was worth."

Hobby Into Career

Details of her career were recounted by the 24-year-old dancer the other day.

"I took up ballet as a hobby at first and then decided to make a career of it," she said. "I haven't any hobbies now; I haven't time for them. But I'm happy in ballet."

Miss Hayden, whose real name is Mildred Herman, studied four years in Toronto with the Volkoff Ballet, then came to New York in 1941. She was a Rockette, one of the dancers at Radio City Music Hall, for three months, then got into the Ballet Theatre.

Miss Hayden spent three years with the Ballet Theatre, and then turned to the Broadway Theatre and appeared successively in two musicals, "Allegro" and "Love Live."

"Tobacco Road" Back

The Negro Drama Group this week gave Broadway a new version of "Tobacco Road," the play that originally opened in 1933 and ran 3,182 consecutive performances. This third New York revival of the Jack Kirkland dramatization of Erskine Caldwell's novel now concerns a family of negro share-croppers instead of the white family of the original.

The play is still extremely profane and licentious—but somehow it has lost some of its original impact. In the famous role of Jeeter, Powell Lindsay does everything the role demands of him—and does it well. Jeeter's wife is played by Evelyn Ellis, who also directed.

Want Cat o'Nine Tails As Crime Wave Jumps

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON March 11—(CP)—A recent outbreak of criminal violence in Britain has raised the question: should the birch and the cat o' nine tails be brought back into service?

By an act of Parliament last year, British judges and magistrates lost the power to order criminals to be flogged. Now many judiciaries want that power restored.

At the old Bailey recently, Lord Chief Justice Goddard said he regretted that he could not order whippings for two youths, aged 17 and 15, who attacked and robbed a woman in a train after hitting her over the head with a heavy air pistol.

Several police court magistrates have expressed similar views and newspapers have printed letters from readers urging reintroduction of corporal punishment.

Only Solution

Magistrate Frank Powell, 58, a kindly, mild-mannered man, said in an interview:

"The only way to stop London's juvenile gangsters is to bring back the birch."

The father of three children, he adopts a kindly attitude towards most of the youngsters who stand before him in court.

"But," he said, "the young thugs who make cowardly attacks on innocent people are too tough to be reasoned with.

"They treat kindness with contempt. In my experience, it is not often necessary for a magistrate to have to order corporal punishment. The fear of it is enough."

Many social workers declare boys' clubs are the answer to juvenile crime. But Scotland Yard officials say the time has come for drastic action. An order has gone out to all London detectives to smash the boys gangs and one suggestion is: "find the girls."

"Girls who accompany these gangs are often the cause of the trouble," a Yard official said. "Many seemingly pointless assaults have been carried out with the sole idea of impressing young molls."

Foundation For Life Given In Schools Of The Nation

The foundation given youth in schools is one of the greatest contributions that can be made to develop stability and soundness of judgment and it is from these halls of learning that students pass into a world criss-crossed with many paths of life.

Education is everybody's business but it is the school that makes the foundation for our children, gives them fundamentals of learning that will carry them on to further achievements in the proper channels of life.

The school is the Education Week theme for today, and it is on this institution of learning that parents depend so much. In the home and in the church the fundamentals given children are incomparable.

However, it is in the schools that children are taught a way of life, taught to know something better in life, given practical knowledge that will teach them how to earn a living. They inculcate a spirit of comradeship and co-operation and develop an understanding of life that will be the basis of the student's livelihood.

The school is the product of everyone's effort. Its maintenance comes from taxation to which everyone contributes, directly or indirectly, be it individual or corporation.

Demand For Knowledge

Places of learning have been created by a demand for greater knowledge of the arts and of business. Through the generations the requirements of our schools have increased many times until now when our schools are the springboard of life for our children.

In these establishments children are taught basic subjects but in the overall picture they are given something much greater than just the tools for living.

Character is molded by a staff which is trained and equipped to do the job—a different job than can be done in the home or in the church.

The Canadian Teachers' Federation brochure on Education Week, has this to say about the school.

School Is Progressive

"It is a progressive institution in an ever-changing world. It awakens aspiration, develops the learning of skills, nurtures an appreciation of the beauties and wonders of science and nature teaches how civilization has come about and how the whole human family is knit together and dependent, one upon the other.

"The school offers opportunities to satisfy the impulse to create and provides situations that build good citizenship."

"Success in achieving these things depends upon the quality of the teachers, the foresight of the trustees and the co-operation of the public.

"Education neither begins nor ends with the school—it is a continuing process that calls for follow up. Adequate facilities must be provided for many forms of adult education."

Fortunate

Peterborough has one of the finest elementary education systems in Canada with well equipper schools, staffed by selected teachers who have the interest of their pupils at heart and boards of trustees who are keenly interested in the day-to-day problems of education and who look upon education with an idealistic viewpoint with an eye to the future.

Supporting this system in Peterborough and all across the province and throughout Canada are provincial departments of education whose chief aim is the provision of education, sufficient to meet today's needs as well as those of tomorrow.

Miss M. Finnimore WMS Life Member

MILLBROOK, March 11 (ENS)—St. Andrew's United Church WMS meeting at the home of Mrs. John Ridge on Wednesday opened with quiet music with Miss Augusta Clarry at the piano.

Mrs. Ridge, leader of group B, presided for the worship service. Scripture readings were given by Miss Gertrude Clarry, Mrs. H. R. Edmunds, and Mrs. John Rowland. The offering was received by Mrs. M. McDowell.

Chapter 6 of the study book, "In Sharing and Service" was presented by Mrs. Ridge.

Miss Maud Finnimore, vice-president of the WMS, was presented with a life membership certificate on behalf of the society by Miss Josie Sutton. Miss Estella Hetherington read the address expressing appreciation to Miss Finnimore for her years of faithful and efficient service.

Silence was observed in remembrance of two members who died in February, namely Mrs. Wm. Elmer and Mrs. A. J. Henderson.

Mrs. Matchett presided for the business period. It was decided to collect a bale of good used clothing for overseas relief. Contributions are to be left at the east entrance of parsonage before March 18. Mrs. Rowland, Mrs. Edmunds and Mrs. Matchett are to help Miss A. Thornton, the supply secretary, with the packing of the bale.

Mrs. Matchett closed the meeting with prayer. Candy was served by Mrs. Ridge and her group.

Paris Subway Running Again After Fifth Day

PARIS, March 11 (Reuters) — All Paris subway services and 300 buses were running Friday, the fifth day of the transport strike here. Meanwhile about 750,000 workers throughout the country were idle and about 500,000 miners were deciding by ballot whether to join the general stoppage for higher wages.

A spokesman for the Paris Transport Corporation said the non-Communist unions, which did not join the strike pending the outcome of negotiations, have accepted a five-per-cent pay increase. He aded that some men from the Communist unions have also returned to work.

Some 3,000 government - run army trucks augmented the capital's transport service.

The nationalized gas and electricity industries, also crippled by strikes, provided essential services today after the government "conscripted" the workers.

Good Location Essential When Planning New Home

In choosing the location of your new home, investigate the houses already built in the neighborhood. Are they comparatively new and well-maintained or have they a general down-at-the-heel appearance?

You will not be satisfied unless the house is situated in a desirable neighborhood. Attractive surroundings also give your house a better resale value.

The facilities and utilities of the neighborhood are important. Check to see that the streets are well paved and well lighted after dark. As far as possible, they should be free from through traffic but still accessible to main traffic arteries. A modern and convenient transportation service is also desirable. You will want your home located in the vicinity of schools, churches and stores. Parks and playgrounds in the community will add to the value of the property. All of these facilities should be within walking distance of your home.

Enquire about the tax, water and insurance rates. Deed restrictions play a vital role in a well organized community. Zoning ordinances are for your protection. They regulate the size and type of buildings and the size of lots. Be sure sanitary ordinances are enforced. Public health service and hospital facilities are important factors to consider. Adequate police and fire protection are necessities.

Nearby factories may be an objectionable source of noise and smoke. They can also be an asset by providing work close to home in pleasant surroundings.

You will be happiest in a community where your neighbors have interests and live in circumstances similar to your own.

Pantaloons, Ties Sound Light Note In Paris Styling

By DOROTHY WADDINGTON

PARIS (Reuters)—A challenge to the generally feminine note in this year's spring and summer fashions comes from Jacques Fath whose new models have a men's clothes flavor — and of the year 1900, at that.

In contrast to the feminine softness featured by other designers, stiff shirts, wing collars complete with ties and tuxedo suits dominate in his collection.

What is more, he carries this theme through to evening wear, expressing it especially in tailored suits, waistcoats, and button waist-bands.

With characteristic ingenuity, he shows bare decolletes under winged collars, studs on shirt fronts and a suggestion of dropped waistlines.

Mannequins with shingled hair and flapper evening gowns reaching to just below the knee serve to stress the influence of the early decades of the century. Little dinner suits have short jackets worn over beaded, bare-top blouses which create the flat bosom of 1920.

Cape Effects In Vogue

Contrasting with the tailored mood in the collection are enormous cape effects obtained by layers of white organdy fluting. This same idea was used in huge bell sleeves and Sir Walter Raleigh collars.

Mid-calf pantaloons caused considerable amusement at the showing of several of the collections. One version, in linen, shown by Robert Piguet, has a colored fringe—which is repeated on an accompanying stole.

The most applauded model of the Rochas collection was a blouse in orange shantung, the whole of which including the sleeves was sunburst pleated from a narrow neck-band.

Stars provided the main inspiration of Captain Molyneux's designing, the motif being introduced in a diamond pin worn by the mannequins throughout the presentation. Slim bodices lead to full skirts mounted on star-pointed hip yokes.

Favorite Styles

The models most applauded at the collections, and therefore reflecting the styles likely to become the most popular in the next few months, included:

A white evening gown in sunburst-pleated organdy voluminous skirt, strapless bodice and gold taffeta belt shown by Christian Dior.

A short evening gown in blue lace, with bare back, an enormous bow in self fabric covering the front decollette and the top of the shoulders, shown by Jacques Fath.

A bird's-eye pique suit in shot gold worn over a gold lame strapless top at Balenciaga's.

A two-piece green leaf plastic bathing suit by Balmain moulded to the figure and seamed by high frequency electricity.

A full-length sheath dinner gown of shaded bugle-beads in tints ranging from the darkest grey to the palest pink shown by Jean Desses.

Jap Wives Gain Rights

By ROY MACARTNEY

TOKYO (Reuters) — Madame Butterfly has progressed far since the days when she had no recourse against the man who wronged her.

Today, General MacArthur and "democracy" have brought her far-reaching social rights, including that of initiating divorce, if she so desires.

She may even receive alimony, usually a lump sum, be granted custody of the children and may remarry. Before the war, there was a strong stigma on divorced women which caused males to shy away from those once unsuccessfully wed.

Earlier still, until the advent of Emperor Maiji in 1868, divorce was the husband's unilateral privilege. All he had to do was write the wife a "rienjo" stating "Owing to disharmony, I wish to divorce you."

He then returned the wife to her parents with letter explaining his reasons for so doing. After the lapse of a certain period, the divorce became final.

Adopt English Method

In 1893, a civil code defined married women's status by adopting the English common law disability of married women. It recognized two forms of divorce — judicial and mutual consent—and seemed to assure women's right to secure divorce.

But the Japanese "family system" under which woman's position was inferior to that of man and female "docility," considered a womanly virtue, practically frustrated the woman's theoretical emancipation.

Under the family system, the woman did not marry the man but married into the family. If the "in-laws" did not like her, they could persuade the husband to divorce her.

Make Mutual Consent

The easiest arrangement, without causing a scandal, was to arrange a divorce by mutual consent. It was considered a womanly virtue to obey the husband's order and agree to it. If the wife did prove recalcitrant, it was not unknown for the husband to sign his wife's name and register the divorce without her knowledge.

The postwar constitution, drawn up on General MacArthur's orders, radically changed domestic relationships. It abolished the family system and guaranteed the "equality of the sexes in the choice of spouse, property rights, inheritance, choice of domicile and divorce."

Courts of family relations were established in all prefectures on Jan. 1, 1948. Japanese women immediately began asserting their new rights. Judge Seiroku Kawai, of the Tokyo court, said that women were complainants in seven out of 10 of the divorce cases which he heard in 1948.

Before the war, a husband could divorce his wife on the grounds of adultery. She could not divorce him on the same grounds unless she could show that she had suffered "grave insult." Adultery committed by women was a penal offence, but not for husbands.

Grounds for divorce under the postwar law are mainly adultery by either party, desertion or mental instability.

23rd Anniversary Eastern Star Celebrated Here

Peterborough Chapter No. 161, Order of the Eastern Star, celebrated the 23rd anniversary Thursday evening when 175 members attended a dinner meeting held in George St. Church hall.

Guests were present from Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa, Lindsay, and Havelock, among them Mrs. Emma Campaigne, Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Pearl MacDonald, Associate Grand Matron, Mrs. Belle Lineham, Associate Grand Conductress, Mrs. Georgina Nobes and Mrs. Hummel, District Deputy Grand Matrons, and ten charter members.

Worthy Matron Mrs. Agnes Munro presided for the meeting when a donation of $200 was made to the new Civic Hospital and a cheque given the WGM for her special project this year, the Cancer Research Fund.

Mrs. Campaigne gave an inspiring address stressing her watchword "Be Kind". She congratulated Peterborough Chapter on attaining its 23rd birthday and on the great increase in membership during the past few years. She spoke of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Order, to be commemorated this autumn in Washington, D.C.

After the meeting a beautiful candle lighting ceremony was presented by the officers and past matrons formed a choir, while tapers were lighted on a large birthday cake.

Daffodils, mauve tulips and tall yellow candles were effectively arranged on the tea table. Lunch was served by Mrs. Verna Youngs and her committee, and they were assisted in serving by the past matrons and officers.

French Education Changes Outlined by Dr. Laura Riese

Dr. Laure Reise, valued member of Victoria College staff, University of Toronto, for some years, was wearing a small but distinctive medal when she addressed the Peterborough Teachers' Council meeting Friday evening at the Public Library. She displayed it by request, for the Palmes Academiques (Academic Palms) is rarely seen here.

Last year Dr. Reise was made an officer of the French Academy for her services in promoting interest and understanding of French culture on this continent, the decoration being bestowed by the French Ambassador to Canada. It was the educational systems in France and Switzerland that she spoke of, dealing mainly with the primary school. Though a Canadian citizen now, she is Swiss-born and a graduate of the Sorbonne, Paris.

Well-informed on her subject because she returns to France and Switzerland for a part of each year, Dr. Riese stated "education in France has undergone the least revolutions in the changing world. However, it now means more to the masses. Before the 20th century there were two classes — the upper class, well educated and fine mannered, and the others who were rather left behind.

"Education is now nationalized with centralization in Paris so no difficulties are experienced by moving to other parts of the country. I think this system would be difficult to set up in Canada" she said. "The greatest change is in the kindergarten, now attended by children from two to six years, who, since 1945, are taught by primary teachers. They are given some reading and writing but emphasis is on physical education, teaching them to do things with their hands and having them take part in everything."

Fitted For Life

Throughout her talk Dr. Riese made apt use of the English word "baggage" for the amount of knowledge carried. She said "The primary school system has received greatest attention from the government and educationists who are endeavoring to see that the French child has a baggage that will be valuable to him wherever he may be. Programs have been broadened to fit life. He gets lessons on morals, what kind of citizen he is supposed to be, about the government and politics. Two or three times a week his classes deal with the elements around him, he is taught to read and gets one lesson a week in writing."

The French student knows his grammar well the teacher pointed out, because, it is drilled into him from an early age. It is either right or wrong.

Great emphasis is placed on mathematics—the basis of all science and philosophy, and object lessons are considered important because they become the different sciences. The children are now allowed to develop themselves in drawing. Boys may take annual training, girls knitting and sewing. One hour a day is given to singing and one to physical education, now become one of the most important features of the school.

Separated In Schools

Boys and girls are separated in the French primary schools, Dr. Riese explained. They are allowed certain class options, such as electrical and mechanical training for boys, nursing, house economics, buying and shopping for girls. Classes in some places are now limited to about 15 students.

"Always working to see that the child is well prepared for life demands much more alertness on the professor's part. The French teacher must keep up to date with happenings and inventions and can no longer specialize in just one thing but must be able to relate many subjects. The French have many classes in orientation and they have tried to make finding out what is most suitable to the child mean something" she said.

New Ruling

Secondary education in France was never free until after 1945. Many scholarships were made available so that clever children without necessary finances might attend. It is possible for the French student to enter secondary school at 11 years or at 16, but they mostly remain in primary until 16 where two extra courses are available that further fit them for secondary schools.

The French say "It is impossible to learn after leaving school" so they have great desire for further education. Their slogan is "We will remember the heritage of the past but we will also look toward the future and plan our education toward it." They do not strive for liberty as in the 19th century, but now want "equality" Dr. Riese said. They have now opened "modern colleges" as well as the classical type.

Teachers' examinations are a real test of knowledge in France. In addition to written papers the teachers are required to pass oral exams. Only those with the highest standing are given a pass and only the number for which there are positions available.

Land of Educators

"Switzerland is essentially a country of educators" said Dr. Riese of her native land. "They have a simple school system that works beautifully. It is wholly democratic since no child can go to a private school. They are required to attend from nine to 14 years and must take one modern language in addition to the one spoken in their section of the country." Other subjects are much the same as in France. After getting a primary certificate at 14, Swiss students can go to schools for watchmakers where they can even specialize on one particular part of a watch. There are also good art schools in the country.

"Trying to fit man not to be solitary, but to be solitary with one another is the aim there" said Dr. Riese in closing.

Miss Helen McGregor, PCVS teacher, introduced the speaker and she was thanked by Mr. Donald Crawford, principal of Central School, and vice-president of the Teachers' Council.

"Education week, which closes with the theme for today, "community" has been held for the purpose of focusing attention of the public on the progress and problems of education" said Sister Marion, Council president, who presided.

Want Hankies With Room to Blow

LONDON, March 11 (CP). — The Wholesale Textile Association of Great Britain wants handkerchiefs worth sneezing at.

It want manufacturers to produce them to a minimum size of 10 inches square for women. It says the men's present large size is okay.

An eight-inch minimum is favored for children, notwithstanding their occasional greater need than the grownups.

The association also has decided to keep a rationing-days relic, the four-handkerchief box (they used to sell four to a coupon) which has proven more popular than the original six.

Along with most commodities handkerchiefs are more expensive than they once were and purchasers prefer to buy them only a few at a time.

Alberta Girl Finds Scottish Romance

LISMORE ISLAND, Scotland (CP).—A young heiress from Champion, Alta., and a handsome young ferryman from a tiny island off the west coast of Scotland are principals in a fairy-tale romance.

The couple are 26-year-old Morag MacDougall of Champion, and Colin Black, also 26, of Point House, Lismore Island.

Three years ago, Morag, an only child, went to Scotland for the first time to visit her late father's birthplace on Lismore Island. With her went her mother and her uncle, Charles MacDongall.

Colin took the party over in his trim ferryboat from Port Appin, 16 miles north of Oban on the Argyllshire mainland. After that, when Morag returned to Canada, she and Colin corresponded regularly. Then in May, 1949, Morag and her mother flew back to Scotland to spend another six months on Lismore Island.

At the end of that time Morag and Colin became engaged. Date of the wedding has not yet been fixed. But it will be a big wedding and after their honeymoon the couple will settle at Colin's island home.

Morag's father, Sandy MacDougall, emigrated to Canada from Scotland in 1905. He worked on cattle ranches, studied breeding and saved his money all with one aim in view — to own his own land.

In 1920 he achieved his ambition and when he died in 1942 his prestige as a cattle breeder was so great that he was known in Alberta as "the Shorthorn King."

Senior Aux. WMS Studying Japan's Open Challenge

St. Paul's Senior Auxiliary of the WMS met in the guild room Friday afternoon, with Mrs. A. A. McIntyre presiding. Following the reading of reports and short business period, Mrs. F. J. Weir led the devotions.

Mrs. W. C. Steinkrauss was responsible for mission study, and described the coming of Christianity to Japan. As early as 1594, after the discovery of Japan by Portuguese traders, Roman Catholic missionaries began work among the Japanese. However, doubts and suspicions arose resulting in the closing of Japan's doors to Christianity for more than 20 years.

About 1859 early Protestant missionaries wre permitted to enter this land. These were chiefly from the United States, Canada and Great Britain and were people of eminent character and ability.

Ceaseless efforts were made but the total number of baptisms by 1871 was only 10. In spite of this seemingly slow penetration the first Japanese Protestant church was established in 1872. The country then began to take a place in the world. Bible Societies in different countries awakened to the need for Christian literature in Japanese and eventually translations of New and Old Testaments were published and became available to Japanese readers. The establishing of Christian schools was also accomplished

Opening years of the 20th century seemed to offer steady growth for the Christian Church. Through the 1920's there were many effective movements. The government began to develop its idea of empire and to glorify the nation. The state gradually gained control of Christian schools and Shinto shrine ceremonies were enforced. At the beginning of the war it was estimated that about one half of one per cent of the population was Christian, the members were told.

Today the Japanese church is faced with a vast rebuilding program. Some 462 churches have been destroyed. Already more than 60 are rebuilt and it is hoped that by the end of 1951, 200 more may be completed. It is felt the doors of Japan are now open and the Christian Church may enter and accept this great opportunity and responsibility.

BBC Gives Babies Special Program

LONDON (CP).—Thousands of fan letters, mostly from mothers, have been pouring into theBBC since "Listening With Mother," a program for the under-fives, toddled into Broadcasting House.

Introduced as an experiment, the program is likely to become a permanent feature.

It features nursery rhymes, simple stories often with animal heroes, and sing-songs for toddlers. At first a three-minute talk to mothers was featured. Now it has been dropped, so that every single minute can be given to the knee-high listener.

What's Right

You move to a new town and it seems to you that it isn't a particularly friendly place.

WRONG WAY: Tell anyone who asks how you like the town that you are finding it hard to get acquainted because no one seems to put themselves out for newcomers.

RIGHT WAY: Realize that you will only antagonize the people of the town if you complain about the lack of friendliness you have encountered.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

How Can You Be Sure You Are Really In Love?

A girl asks me how she can tell whether she is in love or not.

Well, it isn't easy to diagnose a heart affection, because the symptoms are so misleading.

Dorothy Dix

Every time you have a palpitation you think you have a fatal attack, whereas it may be only a flutter caused by indigestion from indulging in too much sentiment. Girls are particularly apt to be misled in this way because they are always sitting with their fingers on their pulses counting their heaft throbs and expecting to be stricken down at any moment.

So the principal advice that I would give any young woman who is wondering whether she has contracted a chronic case or is merely suffering a temporary indisposition is to give herself the beneft of the doubt. For when you don't know whether you are in love or not you are NOT. When you are really head-over-heels in love for keeps, it breaks out all over you in a million places like the measles.

Still and all, there are certain indications of the state of her feelings which a girl does well to take into consideration in trying to decide whether the thing that ails her is a heart trouble that she will never get over as long as she lives or is just a passing fancy that the next good-looking youth she meets will cure.

Do You Tremble?

The first thing then is whether she can detect a heart murmur or not. The modern girl may be too husky and practical to tremble at the sound of a footstep as her grandmother did, but all the same if she is really in love she gets pretty much the same reaction to some particular lad that mother did. His coming turns on the lights and sets the joy bells ringing, and makes this the best of all possible worlds and a grand old place to live in.

So unless some man is necessary to you, unless without him the gayest party is a flop; the finest dinner dust and ashes in your mouth; the brightest day dull and cloudy, you are not really in love.

Nor are you in love as long as you have to justify your love and give a reason for it. If you have to say I love John because he is so intelligent or Tom because he is a go-getter or Sam because he is kind to his mother, what you have is only synthetic love. When you are really in love with a man you love him because you love him and without any reference whatever to what he is or is not. It is just because he is he and you are that way about him.

Then consider whether you have hallucinations or not. If you think some snub-nosed, carroty-haired youth is handsomer than Gregory Peck and you live in terror of the movies snatching him away to Hollywood or if you think some ordinary youth without two ideas to bless himself with an oracle upon whose words you hang and whose opinion you quote, then you may be sure that he is IT so far as you are concerned. No girl in love ever sees a man as he is. As long as she can discern his faults and his weaknesses she has not even got a rise in temperature. She is perfectly normal.

Do You Get Fed Up?

Next, pay careful attention to your reaction to his society. Do you get fed up on him when he hangs around a lot or do you never get enough of his company? A great poet declared once that the test of love was whether you could muse all day on an absent face that had fixed you. That's hooey. Anyone can long for an absent fact. The trick is to stand the one that you have gazed upon 365 days a year and still like it.

Next, consider whether you are in love with the boy or the good times he gives you. Is he all mixed up in your mind with flowers and candy and night clubs and automobiles, and do you think of life with him as a prolonged party? Would he look just as good to you if he were poor and shabby and did not have the money even to take you to the movies often, and if being married to him meant hard work and pinching the pennies and wondering where the rent money was coming from?

And, finally ,note whether you want to mother a boy or not. All true feminine love is half-maternal. It has to be that way or else every woman would be a divorcee. A woman who is really in love with a man does not see his faults or she thinks they are all right because they are his and she begins worrying over his health.

So if you are sure you have found the one perfect man, and you telephone to know if some strapping six-footer has gone home without being run over by an automobile, that is love. You have got it.

Salvation Army Still Faithful To Blue Bonnet

VANCOUVER, March 11 (CP).—The Salvation Army's first lady wouldn't trade her straw bonnet for the smartest spring chapeau from Paris fashion salons.

"We ladies just love our bonnets," said Mrs. General Albert Orsborn, wife of the international leader of the Salvation Army, on a recent visit to Vancouver. "We hold them as something sacred."

General and Mrs. Orsborn, who share leadership of the world-wide Army organization, were here prior to leaving for tours of Australia, New Zealand and Indonesia.

History of the "Sally Ann" bonnet, known and respected by Canadian soldiers in two world wars, was outlined by Mrs. Orsborn in an interview. She said that the devotion of the Army's women to their beribboned headpiece is proved by the fact that its style hasn't changed since the Army uniform was introduced in 1879.

Mrs. Catherine Booth, wife of the movement's founder, designed a small bonnet with the idea of a universal headwear which would take the mind of Salvation Army women from fashions and frills. After that it grew until it was almost the size of a coal-scuttle.

Design Unchanged.

Now the straw bonnet is back to a size more easily managed on windy street corners. But the design hasn't changed, nor has the devotion of its wearers altered.

Mrs. Orsborn's viewpoint is the same as that of General Evangeline Booth, daughter of the founder and leader of the movement in the 1930s, who said, "My uniform is the prettiest dress I could want."

From a practical point of view, the trusty blue bonnets stand up to travel wear better than a frills-and-flowers chapeau.

Endurance is a must in any article of clothing worn by a Salvation Army workers and for that, General and Mrs. Orsborn are thankful. Their past travels have taken them to almost every country in the world. They plan six weeks in Australia, a month in New Zealand and a tour of Indonesia.

Army Helps Lepers

"We'll visit several of our leper colonies in the latter stop," said the general's wife. Persons afflicted with this disease receive special attention from the Army in many countries.

"The most moving sight I have ever seen was in India. One of our Australian girls was working in a leper colony and when we visited it 16 youngsters sang for us 'God Is Good To Me,'" which the Army girl had taught them."

Mrs. Orsborn has grown up in the Salvation Army. Her father was General Edward Higgins, who led the movement from 1929 to 1934. Today she is president of the Home League of the Army, and leader of more than 1,000 Home Leagues in Canada.

She meets people of widely differing nationalities and speech in her world travels, but she doesn't have too much trouble with language.

"We just say 'Hallelujah' and we understand each other."

Mrs. A. W. Turner Feted By Chapter Members

The members of the 57th Regiment Chapter, IODE, entertained at tea Friday afternoon in honour of a long term member and past regent, Mrs. A. W. (Chill) Turner, who is leaving the city Monday for her new home in Stouffville.

Forty five ladies gathered in the officers' mess at the Armouries to say farewell to a fellow member who has an outstanding record of service in the Order. High praise for her efforts especially her work and leadership during the war years was given by a former regent, Mrs. T. W. H. Young, and by the present regent, Mrs. C. M. Scott.

Mrs. Turner was further honoured with the presentation of a beautiful pottery vase, which was handed to her by Mrs. R. E. Clarke with a corsage of roses.

For this occasion a bouquet of large red roses was on the centre table and it was highlighted with tall white tapers, and a lace edged white, madeira tea cloth. Mrs. W. G. Hall and Mrs. C. H. Stuart filled the tea cups.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Lloyd Gilders, Mrs. Fraser Watson, Mrs. Jack Dobbin, Mrs. Gordon Langhorne, Mrs. Ronald Payne, Mrs. Fred Frape and Mrs. Wilbert Westran.

Hart House See Ornamentals

Members of the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club were in Toronto Friday evening to assist the Dolphinette Club in a water show put on in Hart House pool for the entertainment of engineers and friends attending the annual alumni reunion. The duet numbers by Isabel Crary and Norma Gant, Mary Rutherford and Maureen Finn, Jean Millard and Iris Reilly were specially requested, for this occasion. Mrs. Pansy Forbes, coach and manager N. C. Munro accompanied the swimmers. All were entertained at a dinner in the university building.

Bolton, principal, and the teaching staff were present and welcomed parents who were eager to learn of the progress made by their children during the year.

The "opportunity" class-room was a special point of interest, work done by the pupils of this class, under the capable supervision of Miss Cora Bailey was on display.

Domestic science room and the manual training room, too, were popular with mothers and fathers respectively.

Coffee and refreshments were served in the downstairs hall by Mrs. A. Kearns and assistants.

Arrangements are being made to hold a "Fun Night" at the end of this month, and a further announcement will be made relative to this special program.

Man Conquers Tsetse Fly

DURBAN, South Africa (CP)—Forty patient, industrious men from various government departments, are winning the Zululand battle against the tsetse fly which, five years ago, held undisputed sway over 7,000 square miles of territory from the Tugela River in Natal, north to Portuguese East Africa and brought death to thousands of expensive cattle.

For two hours every morning a helicopter, flying over the Hluhluwe Game Reserve, sprays benzine hexa-chloride over the remnants of the tsetse fly army.

The victory was achieved by science and intelligent men who knew that the only way to destroy the tsetse fly was to find and eradicate the breeding places.

They hacked their way through the dense bush near the Black Umfolozi River and set up research quarters.

In the following months 250 miles of track had to be cut through the bush to enable them to get at all the corners and likely breeding spots.

Laid Net Traps

Over 25,000 net traps were laid over hundreds of square miles. Month by month the traps were collected and the millions of flies counted and the traps reset. Each trap was marked on a map and the breeding places shown in the thickest catches were charted.

It was found that the tsetse flies were living on thousands of protected animals in the game reserves.

The eradication began with ground spraying, but it was not until aircraft were used that the flies suffered wholesale extinction.

Liquid After Nets

At Mkuzi in December, 1946, 300 traps collected 8,000 flies. Then came the liquid and eight months later the trap toll was only 1,200 flies. Use of benzine hexa-chloride spray reduced the catch to 116, and later it was only five flies. The last fly was caught eight months ago. The same thing happened in Umfolozi.

The hilly Hluhluwe district offered new problems and it was not until the helicopter was used that the tsetse could be smoked out of every gully and crevice. They were killed so effectively that in January only two flies were collected from 500 traps.

The veterinary department of the soil conservation department—which cleared a 100-mile belt two miles round the resrve of bush—are native affairs department and the SAAF have all combined in this enormous undertaking.

12 CIO Unions

UE was Communist dominated; two, the UE dominated the Peterborough ALC, and three, the ALC was irresponsible (i.e., it operated on its own and was not affiliated with either the TLC or the CCL, Canada's two major labor congresses).

To some observers this was the tipoff that sooner or later CCL unions would secede and form a separate council. Before this incident John G. Morton, president of the UE when it was a CIO affiliate, had been openly accused by President D. Drummond, Local 527 UE, of heading such a manoeuvre.

Mr. Morton denied this accusation emphatically, but from that time on a split was apparent in the ALC's ranks.

Following are a list of locals claimed by the CCL council which has already applied for its charter from President A. R. Mosher: IUE (two separate locals) production workers at CGE, 1,700 members and office workers, 650; Local 822 TWUA (Brinton - Peterborough Carpet) 250; Local 210 UPWA (Canada Packers) 180; Local 293 UPWA (Quaker Oats) 700; A. Wander Co., UPWA, 40; Wonder Bread, 40; Fannings' Laundry, TWUA, 50; Local 170 Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, 50; International Woodworkers of America (Peterborough Lumber) 180; Brewers' Warehouse employees, 20; and Wholesale, Retail and Department Store Workers, 100.

Mr. Johnston pointed out that there are another 8,000 workers in this city who are potential unionists and the CCL intends to try to organize them.

New Editor

TORONTO, March 11 (CP) — Frank Moritsugu, 27-year-old Victoria College political science and economics student, has been appointed editor-in-chief of The Varsity, University of Toronto student daily, the student's administrative council announced Friday. A second-year student, Moritsugu succeeds Stan Fillmore.

Boy Dies

CARAQUET, N.B., March 11 (CP)—Paul Lanteigne, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Lanteigne of this coastal village was burned to death in a fire at his home Friday. Five boys and girls who escaped from the two-storey wooden Lanteigne home with their parents were Claude, 16; Claudette, 13; Euclide, 10, Paulette 4, and Samuel, 3.

Court's 2 Weeks Not Enough

With only three cases, besides a few divorce cases, heard in a two weeks' sitting of the Supreme Court, several civil actions were left untouched and were put over to the next Supreme Court sitting beginning May 1.

This is in spite of the fact that for the first time in Peterborough's history two weeks had been set aside to take care of a total of 13 cases.

The first was taken up with two criminal cases: the trial of Joseph Byrnes and the trial of Leo Webb.

When the second week began the first civil case to be heard was that of Charles William King, who successfully sued Kenneth Heard, Ray Harrison and Maurice Mandell. Because each of the defendants was represented by a separate lawyer, the hearing extended three and a half days.

Apart from the five divorce actions on the list, five civil cases received no hearing. These are: William Steele, Keene, versus Percy Wilson; Mrs. A. Ferguson, Peterborough, versus David McCallum, Peterborough; Ernest Caldwell versus the Peterborough Lumber Co.; George Riddell, Millbrook, versus Harvey Sanderson, Millbrook; and Hague versus John Evans.

CGIT Doings

George Street

Carol McKenzie reported this week's meeting when the worship was taken by Miss McNab, who read a poem and several stories in keeping with the Lenten season. The Intermediate President, Joan Tremaine, was in the chair during the business when reports of Girls' Council were given by Joyce Copp and Eileen Armstrong. It was decided that Joan Tremaine and Eileen Jarvis would attend the meeting of the Council. The rest of the evening was spent in discussing the play on India which the group plan to give at the All Nations Night.

Mark Street

Games were played under the direction of Georgina Chalmers and Patsy Beauchamp. Gwen Pomeroy, the vice-president, presided when it was decided that the group would donate wash cloths for the WMS to send in a bale. Patsy Beauchamp, Autumn Dubay, Gwen Pomeroy and Patsy Harding were named a committee to prepare the worship for next week. Ruth Hendren took the devotional period, using the theme "The Church." This was followed by talks on Japan given by Ruth Brown, Mildred Sutherland, Joyce Benstead and Wanda Grills. The girls then divided into their various groups.

St. James

Donna Moffat reported that after a sing song, Lorene Keating was in the chair. The worship was taken by Betty Clysdale, assisted by Ardythe Halcrow, Bernice Callan and Faye Blackwell. The girls enjoyed a duet sung by Mrs. McLaren and Dorene Hutchison. During the business the members discussed the skit they are presenting at the Mission Fair and also decided to bring wash cloths for the WMS bale. The meeting closed with taps.

St. Paul's

Mary Irwin reported that the three groups met together for mission study this week. Jean Smith opened with the call to worship and the scripture was read by Ruth Curtis, who also read a passage from the Mission Study Book. Announcement was made of the All Nations Night being held on March 22nd. The girls were much interested in the handcraft as taught by Betty Brown. An executive meeting is to be held at the home of Ruth Curtis on Sunday afternoon. Before the close of the meeting the groups observed the Explorers who were preparing a play to be presented shortly.

Trinity

JoAnne Watson read from the Moffat translation of the Bible and prayers were offered by Dorothy Woodcock, Joan Henry and Joan White. A report of Girls' Council was given by Joan White who stated that several different crafts had been demonstrated by Betty Brown. A request was received from the WMS for wash cloths to be sent to Angola and it was moved by Joan Henry and seconded by Barbara Woodcock that the group purchase terry towelling and make these. Marilyn Windrim gave an interesting account of the work done in Canada by the church through the use of radio. Social services as maintained by the church were outlined by Catherine Hodgens and Anna Edmondson mentioned the different schools and colleges which are supported by the United Church.

Joan Metcalfe was in the chair and Judy Hardill acted as secretary when the Torchbearers met as a group. The girls marked the hospitals, schools and colleges operated by the United Church in Canada on the map, which had been drawn by Gaynor Galoska.

The Intermediate group brought pictures for the worship centre which they are planning to make. A card was sent to Norma Crowe, a member of the group who has been ill. Lola Jane Buckland and Anne Grant were winners in a street contest.

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

I like the explanation on when to discard wild cards given by Walter L. Richard in his book entitled "How to Play Canasta From Beginner to Expert." Mr. Richard is secretary of the National Canasta Laws Commission, which I helped to form some time ago so that the laws of Canasta would become standardized. He has always been interested in laws, and previously wrote "Complete Gin-Rummy Including Oklahoma" and "Complete Backgammon."

In his Canasta book Mr. Richard has the following to say about discarding wild cards:

"The discarding of a wild card freezing the discard pile is generally a defensive play, making it more difficult for the opponents to take the discard pile and allowing you and your partner to dispose of cards that would otherwise benefit them. Discarding a wild card is one of the most vital parts of the game and may possibly win or lose the entire game in one hand; the following pointers should be carefully studied and remembered.

"It is generally advisable not to discard a wild card to freeze the discard pile without having a minimum of 4 definitely safe discards in your hand. (A definitely safe discard is a black three; a wild card or a 7th or 8th card matching the opponents' melds on the table or in the discard pile.)

"It is of the utmost importance to find out how many cards your opponents and your partner have in their hands before discarding a wild card to freeze the discard pile. If you and your partner's combined hands contain considerably more cards than your opponents' and you have several cards that are of the same rank as your opponents' melds, then discard a wild card. Do not do so should the opponents' total of cards greatly outnumber your and your partner's cards.

"Should the opponents have a canasta and two or three melds of 5 or 6 cards, discard a wild card if you have one, in order to freeze the discard pile, rather than discard a card with which your opponent might procure the discard pile. You can then safely discard cards that your opponent could add to his melds which he now in all likelihood cannot pick up.

"If you pick up a discard pile of size containing several pairs and also 5 cards of the same rank, meld only 3 of these cards, and, if possible, discard a wild card and freeze the discard pile.

"When your opponents have made several melds and have few cards left in their hands, by discarding a deuce and freezing the discard pile, you reduce their chances of getting the discard pile.

"When you only have a deuce and several odd cards in your hand which match your opponents' melds, you are in what is called a 'squeeze,' discard your wild card first. This will enable you undoubtedly to dispose of the other cards safely, as the discard pile will be frozen."

Ship Repair Firm 80 Years Old, Sold

PORT COLBORNE, March 11 (CP)—Change in ownership of one of the oldest and best-known marine repair firms on the Great Lakes was announced Thursday. E. G. Marsh, associated with the firm of E. Woods and Son for 14 years, said he had purchased the interest of Frederick L. Woods in the firm which will continue as a limited company under the old name.

The firm was founded in 1870 by the late Frederick Woods, grandfather of F. L. Woods. Originally serving the needs of sailing vessels, it carried on through the conversion to steam, and construction of the Welland Canal. The plant was rebuilt in 1942.

Investigate Grants

TORONTO, March 11 (CP) — The provincial government will make a full inquiry into the question of provincial-municipal hospital grants for indigent patients, Mayor Hiram McCallum said Friday. Mayor McCallum met Premier Frost to see what relief Toronto can be given from the $1,315,000 bill the city has to pay this year as its share of hospital deficits.

Discuss Federation

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, March 11 (CP)—Throughout the Caribbean, Friday night government officials and the public in general discussed the suggested establishment of a British Caribbean federation. Most comment was favorable but, as expected, there was some criticism. The report of the standing closer association committee of the British Caribbean Friday suggested a federation of 12 colonies with a population of about 2,500,000 and a large measure of self-government.

Wounded Man Recovers

TORONTO, March 11—(CP)—George Sills, 21-year-old epileptic who was shot in the chest by a constable Feb. 28 as an automobile theft suspect, is recovering satisfactorily and should be out of hospital shortly, it was learned Friday night. Sills was shot by Constable Douglas Tilley, who said the youth, with a companion, was loitering about an auotmobile and ran when ordered to halt.

George Howarth Dies In Hospital

George Howarth, 73, of 130 Romaine St., who will be remembered by many residents of Peterborough as director of the Grand Opera House orchestra for 20 years, died today in Peterborough hospital. He had been ill three years. Mr. Howarth was an outstanding violin player.

In 1947 Mr. Howarth retired from the De Laval, where he was employed from 1914 to 1947 as a toolmaker. He was a member of the quarter century club.

Coming to this country 44 years ago, he was born in Clackhealon, Yorkshire, England, son of the late Charles Howarth and Harriet Yates. His wife was the late Annie Schofield.

During the First World War he went overseas from Canada with the 80th Battalion as armour sergeant, later becoming artificer with the 4th brigade of the Canadian Artillery.

He was a life member of Peterborough Lodge of the Masonic order and an adherent of St. George's Anglican Church.

He leaves two children, Irene at home and Ronald of Guelph. His two grandchildren are Jon and Scott of Guelph.

He was brother of Lewis, Simeon, Arthur, Ernest and Charles, all of England.

The funeral service by the Rev. E. C. Moore of St. George's Church will be held in the Kaye Funeral Home Monday at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Mrs. J. Edmison Dies In Toronto

A native of Peterborough County, and well known to many here, Mrs. Elizabeth Agnes Edmison died at her late residence, 78 Hogarth Avenue, Toronto, on March 10. She was the daughter of the late Alexander Fitzgerald of 83 Hunter Street East, Peterborough, and widow of the Rev. John Hall Edmison, DD, who was also a native of Smith Township.

Born on the Fitzgerald homestead near Lakefield, she was graduated from Peterborough Collegiate and the Norwood Normal School. Before her marriage she taught in the old Ashburnham Public School. She was, in her youth, a devoted member of St. Luke's Anglican Church, and took an active part in amateur theatricals in Peterborough. After her marriage, in January 1903 she assisted her husband in his church duties at Cheltenham, Ontaria, Kincardine, Ontario and finally in Toronto, where the late Dr. Edmison was the Secretary of the Board of Missions of the United Church of Canada.

Mrs. Edmison was a woman of wide human interests, very active in church work, extensively read, and an authority on pioneer days in the County of Peterborough. She took great pleasure in her cottage at Kawartha Park, where she summered for more than 40 years.

She is survived by her three children, J. Alex.; Helen L.; and Harry H. Edmison, all of Toronto, and by four grandchildren. Peterborough relatives include Miss May Denne and Mrs. Ada Stanton. Mrs. Edmison was a sister of the late Reeve Harry G. Fitzgerald of Lakefield, and a first cousin of the late Mayor Roland Denne of Peterborough.

Water Supplies Okay Shortage In Alberta

OTTAWA, March 11 — (CP) — Stream flow conditions in Canada during February were fairly well distributed and generally above normal, the Dominion Water and Power Bureau reported Friday.

Reserves of water in storage on the principal power production rivers were in satisfactory volume at the end of the month except for a definite shortage in Alberta.

Figures showing the percentage of normal for February—Ontario: Moira 247, Saugeen 106, North Magnetawan 191, Aux Sables 155 Missinaibi 95.

Baby Burned In Fire

RAPIDE DES JOACHIMS, Que., March 11 (CP)—Diane Chapados, four-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Chapados, was burned to death Friday in a fire that destroyed her log cabin home. Mr. Chapados suffered severe burns to his face, shoulders and arms. His wife and three other children escaped unharmed. Rapide des Joachims is on the Ottawa river about 50 miles northwest of Pembroke.

Redraft Report

TORONTO, March 11 (CP) — Mayors and reeves of the 13 municipalities involved in the proposed amalgamation of the greater Toronto area Friday decided to redraft a report on their deliberations. At a special meeting they said the report was too onerous for the chairman of the committee, A. E. K. Bunnell of the Ontario Planning Department. A subcommittee was formed to meet March 16 to make necessary changes in the report.

Ontario Woman Dies Falls From Car

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 11 — (CP)—Mrs. Rose Marie Woods, 28, of Kincardine, Ont., died Friday of injuries suffered Thursday when she plunged from a moving automobile.

Detective Chief William T. Fitzgibbons said Mrs. Woods told hospital attendants before she died that "my boy friend threw me out of the car."

Fitzgibbons said he was holding Melvin W. Schmidt, 35, of Buffalo, pending discussion of the case with the district attorney. He quoted Schidt as saying Mrs. Woods had been visiting him and that he met her last summer when he was in Kincardine on a fishing trip. He said Schmidt told him:

"She jumped out when I told her she would have to return to Canada because she had overstayed her entry permit."

Find Retirement Poses Problem For Film Stars

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 11 (AP) Like most major industries, the movie are faced with the problem of retirement of workers.

What happens to a worker when his years of usefulness are over? That question is becoming more and more important on the social scene. Movie stars offer a unique and interesting sidelight to this problem.

Only one studio, M. G. M., has a full scale plan for taking care of its stars in their old age. However, only a favored few of its stars come under the retirement program.

Most other stars are not so fortunate. Rarely do actors stay at one studio more than 10 years and thus come into a position where the studio might possibly feel responsible for their future.

Must Save

Stars are largely responsible for their own destinies. They earn large salaries for a peak of five years on the average. They have to save what they can from income taxes and expenses. After they have reached their prime, there is only one direction they can go—down.

It is not easy for anyone to shed tears over the financial plight of movie stars. But to the stars themselves, decline from fame is a real problem, not only moneywise, but psychologically as well. Imagine if you were universally acclaimed and then suddenly not wanted.

What Now?

Star "A" was a wartime sensation. Due to bad parts and the fragile nature of his talents, he fell from favor as fast as he climbed. His box ofice value was nil and he was dropped by his studio. He has done a few quickies and some vaudeville. But what does he do now?

Star "B" was a beauty queen for more than decade. Her well exposed body made up for her lack of acting ability. But now she's in her late 30s and younger lovelies have taken her place. What does she do now?

Star "C" was the symbol of the romantic hero. He's still a good actor but he's old enough to be the grandfather of the new romantic stars he was playing opposite. What does he do now?

So far Hollywood has not found the answers.

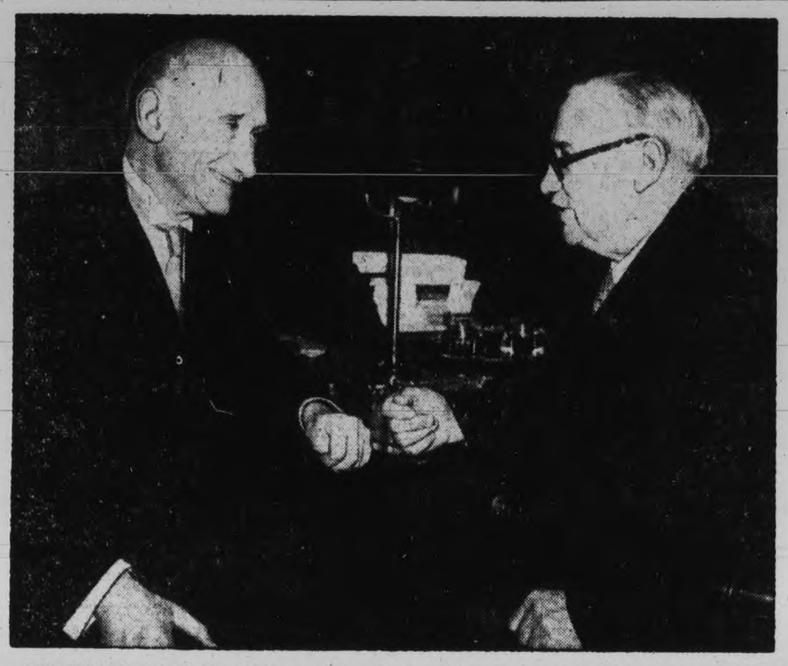
9 Liberals To Side With Labor

Government Whips Breathe Easier Before 2nd Showdown

LONDON, March 13—(AP)—Government whips in the House of Commons breathed a little easier tonight as unofficial reports circulated that nine Liberal members would refuse to vote, or vote with Labor, on a new Conservative effort to unseat Prime Minister Attlee's government.

In last Thursday's first confidence test, the Liberals voted with the Conservatives, but the government won by 14 votes.

Tonight's test, on the touchy issue of housing, will be followed by another tomorrow on government spending. If the government loses either of them, it is expected to resign, forcing a new election.



Today's vote is expected about five p.m. EST.

Both are amendments to the government resolution approving the Attlee regime's new program as outlined in the speech from the throne that opened parliament last Monday.

Bevan Leads Fight

Health Minister Aneurin Bevan will lead the government's fight on the housing amendment today. Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will be the government spokesman tomorrow when spending is debated.

Labor has 315 seats in the house the Conservatives and allied parties 297. Nine Liberals voted with the Conservatives on the steel issue. The remainder of the house consists of two Irish Nationalists, an Independent and the Speaker.

Order Inquiry In Police Force

WINDSOR, March 13—(CP)—Windsor's Police Commission today ordered a public enquiry "into allegations of corruption recently made against our police officers."

A statement ordering the enquiry "to begin as soon as possible follows several closed meetings of the three-man commission instigated after charges by Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan that Windsor police apparently allowed Joseph Assef to operate "unhampered" his major illegal liquor-selling operations.

The Commission's statement said "it has been proposed that a Crown Attorney from another county will assist the Commission in procuring the attendance of witnesses who may have any knowledge of the matters under investigation and to conduct the cross-examination of such witnesses."

Official Splits Union Plan Court Battle

MONTREAL, March 13 (CP)—A court battle loomed here today as the Canadian director of a big American Federation of Labor textile union prepared to take action against a rebellious local official who Sunday led a large segment of membership into the rival Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Azellus Beaucage, ousted business agent of Local 102, United Textile Workers of America, charged Canadian director R. Kent Rowley with "Communist dictatorship of the union." A mass meeting of members supporting Beaucage voted to disaffiliate with the UTWA and join the CIO's Textile Workers Union of America, headed by Sam Baroh.

Meanwhile, Rowley said he would bring court action today against Mr. Beaucage for failure after he was discharged to turn over union funds and records to the International Union. Rowley fired Beaucage several weeks ago for alleged mismanagement of local affairs.

Both the Beaucage and the Rowley factions of the local held rank-and-file meetings Sunday—and each fired charges of "betrayal" at the other.

Canton Thorn In Red Side, Crisis Growing

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG, March 13 (AP)—It appears the Chinese Communists have hit their first big crisis. It is both political and military with an undercurrent of economics.

As might be expected it has boiled up from restless Kwantung province where Dr. Sun Yat-sen started his revolution against the Anchus in 1911 and in the conspiratorial streets and alleys of Canton.

From the first Cantonese and Kwantung villagers viewed the Red hordes with distaste and suspicion. They do not like the northerners with their mustard yellow uniforms, vaunted self righteousness, blind devotion to the Red cause and their alien Peiping dialect.

Abetting this native hostility have been Nationalist bombings and the blockade which has brought financial ruin to many a Cantonese.

The first hint that things were getting out of hand came in February when the Reds began moving the "more dependable" troops of Gen. Lin Piao into Kwangtung and neighboring Fukien Province.

Big Evacuation

Then, when Nationalist bombers began hammering, Canton Communists began evacuating government offices. That is funny business. Shanghai has been bombed much worse than Canton but no Red politicians were evacuated.

It has gradually come out that a huge resistance movement is on throughout Kwantung and that Red soldiers have been "disappearing."

Red troops without business there have been told to keep out of Canton. Troops stationed there have been ordered to stay in their bivouacs at night.

Today's reports from Canton said the whole Red garrison has been evacuated, leaving the city in the hands of police and the Communist public safety bureau.

Maintenance of High Taxes Dangerous CCC Brief Warns

OTTAWA, March 13—(CP)—The Canadian Chamber of Commerce warned in a brief presented to the government today that the steady rise in a government spending and the maintenance of high tax rates may spell danger for Canada in the future. The annual brief was presented to Finance Minister Abbott and Revenue Minister McCann by a delegation headed by E. C. Wood of Montreal, vice-chairman of the national business organization.

The brief asked specifically that:

1. The government take steps to reduce still more the burden of direct and indirect taxation.

2. That a Royal Commission be appointed to study government organization and administration.

Although paying tribute to the general stability of Canadian government fiscal policy, the Chamber pointed out that nearly five years after the cessation of hostilties "personal and corporate tax remain at peaks that have not peacetime precedent."

"The tax laws and occasionally ther administration are inherently burdensome, and under changed economic conditions could become insupportable. In present circumstances they are producing a vast revenue which presents a constant temptation to embark upon new and fixed annual commitments.

"It needs to be emphasized again and again that government itself is not a direct creator of wealth and income It is the savings of individuals and businesses that initiate progress. To divert these savings through government channels to what may be desirable but not essential objectives can easily endanger the taxpayer and the beneficiary."

Serious observers of social and economic development said the Chamber, are constantly watching for evidence that the incentive to work and save in all sections of the community are maintained. They also were watching that such incentives were not impaired "by an over-reaching desire

Lamp Explodes Baby Trapped

KINGSTON, March 13—(CP)—Linda Hansen, 18-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hansen, was burned to death in her crib Sunday night in a fire that destroyed the Hansen farm home at Harrowsmith, 17 miles northwest of here.

An explosion that resulted when 16-year-old Dennis Hansen attempted to fill a gasoline lamp started the blaze. Dennis, left in charge with his 17-year-old sister, Joan, herded three younger children from the kitchen and dashed back in to rescue the baby.

Met by a wall of fire, he attempted to break into the bedroom from an outside window but again was driven back by the flames. He suffered burns to his hands and hair and had both feet frozen.

Townspeople attempted to quell the blaze with snow.

The parents, at Kingston visiting Mrs. Hansen's mother in hospital, did not learn of the tragedy until they returned later in the evening.

Mother, 3 Children Die In Montreal Fire

MONTREAL, March 13 (CP)—A 34-year-old mother and her three children were burned to death early today as a sudden fire swept their two-storey St. Dominique Street home.

Dead are: Mrs. Alice Desrosiers, 34, Jacques, 10, Pierre, 7, and Yvon, two months. Only Mrs. Desrosiers' husband, Raymond, escaped death. He was at work.

The blaze broke out about 5 a.m. EST and was extinguished in 18 minutes. Only one stream of water was used.

Fire officials said a faulty oil furnace was to blame. No estimate of damage was immediately available.

Mrs. Desrosiers' brother-in-law, Guy, living in an adjoining home attempted to enter the burning building but was driven back by the flames. He suffered minor facial burns.

Mrs. Desrosiers was found clutching her youngest son in her arms and trying to shield the other two with her body. Sgt.-Det. Bob Lawton described it as a pathetic sight.

Won't Ban Reds

LONDON, March 13 (Reuters)—Prime Minister Attlee today refused to introduce legislation to outlaw the British Communist party. He had been asked if he would do so "in view of the result of the Fuchs trial," by Sir Waldron Smithers, veteran Conservative member of the Commons famed for his violent anti-Communist views. "No sir," Attlee replied.

US Supplies of Uranium Much Bigger Than Believed

WASHINGTON, March 13. —(AP).—The United States' supply of uranium for atom bombs may be bigger than most people think.

Whispers and even announcements of new discoveries in recent months hint that enough of this power-packed element probably has been located in the U.S. to strengthen this country's hand considerably in international dickering.

The U.S. still may have to lean heavily on Canadian and Belgian uranium mines for some time. They have been the main supply sources right along. And talks are going on secretly with the Belgians about continuing the flow of uranium from the Belgian Congo.

The Atombic Energy Commission says "a large number" of uranium finds were reported in the U.S. in the last year and a few may be worth working. As a matter of fact, there already is some production in Colorado.

But the biggest boost for hopes of stepping up the uranium output at home was an announcement a few weeks ago from mining men at Sun Dance, Wyoming.

They said what is believed to be the largest deposit of uranium ore and rare earth oxides anywhere in the world has been found near there in the Bear Lodge mountains.

Geologists and engineers say the deposits are 50 to 500 ft. wide, 900 to 1,200 feet long and can be worked out by the relatively-cheap method of scooping ore out of an open pit. There was no indication when operations could begin.

Experts Open Inquiry Into Crack-Up; Say Weather Perfect

CARDIFF, March 13—(AP)—Aviation experts today began an inquiry here into the latest disaster involving Britain's unlucky Tudor Airliners—the crash of a crowded charter ship Sunday in which 80 died.

Directed personally by the Minister of Civil Aviation, Lord Pakenham, the experts will try to find out why the big passenger plane packed with jubilant Welsh football fans careened wildly into a field as it was landing on a flight from Dublin.

Of the 78 passengers and five crew members aboard, only three survived. It was the world's worst commercial air tragedy and brought the toll of deaths in Tudor planes—Britain's first post-war four-engined commercial aircraft—to 144.

The world's previous worst air disaster was the crash of the dirgible Macon in 1933 over the Atlantic when 73 U.S. Navy men were killed.

The chartered plane, biggest in active service in England, was preparing to land in sunny weather. Tired but happy rugby football enthusiasts aboard had gone wild with joy Saturday at Wales' 6-3 victory over Ireland in the United Kingdom championships at Dublin.

After a night of celebrating in Dublin, they were returning home.

The big four-engined plane appeared to be touching down at Llandow Airport near here for a normal landing when, without warning, it roared back into a climb. It smashed to earth in a field after making a right turn and sideslipping.

Didn't Burn

The huge plane did not explode or burn.

Two of the three survivors, brothers-in-law, walked out of the wreckage unaided and virtually unscathed. They had been sitting side by side in the tail of the plane.

The third survivor was critically hurt.

There were five women aboard one the plane's stewardess. All were killed.

Most of the dead were coal miners, scheduled to return to the pits Sunday night. They had

Believes Son Has Radium Burn

OTTAWA, March 13 (CP) — George Lamirande said Sunday he was quite sure that his 12-year-old son, Andre, is suffering from radium burns.

Mr. Lamirande said public health officials are keeping a close check on a small gray patch of burned skin on the thumb of his son, who unwittingly played with 20 radium needles last week.

"I don't think there is any doubt that he has radium burns," the father said. "But we won't know for certain for two or three weeks."

One Man Injured In Grudge Shooting

KEMPTVILLE, March 13 (CP)—Fred Cassidy, 24, Kemptville, was today charged with wounding in connection with the "grudge" shooting of Edward McGovern, 61, at his home near here Sunday night.

He will appear in county court at Prescott March 15.

McGovern was struck on the head by one of two .22 calibre bullets fired during what police described as a heated argument brought on by an old grudge.

McGovern was given treatment at hospital for flesh wounds and allowed to return home. His condition is not serious.

Kemptville is about 30 miles southwest of Ottawa.

Do Not Disturb

TORONTO, March 13 — (CP)—Premier Frost went into seclusion at Queen's Park today. All callers were politely detoured, telephone calls were taboo and a do-not-disturb order went to his staff. The Premier has started wrestling with the first draft of the budget for this session.

Medical Group Won't Act Against Sander

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 13 (AP)—Dr. Hermann N. Sander had crossed another hurdle today in his fight to return to his country doctor practice.

The New Hampshire Medical Society refused Sunday to take disciplinary action against the young physician and left any such action to the Hillsborough County Medical Society.

A spokesman also reported that the States society did not plan to make any recommendations to the State Board of Registration in Medicine, which alone has the right to revoke or suspend a medical licence.

Formal Hearing

The board planned to meet today to set a date for a formal hearing for the 41-year-old doctor acquitted last week of murder in the death of Mrs. Abbie Borroto, a cancer patient.

The prosecution had claimed that Mrs. Borroto died from air injections administered by Dr. Sander. The defence said Mrs. Borroto was already dead when the doctor shot the air into her veins.

While it did not wholly close the door upon such action, the State Medical Society said disciplinary action "is the province of the county medical society concerned."

It could have recommended disciplinary action to the county society, but refrained from doing so. Such action might have been censure, suspension or even expulsion from membership.

The state society condemned mercy killing, or euthanasia, in strong terms.

Newspaper Uncovers Big Gambling Ring

WINDSOR, March 13 (CP) — The Windsor Star says today in a headline story that "organized gambling . . . is still flourishing in Windsor."

The paper says the story was written by a staff reporter "who was sent out last week to visit some Windsor bookies."

Police Chief Claude Renaud told The Canadian Press today that "if that condition existed here it would be cleaned up."

The chief said "we're here to enforce law and we're going to."

The story names two downtown addresses where race-track betting "operates almost openly along professional lines, with the results from various tracks in the United States blaring from loudspeakers."

The paper says its writer "who conducted a similar tour of alleged gambling places a few months ago, found it far more difficult to get into these joints than at that time."

Belgians Vote In Favor Of Restoring King By Narrow Majority Of 57%

Slim Margin of Approval Threatens To Touch Off Crisis If Supporters Try To Return Leopold

BRUSSELS, March 13—(AP)—Belgians voted by a narrow majority Sunday in favor of restoring King Leopold to the throne from which he has been barred for surrendering to the Germans in the Second World War. But the slim margin of approval—57 per cent—threatened to touch off a political crisis if pro-Leopoldists actually tried to bring the handsome monarch back from exile. A key question was whether the Liberals would join the pro-Leopoldist Social Christians (Catholics) in asking parliament to rescind its ban on the king's return from exile in Switzerland.

The referendum Sunday was only an advisory vote. Parliament still must decide if Leopold may come back. He had said he would abdicate if he got less than 55 per cent of the vote.

The final official vote was:

Yes (for Leopold's return), 2,933,382.

No (against his return), 2,151,-881.

There were 151,477 ballots declared invalid.

The interior ministry said the king had carried 21 of the country's 30 district and seven of its nine provinces.

Liberal Move Uncertain

The Liberals have said they would not accept the king again if he did not get a majority in each of the country's three parts —Flanders in the north, Brabant in the centre and Walloon in the south. Political observers were not sure, however, the Liberals would stand by this statement.

In Flanders, Leopold was strong with a majority of 72.2 per cent. In Brabant, where Brussels is located, his majority was 50.2 per cent. In the French-speaking Walloon area, though he carried two of the four provinces, he came out with only 40.2 per cent of the total vote.

Should Liberals and Social Christians join, the coalition could command the parliamentary majority necessary to vote the king back to his throne.

Expect Opposition

Any further steps in the king's favor were expected to run into fierce opposition from the Socialists, who waged the bitterest pre-referendum fight against Leopold.

Snowstorm Strikes Southern Ontario

TORONTO, March 13 (CP) — A snowstorm struck southern Ontario this morning and forecasters said the wet snow might change to rain later in the day.

However, the Ontario highways department's road information service here reported that the snowfall had little effect on the get-to-work rush.

"This snow is too wet to drift" an official said. "Normal winter driving conditions prevail almost everywhere in Ontario."

BELGIANS VOTED by a narrow majority, Sunday, in favor of restoring King Leopold to the throne. In exile since 1945 for surrendering to the Germans in the Second World War, Leopold is shown with his wife, the Princess de Rethy.

Dutch Prince Strengthens Canadian Ties

OTTAWA, March 13—(CP)—Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands today ended his three-day visit to Canada's capital secure in the knowledge that he had helped to strengthen the close ties already binding his country and the dominion.

Behind him, the Prince left hundreds of new admirers — in high places and low—won by his engaging personality, and the frank and willing manner in which he discussed problems relating to the two countries.

Flying his own red and silver Dakota transport aircraft to Quebec city, Prince Bernhard and his party are scheduled to spend the remainder of the day in a round of functions in that provincial capital before leaving tomorrow for the United States.

Sunday morning he attended the regular service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, where his wife, now Queen Juliana, worshipped while living here during the war years. The couple's third daughter, Margiret, was christened in St. Andrew's in 1943.

Sees Test Flight

Saturday Prince Bernhard braved a bone-chilling breeze to watch Canada's long-range jet fighter, CF-100, give a flying demonstration that left veteran RCAF veterans and foreign observers like himself obviously impressed.

The Prince, like others watching the demonstration of the jet fighter, was amazed at the plane's performance despite the fact that test pilot Bill Waterton opened it up to only 60 per cent of total power.

Lawyer Gets Threat On Life

SYDNEY, N. S., March 13 (CP)—Police today investigated a report that an anonymous telephone caller had threatened the life of John Macneil, associate defence counsel in the murder trial of Dan Jack MacLean.

Shortly after MacLean's trial began today, an unknown person was said to have telephoned Macneil's residence and told Macneil's wife her husband "will be murdered before nightfall" if he did not withdraw from the case.

MacLean pleaded innocent today to the murder of Joseph MacKinnon, 65-year-old Sydney registrar of voters.

The 63-year-old former mayor of this Cape Breton steel town boomed out his plea in a loud voice as he went on trial before Chief Justice J. L. Ilsley and a Nova Scotia Supreme Court jury.

Anti-Merger Vote Won't Deter Gov't

TORONTO, March 13 —(CP)—Suburban Weston's 3-to-1 vote against amalgamation with Toronto will not deter the Ontario government from seeking to combine 12 suburbs with Toronto by next Jan. 1, Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar indicated today.

Of the 4,640 persons eligible to vote in the plebiscite, 1,743, or 37.5 per cent, cast ballots Saturday.

Mr. Dunbar said he believes that the 72 per cent of the electorate who did not vote are fairly well satisfied with the amalgamation proposal.

Russians Elect Parliament On One Ticket

MOSCOW, March 13 — (AP) — Prime Minister Joseph Stalin led millions of Russians to the polls Sunday to cast ballots for a single slate of candidates for the Soviet Union's parliament.

The Russians voted at polling booths stretching almost halfway round the world—from the Bering Strait to the mouth of the Danube. Up for election were 671 nominees for the council of the Union, the Upper House of the Supreme Soviet, and 631 members of the Council of Nationalities.

All were unopposed. To vote against any candidate, the voter could draw a line through the name of the ballot.

Stalin himself was a candidate, from the Stalin district of Moscow for the council of the Union.

Four-Year Terms

Members of the Supreme Soviet are elected for four-year terms. Regarding the election as a vote of confidence, the government anticipated nearly 100 per cent of those eligible would cast ballots.

Announcement of the complete vote was expected to come in about a week.

In the 1946 elections 99.7 per cent of the registered voters, or 101,450,936, cast ballots. A larger vote was expected this year.

Moscow wore a holiday air Sunday for the election, with red bunting festooning the city.

Bus Strike In Paris Ends Despite Reds

PARIS, March 13 (AP) — The Paris subway and bus strike ended the French strike wave which Communists hope to bring to a crest when the first U. S. arms aid arrives.

The Communist-led Confederation Generale du Travail ordered its members back to work on the Paris lines after seeing that non-Communist unions would not join them.

The strike never wholly halted Paris transport in five days of trying. The lines, owned by the city, gave their 32,000 employees a basic 5 per cent wage increase that amounted to at least 1,100 francs (about $3.30) a month for each. The CGT had asked for a minimum increase of 3,000 francs.

However, thousands of workers, Communist and non-Communist, still remain away from their jobs. Nearly 300,000 of France's 1,500,000 metal workers are idle. The nationalized gas and electric industries remain crippled by a walkout of many of their 100,000 employees. Gas pressure is still low in many parts of Paris.

Leckie Doesn't Think War Even Likely

TORONTO, March 13 (CP).—Air Marshal R. M. Leckie, Wartime Chief of Staff of the RCAF, said Saturday he does not believe war is "inevitable, imminent, or even likely."

He told the Ontario Provincial Committee of the Air Cadet League of Canada he does not believe either that any aggressor is likely to attack North America "across the roof of the world."

"War, if it does come, is much more likely to be restricted to Europe, with only diversionary attacks on North America—neither heavy nor frequent."

The committee elected N. S. MacGregor of Hamilton chairman. Other officers: Vice-chairman Dudley Rodin, Toronto, and Dr. George Westman, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.; treasurer, A. R. Cousins, Toronto.

Air Vice-Marshal E. E. Middleton (retired) was appointed the secretary-manager of the Ontario Committee.

20,000 Cheer Pope On 11th Anniversary

VATICAN CITY, March 13 (AP) —A throng of 20,000, including many Holy-Year pilgrims, cheered Pope Pius today upon the celebration of the 11th anniversary of his coronation.

Pope Pius was elected March 3, 1939. His coronation followed March 12. The anniversary was celebrated today—a day late—so that white vestments rather than the purple color of mourning prescribed for Sunday during Lent could be worn.

The basilica of St. Peter blazed with electric lights as the pontiff descended in his private elevator from his apartment to the chapel of the Pieta. Here the Pope put on a white vestment and his beehive-shaped tiara and mounted his portable throne.

Sixteen cardinals, 40 archbishops and bishops and many other prelates of the church as well as members of the pontifical court were in the cortege that accompanied the pontiff to the altar of the chair.

Tomato Growers Take Price Cut

HAMILTON, March 13 (CP)—Growers will get 75 cents a ton less for tomatoes this year and payment deadlines for their crop have been stepped up, Garnet McCandless, secretary of the Canned Foods Association of Ontario today received this news from Judge Harold Fuller, who presided at arbitration proceedings in Welland.

Processors are required to file "suitable financial security" with the Vegetable Growers' Marketing Board, or otherwise to buy tomatoes on a two?week basis.

Those processors who can file financial security must pay for 50 per cent of tomatoes delivered up to September 15 on or before October 1 and for the balance before November 15.

Processors will pay $26.85 for No. 1 and $16.85 for No. 2 tomatoes. All tomatoes are on a graded basis except for processors having less than 30 acres under contract, and those in that category will pay $2.85 per ton.

Weekly deliveries which processors have to take has been increased from 60 to 70 bushels per acre.

scraped and saved for months to get the money for the trip.

Horrified relatives and friends who had crowded the airport to await the plane's return ran blindly to the accident scene.

Drag Out Bodies

Choking back feelings of horror, they dragged the bodies from the wreckage and left them in the field to rush back for more. Some of the rescued showed flickering signs of life but died shortly afterward.

Though the Tudor was built to carry a normal load of 44 persons, officials said it could carry many more without overloading on a short flight such as that from Dublin to Cardiff.

On the scene for today's enquiry was Air Vice-Marshal Donald Bennett, head of the charter line which made Sunday's illfated flight and a leading supporter of the Tudor plane.

Considerable Trouble

The Tudor line of planes was developed from the wartime Lancaster bomber at a cost of £11,000,000 ($44,800,000) before devaluation.

In February, 1947, three defects were found in the Tudor during trials. In August a trial plane crashed, killing four persons. That September the British Overseas Airways Corporation rejected it for passenger service.

An inquiry in 1948 vindicated the Tudor. Less than three weeks later a Tudor IV, the Star Tiger, disappeared off Bermuda with 31 people aboard. A year later another Tudor IV, the Star Ariel, disappeared on a flight to Jamaica with 29 persons aboard.

Until Sunday, commercial aviation's largest death toll in a single accident had been the 55 killed Nov. 2, 1949, when an Eastern Airlines plane collided with a Bolivian-piloted fighter plane at Washington, D. C., and plunged into the Potomac River.

Send Sympathy

The King and Prime Minister Attlee sent messages of sympathy to grieving Wales, and Britain's press voiced shock and grief over the fate of the sports fans aboard the plane.

The King told Lord Pakenham that "the Queen and I were shocked to hear of the disaster at Sigginstone. Will you please convey our deep sympathy to the relatives of all who have lost their lives?"

Attlee said "am distressed to hear of the terrible accident at Sigginstone and wish to express deepest sympathy with relatives."

Belgians Vote

The minister of interior, Albert de Vleeschouwer, a Social Christian, said today he thought his party should ask parliament to bring the king back from his exile in Switzerland.

Should Leopold decide to abdicate, all parties were expected to unite in welcoming his 19-year-old son, Prince Baudouin, as King of Belgium.

Leopold has been Belgium's political storm centre since he surrendered to the Germans in 1940 and then refused to follow his government-in-exile to London. He was interned by the Nazis in Germany.

Rig Dummy Safe But Lose Loot

LONDON, Ont., March 13 (CP) —Yeggs moved an 800-pound safe half the length of a store Sunday morning, set up a dummy safe in its place, but apparently were scared away before they could finish the job. And they were suspected of using a policeman's truck into the bargain.

However, they didn't escape empty-handed from the Dominion chain store on Midtown Dundas St. They took the whole stock of cigarettes and tobacco valued at $500.

Police said the raiders didn't disturb the night light above the safe. After moving the strong box toward the rear door, they rigged up under the light, an egg crate, an empty carton and a hamper. On top they placed a "bundles for Britain" sign which had been atop the safe.

Const. John Whitton reported his truck stolen from in front of his Dufferin Ave. home a few blocks away, when he went on duty at 7 a.m. Sunday. Some minutes later, the truck was found abandoned in the same district.

Police thinks the yeggs stole the truck and drove it to the rear of the store, but left in a hurry without trying to load the safe. Entry was gained by forcing the rear door.

Mining Stocks Show Brisk Trading Today

TORONTO, March 13 (CP) — Mining stocks featured brisk trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. A handful of gold stocks with property in the Kirkland Lake district, Northern Ontario, were particularly active and higher.

Volume for the first three hours was 719,000 shares, about 110,000 shares more than Friday's similar period.

Macassa Mines highlighted a strong gold list, trading heavily for a gain of 36 cents at $3 and touching a new high at $3.20 at one time. The advance in Macassa started Saturday when it added 19 cents. Company officials say that there is no news from the property in Kirkland Lake area to account for the sudden market attention. The annual report, issued recently, showed an improvement in the position.

Teck-Hughes and Kirkland Lake Gold Mines, adjoining Macassa were also in brisk demand Upper Canada Mines, another Kirkland Lake property, gained 25 cents at $3.60 and adjoining Queenston edged ahead.

Senior golds showed fractional advances and some other junior producers advanced quietly.

Silver Miller Mines highlighted a stronger base metal list, climbing steadily following development news from the property at Cobalt, Ont.

Industrials tended easier and western oils weakened on penny declines.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

BASEBALL'S MIGHTIEST SLUGGER and most glamorous figure, Babe Ruth, is seen in a typical pose—having just blasted one into the bleachers. A street urchin from the Baltimore waterfront, the Babe captured America's heart with his irresistible personality and amazing athletic prowess. His fame as baseball's home-run king came after Ruth had compiled a spectacular record as a pitcher. The Great Bambino's salary mounted from $600 in 1914 to a peak of $80,000 in 1930 and 1931—baseball's highest at that time, and $5,000 more than President Hoover's. Shortly before his death, of cancer in August, 1948, the game paid high tribute to its greatest star in dramatic ceremonies at New York's Yankee Stadium—"The House That Ruth Built."

Requests Jury Acquit Jeweler

QUEBEC, March 13 (CP) — Defence counsel for J. Albert Guay, charged with murder in the Sept. 9 airline disaster, today asked the jury to acquit the 32-year-old jeweler.

Guay is charged with the murder of his 28-year-old wife, one of the 23 victims of the disaster which the crown contends was caused by a time bomb Guay had placed aboard a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane.

The criminal assizes courtroom was filled with gossiping spectators when Gerard Levesque, young lawyer defending Guay, rose to ask the jury for acquittal.

Crown Prosecutor Noel Dorion will review the case against Guay this afternoon and the murder trial is expected to conclude tomorrow after Judge Albert Sevigny's charge to the jury.

The crown during 13 days of trial sessions since Feb. 23 has tried to prove that Guay for the love of a waitress and $10,000 insurance money laid a time-bomb plot that brought about his wife's death in the plane crash at Sault au Cochon, 40 miles from here.

Health Program Planned For Tots

COBOURG, March 13 (ENS)--Financed by funds provided by a Federal public health grant, the Northumberland and Durham Health Unit, in co-operation with the Counties Medical Association, will this year embark on a public health program for children in Kindergarten or Grade 1.

In a new approach to this part of the school health program the public health nurse does the initial part of an examination of the child starting to school, such as measurements of height and weight and tests for vision and hearing.

This information is entered on the child's medical examination record which is sent home to the parent, together with a letter of explanation.

The card is then taken by the paren to the family physician when the child is examined. The doctor completes the medical examination and returns the card to the health unit.

There are approximately 1,300 children in the Counties of Northumberland and Durham who will be benefitted by this scheme and the health unit hopes that parents receiving a card for their child will take advantage of this free examination.

The health unit points out that children should have a complete medical examination at the time they enter school so that defects may be corrected.

Bertrand Russell On The Cold War

We present on this page today an especially important article by the great philosopher Bertrand Russell. It is a masterly historical and politico-philosophical analysis of the present conflict between East and West, between communism and the democracies of socialism and capitalism. Earl Russell, a radical logician, has never been a champion of capitalism nor is he subject to nationalistic cant. He is no war-monger; he was jailed as a pacifist during the first war. If any man of our century can see a vast issue purely and without prejudice, Bertrand Russell can. He says: "I do not believe that any genuine entente with the Kremlin is possible . . . The only hope . . . is to remain obviously stronger than Russia until new circumstances completely change the stuation . . . . I do not agree with those who object to the manufacture of the hydrogen bomb". Such statements from such a man come with unique force and cogency. His conclusion is that "The next war, if it comes, will be the greatest disaster that will have befallen the human race up to that moment. I can think of only one greater disaster: the extension of the Kremlin's power over the whole world . . . Whatever we do, we [the western nations] shall be united, but it is better to be united in a common salvation than in a common death."

The Passing Of Cider

Fifty years ago, hereabouts, every farmer has his own apple cider, and if only the unfermented liquor was allowed in the house, there would be a jug or two of the hard stuff in the barn. Today, cider, sweet or hard, is almost off the Ontario scene. We deeply regret this deprivation of our taste-buds and maws. Apple juice is a poor substitute for the real thing, and much liquid that passes for cider in shops is mere juice. As for hard cider, it never seems to be available, even in the liquor stores. In a district such as ours there is no good reason why we should not be producing a liquor as beautiful as the cider of Normandy (or even calvados) or as good as the cider of the west of England.

Last Wednesday in Oshawa a man from Whitby township was fined $200 and costs because he had his farmhouse basement lined with kegs of hard cider —460 gallons of it. Instead of a fine, why did not some purchasing agent for the Liquor Commission rush down to the farm and buy up the whole stock? Any person these days who devotes the time and effort required to make cider is, in our opinion, worthy of better treatment than a court fine. We note, however, that the magistrate took his court down to the farmhouse to inspect the kegs. Perhaps it was the quality of the stuff, rather than the quantity, which drew the court's penalty.

Duplessis Blocking Constitutional Reform

Two months ago it seemed that at long last really enlightened, practical progress would be made this year in constitutional reform, particularly in the contentious, baffling matter of Federal-Provincial relations. At the short first conference the ten premiers and the Prime Minister were unusually co-operative. No great general charter was planned; instead, it was decided to go forward with the meetings, dealing with specific issues on which general agreement was conceivable.

Other Dominion-Provincial conferences have broken up because of fundamental proposals to change the constitution. This year it was decided that the Conference should, like statesmanship, be concerned with the art of the possible. Therein lay hope of its success. The attorneys-general of the various provinces were delegated to delineate, as experts, the remedial steps which would make possible co-ordination of schemes on a uniform national level.

Now Premier Duplessis has had a change of heart, or is perhaps merely showing the hand he held covered at the first conference. He has written the Prime Minister asking whether it is advisable to discuss specific matters until the constitutional rights of provinces and the Federal Government are settled. He would also like to have the scope of the next session of the Conference widened. This is an opposite approach from that agreed on last January. Does Premier Duplessis not want agreement? Would he push the Conference into the general morass which has submerged the others? His words are sweetly polite, but that seems to be the implication of them. He should take a lesson in reasonableness and co-operation from Premier Frost of Ontario.

Opposition To U.S. Electoral Reform

A resolution seeking to amend the Electoral College system of the United States is currently being opposed by an unusual alliance. The resolution would require Electoral College votes to be distributed among candidates for President and Vice-President in proportion, to the popular vote cast in each State, and is sponsored by Senators Lodge and Gosset. It is vehemently opposed by various pressure groups in key states, who are able, under the present system, to wield influence out of all proportion to the percentage of the popular vote their states represent. These groups have now been joined by Senator Taft, whose reason for doing so is that the amendment would be "fatal to the chances of electing a Republican President if the election is in any way close".

Senator Taft's complaint seems to imply that he fears the amendment might, in certain circumstances, deprive the Republicans of the opportunity of putting a minority President in the White House. If so, his fear is justified, for the amendment seeks to prevent the election of a minority President. As Senator Lodge pointed out, in debating the resolution, a shift of only thirty thousand popular votes in three key states would have given the last election to Governor Dewey, in spite of a plurality of nearly two million votes for President Truman.

It should be noted that the amendment will not eliminate entirely the possibility of a minority President. Each State has two electoral votes, corresponding to its two Senators, in addition to electoral votes based on population. That fact would make it still possible for a candidate to win with fewer popular votes than his opponent. It would be more difficult to do so, however, under the unit rule of counting electoral votes now in force. This may be simply illustrated by using California and New York as examples. Approximately twenty million citizens voted in the latter in 1948, ten million in the former. A candidate could win by 100,000 in New York, lose by three million in California; the popular vote totals would read Dewey, 4,000,000; Truman 5,900,000. Yet Dewey would then be President by an electoral vote of forty-seven to twenty-five.

It is not surprising that many U.S. legislators wish to eliminate this obviously unsound system. It is surprising, however, to hear one oppose it on grounds which appear based on willingness to place party interest above that of the nation.

Child's Crayon Book In The Legislature

Last week the honourable members of the Ontario Legislature were each presented with a children's alphabet picture-book, for colouring with crayon. The presentation was not a jest by the Honourable George Doucett, Minister of Highways. The book is called The ABC's of Traffic Safety. It is an instrument in the Department's campaign to reduce the number of accidents on the highways and streets, particularly those in which children are maimed and killed. Copies are being sent to all school principals, for distribution to the lower grades in the public schools.

In the last thirteen years 1506 children of fourteen years of age and younger have been killed through traffic accidents in Ontario. In 1949 alone 125 children were so killed. This is an appalling record—one-sixth of the casualties from traffic accidents are children.

The fault is not always, or usually, the driver's. Children are careless and inexperienced; they cannot be expected to have the precaution of adults. Yet, if they are to remain alive, they must somehow learn it very quickly and very young. Four out of five of the children on foot killed in traffic accidents are under nine years old.

To the young, then, these booklets are addressed. The drawings are pleasant, and not lugubrious and frightening. The rhymes that go with them are plain, even if they do not always scan; such as

V is for VIEW
And Vehicle too.
Don't cross on hillsides
Where drivers can't see you.

We shall not quibble about

N is for NIGHT
A poor time to be out.
Wear something white
And don't play about.

if the booklet achieves a little of its purpose: to teach the young safety rules, and to reduce the accident toll.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

THE modern orchestra — unlike Caesar's Gaul—is divided into four sections. This fourfold division is invariably followed in modern orchestral scores. At the top of the page come the woodwind instruments, then the brass, percussion and strings in that order. Socialists, concerti and "extras" such as the organ are usually sandwiched in between the percussion and the strings. Within each section the parts of the instruments are arranged in rough order of pitch. Thus the flute is always placed at the top of the page. There are naturally a few exceptions to this general rule. The piccolo, although a higher instrument than the flute is placed below it. The reason for this is that the piccolo part is taken by the third flute, and sometimes he has to change instruments in the course of the performance. It is thus a practical convenience for the copyist to keep his part on the same line. It may well be that a fifth section of Electronic instruments will be enrolled as permanent members of the orchestra, but so far they have failed to win universal favour with contemporary composers.

◇ ◇ ◇

LET us start at the top of the page and work downwards. The woodwind family is a family of individualists. When heard together they do not blend so well as the brass or the strings, but each instrument has strongly marked characteristics. The flute is a lithe acrobat amongst instruments, though given at times to a quiet melancholy. The piccolo, a smaller and more high-pitched kind of flute, is shrill and piercing, and is not a regular member of the orchestra. The flute and piccolo are the only reedless woodwind instruments. Next we come to the oboe and its big brother the cor anglais, plaintive and penetrating. The sound is produced by a double reed through which the player blows. The tone of the cor anglais is somewhat darker than that of the oboe. The clarinet has three distinct "registers", and the tone is quite different in each. The bottom register is rich and mellow. The middle register is clear and brilliant, while the top register is unpleasantly shrill. Next to the flute the clarinet is the most agile member of the woodwind section. The bass clarinet is sometimes found. Its tone is dark and eerie in its low register. The bassoons are the clowns of the orchestra, though they are also effective in producing an awe-inspiring effect. Their mouthpiece is somewhat similar to that of the oboe. The Italians call the bassoon "Fagotto" on account of its appearance, which resembles a bundle of sticks. The double bassoon is one of the deepest voices in the orchestra. The saxophones are sometimes found in the orchestra, mainly in French scores of the past 100 years. Although they are made of metal they are usually classed as woodwind on account of their mouthpiece, which resembles that of the clarinet. In fact the term "woodwind" is not a very good one. Flutes are often made of metal nowadays, and other "woods" are frequently made of ebonite and other materials. Conversely some "brass" instruments are made of animals' horns, wood, and other materials, but they are seldom if ever found in the orchestra of today.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE brass is the weightiest section of the orchestra. Unlike the woodwind they blend together beautifully, but in comparison with wood and strings they lack agility Ever since the invention of valves they have become more useful and important. At the head of the brass comes the French horn, which is descended from the hunting horn. Although it is lower pitched than the trumpet it is placed first because it blends well with the woodwind (especially the bassoons) and is constantly being used in conjunction with that section. The tone of the horn has a haunting romantic charm. It is also one of the most difficult instruments to play, and demands a particularly high standard of musicianship. The trumpet is brilliant. Its notes "speak" more easily than the horn and it is thus more mobile. The trombone is a very ancient instrument, and has been in use without serious modification for the longest time of all the brass instruments. It is usually employed in passages of a particularly solemn or emphatic nature, in sustained chords, but it can clown as well as a bassoon if required. The tuba is often used with the trombones to add its majestic bass notes. There are many other brass instruments, but those which I have mentioned are the ones usually met in the orchestra.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE percussion section includes all instruments where the sound is produced by striking or hitting. There is an enormous variety of percussion instruments, but the average orchestral score does not employ a great number of them. They can be divided into two classes: those that produce an indefinite sound, like the side drum or the triangle, and those that produce a definite musical note, like the kettledrum or xylophone. The main function of the percussion is to emphasize the rhythm. It is often used also to add highlights to the orchestral colour: a touch of the triangle or cymbals in the right spot adds brilliance. Stravinsky is one of the masters of the use of percussion: frequently he uses none at all, but when he does he not only uses a large number of percussion instruments but also prescribes with meticulous accuracy the type of stick to be used and the precise method of execution. He often uses the piano as an instrument of percussion, which it is in part.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE strings, which we come to last, are really the foundation of the orchestra. Their incomparable flexibility, their homogeneity of tone, their power of nuance, place them far above the other elements of the orchestra. An additional advantage is that they can be plucked as well as bowed. The violins are usually divided into two parts, first and second violins, but these two may be subdivided, or they may both be played in unison. In a large orchestra there may be eight desks (16 players) for the firsts and one or two desks less for the seconds. The viola is slightly larger than the violin and is held in the same manner. The tone is somewhat nasal. The cellos are held between the knees and have a warm singing tone in their middle register. The largest member of the string family is the double bass. It is seldom used alone, but usually plays an octave below the cellos. The design of the strings was fixed in the seventeenth century, and the only alterations since that date have been in the design of the bows and one or two other smaller points. For example, the "tail-pin" used to support the cello is of comparatively recent origin.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE orchestra as a whole is a vehicle of enormous range of colour and expression. I can do no better than quote the concluding words of Berlioz's monumental treatise on instrumentation. He says "Its repose would be majestic as the slumber of the ocean; its agitation would resemble the tropical hurricane, its explosions the cry of the volcanos; one would find there the complaints, the murmurs, the mysterious sounds of virgin forests, the shouts, the prayers, the paeans or dirges of a great-hearted people with an ardent soul and fiery passions; its silence would inspire fear with its solemnity; and the most recalcitrant beings would shudder to see its CRESCENDO swell into a roar like an immense and sublime holocaust!. . . ."

Is a Third World War Inevitable?

By Bertrand Russell

Famed British Philosopher, Mathematician and Social Publicist. Copyright to the Peterborough Examiner from the London Observer.

SINCE the year A.D. 1000, when the end of the world was expected, there has never been a time of such general profound anxiety as now afflicts the Western World. I should like to think that the anxiety will prove as groundless now as then, but I find this hardly possible. However, since diagnosis must precede prognosis, let us first try to assess the causes of tension. These causes are of several kinds; economic, political and ideological. The problem is unduly simplified if any one of these is emphasized to the exclusion of the others.

To begin with the economic causes: there are rich nations and poor nations, and rich individuals in poor nations, and poor individuals in rich nations. Speaking very broadly, rich nations and individuals tend to side with America, poor nations and individuals with Russia. Consequently it is not to Russia's interest to make the world prosperous. Of course, Communists profess that the poverty they promote is only a temporary means to universal prosperity; but, for the present, prosperity is their enemy.

If the tension is to be diminished in any permanent way, there must be more approach to economic equality between different nations. Such a contrast as that between the standard of life in China and that in the United States makes genuine friendship between the two countries very difficult. In the case of India, however, this very difficult feat appears to have been accomplished, thanks to the joint statesmanship of Nehru and the British Government.

Both in Asia and in Africa there is a close association between economic and racial factors. In the nineteenth century, white men had wealth, power and prestige; now this is no longer the case in Asia, and it is doubtful how long it will continue to be the case in Africa. The claim to equality with white men is a strong incentive to Communism. The West has a difficulty from which Russia is free. There are parts of the world which claim equality, and to which the West can only offer equality in the form of independence, which may lead to chaos. Moscow, on the contrary, can offer what is regarded in advance as equality, though it is in fact submission to Russian imperialism. This has at least the advantage of not causing chaos.

◇ ◇ ◇

POLITICALLY, the conflict is essentially similar to three previous ones, namely those provoked by Spain, France and Germany when they sought to conquer the world. The only political novelty is that formerly England led the defence, and now America does so. There were Fifth Columns in previous conflicts, just as there are now; England contained Catholics in 1588, revolutionaries in 1793, and Fascists in 1940. The pattern has been constant since the rise of Spain; one nation has thought itself sufficiently powerful to rule the world, but has been in the end defeated by a coalition of nations unwilling to lose their independence. In that coalition there has been a leader, which in the first two conflicts made immense gains by ultimate victory, but has not sought universal dominion. The same is true now. From Communists and their friends we hear a great deal about American imperialism, but there is not in America the same determination as in Russia to create a vast monolithic state governed from a centre, nor is there the same intolerance of all systems other than that established in Washington.

The part played by the clash of ideologies in the present conflict is from one point of view very great, and from another little worse than a form of humbug. Whenever the defence of an ideology becomes identified with the defence of some power group, power politics tend to swamp the ideology in the minds of those who direct policy. The ideology survives nominally, but as little more than a trick for enlisting popular support.

In the sixteenth century, Catholic ideology was merged in Spanish imperialism, Protestant ideology in the profits of piracy. Napoleon, in his early days, was welcomed in Italy and Western Germany, because he was regarded as the standard-bearer of the Revolution; but when it came to the personal rule of his brothers and conscription for French wars, it became apparent that power politics had replaced Liberty, Equality and Fraternity. So it is now in the Communist world: power politics for rulers, ideology for dupes and underlings.

I do not want to suggest that there is nothing new in the present state of affairs. On the contrary, several things are new.

◇ ◇ ◇

COMMUNST ideology is at once more radical and more supple, than those of previous imperialism. The devious dialectic of Karl Marx makes to certain intellectuals an appeal not unlike that which St. Paul made to St. Augustine; this appeal has the double strength of being nominally to the intellect, but really to the emotions. To the discontented everywhere it offers upheaval and punishment of enemies. To victims of injustice, of whatever kind, it offers redress, all the more infallible because it proceeds according to a mysterious formula which professes to have discovered the very root of all injustice. A young Western intellectual who hates his father, a Jew who has suffered from anti-Semitism, a Chinese infuriated by a century of foreign insolence, a Latin-American Indian who execrates the memory of Cortez and Pizarro—all these can easily accept the doctrine that the power of capital is the source of their sorrows.

The second thing that is new is the close-knit character of the organization. The Jesuits it is true, were all well organized, but what they accomplished in the counter-reformation everyone knows. But they were few, and Catholics outside their ranks were far less organized; many of these, morever, were hostile to the Jesuits. There was not the same capacity for liquidating Trotskyites as there is now. It is true that this rigidity of organization has its drawbacks. Tito rebels against it; some English Communists did not wholly relish the Hitler-Stalin pact; some Italian Communists failed to see how Karl Marx proved that they ought to relinquish the Italian claim to Trieste. But on the whole the advantages far outweigh the disadvantages, at least so far. Whether this will remain true is more questionable.

The third thing that is new is the fact that there are now only two Great Powers. And the fourth thing is the character of the weapons that will be used if the cold war becomes hot.

◇ ◇ ◇

WILL the cold war become hot? I do not know any more about this than is known to every diligent reader of the newspapers. But there are, I think, some things that can be said.

I do not believe that any genuine entente with the Kremlin is possible. Whenever the Kremlin thinks the moment inopportune for a war, it will be willing to make such show of reasonableness, as will soothe the nerves of the West. But the "mystique" of Communism makes it appear that no real peace is possible, and that, sooner or later, Communism must triumph. (Hegel's form of the dialectic proved the same for Germany.) There are, of course, parts of Marx's doctrine which the Kremlin has tacitly dropped, but the part which concerns the inevitability of war and the certainty of victory remains, and is, I think, genuinely believed by every Communist from Stalin downward. And they think that we, on our side, must see that war is inevitable; therefore our overtures must be insincere and our professed desire for world peace must be humbug. While such beliefs persist it would be foolish to hope for genuine peace.

What hope is there, then, of averting an all-out war against Russia? The only hope, it seems to me, is to remain obviously stronger than Russia until new circumstances completely change the situation. There are various new circumstances that might have this effect. There may be a disputed succession after Stalin's death. Titoism may spread: I am convinced that China will not permanently submit to orders from Moscow, provided the West is tolerant of Chinese Communism. Discontent may spread within Russia; it is already very considerable in the Ukraine. Time may make Russian officials lazy and inefficient as they were under the Tsars. It is almost certain that lack of freedom for scientists will, within ten years or so, make the Russian war machine technically inefficient as compared with that of America. For such reasons, if war could be averted for a decade, it is quite likely that it would never take place.

WE are thus brought to the stark opposition of strength in war as the decisive factor. I am no authority on war, and it is not for me to estimate military chances. But defeat or victory in a contest with Russia will depend upon many things beside armed force. Western Europe is much more hostile to Communism than it was, chiefly owing to Marshall Aid. China is lost to us, at least for the present, because we persisted too long in supporting Chiang Kai-shek. The policy of the present South African Government is of enormous propaganda value to Moscow. Palestine presents an insoluble problem; if America and Britain favour the Jews, all the Arab states may become friendly to Moscow; if the Arabs, American Jews will vote against the Administration, and semi-isolationists will take its place in Washington; if strict impartiality is observed, each side will think the other unfairly favoured, and both kinds of evils will result. Neither side seems capable of reflecting that in a war both sides in the Near East would be wiped out.

I think a great deal more could be achieved by propaganda than is being achieved at present. The gradual Russification of satellite nations should be emphasized, and so should the bad economic conditions of the workers under Soviet rule. Tito should be vigorously supported, and so should every beginning of a similar movement in Poland, Bulgaria and Hungary. Truman's Fourth Point should be implemented to the extreme of what is financially possible. Vigorous young intellectuals from doubtful regions—e.g. the Near East—should be trained in England or America as young Communists are trained in Moscow. And much more should be done than is done at present to make clear positively what the West stands for and what will be lost to mankind if Moscow triumphs. Money spent in these ways will be a hundred times as effective as an equal sum spent later on actual war.

NEVERTHELESS, actual armaments will in the end decide, if war comes. I do not agree with those who object to the manufacture of the hydrogen bomb. All arguments for a unilateral limitation of weapons are only logically defensible if carried to the length of absolute pacifism, for a war cannot be worth fighting unless it is worth winning. I think also, for the reasons given above, that every increase of Western strength makes war less likely. I do not think that, in the present temper of the world, an agreement to limit atomic warfare would do anything but harm, because each side would think that the other was evading it.

The next war, if it comes, will be the greatest disaster that will have befallen the human race up to that moment. I can think of only one greater disaster: the extension of the Kremlin's power over the whole world. Fortunately, the measures required to prevent the one are the same as the measures required to prevent the other; they are those that strengthen the forces on the side of human freedom. It is painful that there is such an inadequate realization of the urgency of the problem, and of the comparative unimportance of the enmities surviving from earlier times. I wish some supreme orator could rouse all the nations west of the Iron Curtain to realize their danger, and the pettiness of their disputes. Whatever we do, we shall be united, but it is better to be united in a common salvation than in a common death.

Unconsidered Trifles

Paddy quarrelled with his wife and walked out of the house. He did not return for twelve years and, when he did, walked in quite calmly as though nothing unusual had happened.

"And where might you have been?" his wife asked.

"Out!" came the reply.

In a big city store a woman was making an inquiry about a doll's house that had taken her fancy. When she heard its price—and it was a tall one even for these days—she stood for a moment in stricken silence. Then, rallying bravely, she smiled sweetly at the salesgirl.

"You arrange mortgages on them of course?" she suggested, politely.

Seven Fatalities In Ontario Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press.

Ontario again reported the highest toll of weekend fatalities in eastern Canada.

A Canadian Press survey today showed that seven persons lost their lives in Ontario from various causes of the total of 11 reported for the six eastern provinces. Nova Scotia reported three deaths and Quebec one. There was none in New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

Suicides claimed two Ontario people while an 18-month-old baby perished in a house fire. Traffic accident and a mine accident were responsible for the other deaths.

The wife and eldest child of Arthur Sutton, 48, were held as material witnesses after Mr. Sutton was shot and killed as the aftermath of what police described as a bitter quarrel at their farm home 40 miles south of Montreal.

Earl, 16, and Mrs. Sutton, 43, were taken into custody following the shooting of Mr. Sutton. Police said that Earl Sutton shot the gun —a .30 calibre rifle—after threatening to shoot his father in the legs.

Miner Suicides

At Sudbury V. F. Campbell, 37, a mine worker, took his own life by exploding a dynamite detonator cap and at Kirkland Lake Fred W. Riggs, 53, shot himself to death.

Harold MacDonald, 56, a Florence, N. S., colliery worker, died from injuries received when he was pinned by a rock fall in a coal mine.

Everett Best, 38, of Nictaux Falls, N. S., and Gerald Cox, 29, of Brooklyn, N. S., were killed when their motor truck bounced off a culvert and rolled into a ditch.

Lynda Hansen, 18 months, was burned to death in a house fire near Kingston. An oil lamp exploded and members of the family were unable to save the child.

Doctor Killed

Dr. James A. Cummins, 86, of Bond Head, Ont., was struck and killed by a car, the same lot that fell to five-year-old Judith Ann Skinner of Watford.

Mrs. Michael O'Connor, 48, was killed when the car in which she was riding turned over. Mrs. O'Connor and her two sons were on their way to visit Mr. O'Connor, confined to hospital in Brockville.

Victor Stephens was the other traffic victim. The 18-year-old Toronto youth died in hospital from injuries received in a two-automobile collision a few hours earlier.

Big Bulldozers Uncovering Old Carthage

CARTHAGE, Africa, March 13 (AP)—Bulldozers are snorting, where Hannibal once walked, to bring ancient Carthage out from under the sand as an attraction for tourist dollars.

US Marshall plan mission to France put tools and money for manpower in the hands of Tunisia, a French protectorate, to unearth the ruins of the city that once was the third largest in the world.

Pick-and-shovel crews, directed by trained archaeological experts do the preliminary probing into layers of silt and sand. The city area proper is estimated to cover four square miles, but the first target is the Mediterranean seafront section where Carthaginians bathed and frolicked through a history that began 880 BC.

After excavation machinery scoops off hundreds of tons of dirt, the final cleaning is taken over by hand. Laborers will lay bare the marble staircases, stone baths and other ruins of the once glorious capital of the powerful Carthaginian empire.

The archaeologists in charge the still without a definite plan for the ancient city, but they have located the main "downtown" section and the seafront resort area. They hope to have them on view by sometime in 1951.

Urges Britain Make Stronger Market Drive

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

What is everybody's business is nobody's business.

W. G. Abel, Canadian advertising executive who has spent most of the last 20 years close to British industry, and who has just returned from a four-months' visit to Britain, fears that the old saying may be applied with considerable force to current efforts to expand Anglo-Canadian trade.

People on both sides of the ocean, he states, talk authusiastically about expanding trade and the necessity for it, and many concrete steps are being taken. But he thinks something more is needed.

He thinks some British industries may be too defeatist regarding the possibilities of getting a permanent place in this market and that perhaps Canadians need to be told more forcibly of their own self-interest in the problem.

Suggests Revival

He envisages the possibility of a revival of the "Canada calling" campaign of the late '30s when Canadian goods were being pushed in Britain. It might be along the line:

"When you buy a British product you help Britain to buy from you."

Mr. Abel emphasized that only a relatively small switch in the direction of Canadian imports would go far to create the necessary British earnings here.

Mr. Abel, who as Col. Abel was director during the war of public relations, Canadian army overseas gave the following as two of the reasons for hesitancy by British firms in coming here.

First, in many cases it is easier to sell elsewhere at a bigger profit in sterling, even if it doesn't earn dollars for Britain. Secondly, some firms fear that if they do get into the North American market they will be driven out again by a jump in tariffs.

Perhaps the recent experience of one British firm which does not hold these views, is of interest. The firm is Tootal, Broadhurst, Lee Co., Ltd., textiles and men's haberdashery, which was the only British exhibitor at last week's Canadian Men's Apparel Fair in Toronto.

Their stand was among the busiest, and Donald McCallum, general sales manager in Canada, comments:

"If you give good goods, the right price and good delivery, this market will love you. What we had to show had an excellent reception, backed up by orders

"Those who prefer easier markets in other parts of the world are taking a short-term view. This is a market for long-term planning and can be tremendous. We hold it priority No. 1."

Marines, PCVS Victors In Provincial Cage Series

Tempers flared up Saturday night in the Collegiate gym as the Outboard Marines survived the first round of intermediate "A" OABA playdowns taking Broadview YMCA of Toronto 49-33. Doing so the Marines won the two-game series points to count 87-76. They lost in Toronto last week 43-38. The Outboards now play Hamilton Cycles who beat out Windsor recently. PCVS midgets best Regiopolis College 55-22.

Possibly the roughest basketball game in Peterborough since the war, players of both intermediate squads plowed into each other in a five-minute free-for-all in the last quarter. Dave Hardy, aggressive player for Broadview, was being sent from the game just before the brawl. Words passed between the players who were all on edge due to the closeness of the game. Ab Stewart and Hardy dove at each other and the fight was on.

For the next five minutes confusion reigned on the floor as players milled around with the odd player taking a punch at each other. Most of them were with the coaches trying to break up the wrestling basketball players. They rolled and thudded from one end of the gym to the other before finally separated.

Sat Back

Calmly sitting to one side were Referees Bill Zenner of Toronto and Bill Edger of Peterborough. Zenner quietly related a similar experience of his three years ago. He is one of the top basketball referees in Ontario.

Hardy was out of the game with five fouls before the fiasco but Ab Stewart received the heave-ho from Zenner. Lanky Marty Philp, who is in Pittsburgh Pirates baseball farm system, was ejected with a minute to go with five fouls and Gordie Burns just at the end of the game.

Four times in the mad, rough first half the score was tied, three-all, seven-all, 12-all and 14-all. The lead changed hands five times as the players checked extra close on both sides. The Marines intercepted passes time and time again only to have their rushes stopped by Skidmore and Philp. The first half score ended with the Marines up 19-15 in the game and one point down on the round. Not until three minutes had passed in the second did the Marines go up on the round by one point. The rough play resulted in foul shots followed by foul shots. Gradually the Marines went further ahead by 12 points. The Broadview "Y" whittled it to a seven-point lead. The Marines took over and ent the score up to 41-25. Then the fight started. In the remaining five minutes the Marines stalled to perfection keeping the ball inside the Broadview territory.

Led the Way

Pivot man Eddie Nicholls was high for the game with 14 points while Gordie Burns and Joe Stewart each had 10. Burns played a steady game on the defensive as well as starting plays up the floor. Ab Stewart checked close throughout as well as picking up seven points.

Marty Philp was tops for Broadview up 13 points while Art Skidmore had eight. Ernie Moores played good game both ways.

Joe started with a set shot. Moores' foul shot and D. Hardy's break-away basket sent Toronto ahead 3-2. Burns' foul shot tied the score. J. Stewart drifted in a basket followed by B. Hardy's foul shot. D. Hardy sent Toronto up on a long shot. Nicholls sent home a rebound, 7-6 Peterborough. Martin tied it on a foul shot. Burns broke it. Martin's hook shot, Skidmore's and Moores' foul shot put Toronto up 11-8. J. Stewart's basket and Nicholls' two foul shots put Peterborough up 12-11. D. Hardy tied the score on a foul shot. J. Stewart's basket broke it only to have Skidmore's long shot tie it, 14-all. Nicholls' foul try was good. Gillespie and Nicholls sent the locals up 19-14. B. Hardy ended the first with a foul, 19-15.

Fast Going

Philp open the second half with a set shot, Stewart and Burns sent the Marines up 23-17. Burns, a lifter, Ab Stewart, on a break-away, and Burns foul shot made it 28-17. Skidmore slipped in a foul shot. Smith drifted in a basket. Philp added three points and Skidmore a basket, 30-23. Smith, Burns, Nicholls and Ab Stewart made the score 39-23 for the Outboards. Skidmore added a Broadview basket followed by Smith's. Burns, Nicholls and J. Stewart added points after the fight. Philp slipped in a rebound, 46-27. Nicholls sank a foul shot. Philp whipped in two baskets. Nicholls another foul shot and Philp a basket. Nicholls ended with a foul shot.

Lineups:

Broadview YMCA—D. Hardy 5, Moores 2, Skidmore 8, Martin 3, Philp 13, B. Hardy 2, May, Bergin, Thorpe.

Outboard Marines — Dibben, Smith 6, Trimm, Plunkett, Nicholls 14, Griffin, Gillespie 2, Thorburn, Burns 10, J. Stewart 10, A. Stewart 7, Kidd.

PCVS Triumphs

Height paved the way for the PCVS Collegians Saturday as they smothered Regiopolis College midgets 55-22 in the first round of the Ontario Amateur Basketball Association playdowns. The second game of the points-to-count series will be played in Kingston, possibly next Friday night.

Even before the game the college boys were taken by the locals' height. The PCI'ers had a definite edge in this department. Regiopolis managed to take a lead midway through the first quarter 8-7 but only momentarily. PCVS' shooting improved while the college quintet were still off the strange baskets. The locals were sitting out in front at quarter 15-8.

In a close-checking, second quarter the PCI'ers checked and passed well in fast seesaw action and gradually added to the score 28-14 at the half. Regiopolis tried long shots which were off the target in the third and changed to a slower type of basketball to crack the PCVS zone defence. Meanwhile the PCI'ers added 14 points to the Regiopolis four.

Rolled It-Up

Everything went with the Collegians in the fourth as they continued to get rebounds, intercept passes and points. They met little opposition in drifting in 17 points to the College four.

On the whole the score should have been much closer as Regiopolis displayed smooth ball handling at times. The large Collegiate floor and the strange baskets with the height of Cuningham, Stewart, Boorman and Johnston contributed to their defeat.

Cuningham, the tallest man on the floor, played a standout game snaring rebounds at both ends as well as passes. He flipped in 18 points. B. Stewart was good for 14 points and Lionel Hempstead 10 points. Babe Martin had seven for Regiopolis.

Hempstead, the smallest man on the floor, about five-foot one, proved to be the most surprising factor on the Regiopolis squad. They had trouble with Larry Cuningham at first and concentrated on checking him. Hempstead then stepped in for points. His passes to Stewart and Cunningham were often point-laden passes.

How It Went

Hempstead opened with a foul shot which was followed by Martin's to tie the score. Stewart and Cunningham whipped in baskets to put PCVS up 5-1. DeLisle slipped in a 10-footer to have Stewart retaliate on a rebound. Manuel drafted in a long shot following with a foul shot. Martin's basket put Regiopolis up 8-7. Hempstead's hook shot made the score for PCVS 9-8. Boorman made a set shot followed by Cuningham's button hook and set shot to end the scoring at 15-8.

Johnston sank a rebound to start the second followed by Grafstein's foul shot. Comeau dropped in a corner shot to make it 18-10. Hempstead passed to Boorman in the clear for a basket only to have Francis return for a basket on a break. Hempstead again passed to Boorman for set shot score. Stewart drifted in a basket. Martin added a corner score. Cunningham and Hempstead finished the scoring at 28-14.

Cunningham from Stewart opened the third with Francis drifting in a long shot seconds later. Stewart sent in a long shot as did Martin. Grafstein sank a rebound. Cunningham and Stewart finished with baskets, 38-18. Hempstead's foul shot and Cuningham's set shot added three points in the fourth. Stewart, set up by Cunningham and Hempstead, tipped in a basket. Cunningham and Demoreuille made the score 45-20. Boorman, Hempstead and Cunningham added baskets. Ston scored for Regiopolis and Stewart ended with a long one-hander.

The lineups:

Regiopolis College — Martin 7, DeLisle 2, Wheeler, Manuel 3, Stone 2, Francis 4, Hogan, Demoreuille 2, Comeau 2.

PCVS — Hempstead 10, Fowler, Johnston 2, Stewart 14, Grafstein 3, Boorman 8, Cunningham 18.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Annual open meeting of the men's City Softball League is at 7.30 sharp tomorrow night in the YMCA, all interested being invited. This is the circuit which operates three nights a week with doubleheaders under the arcs each eve in the Ashburnham Bowl. They must figure spring is almost here—and it's just a week away officially. Prexy Pat Calladine last fall said he wouldn't run for office again, but the off-season sometimes changes minds. In any case, this session is to present reports, elect officers and make plans for the summer.

Tough luck for the IOOF juves, as they beat Toronto's husky Marlboros 7-6 before 600 fans here Saturday, but lost their OMHA juvenile "A" quarter-final round by a 10-7 count. Went down battling, and they deserve much credit for going so far and then doing so well against a powerful pack in the Leafian chain. We hear Marlies interested in Kenny Pammett. Frank Bonnello got four goals and had an assist for the Marlies, while all the young IOOF-ers did well as they fought to the final second. They presented Bill Andrews—who is a real IOOF friend gave a cup to the PMHA—with an autographed stick. A good bunch.

Those Walls Will Bulge

Civic Arena walls will stretch again at 8.30 tonight when Kingston Nylons and the Legionnaires square off in the sixth of their best-of-seven OHA senior "B" group finals. Legion are one up and could finish it with a win tonight. But we expect those speedy Nylons will give it the old desperation try to keep in the hunt, and they might just yank out the verdict. We don't expect that, but one never knows in playoffs. Legion certainly do not want another jaunt to Kingston on Wednesday and a tough fight on big ice, so they'll be scrapping from the start to get the win. Ought to be another swell playoff struggle.

* * * * * *

While there's plenty of fight in the Legion camp, win or lose the boys have great harmony. The mark of any winning club. No dissension at all, and the only guy who does any criticizing of plays or players is Coach Jim Ellis. That's his job. As a matter of fact, between periods or after a game, the various Legionnaires seem anxious to absolve other players when a goal is scored, putting the blame on themselves. "I didn't get back fast enough," a forward will say, or "I kept backing up instead of making him make his move at the blue line," a defenceman will admit—or maybe Goalie Ross Nicholls will pipe up: "I must have been looking at a blonde in the third row when that one went in!" Yeah, they have the right team spirit.

Cagers Gain OABA Wins

PCVS lads rolled to a 55-22 first-game cage win o'er Regipolis College of Kingston in OABA playdowns here Saturday, having the height and class. Cunningham had 18 points, Stewart 14 and Hempstead 10, the whole crew clicking nicely. In OABA intermediate "A" playdowns, Marines knocked off Toronto Broadview "Y" 87-76 on the round (being down five points from the first fray) in a hot contest at the Collegiate. It saw quite a battle near the finish after a rough game when Dave Hardy of Toronto and Ab Stewart went for each other, with some of the other players getting into it, too, for several minutes. Ed Nicholls got 14 points for Outboards, as Joe Stewart and Gord Burns had 10 each.

COBL was re-organized over the week-end at a Kingston meeting, teams in now being: Batawa, Brockville, Picton, Napanee and Kingston, with Smiths Falls a possibility. Surprisingly enough, Belleville did not make application. Neither did Oshawa nor Peterborough, but these two clubs expect to be in the Toronto Viaduct League this year. The scene is shifting and the old Central League is becoming more like an Eastern Loop now. Bob Nesbitt of Kingston was named president, Jack Devine of Belleville is vice-prexy, with Harry Radley of Kingston the secretary-treasurer. Next meeting will be April 2 in Kingston.

Juvenile IOOF Edged Out In OMHA Play

Juvenile Oddfellows defeated Marlboros 7-5 on Saturday night at Civic Arena in a grand wide-open hockey match, the return game of a home-and-home series between the clubs in the OMHA playdowns.

Referees Wakelin and Eberts handed out 19 penalties in the fast, rugged contest, 10 in the third, including a misconduct to Stoyan, giant defenceman, for talking, a major to Shearer for aggressive attack, and three minors to Tolton, who committed five sins in the affray. It was nip and tuck from the drop of the hat.

Took the Round

Thus by virtue of Friday's 4-0 win at Weston, Marlboros are winners of the round by a 10-7 margin, and will meet Kitchener next.

Art Heal's boys gave their best in a hard-fought series, not conceding defeat till the final whistle but Marlies' first game lead stood them in good stead as IOOF scored two within seven minutes of the first Saturday. The visitors held defensively well enough to protect most of their round margin.

Had An Edge

IOOF outscored the visitors 3-2 in the first on sweet goals by Ken Floyd and Pammett, assisted by Bus Jensen and Ferguson respectively. McIntosh got one back on a fast breakaway to give Batley no chance. Oddfellows continued to press hard in the second as play reached a fever pitch and the large crowd howled with delight. Two quick goals by Robinson and Jensen midway in the stanza further offset Frank Bonnell's first counter and again put the locals in there. Late in the period, however, F. Bonnello, who proved a thorn in the side of Oddfellows all night, scored two more to make it all square again.

Oddfellows' never-say-die spirit manifested itself again in the third as Armstrong on a high blazer from the right blue line edge and Collins from a close-in closed the gap some. At this point, Marlies scored on a lucky break as McIntosh slammed in a bad pass-out in front of Oddfellows' net. Shearer whipped a long one past Angus midway in the session, but Bonnello, who must be rated the outstanding star of the game, clicked again solo at 12:50 to wind it up.

Really Starred

Bonnello with four goals and one assist and a bang-up game at centre led Marlies' attack, while McIntosh with a pair and Taylor and Bonnell for excellent playmaking deserve mention. Pinkney, the Whites, and McCausland were also good with Stoyan, Jackson and Simmons solid on defence and Angers steady in the net.

Oddfellows outscored Marlies in two periods and generally outplayed them over the route, save for a short spell in the second, but the margin was not too great. All three lines for IOOF figured in the scoring, earning plaudits for their work all the way, while Armstrong and Shearer looked after scoring honors for the defence. Batley played a fine game in goal. Each man gave his best in a great show.

The teams:

Marlboros — Goal, Angers; defence, Jackson and Simmons; centre, Bonnello; wings, L. White and H. White; alternates, Bonnell Pinkney, Taylor, McCausland, McIntosh, Tolton, Stoyan.

Peterborough — Goal, Batley; defence, Armstrong and Bigford; centre, Pammett; wings, Buckston and Ferguson; alternates, Jensen, Floyd, Golaska, Robinson, Bacon, Collins, Kimball, Shearer.

Referees—Lloyd Eberts, Ralph Wakelin.

Austin Prexy Again Of Trent Ball Loop

HASTINGS, March 13 (ENS)—A meeting of the TV Softball League was held in the Council Chambers, Campbellford, to organize for the coming season, with representatives from Wooler, Stirling, Hastings, Warkworth and Campbellford.

Carl Austin, Wooler, last year's president, was in the chair and Barney McCall Trenton, secretary treasurer, gave his financial statement which was adopted. Austin and McCall were unanimously returned to office. It was decided that all entries must be in the hands of the secretary by April 1, and two representatives from each team will meet at Stirling Sunday, April 2, to consider the applications.

Dit Clapper attended the meeting and offered a trophy to the league, to be awarded each year to the player voted most valuable to his team.

President Austin thanked "Dit" and accepted the offer on behalf of the league.

More than $200,000 in purses will be offered at Toronto's Thorncliffe inaugural meeting which opens July 3 and continues through Aug. 19. The 42-night harness-racing meeting will be featured by the $15,000 Canadian cup for pacers.

This equals the largest purse ever offered for a horse race of any kind in Canada. It is open to all horses, Canadian and American.

The raceway's condition book lists 24 special stakes and handicaps, entries for which close on March 22. The association is posting a minimum purse of $500 for each heat during the meeting.

The Canadian cup, richest harness race in Canadian history, will be run off Aug. 9.

At Paris, Yvonne Sherman, United States and North American champion, won the women's event in the nations cup figure skating competition Saturday night. Another American skater, Sonya Klopfer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., received highest marks in the free skating to take second place in the final standing.

Marlene Smith of Niagara Falls, Ont., a member of Canada's team at last week's world championships in London, came third.

The crowd gave Marlene a big hand for her solid performance in the free skating, and booed the judges for not awarding the Canadian girl higher marks.

The University of Michigan turned back a stubborn University of Western Ontario hockey team 5-4 in an exhibition game Saturday night at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Centre Earl Keyes was the big gun for Michigan with three goals while freshman star Art Gabor paced the Mustangs with a pair of counters.

Outscoring St. Catharines Stars 20-4 in a brilliant third-quarter display, Windsor Westminsters took a decisive 49-32 decision on Saturday night at Toronto in the opening game of the Ontario Basketball Association Juvenile A semi-finals.

The return tilt in the total-point series will be played next Saturday in Windsor.

Everybody from dancers to tennis officials had no word to say Sunday about georgeous Gussie Moran's black tennis shorts which she wore Friday while winning Egypt's ladies' double championship at Cairo.

She didn't wear them Sunday when she won in the Egyptian mixed doubles, but a hopeful 6,000 fans turned out just in case. She didn't wear them Saturday either, when she annexed the singles crown.

"Gussie probably wore black shorts to show she's in mourning because she hasn't met any nice men here. Whatever she wears she's georgeous."

Lindsay Wins Opener

LINDSAY, March 13 (CP) — Lindsay Kinsmen won the first game of their best-of-five Junior C playoff series in the Ontario Hockey Association Saturday with a 7-2 verdict over Port Hope. Bob Lewis paced the winners with three goals. Orlin Crawford sank two and Dawson Kimble and John Burns got the others. Ken Medhurst and Bill Hesson scored for Port Hope.

WASTON GIVEN TOUGH TASK—Whipper Billy Watson, above, who has been given the job of taming Dr. Len Hall this Thursday night at the Brock. The doctor was in high spirits at getting a chance at Watson. "I haven't lost a bout since coming to Peterborough," the doctor said, "and Watson will be just the same as the rest of them." This is the most important match Hall has had and if he can hurdle the Whip there will be no holding him. Watson, on the other hand, has tamed the best of them and should add Hall to his long list of victims.

The semi-final event will bring together a newcomer, Roy McClarity against Hi Lee. The opener also has a newcomer, Ali The Turk hooking up with Tiger Tasker. Manager Jim Laidlaw has certainly come up with an all-star card for this Thursday's show.

RMC Team Edges West Point, Get No Penalties

KINGSTON, March 13 (CP)—Canada won an international hockey match Saturday night, but the 6-4 score was really of secondary importance.

The big achievement of the event was the sportsmanlike conduct of the cadets from Canada's Royal Military College and the United States' Royal Military Academy, West Point.

Keeping right to the gentlemanly tradition of the annual contest, the hard-hitting cadets played 60 minutes of clean, fast hockey without a sign of a high stick or a trip. And like the 18 earlier games between the colleges, the summary at the end of the game read: penalties-none.

Among the 1,700 spectators crowding Kingston's Jock Harty Arena to watch the contest were Defence Minister Brooke Claxton and Laurence Steinhardt, U. S. Ambassador. They had rink-side seats in the penalty box and each rooted for the other's team. Neither cared to place a wager on the outcome.

"We're not betting," said Mr. Steinhardt. "It wouldn't be cricket."

Breaks Streak

The annual contest, inaugurated in 1923, is alternated between the two colleges and serves as a common meeting ground for the cadets of the two countries. RMC's win Saturday broke a three-straight U. S. victory skein — the only games the U. S. cadets have won.

On arrival at Kingston Friday, the grey-capped Pointers were paired off with the dark-blue uniformed RMC cadets. They compared notes, drill and countries and marched smartly together across the college campus to watch Mr. Claxton preside at corner-stone ceremonies for a modern barrack block and administrative wing designed to meet a planned increase to 400 in RMC enrolment.

In laying the corner-stone, Mr. Claxton said Canada seeks not war but peace in her military schools.

Following the game, the ramrod stiffness of the Canadian station was relaxed as the grey and blue uniforms of the two countries mingled with formal gowns at a dance in the RMC gym.

Canadiens, Wings Take Two Weekend Tilts Each

By HARRY ECCLES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

The National Hockey League, driving towards the schedule close had its standing clarified considerably during the weekend, when the three top teams all went undefeated. Detroit and Montreal each won two, and Toronto had a victory and a tie.

New York clings to the fourth and last play-off position but their two losses cost them a chance to make mathematically certain of a Stanley Cup berth. At that they're 11 points ahead of Boston with only six games left.

Montreal Canadiens looked most impressive. They shut out Boston Bruins 5-0 Saturday, then walloped New York 5-1 Sunday. Detroit Red Wings walloped Chicago Black Hawks 5-2 Saturday and 4-2 Sunday. Toronto blanked New York 4-0 Saturday on veteran goalie Walter Turk Broda's ninth shut-out, but at Boston on Sunday Leafs were held to a 2-2 deadlock by the Bruins.

Detroit now leads with 80 points, Toronto has 70, Montreal 67 and New York 65.

Young Gerry McNeil, playing his fourth game in the Canadien goal since Bill Durnan was injured, turned in a spectacular game in the Montreal shut-out over Boston. Maurice Richard scored his 35th and 36th goals, with Elmer Lach, Cal MacKay and Billy Reay getting the others. A fight between Richard and Fern Flaman cost each a major and 10-minute misconduct.

Another great goal-tending performance was that of Broda. The 35-year-old veteran from Brandon never before got above eight shut-outs and that was during his second year in the NHL in 1937-38.

Goal-getters were Bill Ezinicki, Bill Barilko, Sid Smith and Ted Kennedy.

Wings had no trouble in the other Saturday night game as a crowd of 13,451 at Detroit saw the league leaders raise their goal total to 201 for the season. Gerry Couture, Joe Carveth Red Kelly, Gordon Howe and Sid Abel were the sharp-shooters, with Jim Conacher spoiling a shut-out for Harry Lumley.

At Boston Sunday Bruins came from behind to gain the deadlock with Maple Leafs. Max Bentley, the fleet little centre, scored the first Toronto goal while Fern Flaman was serving a tripping penalty, and Cal Gardner made it 2-0 in the second period. The last frame was only a minute old when Bill Quackenbush beat Broda on a low 50-foot smash and 42 seconds later Ed Kryzanowski got the tying counter on a low shot from a bad angle.

Mal Whitfield Sets Record At Hamilton

HAMILTON, March 13 (CP)—Mal Whitfield, a United States air force speedster, flashed around the 600-yard course to a Canadian record at the 91st running of the Highlanders invitation track meat here Saturday.

The Bay City, Tex., veteran, holder of the Olympic 800-metre title, cut a half-second off the old one minute and 13 second mark, in breaking the tape just a fraction of a second ahead of the University of Western Ontario's Bob McFarlane.

The Western University relay team, sparked by Don and Bob McFarlane, clicked for a record when they captured the Lt.-Col. Fred Wigle trophy in the one mile university relay event. The western runners came in ahead of McGill University of Montreal and McMaster of Hamilton in three minutes and 35.6 seconds compared to the old mark of three minutes, 37.5.

Jagger Tosses Wigs Away Has Own Glamor

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 13 (AP) —For sale: three or four toupees, used but in good condition.

The seller is Dean Jagger, who has carved a whole new career for himself by tossing away his hairpiece.

"It's wonderful not to wear the darned thing anymore," said the actor. "It was a lot of trouble to glue on and my head got hot underneath it.

"There was always the worry about whether it was on straight. I was always aking my wife 'does it look all right?'"

Jagger's emancipation from the toupee (or rug, as it is called in Hollywood) came through his role in "12 o'Clock High." He played the "retread" desk officer in the Air Force. One of the studio stipulations was that he had to do the part without his scalp doily.

Bald Glamor

His performance brought a new kind of glamor to the bald head. He won himself an academy nomination and is the leading contender to snag the oscar. He is currently combing film offers out of his h—oops, wrong expression.

"I have never been vain about wearing the toupee," he told me "but it has been necessary in my profession. Unfortunately, some people think you are an old fogey if you don't have a full head of hair."

The towering ex-basketballer now looks much younger than his 46 years. "But I was never the romantic type," he claimed. "Even when I was 20 and trying to play a 23-year-old in stock, I was laughed at. People thought I was much older."

Although he had abandoned his toupee, Jagger said he might return to them if future screen roles required it.

Carl-Tugger

Darryl Hickman is celebrating his 15th year in pictures while working in "Lightning Strikes Twice." he's 19.

The veteran of more than 100 pictures used to pull Shirley Temple's curls when both attended the studio school at Fox. Later he was a classmate of Jane Powell and Elizabeth Taylor at M. G. M. sound like fun?

"But I suppose my only claim to fame will be that I once pulled Shirley Temple's curls."

City Purchases Corner Spot City Hall Site

Purchase of the house and lot at 148 Murray St. from Miss Aileen Morgan for $6,000 was approved by the council at its special session Friday. It is part of the future city hall block. The house is on the northeast corner of George and Murray Sts. and is where the Morgan family resided for years when Miss Morgan's father the late Dr. J. A. Morgan practised medicine here.

The city is to receive possession by May 1, as recommended in the report of the special city hall site committee read by Ald. Hugh Waddell.

Ald. Waddell also presented the finance committee report which recommended payment of $2,243.48 to Carmen Paterno and Carmen Fisico, the two gardener tenants of the late John T. O'Connell at the time the city took possession of his south end block for a housing site.

T. J. Carley, K.C., who represented the city in the expropriation proceedings before Judge Smoke advised the council this sum was the expropriation award to the tenants, plus interest on the award, and the taxed solicitor's costs.

Paterno and Fisco had been using the property west of Park St. for market gardening. They said they had not been informed of the city's interest in the property for the second last project of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

When negotiations with the owner failed, the city instructed the Central Mortgage contractors, Reynolds Brothers, to put their machinery on the property and begin taking out cellars.

That was the first intimation to Fisico and Paterno of what was going on. Their young crop disappeared in the excavating.

Establish Foundation Fund To Memory of Violet Ryley

A memorial will be established to two of Canada's pioneers in dietetics, Violet M. Ryley formerly of Bethany and Kathleen Jeffs of Montreal, the Canadian Dietetic Association has announced. This was decided upon last year at the convention in Winnipeg and the organization has started a campaign amongst its 800 members to raise $25,000.00 through themselves, other professional workers and those interested.

The memorial will be in the form of a foundation fund to defray costs of a lecture open to the public to be given annually at the time of the Canadian Dietetic Association's convention by persons prominent in the field of nutrition.

Miss Ryley, who was born in Bethany, died a year ago. She was an honorary president of the C.D.A. She had become almost a legendary figure in the field of dietetics, in Canada and the United States. This was due in part to her outstanding success in the military hospitals following the first great war, and to her spectacular achievements in the field of commercial dietetics. She brought to the profession a wealth of attributes in character and personality and infectious enthusiasm.

During the second world war, Miss Jeffs who died in 1948 was the first woman entrusted with the responsibility of organizing food services for any of the armed forces. She held the rank of Wing Officer in the R.C.A.F. and was honoured for her distinguished services by being made a member of the Order of the British Empire. It is fitting that these two rare and remarkable persons should be associated in a memorial the primary purpose of which is to bring honour and wider recognition to their chosen profession.

Seven Liquor Cases Heard By Magistrate

Seven charges involving weekend drinking were disposed of by the police court today.

Pleading guilty to charges of being drunk and paying fines of $10 and costs were: Joseph Johnson, Buckhorn; Howard Charles, Sutton West; Clifford Oliver, 1039 High Street, and Louis Simpson, Brighton.

Eugene Porter, Port Hope, pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance by being drunk and annoying people at the Brock St Summer Gardens, and was fined $10 and costs.

Gerard Lucano, 511 Albert St., pleaded guilty to a charge of having liquor in a place other than his residence and was fined $10 and costs.

Charged with drunkenness, his third offence under the Liquor Control Act, Frank Johnston, South Monaghan, was remanded to Tuesday.

Council Takes Night Out For Hockey

Mayor Swanston said he had nothing of immediate worry today except an expected struggle of getting into the Arena tonight to see the Legion in action against Kingston.

Incidentally, the name Civic Arena has to be changed to Community Arena, conforming with the helpful statute of the Ontario government.

The government decided some time ago to assist towns and cities in providing recreational centres. Peterborough was one of them that took advantage of this financial aid and has been counting on receipt of $5,000 from the fund the government set aside for this purpose.

"Community" Arena

But, it turns out that the name on the front of the rink, Civic Arena, is not the prescribed form. So for the final detail of qualifying, the council has to change the name to Community Arena.

"I've seen only part of one game this winter," Mayor Swanston remarked to the Examiner, "and with nothing in the little black book for tonight, I'm going along with the rest of the crowd, and probably most of the council to see the team in action. I hope there will be no cause for suspecting that we're a jinx."

No Meeting

Ordinarily the council would have been meeting tonight in finance committee, board of works, or otherwise as committee of the whole. But, the special meeting Friday afternoon put the tax through in bylaw form, and it was suggested that the members had earned a chance to see the hockey match—providing they can get in.

"I suppose the next matters we have to deal with are the Park St. drain and the paving program for this season," His Worship said "Their bylaws have been given two readings, and before they can be passed there will have to be a hearing in the council chamber by the Ontario Municipal Board of any objections by ratepayers.

"We have not yet been informed of the date of the sitting, but it will be advertised so that the people who may be interested will have full opportunity of stating their case."

CLERGY SIT

The Anglican clergy of Peterborough will spend all day Wednesday in their church vestries to receive donations to the Anglican Church Extension Fund.

Four Concerts Scheduled In Next Season

A week after the last concert in this season's Community Concert program, the Association has chosen the 1950-51 program for which all memberships have already been sold.

Capacity of the Collegiate auditorium is 850 and because all tickets have been sold, future applicants will be placed on a waiting list, which already contains 13 names.

There will be four concerts next season and the types of programs have been chosen strictly in accordance with the wishes indicated by the 850 members who attended the Ferrier concert last week.

Quartet and Harpist

First choice of the membership was a male quartet and in answer to this request the executive has chosen The Revelers a quartet which has performed in nearly every State in the U.S. and also in Canada. Each member a soloist of repute in his own right, the quartet includes in its repetoire several arrangements specially written for it. The four sing to piano accompaniment.

Second choice of the membership resulted in a tie for harp and string ensemble. Last year both types of programs also tied second.

The executive has chosen, therefore, Mildred Dilling, recognized throughout this continent and Europe as a great harpist, and The Loewenguth String Ensemble. To fulfill the fourth request the executive chose David Lloyd, tenor.

Miss Dilling has played in all 48 United States, in Canada, Britain and other European countries, Mexico, Cuba and Hawaii.

Parisian Ensemble

Marisa Regules, an Argentine pianist, plays with the string quartet. The Loewenguth ensemble is from Paris and has a high reputation, not only across the Atlantic, but also in North and South America as great interpreters of chamber music.

Programs by this ensemble usually include piano solos, string-piano duos, complete string quartets and piano quintets.

David Lloyd, a favorite tenor of many music lovers, was born in Minneapolis. Among his activities the most outstanding are singing with the Boston symphony during its regular winter season and during the summer at Tanglewood he has been soloist in the works of Stravinsky, Liszt, Bach, Beethoven, Mozart, Mahler and Britten.

First concert will be given by Mildred Dilling, the harpist, in November. David Lloyd will appear in January, the Loewenguth string ensemble in February and the male voice quartet in April.

Breeders Hold Barn Meeting

Everett Brown, of Newcastle, was the winner of the men's section of the judging competition at the Holstein breeders' barn meeting Saturday afternoon at the farm of Stanley Wood on the Warsaw Road.

In second place was Clarence Mann, of Smith, one of the prominent Ayrshire breeders of the district, with Ed Bulmer third and Gordon Stalker fourth.

Winners in the women's class were: Mrs. Clarence Mann, Mrs. Clarence Coons, Mrs. Carman Seymour and Mrs. Henry Sharpe.

Don McCorquodale, a graduate of OAC, was first of the boys' group, with Archie Davidson second, Don Clarke third and Don Hutchinson.

Results in the girls' class were: Norma McConkey, Eleanor Bowles, Mary Jo Doris and Dpreen Bowles.

Ed. A. Summers, agricultural representative in Durham, was in charge of a demonstration of type and conformation, an objective discussion that was a feature of the meeting.

Roy Ormiston, Holstein fieldman, was in charge of the judging competitions, and F. C. Paterson and R. E. Bell of the Peterborough departmental staff assisted in the program.

Mr. Woods' herd and barn were in excellent condition for this winter time affair which was attended by about 110 men and women.

Pair Arrested For Break-In Few Hours After Event Evidence Showed Inside Job

A young woman and a young man have been arrested by city police in connection with a break in and theft of more than $308 from the Parkway restaurant at McDonnel and Park streets early today. The woman, Evelyn Collins, 23, a waitress in the restaurant, was arrested about 9.30 a.m. just seven hours after the theft was believed to have taken place. Detective Sergeant W. A. Clarke and Detective Sergeant John Stevenson said the girl confessed to the crime and her alleged accomplice, Adolph Caravaggio, 22, 495 Albert St., was arrested a few hours later by Detective Sergeant Stevenson.

The money was recovered from the eaves of a shed at Caravaggio's home.

Detective Sergeant Clarke said that as soon as he investigated it he saw the break-in was obviously an inside job.

An attempt had been made by damaging a rear door to make it appear entry had been gained through it. But a bolt on the door leading from the rear shed in which the money had been hidden had been drawn back from the restaurant side and was undamaged.

House Bought For Minister

The house of David J. Hall on the northwest corner of Benson and Aberdeen Aves. in the north end of the city has been purchased by the congregation of Murray Street Baptist Church. The house will be used as a parsonage for the minister.

The present parsonage on Water St. north of Murray St. has been sold to the city, as it is located on the site of the new city hall. The city takes possession on May 1.

The northend home is one of the most desirable sites in that section of the city and is situated on two lots on Benson Ave. with a third lot to the rear on Aberdeen Ave. giving a depth of 165 feet. The house was built some 20 years ago by A. S. Zavitz, former mathematics master at the Collegiate. He sold it when he retired to Mr. Hall.

Parked Car Hit 4 Times

Having a parked car hit four times in one morning must be some sort of a record and if it is, Richard J. Ward, 137 London St., can claim it.

Ward had his car parked on the north side of Edinburgh near George St. Saturday morning. Because of the slippery street, four cars skidded into it, but only two of them were reported to police.

John McIlwain, 535 King George St., driving west on Edinburgh St., tried to manoeuvre between the Ward car and another car parked on the opposite side of the street. He hit the right rear fender, denting it and damaging the gas tank pipe of the Ward car.

About two hours later, at 10.40 a.m., Victor F. Amyotte, 130 Park St., had no more luck driving east on Edinburgh St. His car skidded sideways, hitting the Ward car and tore a hole in the panel above the right rear fender.

It is not known who the drivers of the other two cars which tangled with Ward's car were.

Traffic Officer Claire McGillen investigated both reported accidents.

C.A.S. ANNUAL

The Children's Aid Society annual meeting will be held May 2 at the YMCA at 6.30 p.m. R. E. G. Davis, executive director of the Canadian Welfare Council will visit Peterborough from Ottawa to address the meeting.

Young Swimmer Came Second Ontario Finals

John Boorman placed second in the Ontario Championship final for the 40-yard free style in Toronto West End YMCA pool Saturday night. Swimming for the Peterborough YMCA Swimming Club Boorman ripped through the water in the first heat in 22 seconds, the fastest time recorded for that event, the 40-yard free style for boys under 14 years.

In the 40-yard back stroke final heat for championship Boorman placed third while Scott Pearton, club-mate, pulled in fourth. Jim Heffernan was second in the 40-yard breast stroke final for boys under 14 years but was disqualified for a faulty turn.

The swimming club's relay team won their heat in a time which would have won the championship but it was disqualified. One of the swimmers was using a faulty kick in the breast stroke.

Other swimmers competing in the championship events were Ross Dobbin, John Mason, Terry Reid, Alec Bantie, Bob Malby, and Wilton Tranter. The boys were accompanied by Coach Gord Minty. Gordon Dobbin and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mason.

The club will be competing in four swimming meets in the next month. This week-end the boys will compete with the girls from the YWCA as part of the swimming show at the YMCA. On March 25 they will enter the Ontario championship events in Toronto. March 29, YMCA championships in London, and April 15, Ontario championships in the local YMCA pool.

21st Anniversary Celebrated Mark St. Church

The 21st anniversary of Mark St. United Church was celebrated Sunday and an anniversary social evening and dinner are taking place this evening.

Although the 79th anniversary of the congregation, 1950 marks the 21st anniversary of the present church building and is also the coming-of-age of the United Church of Canada.

Before the new church was built on the corner of Mark and Hunter Sts. 21 years ago, the congregation met at a building on Mark St. south of Hunter.

Guest speaker at the morning service was the Rev. Donald C. Amos, B.A., of Bridge St. Church, Belleville, and John Moore, of Reaboro, was guest soloist.

At the evening service the Rev. S. R. Henderson, B.A., B.D., of Trinity Church, Bowmanville, preached a sermon. Mr. Moore was also soloist at this service.

FIRE AT CIVIC LAUNDRY

Cleaning of the boiler in the laundry of the Civic Hospital caused sparks to ignite between the flooring, today, at 9:30 a.m. The fire department rushed several fire-fighting vehicles to the scene as a safety measure but hoses from one pumping unit were all that was necessary to douse the smouldering wood. When asked to estimate the damage extent, Fire Chief George Smith said it was negligible.

LondonCollections Review Fashions

The collections recently shown by the important Incorporated Society of London Fashion Designers reveal more than an effort to keep their clients in a good temper, for waists have not moved, skirts are the same length and the majority of styles are eminently wearable. The designers are playing with the idea of a "1920 straight line", with lower hips and shorter skirts. All the same, as fashion history only seems to repeat itself, women are not likely to be presented with exact duplicates of the appallingly ugly fashions of 25 years ago.

It is true that every other mannequin wore her hair in a modern edition of the shingle over which was crammed a little skull cap or other modern variant of the cloche, but several others had defiantly left their hair long and coiled it into buns at the nape of their necks. Today a woman still regards pictures of her mother wearing the fashions of 1925 with a great deal of derisive amusement.

Although we have forgotten the fact, the styles of the '20's represented the first fling of women freed from the tyranny of long shirts. Our skirts now have been short enough for long enough to give women a feeling of security

Fashion Experts Sharply Split On Spring Styles

By FLORENCE MILLS

PARIS, March 13 — (AP) — French fashion makers are sharply split on the question whether women should conceal their calves this spring.

Half of them have designed short-skirted models that flatten the bust and hips and often abolish the waistline.

The other half offer creations that make the most of the feminine contour, emphasizing the bust and hips, minimizing the waist and generally indulging in such feminities as fussy sleeves and revealing necklines.

There are, of course, some designers who effect a compromise by showing a mixture of both.

The leader in the figure-flattering group is Jacques Fath, who creates for the "bright young things" in French Society as well as for the mass market in the United States and Canada.

Severe Styles

This Spring he goes in for severe looking styles that put the accent on a straight-line narrow silhouette. It is made mannish by the use of high, starched white wing collars, bow ties, satin stocks complete with pearl stickpins and studded shirts.

His skirts are extremely short and tight—unflattering to anyone whose hips tend to bulge. The jackets worn with them are waistless middy blouse or windbreaker style.

Christian Dior also favors these extremely simple styles, but he makes them more feminine with extra-low-cut necklines instead of adding to their severity with stiff collars and bow ties.

Molyneux, on the whole, shows full-skirted dresses with a well-indented waistline but he indulges in a few straight dresses with long Chinese style tunics loosely belted below the waist.

On the other side of the picture are such designers as Marcel Rochas, Balenciaga, Robert Piguet and Chiaparelli.

They play up the feminine figure, making it shapely with flowing, full skirts. When they use slim skirts they are usually coupled with jackets that are shaped or belted to fit the waist in such a way as to give a rounded look to the hips.

Even the hair styles shown by the two groups are different. Most of the models wearing the feminine looking clothes had long hair worn upswept or in a chignon on the nape of the neck. Those wearing the straight-lined models had their hair cropped or short-bobbed.

Peeping Pantaloons Appear Latest Style Craze In Paris

By FLORENCE MILLS.

PARIS, March 13 — (AP). — Peeping pantaloons instead of peeping petticoats are the latest craze in Paris.

Famous French designers have produced such a variety of them this spring that any woman who wants to can "wear the pants" at any time of the day or night.

There are long ones in satin and taffeta for lounging and hostess duty; knee pants in linen and flannel for travel and town wear; afternoon dresses in chiffon and silk with calf-length pantaloons beneath their ample skirts, and above all, a great assortment of be-pantalooned evening dresses.

Some of the pants can be seen only when the skirt of the dress swings out at a certain angle. These are the ones that come with chiffon or taffeta afternoon or cocktail dresses. Others are blatantly obvious through lace dresses which have no underslips.

Spanish Designer's Idea

Balenciaga, the Spanish designer who started the flying panel vogue, is the main exponent of the new pantaloon style. He shows dresses in figured green taffeta and chiffon with pantaloons of the same material, or ecru lace, beneath tiered, petal skirts.

These look discreet compared to cocktail numbers in fine cobweb black lace, transparent enough to reveal clearly the frilly lace or taffeta pantaloons worn with them.

Balanciaga's boudoir pants include one pair in white satin with legs that taper into a three-button fastening at the ankles. These are worn with a magnificent full-skirted hostess gown in striped faille.

Pants created for sports, travel and town wear are shown by Pierre Balmain, but there is nothing fluffy looking about them. His tailored trousers terminate just below the knee and are camouflaged with straight wrap-over panels.

The most daring pants are shown by Jean Patou who does not attempt to camouflage them with skirts. He uses colorful striped linen for a pair that look like tight-fitting drainpipe trousers lopped off a little below the knee. E?EUviM A knee. The bodice is strapless and molded into an hour-glass waistline.

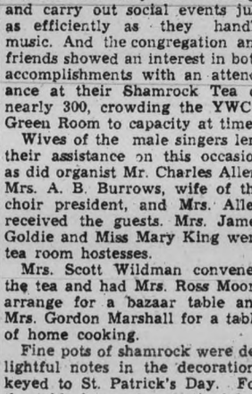
George St. Church Choir Stages "Shamrock Tea"

The George St. Church choir members proved on Saturday afternoon that they can arrange and carry out social events just as efficiently as they handle music. And the congregation and friends showed an interest in both accomplishments with an attendance at their Shamrock Tea of nearly 300, crowding the YWCA Green Room to capacity at times.

Wives of the male singers lent their assistance on this occasion as did organist Mr. Charles Allen. Mrs. A. B. Burrows, wife of the choir president, and Mrs. Allen received the guests. Mrs. James Goldie and Miss Mary King were tea room hostesses.

Mrs. Scott Wildman convened the tea and had Mrs. Ross Moore arrange for a bazaar table and Mrs. Gordon Marshall for a table of home cooking.

Fine pots of shamrock were delightful notes in the decorations keyed to St. Patrick's Day. For the table bouquet carnations had beend dyed a bright Paddy green and they were arranged in a crystal dish with large white double tulips. The flanking rows of tapers in matching green shade were set in triple silver holders. In the other clef, springtime yellow daffodils with trailing ivy were chosen for a mantel bouquet.



A background of soft music throughout the tea hours was effectively produced by Misses Eleanor McGee and Mary McBride.

Pouring tea, in turn during the afternoon, were Mrs. Jas. Semple Mrs. J. R. R. Cooper, Mrs. R. S. Chenoweth and Mrs. Wm. Hamilton, and serving were Mrs. Stuart Saunders, Miss Elsie Crawford, Miss Hazel Martin. Mrs. Sam Castle, Mrs. Jim Weaver, Mrs. Jack Telford, Mrs. Gordon Marshall, Miss Betty Scollard, Mrs. Tod Willcox, Mrs. Richard Beck, and Miss Mary Trotter. The plates were being replenished by Mrs. Shepherd, Mrs. M. McIntyre, Mrs. R. Reynolds and Mrs. W B. Lang

Long tables which held the articles for sale were attractively skirted with green on white and big green shamrocks were scattered over the tops. There was ample evidence of some expert hand-workers in this group in the dainty babies' things, household novelties, women's aprons, childrens' sunsuits with matching bonnets and daintily smocked dresses for little girls. Low prices were set on these things, so heavy purchasing cut the choice to a minimum for late-comers. The saleladies assisting Mrs. Moore were Mrs. Doug Burrows and Mrs D Bain.

Seven angel food cake were in the large stock of home cooking that was contributed. The display appeared most attractive for the opening but it was soon riddled by buyers who cleared the table completely within an hour. Attending the table with Mrs. Marshall were Mrs. C. McBride, Miss Ethel Robson, Miss Marion Brown and Mrs. Joseph Stenton.

Mrs. S. McKenzie was taking tickets and admission fees and she expects her report will show the tea was most successful, financially. There will also be benefits of a social character that were not gained in the concerts previously given by the choir. It was decided to hold a tea this year since many of the singers were taking part in other musical productions.

NOTE THE EXITS IN CASE OF FIRE

The primitive urge for self-preservation has caused many a tragedy. Perhaps the greatest cause of panic is the cry of "Fire". When you are in a theatre or other public building, make a mental note of the nearest exit. If an emergency arises, walk, do not run, to that door. Sound, sensible thinking and acting during the early moments of a crisis will do much to avert loss of life. Any act for the common good is surely proof of "Good Citizenship".

DOROTHY DIX

Husband Complains Wife Takes Abuse From Children

DEAR MISS DIX: I am the father of four girl children whose ages are 12, 11, 6 and 3. Abroad they behave like little ladies. At home, they are impudent imps who do nothing but insult their mother and myself and keep us in a turmoil. Their mother is working herself to death to keep them looking nice and give them all the advantages we can afford, and in return she receives this abuse. I stand it as long as I can, and immediately I have mother to battle with, too. She blames me for butting in. As a consequence I have no authority over the children and they have no respect for me. The mother blames me and, of course, I blame her for this condition, and the arguments about it are slowly but surely driving me from home. In fact, I should have gone before except on account of the smaller children. Can anything be done to correct this condition?

THE BILL-PAYER.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Nothing, unless you can bring your wife to see the error of her ways and make her realize that she is wrecking her home, alienating her husband from her, and bringing up children who will be a curse to her and to themselves.

Only Miracle Can Help

And nothing short of a miracle from on high can open the eyes of a woman who is blinded with mother love. She is besotted with her infatuation. She is an idolater who is joined to her gods, and nothing that you can do or say will make her face the truth and perceive what an unforgivable sin she is committing.

Personally, I never have a tear to shed over the old mothers who have ungrateful children. If ever in the world there is an individual who gets what is coming to them, she does. For her children are what she made them, and if she taught them to despise and abuse her and treat her with less tenderness than they would a dog, she is simply reaping the harvest she sowed. It isn't luck how your children treat you. It is relentless cause and effect.

And the pity of it is that the father has also to pay for the mother's folly, because she nullifies his every effort to control the children. And there is nothing he can do about it because their mother makes them think that he is persecuting them whenever he tries to discipline them.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Will you please write something about men who go with girls for years, taking up all of their time, professing their love continually, but never saying a word about marriage.

I have been going with a man for four years. I love him dearly, enough to give up all of my friends for him, and he loves me, too, because if I as much as speak to another man he gets terribly jealous. Yet with all of this he never mentions marriage. It isn't fair.

ANSWER: It certainly isn't fair to the girl, but why does the girl permit him to treat her that way?

The woods are full of these heart thieves. One of them will pick out a pretty and attractive girl with whom he is proud to be seen and who is a jolly and interesting companion. He enjoys a little lovemaking that leads to nothing and so he proceeds to monopolize the young woman's company, and to win her affections. He hasn't the slightest idea of burdening himself with a wife or of supporting a family, so he never pops the question. Time goes on and he drives away every other suitor and then, when the girl begins to look worn out with watchful waiting, he leaves her for some one younger and fresher.

All very hard on the girl, but she doesn't have to stand it, and, if she had had a grain of gumption, she wouldn't. A year is long enough time for any man to dilly-dally. If by the end of that time he hasn't asked her to marry him, he is never going to, and the sooner she gives him the air, the better.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have been married fifteen years to a devoted husband. Lately several women have called me up on the telephone and told me that my husband was unfaithful to me. I don't see how this would be possible as he is always with me when he is not at work. Should I tell him about it or let the matter drop?

JOYCE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Let the matter drop unless it is worrying you. If it is on your mind, tell him about it and who the cats are who are trying to make trouble between you. Any woman who would try to rouse a wife's jealousy is so unprincipled that she is perfectly capable of making up the stories she tells.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

Question: I noticed in the paper your Lenten meals and intend to follow them. My husband was recently told to go on a diet as he weighs 235 lbs. He has been given pills by the family doctor. He has given up all starches and sugars, in fact has reduced his food intake about one-half, but after three weeks, finds he has has not even lost one pound although has not gained any either

He works in a factory so that makes his lunches quite a problem.

I sure would appreciate any suggestions you could give me. I would also like to have your calorie chart. I am afraid that he will soon go back to eating all he wants if he does not soon get some results. Thanking you, Mrs. Robert P.

✧ ✧ ✧

Answer: I am writing a letter directly to your husband — with your kind permission—to tell him of an experience similar to his that I had—I starved myself for days without losing an ounce and one bright morning stepped on the scales to find I'd lost 3 pounds It certainly requires a strong-minded person to make this reducing routine work.

Now this lunch you pack for your husband must be planned with great care. He has to feel like working and 235 lbs. of man requires a lot of nourishment. Tell him to think of it as a long range program.

Carried Lunch For Reducing Factory Worker

Sandwich of whole wheat bread with mayonnaise and no butter, one thick slice meat with no fat, spread with French mustard and covered with a thick leaf of lettuce (2 slices bread only); 8 ounces skim milk or half pint milk with one inch cream tipped off top; one orange; one apple; 1 cup tea with milk—no sugar.

At 3:30 p.m. this reducer will be hungry again and should have an 8-oz. glass tomato juice and an unbuttered rye krisp wafer or an apple and a rye wafer. He should not wait until he is so hungry he will eat anything—he should have this at 3:30. This will tide him over until his dinner or supper if he drinks plenty of water.

Follow the above pattern for lunches using only 2 slices whole wheat bread and giving the lunch bulk with fruit—fresh fruit of any kind including bananas—and emphasizing the fact that he must have milk. The meat could be replaced with whole hard cooked egg chopped with mayonnaise and a few scrapings of onion, plus lettuce; or cheese if he likes it, or salmon,—but never stint on these fillings—make them ½-inch thick. Look for my letter to you and the calorie chart.

✧ ✧ ✧

Question: . . I woud be interested to know why you do not recommend the canned orange juice as mentioned in your last note in tonight's article? . Mrs. V. E. G.

✧ ✧ ✧

Answer: Please do not misunderstand me. I think canned orange juice is a wonderful product. BUT when reducers must have maximum nourishment from a minimum intake they must get every grain of nourishment food affords. Freshly squeezed orange juice, or a freshly cut whole orange has more vitamines than processed orange juice could have, because it has been exposed to air before it is canned and that releases some of its precious Vitamin C. When you plan to eat an orange or drink orange juice, cut it or cut it and squeeze it just before eating. The longer the cut surfaces are exposed to air the more vitamin loss there is.

Would Mrs. V. E. G. kindly send me her address so that I may mail her the calorie chart she asked for? A stamped self-addressed envelope would be appreciated too

✧ ✧ ✧

Question: I have always been interested in your column although this is the first time I have written to you,

Being of the thrifty nature, I like to make use of everything. Some years ago you published a soap recipe. I had always managed to use up bacon and chicken fat but never know much what to do with drippings and suet. So, when soap got scarce, I learned how to make soap with the help of your recipe. It turns out wonderful and I like it even better than bought soap. It is one of my pet economies now. But I do a step further. I save all the big bones after they have boiled white and dry and in the pressure cooker I put them in a barrel in the basement and on a cold spring day my husband cleans the furnace good and he burns those bones along with some wood. He saves the ashes and uses them on the garden; it is wonderful. He certainly has marvelous results with just a backyard garden.

I was interested in the fish recipes you published recently and would like to see more printed My doctor wants me to lose a few pounds, so your reducing diet has come in just in time. Please send calorie chart. Best wishes Irene N

✧ ✧ ✧

Answer: I printed this letter in detail because there may be some readers who would like to know how Irene N.'s husband treats the bones to make garden fertilizer It is a revelation to me. I have sent the calorie chart by mail.

St. Patrick's Party Menu Designed For Teenagers

By MARY MOORE

We were scouting around for ideas for St. Patrick's Day party food but when we had the menu arranged the Easter examination schedule came out and they were too close for comfort

So this is the St. Patrick's party menu we would have had if the Easter examns. had not been crowding us. It is designed for teen-agers but would easily adapt to youngsters or oldsters.

St. Patrick's Party Menu

(If you plan to serve a simpler meal than I have outlined just eliminate things like the grapefruit and cocktail sausages.)

Grapefruit Halves with Mint or Green Cherry Slices between sections.
Baked Cocktail Sausages on Green Toothpicks
Broiled Cheese Dreams with Bacon Topping
Clover Leaf Rolls Buttered
Green Celery Hearts
Green Olives
Sliced Green Peppers Stuffed with Baumart Cheese
Mint Sherbet or Ice Cream
Green Frosted Cookies
Or Green or Lime Jelly
Green Mint Wafers
Green Lemonade or Limeade

You see from that that you can have a big or little party and pick and choose the kind of thing that appeals to your manner of entertaining.

If you intend to serve a dinner you could have Irish Stew and Baked Potatoes in their jackets There is also the idea of buying green-tinted bread for sandwiches —but I do not think it is very pleasant to eat green bread, do you?

Directions

The cocktail sausages are popular little morsels, and can be baked on the green toothpicks if you impale them deeply beforehand and turn the toothpicks to the outside of a round baking dish like a pie plate. This way they do not singe so much as they do if they get too close to the broiler

Cheese Dreams, as you know, are merely 1 or 1½-inch cubes of fresh white bread spread with softened cheese on 5 sides; top these with 1-inch square side bacon, and place under very hot broiler to cook bacon and melt cheese, and heat the whole thing through.

The clover leaf rolls can be made from refrigerator roll dough-putting 3 little balls in buttered muffin tins, letting rise and baking in very hot oven.

An hors d'oeuvres plate could be made very pretty with the 3 green things I've suggested: carefully prepare the green pepper by washing, drying, slicing off top, scooping out seeds and ribs and stuffing with Baumert or Philadelphia cheese. Chill until hard. With very sharp knife cut into ¼-inch slices. These have to be eaten with a fork.

If you serve Sherbet or Ice Cream buy it from the drug store or order it from your milkman. If you make a jelly here is a recipe:

Lime Grapefruit Salad

One 20-oz. tin canned grapefruit sections, 1 cup boiling water, 1 package lime-flavoured jelly dessert, ½ cup sliced stuffed olives, inner lettuce leaves or endive, French dressing or mayonnaise; and addition of an avocado pear is delicious. Stir the package of lime jelly into the boiling water until dissolved. Add the grapefruit syrup—if it is not more than ⅞ cup; chill until it begins to congeal. Add the drained grapefruit section and sliced olives and pour into individaul moulds to chill—apportioning the grapefruit with slices evenly. When set unmould on delicate salad greens garnished with slices of avocado and pass mayonnaise or French dressing. (This is today's best recipe.)

What's Right

You meet a girl you would like to date.

WRONG WAY: Say, "What are the chances of getting a date with you sometime?"

RIGHT WAY: Ask her for a date for a particular evening.

Directions

To make the Salmon Mushroom Casserole melt 1 tablespoon butter in baking dish. Flake 3 or 4 cups salmon (to serve 6) and spread half of it in baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and scatter slices from 1 onion over; add remaining salmon and same quantity of onion rings and pour over 1 can condensed mushroom soup diluted with half can of water. Bake at 400 deg Fahr. 20 minutes.

French Pear Pie, I think, is an ideal way to use canned pears that show a tendency not to be taken down from the shelves as fast as some of the more popular canned fruit. Mix 4 cups sliced canned pears with 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/3 cup sugar OR corn-syrup, ½ teaspoon ginger, 2 tablespoons flour and place in unbaked pie shell. Cover with crumb mixture of 1/3 cup margarine or butter, 1/3 or ½ cup brown sugar, and 1 cup flour Bake at 375 deg Fahr. 45 minutes. NOTE: Fresh pears are better when in season

Tribe Boycotts British Meeting

SEROWE, Bechuanaland, March 13 (AP)—British High Commissioner Sir Evelyn Baring is scheduled to tell the Bamangwato tribe today that their chief won't be home for five years.

It's a question, though, who is going to hear his announcement.

The tribal chieftain-designate, Seretse Khama, touched off widespread controversy when he married a white English girl, Ruth Williams. The British government recently announced he would not be permitted to return to his capital here for five years.

Sir Evelyn called a tribal meeting for today to give tribal leaders official notification of the British action. A tribal spokesman said Sunday the Bamangwato's elders would boycott the Kgotla. They could not attend such a meeting, he said, in the absence of their chief, Seretse.

Government officials said the Kgotla would be held on schedule despite the boycott.

In London Sunday Seretse collapsed while addressing a meeting of his supporters. A glass of water and a few minutes rest revived him. The meeting voted to petition the king against the government's action.

First N-Y Club Elects Officers

Scott Pearton was elected president of Peterborough's first N-Y Club (Neighborhood-YMCA Club) at its organization meeting recently at Grove School. Other officers elected were: Carl Simmons, vice-president; John Chesney, secretary; Douglas Saunders, treasurer. Club leader, James Cocker, presided over the meeting.

A program committee was set up under the chairmanship of Vern Hamilton with Bob Dreury and Jim Brown. They will present a suggested program for the coming week at the next meeting.

An age grouping of 12 to 15 years was set by the boys for future members of the club. A club name and crest will be selected at the next meeting.

Several community service projects were suggested and the general feeling was that the boys will be able to be an asset to their neighborhood.

Boys present at the meeting were: Rickey Lindsay, Ken Little, Jack Bailey, Roy Wood, Scott Pearton, Carl Simmons, Fred Davies, John Chestney, Douglas Saunders, Art Little, Gary Corner, Verne Hamilton, Bob Druery, Jim Brown. Joseph Barnard, principal of Grove School, and Donald Duncan, boys' work secretary at the YMCA, assisted Mr. Cocker at the meeting.

Stalin Ready To Talk Peace

MOSCOW, March 13 (Reuters)—Foreign observers here today suggested that Prime Minister Stalin might be willing to meet President Truman for "peace talks" in Europe.

They attached significance to a recent statement by Politburo member Georghi Maleknov expressing Soviet readiness to take part in an "honest world peace parley."

They considered the statement suggested Stalin might be willing to meet Truman, and were of the opinion that such high level talks would not exclude British participation—on the line suggested by Winston Churchill in his pre-election statement.

The foreign observers' views on the possibility of a Stalin-Truman meeting were strengthened by editorial comment in the Communist party newspaper Pravda accompanying a reprint of an article published in the Communist Daily Worker of London last Friday.

Campbellford Streets Total Eighteen Miles

CAMPBELLFORD, March 13.—(ENS).—The pamphlet on Campbellford compiled by J. C. Birmingham, town engineer, states the 75 streets of Campbellford comprise a total length of 18.43 miles. There are 8.75 miles of sewage piping, nine miles of watermains, 14.62 miles of sidewalk, 4.5 miles of paved streets, 13.9 miles of macadamized streets, 95 hydrants. Out of a total acreage of 1,000, 600 acres of the town are assessed for taxes.

There are 160 business establishments, five doctors, three dentists, three veterinaries, two lawyers, two accountants and two opticians.

Campbellford has nine churches, three nursing homes, seven recreation establishments, 14 societies and associations, a library, High school, Public school, Separate school, Memorial hospital under construction and a women's hospital.

The town is serviced by one railway, three bus lines and a freight service.

Has 106th Birthday

SUTTON, March 13—(CP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Alexander of nearby Brown Hill is 106 today. She has 25 grandchildren, 40 great-grandchildren and 25 great-great-grandchildren. She received well-wishers Sunday and proudly displayed a message of congratulations from the Ontario government.

Courtroom Courtesy

TORONTO, March 13—(CP)—Courtesy in the courtroom is most desirable, if only for the reason that conduct otherwise might not work to the advantage of a lawyer and his client, said Fred G. MacKay, Owen Sound barrister, at the Ontario sectional meeting of the Canadian Bar Association here Saturday night.

Unload Ship's Cargo To Investigate Damage

PORT COLBORNE, March 13 (CP)—The freighter Bayton, of Colonial Steamships Ltd., shipped considerable water at her winter berth Thursday night when an overboard discharge connection broke. She will be moved today to the National Harbors Board elevator in the outer harbor for examination and unloading of her cargo of 245,000 bushels of wheat.

The Bayton settled four feet in the water before pumps checked the rise of water in her ballast tank and No. 1 hold. Extent of damage to the ship will not be known until unloading gets under way.

Local Volleyballers Lose In Playdowns

Peterborough YMCA volleyball team bowed out of the Eastern Ontario Senior volleyball playdowns Saturday in Toronto. They lost the first two games of the round-robin series 15-1 and 15-10 to Toronto Central YMCA and rallied against Toronto YMHA for two victories, 15-13 and 15-10.

The final standing of the volleyball play has Toronto Central YMCA first, undefeated, with Peterborough second with four defeats and Toronto YMHA last. Toronto Central will now play off with the winner of the Hamilton-Kitchener-Brantford-London series for the Ontario championship.

In the Peterborough lineups Saturday were: Clifford Cadd, Nelson Stanger, Donald McTavish, Errol Hanbidge, Howard David, Kenneth Kingston, James Gillespie, and Stanley Payne. The squad was coached by Al Clark, physical director of the YMCA.

Mark St. Peewees Win

St. John's Church peewees trounced Mark St. Church peewees 16-0 in the opening game of the Indoor Floor Hockey League Friday night. In the other peewee tilt St. James Church whitewashed All Saints 8-0. In the bantam fixture the Salvation Army boys duplicated the second peewee score, taking Mark St. 8-0.

Both Communists, Chiang On Way Out Li Predicts

NEW YORK, March 13 (AP)—The Chinese people are going to riseup soon and overthrow not only the Communists, but the Chiang Kai-shek regime as well, deposed President Li Tsung-jen declared Saturday.

"The Chinese Communists were able to come to power, not because of the merit of Communism, but because the regime of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was rotten to the core," Li said in an interview.

"The Generalissimo is hoping for a third world war to save him. The last world war saved him from the Japanese and now he is hoping for a war between Russia and the United States so that he will be saved from the Communists."

The small, sickly man the generalissimo tossed out of office the week before last simply by announcing he was "resuming the presidency" says reports of Chinese guerilla uprisings in China are "according to plan."

"A few weeks ago," Li said through his interpreter, Dr. J. H. Kan, "I messaged a very loyal and very able supporter, General Chang Fa Kwei, to set off underground activities in Canton."

Guerillas Meet

Li said General Chang Fa Kwei, former commander of field headquarters in the Canton sector, messaged him March 6, the day after Chiang Kai-shek assumed power on Formosa, "that he had met with several hundred guerrilla leaders in Hong Kong and at another meeting in Macoa, a Portuguese colony near Canton."

"There is panic among the Communists," Li said, "because Chang Fa Kwei and his men are following our plans."

Communism found sympathizers in China because of Chiang, Li said:

"After Chiang Kai-shek," Li said, "it was thought any change was for the better. But after one year of trial, the people found out that whereas Chiang Kai-shek was only interested in money and in depriving the people of their material well-being, the Communists aim at depriving them of their soul."

Destroying Soul

Elaborating on what Communism was doing to Chinese people, Li declared: "For over 4,000 years the Chinese people were knitted together by a moral code, apart from a common written language, the same blood strain and a cultural heritage. The code of morals expounded by Confucius and the rest of our sages is the only reason Chinese people exist as a people and as a country . . .

"The Communist system rules out this moral code. It turns the Chinese society topsy survy . . . Communism is so foreign to Chinese nature, it can never thrive . . . The country is now ready for a really Liberal and democratic leadership."

Says Politics Shouldn't Sway Railway Ruling

OTTAWA, March 13 (CP)—An economist today told the Royal Commission on Transportation that "political pressures" should not be taken into account in providing transportation services.

J. Lorne McDougall, commerce professor at Queen's University, was testifying as a witness for the Canadian Pacific Railway, telling of economic factors entering into transportation.

He said that to provide the greatest possible service to the country, transportation should be established on a sound basis related to the cost of providing it, modified by the ability of the traffic to bear that cost.

He added those in charge of transportation should refuse to be led off by sentimental appeals to yield to political pressures as a substitute for practical considerations.

Wrong Grievances

Dealing with various claims that railway freight rates react against some parts of the country, Prof. McDougall said the grievances of such areas as the Maritimes and Saskatchewan had nothing to do with transportation.

He said the development of various parts of Canada was proceeding relatives as quickly as that of the United States. It must be remembered that this nation was younger.

"There just is not the ground for the kind of crepe-hanging that some of us indulge in," he said.

Prof. McDougall expressed the view that economic union of Canada and the United States would not have produced a major alteration of the Canadian transportation pattern, except that the higher U.S. freight rates would have been imposed on Canada.

Prof. McDougall said he thought the railways had gone as far as they could to remedy any disadvantages imposed on such areas as the Maritimes under Confederation.

For instance, New Brunswick potato growers could get their products into central Canada at freight rates slightly cheaper than for comparable distances in the U.S.

Recently it was suggested that this job might cost around $12,000 to $15,000, as a rough estimate of what was requried.

The finance committee report included among other items acceptance of the estimates of the public library at $37,950 or $1.06 per capita.

Drama Group Year Old Awarded Cup

By ALBERT HUNTER.

MONTREAL, March 13 (CP)—A year-old Montreal drama group achieved success Sunday night with its first entry in the western Quebec Regional Drama Festival.

The McGill Arena Wing, youngest of six groups entered, was awarded the Martha Allan cup for the outstanding presentation of a play in the week-long contest. Its production of Heridrik Ibsen's three-act social drama, "Ghosts," was highly commended by British adjudicator Maxwell Wray.

The victory also increased the group's chance of winning a spot in the Dominion Drama Festival at Calgary the week of May 8. Eight of the 11 region winners throughout Canada will be selected by Mr. Wray for the Dominion competition.

In his round-up adjudication Sunday night, Mr. Wray said the "general level" of amateur drama in Canada is "good."

Intelligent Work

"In all the cities in which I adjudicated regional festivals, I found great eagerness and intelligent work," he said. "You have the beginning of a very, very big theatre movement."

Mr. Wray made passing mention of Jean Cocteau's "Antigone" entry of the 12-member Co-operative group, La Compagnie Du Masque, which Saturday withdrew from the contest.

The French-language play, said Mr. Wray was "very interesting and very well done. But the company has withdrawn, with regret, I must let it pass."

La Compagnie withdrew its entry to emphasize its denial of "certain rumors" that it was "the instigator of the disturbance last Wednesday night" when Mr. Wray was heckled during one of his adjudications.

A group of young men and a girl criticized Mr. Wray for his "clowning adjudication" of "Antigone" the previous night.

The heckling incident was also the subject of comment Sunday night by John Aylen of Ottawa, vice-president of the Dominion Drama Festival, who attended the presentation of awards.

"Not every adjudicator is welcomed with the same enthusiasm in every city," he told an audience of some 500 persons. "We are all human. People have different tastes and some actors are more sensitive than others."

Bar Association Asks Legal Aid Schemes

TORONTO, March 13—(CP)—A. M. Carter, of Saint John, president of the Canadian Bar Association, in a speech here Saturday night called for establishment of legal aid schemes in all provinces.

Addressing the closing dinner of the Ontario section of the Canadian Bar Association, he said such plans should aim at ensuring that no one should be deprived of legal counsel before a court because of lack of money.

Legal aid programs might be most effective if promoted by lawyers with the support—but not interference—of the State. He noted a sharp increase in the number of law graduates in Canada since the second world war, but opposed any suggestion that the profession raise its educational requirements in order to thin the ranks.
